Re Albany airtel (IO), 10/4/71.

Enclosed for the Bureau is one copy of a Rand document entitled "Rand Document, on United States Policy in Southeast Asia" by MELVIN GURTOV, D-17862-ISA, Project No. 9899.

Enclosed for Albany is one copy of an LHM entitled [redacted] One information copy of LHM being furnished Washington Field. b6 b7C

Albany airtel enclosed a Rand document entitled "Rand Document, on United States Policy in Southeast Asia", by MELVIN GURTOV, D-17862-ISA, Project No. 9899. This document was turned into the Ithaca, N. Y. Police Department by a Cornell University Student on 9/26/71, after he found it in the trash barrel outside the office of [redacted] Cornell University. b6 b7C

Albany requested Rand officials be contacted to determine if this document has any significance in instant case.

On 10/13/71, [redacted] Communications Department, Rand, Santa Monica, advised the D-17862 document was published as an internal paper in 1968, was re-issued as "Problems and Prospects of United States Policy in Southeast Asia" in May 1969, bearing Rand Number RM-5910-ISA, b6 b7C and was published by the John Hopkins University Press in 1970. He further advised that CHARLES WOLF, JR., [redacted] were also assigned to Project 9899 and might be able to discuss more intelligently the contents of the paper. He said Rand policy dictates that no one can remove a D document from Rand premises and the record does not show that [redacted] had a copy of the D document when he departed Rand's employment. [redacted] could have unlimited access to the RM-5910 document. [redacted] said the D and RM documents never were classified in any way.

On 10/14/71 and 10/20/71, [redacted] and CHARLES WOLF, JR. respectively, advised this D document is not relevant to the instant matter. Both stated that [redacted] was attempting to refute the so-called "domino theory" but, consistent with his ability, does not do an adequate job of research or planning. They both said that Project 9899 was a Rand number assigned to a specific major study, that neither worked directly with [redacted] but both read the D document when it was prepared and found it full of inaccuracies and neither felt it should be allowed public release.

b7C

WOLF explained a D-document is an unedited version of an RM document. Once a D document is corrected as to content, accuracy and classified material, it is then assigned an RM number and is then available for public release with unlimited distribution.

[redacted] said he would find it hard to believe [redacted] would write anything classified since [redacted] felt [redacted]

b7C

It was noted that the name [redacted] appears as a reference in several footnotes in this document which would explain his interest in the document but it does not explain how he would have possession of a D document which is not supposed to leave the possession of Rand Corporation. This, of course, presupposes that [redacted] had possession of the document.

b6

[redacted] b3 b7E

Los Angeles has enclosed one copy of this document for the Bureau's consideration in having DOD examine the contents and verify its unclassified nature and lack of relevance to the instant case.

Since WOLF and [redacted] have both indicated this document has no relevance to instant case it would appear that if [redacted] gave a copy of the D document to [redacted] possession was a result of Rand negligence and [redacted] need not be interviewed in relation to this case. b6 b7C

Nevertheless, Los Angeles indices reveal a [redacted] main file on [redacted] LHM enclosed. Case is entitled [redacted] b3 b6 b7C b7E

Albany is requested to determine if the [redacted] are identical, advise the Bureau and in view of instant case, UACB, interview [redacted] if identical, regarding his knowledge of the MC LEK matter and possession of the D document found in the trash barrel outside his office. b6 b7C

Charles Wolf, Jr., Department Head, Economics Department, Rand Corporation, 1700 Main Street, Santa Monica, California, advised that a Rand document entitled "Rand Document, on United States Policy in Southeast Asia" written by Melvin Gurtov and carrying document Number D-17862-ISA, does not contain any information of a classified nature and none which would be considered relevant to the disclosure of the "McNamara Study".

He also advised this paper was publicly released by Rand in May 1969 with the title "Problems and Prospects of United States Policy in Southeast Asia". He indicated the only difference between the two papers is that the published document is an edited version of the original document.

[redacted] b6 b7C

Wolf advised this paper deals with the so-called "domino theory". This theory states that if one Southeast Asia country is taken over by the communists they all will eventually come under communist domination. Wolf said [redacted] attempted to show that the theory was not necessarily true. b6 b7C

RPN 9804 (F.C. Ikle) Termination Tactics. Project description is classified.

RPN 9805 (M. Arnsten, N. Leites) Comparison of Pacification Concepts. To extend prior work of Leites and Arnsten in examining the operations and tactics of the Viet Cong and applying the knowledge gained thereby to appropriate changes in U.S./GVN pacification methods.

RPN 9806 (G.H. Shubert) Pacification and Revolutionary Development Studies. A study of pacification and development techniques focussed initially on the various techniques employed by the GVN and its allies; a comparative study of military techniques designed to create a favorable security environment; a study of civil techniques employed to strengthen the GVN in rural areas will be designed. Subjects will be addressed so that the relationship between military and civil operations is considered explicitly.

RPN 9811 (D. Ellsberg, C. Wolf, Jr.) Lessons of Rebellion. Initially, Ellsberg will be responsible for further analysis of the lessons of our involvement in Vietnam, with an extension to other situations at a later time. He will also extend the Wolf-Leites analysis of 'Rebellion and Authority.' Dr. Wolf will act as leader for other theoretical and analytical studies of insurgency, including work on agrarian reform, uses of econometric methods, and new analytic approaches to rebellion.

RPN 9893 (J. H. Hayes) Force Posture Implications of Alternative Base Systems. This project will study the force posture implications of alternative political policies which could be adopted by the U.S. in dealing with the military problems of the Pacific area. The interaction of these alternative policies with the military strategy which may be adopted as well as the effect upon the mix of various kinds of forces will be examined.

RPN 9901 (G.H. Shubert) Alternative Strategies for Insurgent Conflicts. Project description is classified.

RPN 9905 (D. Ellsberg, C. Wolf, Jr.) Lessons of Rebellion. Earlier research on analytic lessons from our experience in Vietnam was applied to analysis of alternative strategic options in Vietnam and to a definition of major uncertainties critical to current policy choices. Develop generalizations on insurgent and counterinsurgent processes (mainly suggested by and tested against experience in Vietnam) that promise to be applicable elsewhere in the future. Subjects include the role and importance of popular attitudes and other political factors in the conflict, the goals and limitations of pacification, factor limiting or enhancing United States leverage, patterns in United States decisionmaking, and criteria for and against U.S. intervention.

[redacted]

RPN 9993 (D. Ellsberg) Insurgent Forces. Originally aimed at an analysis of Viet Cong operations, but shifted principally into an attempt to codify and analyze lessons which the United States has learned from the war in Vietnam. In its most recent phase, the principal thrust has been to make quite direct application of these lessons to the question of analyzing alternative strategic options in Vietnam.

Federal Government. WOLF was the recipient of an $800.00 research grant by the Institute and the Coolidge Foundation for study at Harvard University during the 1947-48 school year. Following his work at Harvard, he wrote a book on Indonesia under the auspices of the Institute, He has also written for "Far Eastern Survey", a fortnightly publication.

Mr. HOLLAND has always had a high regard for WOLF; his character and reputation are of the highest. He is a discreet person and HOLLAND stated he has never observed any Communist sympathies in WOLF. He considers WOLF to be absolutely loyal to this country.

Mr. HOLLAND stated that the Coolidge Foundation, New York City, furnished part of the money for the grant but that no one at the Foundation knew WOLF.

Concerning the Institute of Pacific Relations, 1 East 54th Street, New York City, the following is to be noted:

The Institute of Pacific Relations, founded in 1925 in Hawaii, is an organization engaged in research on the economic, political and social aspects of countries bordering on the Pacific Ocean. Allegations have been received from confidential sources of this Bureau that during the 1930's the Institute of Pacific Relations was used as a "Cover" by Soviet military intelligence agents. Allegations have also been received from LOUIS BUDENZ, Communist Party functionary from 1935 to 1945 and former editor of the "Daily Worker", (an East Coast Communist publication) that the Institute of Pacific Relations was infiltrated and controlled by the Communist Party beginning in 1936. Numerous individuals connected with the Institute, either in an official capacity or as contributors to its publications "Pacific Affairs" and "Far Eastern Survey", have been cited by BUDENZ as members of the Communist Party, including EDWARD C. CARTER, FREDERICK V. FIELD, HARRIET L. MOORE, OWEN LATTIMORE, JOSEPH BARNES, all of whom held principal offices in the Institute during the 1930's.

In 1948, CLAYTON LANE, recently appointed Director of the American Institute of Pacific Relations, advised that he was determined to dismiss from the organization any person who has Communist leanings. He said that EDWARD CARTER had been requested to resign and that FREDERICK V. FIELD had been "based out" of the Institute.

NY 126-1240

MISS RUTH CARTER, Administrative Assistant, advised the writer she could not locate any record of WOLF as being a member of the Institute. She was not acquainted with WOLF.

She did exhibit a copy of the September 3, 1947 issue of "Far Eastern Survey", wherein CHARLES WOLF, JR. contributed a four page article entitled "The Four Men Who Made Merdeka". This article states that "Merdeka" means "freedom" in the Indonesian language. The article gives a background of the four men: President SOEKARNO, Vice President MOHAMMED HATTA, former Prime Minister SOEKAN SJAHRIR and the Minister of Defense and new Prime Minister, AMIR SJARIFOEDIN, who have supplied leadership to the Indonesian Republic and guided it through troubled waters.

The August 7, 1948 issue of "Far Eastern Survey" carries a book review by CHARLES WOLF, JR. of a book on Indonesia by EDWARD DOOVES DEKKER.

MISS CARTER also exhibited a book written by CHARLES WOLF, JR. entitled "The Indonesian Story, The Birth, Growth, and Structure of the Indonesian Republic".

The book, published by the John Day Company, states it was issued under the auspices of the American Institute, Institute of Pacifid Relations.

The "New York Times" for August 22, 1948, carries a book review of WOLF'S book by reviewer GEORGIANNA STEVENS. She writes that the book is a brief history of the Indonesian independence movement, beginning with the organization in 1908 of the first party dedicated to the nationalistic cause and taking it up to 1948. She states that WOLF observes the consolidation of the Indonesian government and reports its strength and weaknesses in detail. In its stress on education, as a mixed economy in which foreign investment is solicited on a non-monopolistic basis, WOLF sees convincing evidence of its moderate Western orientation. He sees no danger of a turn toward Communism, unless the Republic is frustrated by the West.

that during the year, 1948-1949, he attended school under a faculty scholarship in the amount of $600 which was recommended by the Committee on Fellowships. She advised that this grant is awarded to augment the financial aid granted to veterans by the Government. The acceptance of this award precedes the acceptance of a fellowship or scholarship from any other college or institution during the period of the applicant's employment unless the grant from another institution allows the recipient to study at Harvard University. In all such cases, full information in regard to additional fellowships or scholarships was required to be furnished to Harvard University. EMPLOYMENT

Mutual Security Agency (Economic Cooperation Administration)

Investigation at the Mutual Security Agency was conducted by SA EUGENE F. RING.

The personnel file maintained by MSA, formerly ECA, reflects the applicant entered on duty as an international economist on August 1, 1950, in the Office of Assistant Administrator for Program, Far East Division, Indo-China Branch, Washington, D. C. He is still employed in the above position.

On a Personal History Statement executed by the applicant, it is stated that from September 1947 to June 1948 he was engaged in a research project at Harvard University concerning

[redacted]

Incl 14

Indonesia. This project was made possible by research grants from the Institute of Pacific Relations, 1 East 54th Street, New York City, and the Coolidge Foundation, 70 Pine Street, New York City. The applicant indicated that Mr. W. L. HOLLAND, Director of the Institute of Pacific Relations, had full information concerning this grant.

The files of the Security and Investigations Division, Mutual Security Agency, contain a letter dated June 4, 1949, to PAUL G. HOFFMAN, ECA Administrator, from J. WALTER YEAGLEY, Director of Security and Investigations Division. This letter concerned the applicant and stated "The above-named applicant is reliably reported to have left the State Department July 1947 to accept a research grant given by the Institute of Pacific Relations for study at Harvard University".

These files reflect the applicant applied for employment in ECA in June 1949; however, he was not appointed to position there until August 1950. It was indicated that he was not hired at the time of his original application and reapplied in May 1950. No additional pertinent information was noted in these records.

Mr. LAWRENCE E. EBB, Assistant General Counsel, MSA, advised that he has known the applicant since August 1950. He stated the applicant is also known to him socially as well as professionally and he considers himself to be a close friend of WOLF. EBB said he considers the applicant to be entirely loyal to this government and to be a person of good moral character in every respect. He stated he regards the applicant's wife in the same light and recalled that they had been married in Indonesia while the applicant was stationed there with the State Department. EBB was not aware of any connection the applicant may have had with the Institute of Pacific Relations; however, he stated WOLF had referred to the Institute of Pacific Relations in conversations on a few occasions. He could not recall specifically what the applicant had mentioned; however, to the best of his recollection, he felt the applicant may have submitted an article to the Institute at one time. He advised that WOLF is very highly regarded by his co-workers and associates in MSA and stated that his only reason for leaving there was the fact that the State Department is taking over some of the functions formerly maintained by MSA in the Far East. The applicant has received a very attractive offer to transfer to State, which would indicate in EBB's opinion that he is very highly regarded there.

He advised that the applicant, having formerly worked in Indonesia, had made many contacts with officials of the Indonesian government and has maintained these contacts in Washington. In this connection, he stated that due to the applicant's wide circle of friends in Indonesian circles, he was frequently called on by the State Department to handle very touchy matters there. He recommended the applicant for government employment.

The following persons furnished substantially the same information concerning the applicant as did Mr. EBB:

Mr. WARREN BAUM, Assistant Director, European Regional Staff, MSA, who has known applicant since 1947. They attended Harvard Graduate School together and are co-workers in MSA.

Mr. ALEXANDER LIPSMAN, Chief of Economic Branch, Far East Division, MSA., a co-worker of applicant since February 1951, and applicant's supervisor for past month.

Mr. H. G. PIERSON, Chief Economic Advisor, Far East Program Division, MSA, who has known applicant professionally since August 1950.

Mrs. HELENE GRANBY, Chief, Programs Branch, MSA, a co-worker of applicant since May 1951, and his supervisor from August to December 1951. Mrs. GRANBY is acquainted with applicant only through office contact.

Mr. EDWIN G. ARNOLD, Chief, Far East Program Division, MSA, a professional acquaintance of applicant for 1½ years.

MRS. CLAIRE HOLT, Southeast Asia Division, Department of State, advised that she met the applicant in 1944. [redacted] b3 He was released from the military service in 1945 and secured a position of Vice Consul with the Department of State, being assigned to Indonesia for the next two years. On his return to the United States in 1947, he enrolled in Harvard University and during the next two years worked towards his Master's and PHD degrees.

WFO 118-4603

Mrs. HOLT stated that since 1949 the applicant has resided in Washington, D. C. and she has been a very close social friend of both he and his wife. She regards the applicant as a very intelligent, highly qualified person who specializes in Southeast Asian affairs. She said that from his service in Indonesia he is very close to officials of the Indonesian government in this country and is very highly regarded by them. She advised that during the time applicant served in the American Consulate in Indonesia, he had a personality clash with the Consul General, WALTER A. FOOTE. She stated that FOOTE disliked the applicant's aggressiveness and ability and in her opinion he is very prejudiced against applicant because of the fine job the applicant did in Indonesia. She regards WOLF and his wife as persons of excellent reputation and character and stated their loyalty to the United States is beyond question. She said that none of the applicant's associates with whom she is acquainted reflect adversely on him in any way and to her knowledge, he is a member of no organization whose loyalty to this country could be questioned.

b7C

Mr. JEROME JACOBSON, Consulting Economist, 3 Thomas Circle, N. W., a professional and social acquaintance of the applicant for the past two years, furnished substantially the same information concerning applicant as did Mrs. CLARE HOLT.

Interviews with Mr. LAWRENCE E. EBB, Mr. WARREN BAUM, and Mr. ALEXANDER LIPSMAN, who were listed by the applicant as references, have previously been set out under the heading "Employment".

Mrs. WELLS stated the applicant and his wife were well regarded as tenants. Mrs. BEATRICE WIGLER, Apartment 103, and Mrs. W. L. MATHIS, Apartment 301, both 908 Manor Road, who were neighbors of the applicant during the time he resided in the neighborhood, furnished substantially the same information concerning applicant and his wife as did Mrs. E. M. WELLS.

Mrs. HERMAN BARGER, 4422 First Road, South, advised that she has known the applicant and his family since the latter part of 1949. She stated they are people of fine character and their associates, with whom she is acquainted, appear to be reputable people. She said the applicant and his wife have excellent personal habits and they are very highly regarded in the neighborhood. She would have no reason to question their loyalty to the United States and would recommend the applicant for a position of trust in the government.

Mrs. C. F. ARMSTRONG, 4413 First Road, South, and Miss JUDY BROCKELSBY, 4421 First Road, South, who have known the applicant and his family during the time they have resided in the neighborhood, furnished substantially the same information concerning them as did Mrs. HERMAN BARGER.

SIDNEY H. BROWNE, [redacted] residing at 2917 39th Street, N. W., stated that he was formerly with the Consulate at Batavia, Java, and that he first met the applicant in Washington, D. C., in December, 1945. He advised that the applicant came to see him inasmuch as they both were being detailed to the Consulate at Batavia. Mr. BROWNE stated that he next saw the applicant in March, 1946, in Batavia, and worked with him here until February, 1947. He advised that he worked very closely with the applicant and was also well acquainted with him socially. He stated that the applicant's personal character is of the highest, and that he is a very honorable gentleman. He stated that he has no reason to believe that the applicant would constitute a security risk to the Government if employed handling confidential information. Mr. BROWNE stated that the applicant's service in Batavia, as far as he knows, was satisfactory. He stated, however, that the applicant did not work under his supervision. Mr. BROWNE advised that the applicant had a very good standing in the community in Batavia, and that he was highly regarded and well thought of by all. He stated that the applicant had many Indonesian friends and made a great effort in this regard. Mr. BROWNE advised that the applicant did a great deal of work for Dr. WALTER A.FOOTE, who was Consul-General, and that he relied on the applicant a great deal. He further stated that Dr. FOOTE had sort of a fatherly attitude toward the applicant and his new wife, and that he officiated at their wedding in Batavia. However, as time went on, BROWNE stated that Dr. FOOTE's attitude toward the applicant changed, and that he became biased against him because of his race. BROWNE further advised that Dr. FOOTE was not always as cordial to the applicant as he might have been, and that on one occasion remarked that he wished the Foreign Service would quit sending persons of applicant's race to the Consulate inasmuch as he felt that the Indonesians in Batavia did not like them. BROWNE advised, however, that from his knowledge of Dr. FOOTE, he does not believe that he would be prejudiced against the applicant if he were asked for a recommendation.

Bureau letter to New York dated June 21, 1949.

DETAILS: AT WASHINGTON, D. C.

EMPLOYMENT

Confidential Informant T-1, another government agency which maintains personnel records, advised that the records of that office reflect that the applicant was appointed Vice Consul, Division of Foreign Service, State Department, Washington, D. C., December 17, 1945 and that he resigned June 18, 1947 "to accept a fellowship for one year's graduate study at Harvard University". It is also reflected that the applicant's post of duty for this period of employment was Batavia, Java. An efficiency rating concerning the applicant dated September 30, 1946 reflects a rating of very good. An efficiency rating concerning the applicant dated September 30, 1947 reflects a rating of satisfactory with the notation that the applicant had a tendency to be too aggressive and as a result often embarrassed the American Consul General at Batavia, Java.

The records of Confidential Informant T-1 further reflect the applicant was born August 1, 1924 at New York, New York; is married to [redacted] [redacted] who was born [redacted] and who resided in Canada from 1928 to 1944. There is no additional information in this file concerning the applicant or [redacted] b6 b7C

Mr. WALTER A. FOOTE, 1026 16th Street, N. W., advised that he was the former Consul General at Batavia, Java and it was in such a capacity that he first met the applicant in 1946 when the applicant was assigned to work under his supervision as a Vice Consul. Mr. FOOTE stated that his first impressions of the applicant were very high; that he found the applicant to be a man of excellent ability and apparently completely loyal to himself. He stated, however, that as his association with the applicant progressed he learned that the applicant often went behind his back and contacted Indonesians which presented a most ticklish situation inasmuch as at that time his office was attempting to maintain a strictly neutral position. He added that the applicant at that time was a very young man who had just graduated from college and who lacked the maturity, discretion and judgment to handle such difficult contacts. He further advised that he had expressly requested that the applicant and others in the Counsul in Batavia not contact certain individuals in Indonesia and pointed out that the applicant's actions violated all his personal orders and regulations.

Mr. FOOTE stated that there was one individual in particular, SUTAN SJAHRIR, a rebel leader and head of the Indonesian Republicans, whom he alone desired to contact but added that the applicant continually contacted this man and showed great sympathy and admiration for him. Mr. FOOTE stated that although he did not believe SJAHRIR was a Communist he did know that he was a Communist sympathizer and that many of his views and activities followed closely the Communist Party line. Mr. FOOTE advised that at that time between 80 and 90% of the Indonesian people desired that the Dutch Government continue to exert an influence in their government for the next four or five years, inasmuch as they were not ready to maintain their own government at that time. He stated that SJAHRIR, however, did not desire this situation nor did he desire a United States of Indonesia which apparently most of the people in Indonesia preferred. Mr. FOOTE continued that as a result it was most difficult for his office to maintain cordial relations with the Dutch and the British.

Mr. FOOTE advised that he did not believe the applicant to be a Communist nor had he ever heard him express any views which might indicate he preferred some form of Communism, but added that the applicant associated with these "Leftists" and pro-Soviet sympathizers in Batavia and as a result his own views might be subject to question. He further advised that the applicant later wrote a book entitled "The Indonesian Story" which tended to glorify SJAHRIR who certainly was not entitled to such glorification. Mr. FOOTE advised that he read the book himself and found it to be very one sided inasmuch as the applicant had collected practically all of his material from propaganda put out by the Indonesian Republicans and further, that he found much of the applicant's material to be incorrect and misleading. Mr. FOOTE added that he was on the verge of having the applicant recalled to the United States when the applicant suddenly resigned in order to continue his education at Harvard University.

Mr. FOOTE advised that he met the applicant's wife, a Dutch girl whom the applicant married in Batavia. He described her as being a respectable, quiet young lady and one who made a favorable impression. He further advised that the applicant's morals and reputation were above reproach as far as he knew. Mr. FOOTE further advised that he would not have the applicant in his employ in the future, nor would he recommend him for a responsible position of trust with another employer. He further advised that it is his opinion that the applicant is solely interested in writing and that he would use any future office that he might hold as a means of collecting material for future personal publications.

REFERENCES: Bureau File
Bureau letter to New York June 21, 1949.

DETAILS:

At Berkeley, California

LLOYD H. FISHER, Research Associate, Institute of Industrial Relations, and Associate Professor of Political Science, University of California, stated he has known CHARLES WOLF, Jr., for approximately one and one-half years, having first met WOLF when both were studying at Harvard University. FISHER stated they both lived in a housing project at Ft. Devons, Massachusetts, and were members of the same car pool in their travel between Ft. Devons and Cambridge, Massachusetts. FISHER related that he was a fellow at Harvard University and that WOLF was working for his Ph.D. in Political Science, and he believed WOLF was on leave from the State Department, having previously been with this Governmental Department in the Foreign Service in Batavia. FISHER also understands that WOLF was employed [redacted] during the last war. FISHER reported that he left Harvard in April, 1949, and has not seen WOLF since. b3

FISHER reported that WOLF was a good student who was absorbed in his work and as the time of both was engaged for the most part in their studies, little time was available for social contacts, although FISHER stated he would occasionally see WOLF around the village in the project. FISHER advised that his association with WOLF was chiefly in the car pool and in class where they met in seminars in Political Science. FISHER stated he had only a slight acquaintance with the applicant's wife.

FISHER described WOLF as a serious, bright and able person of good character and one who achieved a good scholastic record. FISHER believes WOLF comes from a good professional family of moderate circumstances.

FISHER felt that by reason of his association in class where the students would read and discuss their papers, he was able to form a reasonable judgment of the applicant, and stated he has no reason to suspect that WOLF was otherwise than a patriotic and loyal American.
