Mrs. Roosevelt On NAACP Board

5

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, long a champion of minority rights, has accepted membership on the national board of directors of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People beginning in September.

Making the announcement, Walter White, NAACP secretary, said: "The NAACP is honored to add so great an American to its national board of directors. Mrs. Roosevelt has stood by her guns in the face of bitter attack and misrepresentation. . . ."
