Global FECP Urged for UN

LAKE SUCCESS, L. I. — An immediate world treaty to outlaw discrimination has been proposed by the World Jewish Congress in a formal statement to an eight-nation committee of the United Nations Commission for Human Rights.

The Congress has called for passage of a resolution by the General Assembly which in effect would set up a world-wide fair employment practices commission.

Dr. Maurice N. Perlzweig, head of the Congress's Political Department, commented that race discrimination, like aggressive war, must be outlawed "if civilization is to survive."

The Human Rights Commission, of which Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt is chairman, and which has included an anti-discrimination clause in its proposed bill of rights was urged to: (1) affirm U. N. obligations against discrimination; (2) request all member states to enact such legislation; (3) call on them to police their laws vigorously.
