Re Newark let to Bureau and New York 8/1/50 which reflects that [redacted] voluntarily appeared at the Newark Office on 7/31/50 with his attorney and furnished information concerning BROTHMAN. [redacted] advised at that time that subject had been [redacted] since September 1949 as a consulting chemical engineer. [redacted] also furnished a copy of the [redacted] and BROTHMAN and MOSKOWITZ, which [redacted] was forwarded to New York. 070

[redacted] stated that IPE receives numerous requests from companies and individuals all over the world who wish to enter business in the chemical or industrial manufacturing field. These requests are in the nature of invitations to bid and requests IPE to design the physical setup of a proposed plant. Whenever such request is received which involves setting up a chemical process, BROTHMAN is called upon to design that phase of the chemical plant. BROTHMAN makes rough sketches or drawings together with notations containing the proposed setup and IPE engineers produce finished blueprints from BROTHMAN's sketches. [redacted] stated that EMIL BARISH, an engineer employed at IPE, has worked with BROTHMAN at the latter's New York City offices on all such work. [redacted] explained that BARISH is also employed by IPE. 070

He stated the bulk of this work has consisted of the manufacture of "heaters" commonly called "kettles" which are chemical mixing machines. [redacted] said subject has had nothing to do with any of this work with one exception. [redacted] stated that subject estimated the heat load of one heater which was described as a gas super heater, MKH-3, which was recorded on Order #WCX-94801, Requisition A-81024, dated April 4, 1950. 070

[redacted] stated that although [redacted] has engaged BROTHMAN's services frequently since September 1949 to design chemical processes for proposed plants, few of the bids on which subject work have been accepted. 070

[redacted] specifically requested that her identity be kept confidential. B7D

Re Newark let to Bureau and New York 8/1/50 which reflects that [redacted] voluntarily appeared at the Newark Office on 7/31/50 with his attorney and furnished information concerning BROTHMAN. [redacted] advised at that time that subject had been [redacted] since September 1949 as a consulting chemical engineer. [redacted] also furnished a copy of the [redacted] and BROTHMAN and MOSKOWITZ, which [redacted] was forwarded to New York. B7D

[redacted] was interviewed 11/16/50 relative to the material on which BROTHMAN has worked for IPE with specific reference to the "kettles" referred to by [redacted], which she stated were manufactured by IPE. [redacted] stated that IPE receives numerous requests from companies and individuals all over the world who wish to enter business in the chemical or industrial manufacturing field. These requests are in the nature of invitations to bid and requests IPE to design the physical setup of a proposed plant. Whenever such request is received which involves setting up a chemical process, BROTHMAN is called upon to design that phase of the chemical plant. BROTHMAN makes rough sketches or drawings together with notations containing the proposed setup and IPE engineers produce finished blueprints from BROTHMAN's sketches. [redacted] stated that EMIL BARISH, an engineer employed at IPE, has worked with BROTHMAN at the latter's New York City offices on all such work. [redacted] explained that BARISH is also employed by IPE. B7D

[redacted] stated IPE has performed a quantity of work for the UNION CARBIDE AND CARBON COMPANY, Plant K-25, Oak Ridge, Tennessee, none of which work has been classified as restricted. He stated the bulk of this work has consisted of the manufacture of "heaters" commonly called "kettles" which are chemical mixing machines. [redacted] said subject has had nothing to do with any of this work with one exception. [redacted] stated that subject estimated the heat load of one heater which was described as a gas super heater, MXH-3, which was recorded on Order #WCI-94801, Requisition A-81024, dated April 4, 1950. B7D

[redacted] stated that although [redacted] has engaged BROTHMAN's services frequently since September 1949 to design chemical processes for proposed plants, few of the bids on which subject work have been accepted. B7D

I called Inspector Carl Hennrich, Bureau at 11:08 A. M. and advised him that at 11:05 A. M. ABRAHAM BROTHMAN was sentenced to five years in prison and five thousand dollars fine on Count 2 of the indictment and to two years and ten thousand dollars fine on Count 1 of the indictment, sentences to run consecutively, and the defendant will stand committed until the fine is paid. I advised Mr. Hennrich that MIRIAM MOSKOWITZ was sentenced to two years and ten thousand dollars fine on Count 1 and she is to stand committed until the fine is paid.

I told Mr. Hennrich that Judge Irving Kaufman had stated that he regretted the statute limited him in imposing these sentences.
