MEMO

New York, N. Y.
7/11/50

Re: JULIUS ROSENBERG;
ESPIONAGE - R

On 7/10/50, at approximately 5:30 P. M., I talked to Mr. Leo L. Laughlin at the Bureau and called his attention to our teletype of 6/29/50 in the above entitled case, which advised the Bureau that Mr. JOHN ROGGE, attorney for DAVID GREENGLASS, had indicated he was going to Washington to present to the Bureau and the Department his offer of cooperation on behalf of DAVID GREENGLASS. In our teletype we requested that the New York Office be advised of the results of the conferences, in view of the importance that we place on the matter of interviewing RUTH and DAVID GREENGLASS. I pointed out to Mr. Laughlin that we had had no official answer to that teletype although I had understood in an oral conversation with Inspector A. H. Belmont that nothing was to come of ROGGE's offer of cooperation.

I pointed out to Mr. Laughlin that I thought it was in the interests of the Bureau that this matter be clarified and the Bureau should be fully advised of the Department's reaction and thinking in the matter for, as the situation now stands, ROGGE is in position where he has information or could have information which he has received from DAVID and RUTH GREENGLASS relative to Russian espionage in wartime, involving a subject or subjects more important than DAVID GREENGLASS, which information the FBI and the Department does not have and which information apparently the government declines to accept. If the record is clear that the price of the information is too high, we are on safe grounds, perhaps. However, if this matter has not been given full and appropriate consideration ROGGE may be in position to embarrass the Department and the FBI, and might even be in position to, for instance, write an article for a magazine which would be worth, perhaps, a substantial fee to him. I pointed out to Mr. Laughlin that the question of a deal, I did not think needed to concern us too much for the reason that, first our case against DAVID GREENGLASS is made, essentially, before this offer of cooperation is proffered; second, ROGGE realizes, as a former Department official, that the Department cannot bind a court in a deal, but can only advise the court of a defendant's cooperation, against which there is no legal stricture. Further ROGGE holds himself out to be an imminent proponent of Civil Rights and he certainly could make no claim of violation of Civil Rights for any offer of cooperation on behalf of his client who had received the full benefit of ROGGE's counsel.

FBI - NEW YORK

I also pointed out that if there is a chance that ROGGE's offer of cooperation is to be accepted, the Bureau and the Department might also wish to consider postponing the sentencing of GOLD until after GREENGLASS' had been milked dry.

Mr. Laughlin indicated that the Bureau would advise us in this matter.

DETAILS: The title of this report is being marked changed to reflect the additional aliases of AL SARANT and RAYMOND COOPER, his Communist Party name, as reported by Confidential Informant T-4, of known reliability, on August 8, 1944.

The following information which is being set out is believed to pertain to the subject of this investigation:

Confidential Informant T-1, of known reliability, advised on March 15, 1944 that AL SARANT, 46 Monroe (?) Street, New York City, transferred from Branch 16B, the Industrial Division of the Communist Party (CP), on or about February 14, 1944. He was transferred to the Village Club of the 1st Assembly District section of Manhattan. His transfer number was 12348.

Confidential Informant T-2, of known reliability, advised on or about June 17, 1945 that AL SARANT was transferred to the Sacco-Vanzetti Club, Communist Political Association (CPA), 1st and 2nd Assembly Districts, Manhattan, on February 29, 1944. He was transferred from Branch 16B of the Industrial Division of the CP. His transfer number was 12348A.

It is to be particularly noted that the AL SARANT who transferred from the Industrial Division of the CP on or about February 14, 1944 was transferred under number 12348 to the Village Club, and that the AL SARANT who was transferred to the Sacco-Vanzetti Club of the CPA on February 29, 1944 from the Industrial Division of the CP was transferred under number 12348A. While these transfers occurred both within the month of February, 1944 from the same division, it would appear that AL SARANT was a member of both clubs on separate occasions.

Confidential Informant T-2 also advised on or about June 17, 1945 that AL SARANT transferred to the Village Club, 10th Assembly District, on May 4, 1944. His transfer number was 19872.

Confidential Informant T-3, of known reliability, advised on June 17, 1944 that AL SARANT, 65 Morton Street, New York City, is a member of the Sacco-Vanzetti Club, CPA, which is located at 237 Bleecker Street, New York City.

Confidential Informant T-4, of known reliability, advised on August 8, 1944 that AL SARANT, also known as RAYMOND COOPER (Party name), name appeared on a membership list of the Greenwich Village Club of the CPA, 1st and 2nd Assembly Districts, Manhattan, New York.

NY 65-15360

Confidential Informant T-5, of known reliability, advised on March 23, 1945 that AL SARANT, also known as RAYMOND COOPER, 65 Morton Street, New York City, is a member of the Federation of Architects, Engineers, Chemists and Technicians - CIO.

FEDERATION OF ARCHITECTS, ENGINEERS, CHEMISTS AND TECHNICIANS

On Page 151 of the book, "The Story of the CIO", by BENJAMIN STOLBERG, appears the following:

"Only four CIO unions are under complete control of the Stalinist officials. They are the Federation of Architects, Engineers, Chemists and Technicians ....."

The following information regarding the Federation of Architects, Engineers, Chemists and Technicians appears on page 264 and page 265 of the above mentioned book by Mr. STOLBERG:

"The Federation of Architects, Engineers, Chemists and Technicians was organized in 1934 mainly from the technical staffs of the Works Progress Administration. From the very beginning the Federation has been under Stalinist leadership, and its rank and file are generally Communist Party followers..."

Confidential Informant T-6, of known reliability, advised on January 30, 1945 that AL SARANT was active as a canvasser for Congressman VITO MARCANTONIO in the 18th Assembly District of Manhattan during the 1944 elections. The informant advised further that apparently this was one of AL SARANT'S Greenwich Village Club activities.

The Communist Party and the Communist Political Association have been declared within the purview of Executive Order 9835 by the Attorney General.

The record of ALFRED SARANT at Cooper Union was reviewed by SA RICHARD E. BRENNAN and reflected the following information:

He was born on September 26, 1918, and his address at the time of his entry into Cooper Union in September, 1936 was 23 Colony Street, West Hempstead, New York. He was graduated from Cooper Union on June 5, 1941 with a degree of Bachelor of Electrical Engineering.

On February 25, 1919, the firm of BOUDIN and LIEBMAN had filed a Certificate of Incorporation in the County of New York for this corporation. The Jefferson School of Social Science has been declared within the purview of Executive Order 9835 by the Attorney General.

In connection with the investigation entitled, "ABRAHAM EDELSON, wa.; [redacted] conducted by the New York Office in 1941 and 1942, it was ascertained through investigation that BERNARD SCHLENGER, 1186 East 19th Street, Brooklyn, New York, which is the same address given by Confidential Informant T-15 for BETTY SANDERS in 1944, is a lawyer with an office at 5 Bleeckman Street, New York City.

It is not known whether there is any family relationship between BETTY SANDERS and SCHLENGER; however, it would appear that the information pertaining to BETTY SANDERS' CP activities is identical with the BETTY SANDERS who was contacted by SARANT in March and June, 1950. Additional efforts are being made by this office to more definitely ascertain whether BETTY SANDERS, whom the subject contacted, and the BETTY SANDERS, about whom derogatory information has been previously furnished in this report, are identical.

MEMORANDUM:

Re: JULIUS ROSENBERG
ESPIONAGE - R

At 5:30 this evening, in the absence of Inspector A. H. Belmont, I spoke with Inspector Leo Loughlin of the Bureau. I advised as follows:

Agents have completed for the day interviewing DAVID GREENGLASS and RUTH GREENGLASS, and in essence they informed us that in November, 1944, ROSENBERG asked RUTH GREENGLASS to go to Albuquerque, New Mexico, and persuade DAVID GREENGLASS to furnish information on the atomic bomb. RUTH did this on or about November 29, 1944, and DAVID agreed.

In January, 1945, DAVID came to New York City on furlough. ROSENBERG described to DAVID generally how the naval type atom bomb worked. DAVID then furnished ROSENBERG with the names of some of the personnel at Los Alamos who GREENGLASS considered ideologically suited for recruitment in espionage activities.

In February, 1945, RUTH moved to Albuquerque. Prior to going there, ROSENBERG had told her that she would be contacted in Albuquerque by "ANNE" _____, who would pick up information received by RUTH from DAVID about the atomic bomb. RUTH was furnished with one-half of a piece of paper or cardboard, and "ANNE" was to have the matching piece (which ultimately was the piece GOLD had given to DAVID by ~~ROSENBERG~~). "ANNE" was supposed to meet RUTH in front of a Safeway store on Central Avenue, Albuquerque, in the latter part of May, 1945. "ANNE" did not show. GOLD showed, on June 3, and the GOLD incident is exactly as we know it from previous information obtained.

The next furlough of GREENGLASS following the contact with GOLD was in the Fall of 1945. GREENGLASS came to New York City and furnished ROSENBERG with papers and notes and sketches he had made concerning the atom bomb--how it looks, what it is made of, etc., etc. GREENGLASS got no money on this occasion. He believes that it was at this time that the contact was made with the unknown man in the automobile through ROSENBERG as previously described.

GREENGLASS was discharged in February, 1946, and until September, 1949, associated with ROSENBERG in business. GREENGLASS has learned through conversations with ROSENBERG that the latter has contacts in Upstate, New York, and in Cleveland, Ohio, which contacts GREENGLASS believes are espionage contacts, but of which he is not certain. We of course will go into his knowledge of these contacts as fully as necessary in later interviews. We believe that we have sufficient information to enable us to identify "ANNE" through investigation.

When FUCHS was arrested, ROSENBERG told GREENGLASS to get out of the country. GREENGLASS declined. When GOLD was arrested, ROSENBERG told GREENGLASS again to get out of the country, and gave him $500 in cash. GREENGLASS said this was not enough money, and a few days later, on May 28, 1950, ROSENBERG gave GREENGLASS $4,000 and told him to leave the country by June 11, going by way of Mexico and Sweden or Switzerland to Czechoslovakia. GREENGLASS said he hid this $4,000 high in the chimney in the fireplace in his residence at Rivington Street, New York City, and that it has been given to O. JOHN ROGGE as a fee. He says that ROGGE does not know the source of the money.

I described in detail in how obscure a manner GREENGLASS had hid the money in the chimney, which, according to GREENGLASS was in its hiding place when we had searched his apartment prior to his arrest. When ROSENBERG gave GREENGLASS the $4,000, ROSENBERG said that he, too, was going to leave the country, and that JOEL BARR had left the country. He told GREENGLASS that when he got to Czechoslovakia he would see several people he knows there.

GREENGLASS and RUTH decided between them not to leave the country. They planned to go someplace out of the city--to the mountains--and after ROSENBERG had left, planned on returning to New York City. GREENGLASS said ROSENBERG has thus far been unable to leave the country because he is under constant surveillance by the FBI. This latter is purely conjecture on the part of GREENGLASS.

With respect to our interview with RUTH thus far today, her story jibes with information we already know, except with one or two minor points which we will clear up in future interviews.

I advised Mr. Loughlin that undoubtedly the Bureau would desire to immediately present this additional information to the Department. I told Mr. Loughlin that the situation as it now stands has several problems with various aspects, all of which deserve consideration. I told him that we feel we have enough to warrant the issuance of process against ROSENBERG; that because of the lateness of the day and the fact that it is the last business day of the week, together with the fact that we have not completed our interviews with DAVID and RUTH GREENGLASS as thoroughly as we would like to, we feel that bringing him in right now for questioning would be premature. We would like to have more ammunition in the way of additional facts from DAVID and RUTH to hit him with in order to make him break. On the other hand, we cannot assure the Bureau at all that if we do not bring him in we will be able to keep in full knowledge of his whereabouts over the weekend. Because of the neighborhood in which he lives, a physical surveillance cannot be conducted discreetly. He lives in Knickerbocker Village, a city housing development on the Lower East Side, a pushcart district. Agents in the neighborhood stand out like sore thumbs. The apartment house in which he lives takes in a full block. There are subterranean passage-ways to and from all the apartments within the block. GREENGLASS could go down to the cellar in his apartment and come out on any one of the four streets from any one of the apartments on those streets or from the stores on the streets he might choose. The only way we could run a surveillance on him and be assured of his whereabouts would be to station a man outside his door.

So far there is no reason to believe that ROSENBERG would take a powder this weekend. The situation as far as we know is in his mind the same as it was last weekend, with one exception. There was an article in the Journal-American Thursday night when GREENGLASS removal proceedings had been adjourned, and in the article it stated that SAYPOL and ROGGE had been practically arm-in-arm, whereas previously they had been snarling at each other. It was conjectured that GREENGLASS might be now cooperating with the Government. In all likelihood ROSENBERG has seen this article. The GREENGLASSES assure us that they will not tell ROSENBERG they are cooperating.

I suggested that if we do not move against ROSENBERG tonight, the Bureau sanction a discreet surveillance, and we will do what we have been doing on him today, namely, keeping track of him without heating him. Of course, if anything develops from his movements which indicates he intends to skip, we can tighten our surveillance; we will have to use our judgment as the situations arise. I requested that the Bureau consider these data and advise us what course they want us to follow.

Later in the evening, Inspector Belmont called. He inquired as to when we had last seen ROSENBERG. I told him five minutes ago we had placed him in his apartment at Rivington Street; that he was extremely hot. Mr. Belmont advised that the Bureau had already presented information previously on hand to the Department, and that they had not authorized on ROSENBERG. The Bureau was attempting to contact the Department to give them the additional information, but it did not appear we would have an answer on prosecution over the weekend. The Department does not exactly know what it wants to do about RUTH GREENGLASS.

Mr. Belmont wanted to know if we knew of any reason why ROSENBERG should attempt to skip this weekend any more than he would have last weekend. I told him we knew of none except the Journal-American article I had previously mentioned to Loughlin. Mr. Belmont stated that because of the lateness of the day and the impending weekend, plus the fact we had not gone into the GREENGLASSES' interviews as thoroughly as we would like, the Bureau was inclined not to press for an arrest of ROSENBERG at this time. I told him we felt the same way, but told him our problem of attempting to keep track of ROSENBERG in the event he decided to take a powder. He said we should conduct a discreet surveillance since a full surveillance was impractical. We should continue with the same tactics we have been using today. We should try to be reasonably sure of his whereabouts until the GREENGLASSES' stories crystallize and signed statements are taken covering the essential facts of ROSENBERG'S activities. We should be certain not to burn up ROSENBERG on the surveillance, but be reasonably sure we know where he is.

Supervisor Granville and the agents handling this matter were made aware of the Bureau's instructions at once.
