Senior Solutions Architect's Report on October 2016 @FBIRecords Vault Autotweets:

Basic Overview: Autotweet Process

On July 15, 2016, the FBI deployed the redesigned www.fbi.gov to the public. This newest iteration of the website was built, deployed, and managed through the [redacted] This deployment changed the workflow for the 19 employees of Office of Public Affairs, FBI.gov & Internet Operations Unit (FIOU) and displayed approximately 56,000 pages in a front-end and back-end design. b7E

A feature of the [redacted] with the website that facilitates automatic tweeting (autotweets) of new content published to FBI.gov. This [redacted] is also configured to integrate with vault.fbi.gov, a subdomain managed and maintained by FIOU. [redacted] b7E

[redacted] b7E

Not all FBI.gov content is pushed to Twitter via autotweet. The autotweet process concerns predominately field office content (e.g., FBI Albuquerque press releases are* pushed out to @FBIAlbuquerque), but there are a few additional Twitter accounts like the @FBIRecordsVault.

Detailed Overview: Prepatch Autotweet Process

After the new release of FBI.gov in July of 2016, content editors at the FBI noticed issues where occasionally items were not being automatically tweeted, despite correct configurations of the feeds (and the content therefore appearing on the feeds). In particular, content posted to FBI.gov field offices pages (for example, fbi.gov/dallas) would appear correctly on the corresponding [redacted] but would never autotweet. b7E

An investigation of logs and the systems' programming processes was ongoing, but higher priority items kept rising to the top of the work cue. Eventually the investigation revealed a bug that involved an issue between the [redacted] and the autotweet feature's determination process regarding whether content should be tweeted or not. [redacted] b7E

Consider this hypothetical scenario to demonstrate the problem:

[redacted] b7E

Detailed Overview: Postpatch Autotweet Process

In late early October 2016, the senior solutions architect determined the best remedy to this issue would be to [redacted] The automatic tweet feature now stores data on the most recent tweet, so it understands that tweeting should occur for any content currently present in the feed that was not previously tweeted. [redacted] b7E

On October 19, 2016, the fix was applied to the servers running the automatic tweet process. However, despite the fix being applied, this does not mean the fix began to work immediately or even that day because software patches are also subject to [redacted] b7E

On October 30, multiple tweets were released from the @FBIRecordsVault Twitter account. The aforementioned patch had been applied and the autotweet process now found several items on the feed that it determined had not previously been pushed to Twitter.

[redacted] b7E

Consequently, the @FBIRecordsVault Twitter account was mostly broken, only seldom sending tweets out [redacted] Prior to October 30, 2016, the last tweet was sent more than one year ago. Overall, the account had an extremely low number of followers, and no one had previously reported it broken, partly due to its unpopularity. Additionally, this Twitter account historically has not generated or published much content since its November 2011 creation. b7E

On November 1, 2016, [redacted] and a tweet was released using the new/current autotweet process described above. This tweet included information regarding the Clinton foundation along with any other content not previously identified since the fix was implemented. b7E

Conclusion

Based on the systems involved, the processes as known to the senior solutions architect, and a thorough review thereof, the scenario here outlined is what most likely occurred. It is also possible there is a separate, unknown bug at this time or another unknown technical variable that could have caused this issue.

Social Media Overview

The FBI.gov and Internet Operations Unit (FIOU) in the Office of the Public Affairs (OPA) at FBI Headquarters directs social media policy and operations. The FBI's current third-party social media platforms include Facebook, Twitter, Flickr, and YouTube.

In joining social media platforms and managing the FBI's social media presence, FIOU must keep the following in mind:

- The FBI must have a clear, defined purpose for participating in each social media website it adopts.
- Engaging in social media requires creating a steady stream of compelling content to keep users engaged. FIOU has a team of writers, editors, videographers, and graphic artists to develop such materials.
- Quality and accuracy are important pieces of posting content to social media. State, local, and other federal government agencies are not under the same scrutiny and not held to the same standards as the FBI. Their written or graphic missteps typically do not make national news or have the potential to derail an investigation.
- New social media platforms considered for use by the FBI must first be approved by OGC in conjunction with FIOU to ensure that the terms of service and other issues meet FBI legal requirements.
- At all times, the FBI must comply with a number of federal laws and White House, OMB, and DOJ regulations and policies governing websites and social media. These laws, regulations, and policies cover requirements that include privacy, security, recordkeeping, and accessibility and are outlined in the policy and SOPs below.
- [redacted] b7E

FBI policy concerning social media can be found in Corporate Policy Directive 0672D, Creating and Maintaining FBI Public Websites and FBI Web Presences on the Internet and its supplemental Standard Operating Procedures for Creating and Maintaining FBI Public Websites and Web Presences on the Internet.

Contacts

- [redacted] (Facebook, Twitter, Flickr; policy)
- [redacted] (Facebook ads, YouTube) b6

Facebook

- The FBI only maintains two Facebook pages: FIOU runs the FBI's main Facebook account; OPA's Community Relations Unit (CRU) runs one account dedicated to community outreach efforts.
- Facebook posts are usually paragraph-length and often include a photo (or wanted poster or video, etc.), as well as a link to content on FBI.gov or one of its subdomains.
- How FIOU can assist divisions and field offices via Facebook:
    - By request, FIOU will post cases/investigations, campaigns, fugitives, public outreach efforts, etc.

- FIOU can target audiences by location and demographics (for example, if seeking a fugitive in Kansas, Facebook posts can be targeted to individuals who list their residences as that state).
- FIOU can run Facebook ads for high-profile campaigns (note: advertising on Facebook must be purchased by the field office/division). For more information, please see the Facebook ads PowerPoint and then contact [redacted] b6

- Facebook limitations/restrictions:
  - Individual divisions and field offices are not granted their own Facebook pages.
  - OPA media guidelines (the aforementioned Corporate Policy Directive 0672D) governing what can be said publicly regarding FBI operations and investigations remain in place on social media sites.
  - At the direction of OGC, the FBI currently does not respond to public comments on social media sites. This issue may be revisited in the future, but for now, the FBI uses social media as an additional channel to push out its web content, not as a two-way dialogue with the public.
- Facebook Live events:
  - Facebook Live events are scheduled through and faciliated by FIOU. Request forms must be received one month prior to the proposed event date and must be submitted via UNET e-mail to [redacted] and [redacted] FIOU may deny requests for a number of reasons, including scheduling and room availability. b6
  - FIOU's general process for Facebook Live events is as follows:

    1. FIOU receives a request for a Facebook Live event (must be one month prior to event).
    2. FIOU notifies division's NPO point of contact.
    3. FIOU notifies requestor if event has been approved or denied.
    4. FIOU sends follow-up e-mail after event has been approved. The e-mail provides next steps and asks that requesting division providing talking points to, or work on talking points with, NPO point of contact.
    5. FIOU develops and disseminates playbook.
    6. FIOU and NPO promote the event via social media.
    7. Facebook Live rehearsal happens 1-2 days prior to event.
    8. Facebook Live event occurs.

Flickr

- The FBI's Flickr account is run by FIOU.
- The FBI's Flickr account is predominately populated with photos taken by FIOU photographers, usually in conjunction with a story or campaign posted to fbi.gov.
- By request, FIOU will post high-quality images submitted by field offices or divisions, including photos taken at community outreach events.
  - High-quality community outreach photos may be posted to Flickr's Community Outreach album. Photos, along with titles and photo descriptions, should be sent to [redacted] in CRU; please indicate that you would like the photo(s) considered for Flickr. Posting to Flickr is at the discretion of CRU and FIOU. b6

- At this time, field offices and divisions do not have their own Flickr pages.

- Flickr can be utilized by a field office or division to publish large groups of photos that would otherwise not be publicized on their website or through another social media channel.

- Flickr limitations/restrictions:
  - OPA media guidelines (the aforementioned Corporate Policy Directive 0672D) governing what can be said publicly regarding FBI operations and investigations remain in place on social media sites.

- [redacted] b7E
- Before submitting photos, please ensure that the photographed individuals have consented to having their pictures posted on the Internet.
- FIOU reserves the right not to publish any photos based on content, quality, etc.

Twitter

- Twitter accounts are available to all field offices. Other divisions or programs that would like Twitter accounts must contact FIOU with a business case; FIOU will evaluate the requests on a case-by-case basis.
- Twitter field office accounts are managed and monitored by field personnel.
  - FIOU provides training and support to account managers.
  - While field office media reps manage most active Twitter accounts, anyone in a field office may receive training and use Twitter if authorized by that office.
  - The number of individuals who may use a Twitter account is not limited.
- All users must sign a disclaimer stating they have approval to Tweet and/or monitor Tweets on behalf of that office and the FBI and must participate in a 45-minute training session conducted in-person or over the phone. All account managers are sent a Twitter PowerPoint presentation that includes information on how to use the [redacted] Twitter best practices, and FBI Twitter guidelines. b7E
- Tweets are issued and approved by the individual account managers themselves. There is generally no HQ OPA approval required for Tweets. Media guidelines and standard operating procedures apply.
- Tweets are limited to 140 characters and must succinctly convey a message; however, multiple Tweets can be issued back-to-back on one topic if appropriate.
- Benefits of using Twitter:
  - Can publicize cases, campaigns, and fugitives.
  - Can reach out to followers and enlist the public's help.
  - Can target audiences using Twitter's native tools, like @ and #.
  - Can promote outreach programs like the Citizens Academy, Teen Academy, etc.
  - Provides the ability to communicate in dynamic/emergency situations.
- Ways to engage audiences on Twitter:
  - Post pictures and videos.
  - Highlight events or assistance provided to the community.
  - Live-Tweet press conferences, speeches, etc.
  - Recruit by posting FBI job information (or by retweeting from @FBIJobs).
  - Pull content from the FBI.gov website (from the Vault, the history pages, etc.) or retweet from the @FBI account (stories, blogs, etc.).
  - Participate in Twitter "days": Throwback Thursday (#tbt), Fugitive Friday, Wanted Wednesday, etc.
  - Use hashtags (like #FBI) and appropriate Twitter lingo (like #ICYMI).
- Twitter limitations/restrictions:

- OPA media guidelines (the aforementioned Corporate Policy Directive 0672D) governing what can be said publicly regarding FBI operations and investigations remain in place on social media sites.
- FIOU has published (effective January 2016) additional guidelines clarifying what can and cannot be Tweeted from third-party media sources.
- On Twitter, the FBI cannot control whether someone makes a threat on their own account, hashtags (#s) or mentions (@s) FBI pages, or replies to FBI Tweets or retweets.
- At the direction of OGC, the FBI currently does not respond to public comments on social media sites. This issue may be revisited in the future, but for now, the FBI uses social media as an additional channel to push out its web content, not as a two-way dialogue with the public.
- Care must be taken to ensure that all Tweeting is done from an FBI perspective, not from that of an individual. It is difficult and inadvisable to delete Tweets and pictures once live on Twitter. If you have Tweeted in error, even if it is erased from the live page, it may have still been captured by a member of the public.

YouTube

- The FBI's YouTube account is run by FIOU.
- By request, FIOU will post high-quality videos for field offices. These videos will be made public on the FBI's YouTube channel and can be embedded into press releases and/or into Tweets and/or on Facebook.
- YouTube videos can support investigations (examples: Israel Keyes, Navy Yard shooting), highlight programs, enlist public support ("Do you recognize suspect?"), etc.
- YouTube limitations/restrictions:
    - OPA media guidelines (the aforementioned Corporate Policy Directive 0672D) governing what can be said publicly regarding FBI operations and investigations remain in place on social media sites.
- [redacted] b7E
- Before submitting videos for uploading/posting to YouTube, please ensure the video has been carefully reviewed and that it is approved for public release (for example, be sure that any faces that should not be shown have been appropriately blurred).
- FIOU does not publish videos created by private organizations unless they are trusted partners of the FBI who have given the Bureau express permission to post the videos.

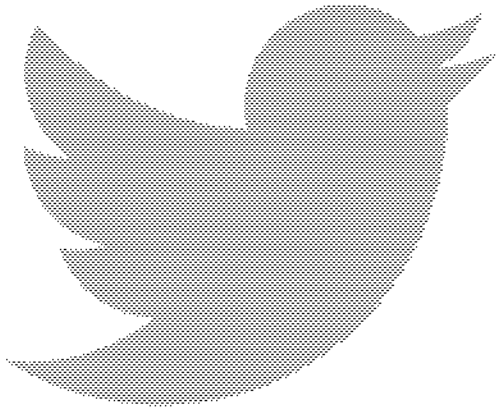
Guidelines for Twitter Account Managers



Revised February 2017

Intro to Twitter

* Twitter is a social networking tool that allows users to send, receive, and view short messages known as Tweets.
* All Tweets, to include text for links and image URLs, must be 140 characters or less.
* FBI Twitter accounts are set to auto-Tweet (no one needs to manually Tweet) or can be solely be maintained by the account manager(s)—or a combination of the two.
* You cannot prevent another Twitter user from hashtagging, Tweeting at you, replying to your Tweets, etc. This is part of the functionality of Twitter.

Twitter Terminology

* Tweet: a comment posted to Twitter that is 140 characters or less (to include URLs and photos)
* Replies: public Tweets posted in reply to another user's message; replies always start with @username
* Retweet: a Tweet by another user forwarded to you by someone you follow; or, the act of re-posting another user's Tweet to all your followers
* Messages: private comments from followers; these are received separately from Tweets
* Mention: the inclusion another username within a Tweet (Great work, @PhoenixPD!)
* Hashtag: the # is used to tag key words or topics in a Tweet, like #FBI
* Followers: Twitter users who are subscribed to your account

Your Role

* You will have the opportunity to Tweet information from your office by utilizing [redacted] b7E
* You will also be able to Retweet messages and follow other users.
* You will follow all OPA media guidelines (Corporate Policy Directive 0672D and its SOPs) governing what can be said publicly on social media sites.
* Remember: You're Tweeting as the FBI, not as an individual.

Tweeting

* There are three ways you can choose to manage your field office's Twitter account:
  1. By default, content is automatically pushed out (we call this being set to auto-Tweet). If you never push out content, your Twitter feed will be composed exclusively of content posted to your fbi.gov site.
  2. You can be completely taken off auto-Tweet in order to control everything that is Tweeted through your account. This gives you the opportunity to provide your followers with additional content not found directly on fbi.gov. In this case, you must push all content, including press releases, that you want on your Twitter page. If you choose this option, you will need to be sure you can dedicate time and effort to populating your account.
  3. You can choose a combination of options #1 and #2. Your Twitter account will be set to auto-Tweet, but you will still be able to Tweet additional information or content at your discretion.

Using Hashtags in Tweets

* The hashtag (#) is used before a keyword or phrase (no spaces) in your message to categorize your Tweet and help it show up more easily in Twitter searches. Hashtags also take up characters.
* On Twitter, clicking a hashtagged word in any message shows you all other Tweets marked with that same keyword.
* Hashtags can occur anywhere in the Tweet—beginning, middle, or end.
* Hashtags can drive public interest in a particular topic or item.
* Hashtagged words that become very popular often become trending topics on Twitter—and trending topic are featured on the Twitter homepage.
* If you Tweet with a hashtag on a public account, anyone who does a search for that hashtag can find your Tweet.
* Don't over-hashtag in a single Tweet—best practices recommend using no more than two hashtags per Tweet.

* Use hashtags when relevant, appropriate, and possible.
* Search your hashtag before using it (via [redacted] or Twitter.com). Users on Twitter may not always be using a hashtag the way you intend to use it.

b7E

Posting an Image to Twitter

Image Tips

* Before uploading an image for Tweeting, know that…
  * you must give it a short, somewhat descriptive title:
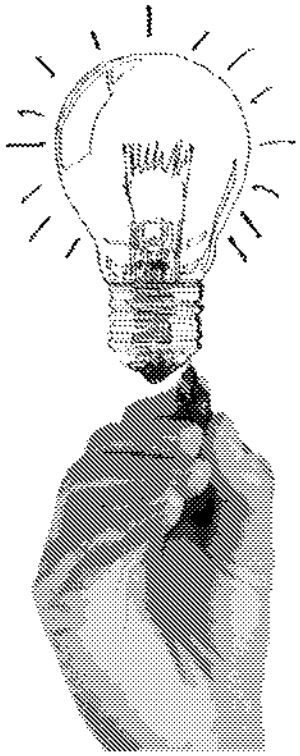
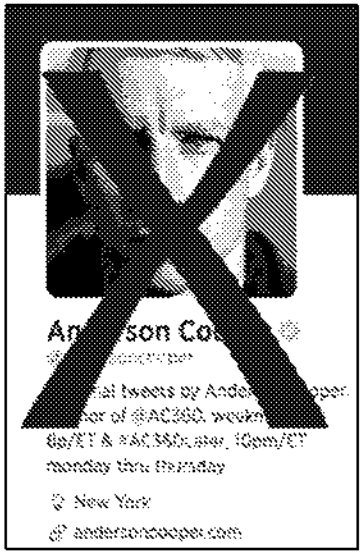
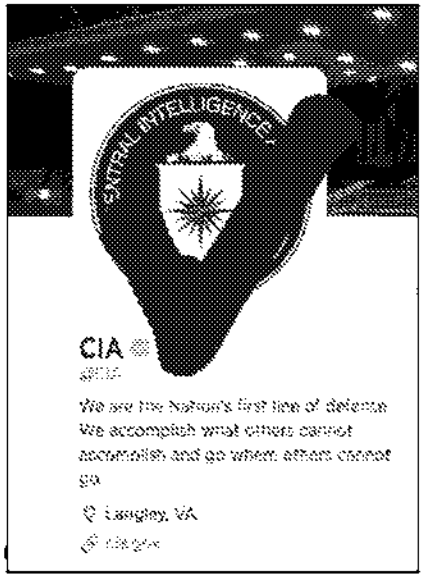
    * bad image titles: DSC_075423.jpg; picture01.jpg
    * good image titles: SAC.jpg, fbicar.jpg
  * the image quality and resolution must be high
  * the image's subject matter must be for a public audience
  * images showing any Bureau technology should be approved for public dissemination prior to being tweeted



Following Other Users

FBI Twitter accounts are not permitted to follow individual reporters or journalists or elected or appointed officials…





…but government agencies and departments, local news stations, credentialed media sources, trusted partners, and other FBI Twitter accounts.

FBI Twitter Rules

Things to Do...

* Tweet in an authentic voice, use common sense and discretion, and keep in mind that you are representing the FBI.
* Review your Tweets for spelling, grammar, and accuracy before posting.
* Follow all previously issued media guidelines.
* Follow all IPPAU processes governing wanted fugitives, missing kids, etc.

FBI Twitter Rules

…Things Not to Do…

* Don't respond to @replies or direct messages.
* Don't follow external news reporters. Following credentialed media sources and your local news channels is OK; trusted partners of the FBI are OK, too.
* Don't follow elected or appointed officials.

* A good rule of thumb is to follow the agency/organization but not the individual people.

FBI Twitter Rules

...and Things to Do with Caution

* FIOU recognizes the value in Tweeting links to news media articles, interviews, or publications; or Tweeting items that relate to FBI partnerships and non-government entities.
* Please follow the below guidelines:

1. Craft an original Tweet and do not retweet from the source's Twitter account. (Continue to retweet content from local, state, federal, and international government agencies).
2. "Put the FBI first." Focus on what the FBI is doing and place less emphasis on the partner.
3. Keep Tweets factual and substantive.
4. Avoid any impression of an endorsement of the non-government entity.

Use caution and your best discretion and always feel free to contact FIOU if you have any questions!

FBI Twitter Rules

...and Things to Do with Caution

* FIOU recognizes that Tweets referencing upcoming media appearances of FBI executives (e.g., when Director Comey has a 60 Minutes interview airing) can be valuable.
* Please follow the below guidelines:

1. Ensure that the upcoming media appearance is done in the executive's official capacity.

[redacted] b7E

3. Keep Tweets factual and substantive.
4. Avoid any impression of an endorsement of the program or media outlet.

Use caution and your best discretion and always feel free to contact FIOU if you have any questions!

Ways to Improve Your Twitter Presence

* Publicize cases, campaigns, and fugitives and reach out to followers and enlist the public's help.
* Target your audiences using Twitter's native tools like @ and #.
* Promote outreach programs like Citizens Academy, Teen Academy, etc.
* Communicate in dynamic situations (when appropriate).
* Post pictures.
* Highlight events or assistance provided to the community.
* Live-Tweet press conferences, speeches, etc.
* Recruit by posting FBI job information (or by retweeting from @FBIJobs).
* Pull content from FBI.gov (the Vault, history pages, your own website, etc.) or retweet from the @FBI account (stories, blogs, etc.)
* Participate in Twitter "holidays" like Throwback Thursday (#tbt) or Flashback Friday (#fbf). Some FBI accounts also do Fugitive Friday or Wanted Wednesday and Tuesday Trivia.
* Review what other @FBI accounts are doing for ideas and inspiration.

TRANSITORY RECORD

Hi [redacted]

This concerns a request for Clinton Foundation materials we received some months ago from this requester, and the request has now ripened in our processing queues so the first FOIA release is ready to roll—the timing , of course, may draw attention. See attached summary and .pdf version of the first release which deals with the long closed investigation into allegations that the Presidential pardon of fugitive Marc Rich was generated by donations by [redacted] (58A-NY-278417). As you can see in the .pdfs—not much is being released given multiple exemptions in play. b6 b7C

Synopsis: Request to open a Preliminary Investigation into captioned matter.

Details: In accordance with the policy regarding Public Corruption investigations, the authority of the SAC is requested to open a Preliminary Investigation.

This matter is predicated upon information obtained from the United States Attorney's Office, Southern District of New York (SDNY), public record information including newspaper accounts and related media, and public hearings held by the U.S. House of Representatives Government Reform Committtee.

On 01/20/01, former U.S. President, William J. Clinton, in his final day as President, granted a full and unconditional pardon to Marc Rich, a fugitive from the Department of Justice (DOJ). Rich and his partner, Pincus Green, (also pardoned), were indicted in the SDNY in September 1983, for numerous charges including mail fraud, wire fraud, tax evasion, and racketeering. Shortly after Rich and Green were indicted, the pair fled to Switzerland, where they have lived in exile and have remained fugitives. Rich and Green were partners in a commodities business, and were also indicted for several counts of illegal trading for conducting business with Iran during the 1980 hostage crisis. Rich and Green were two of approximately 140 individuals who were pardoned by Clinton.

[redacted] has been a major political donor to the Democratic Party, and these donations may have been intended to influence the fugitive's pardon. A review of contributions filed with the Federal Election Commission (FEC), has revealed that from approximately [redacted] donated approximately [redacted] in "soft money" contributions to the Democratic National Committee (DNC). [redacted] of the donations were contributed in the year 2000. Public records also indicate that [redacted] contributed approximately [redacted] to the William J. Clinton Presidential Foundation, a foundation to support the Clinton library. b6 b7C

Pursuant to testimony provided at the aforementioned hearings, it appears that the required pardon standards and procedures were not followed. DOJ rules and regulations governing the issuance of pardons requires that the pardon attorney at DOJ receive a formal pardon application to commence a pardon investigation. That investigation would include contact with the respective U.S. Attorney's office and investigative agencies. Based upon the findings of that investigation, a recomendation is made by the pardon attorney to the White House for the President's review and consideration. U.S. Pardon Attorney, Roger Adams, testified before the Senate Judiciary Committee on 2/14/01 that with respect to Rich and Green, "none of the regular procedures were followed." Former Deputy Attorney General Eric Holder previously testified that he was the only person at DOJ notified of the pardon sought by Rich. Holder was contacted directly by Jack Quinn, Marc Rich's attorney, and former White House Counsel.

On 02/13/01, [redacted] SDNY, and Assistant United States Attorney, [redacted] SDNY, advised that [redacted] b5 b6 b7C

Inasmuch as Marc Rich was initially indicted in the SDNY, this matter will continue to be investigated by the SDNY, and it is anticipated that this matter will not have a negative impact on any ongoing cases in the Eastern District of New York.

A separate Electronic Communication and Letterhead Memeorandum will be forwarded to CID, Corruption/Civil Rights Unit, that outline the allegations of this matter, the United States Attorney's prosecutive opinion, and violation of Federal statutes. Access to this matter will also be restricted to select personnel designated by the SAC, Division II.

On February 15, 2001, the New York Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) opened a preliminary inquiry into the above captioned matter. This investigation is predicated upon information obtained from the United States Attorney's Office, Southern District of New York (SDNY), public record information including newspaper accounts and related media, and public hearings held by the U.S. House of Representatives Government Reform Committee and Senate Judiciary Committee. The facts predicating this preliminary inquiry are set forth below.

On January 20, 2001, former U.S. President, William J. Clinton, in his final day as President, granted a full and unconditional pardon to Marc Rich, a fugitive from the Department of Justice (DOJ). Rich and his partner, Pincus Green (also pardoned on January 20, 2001), were indicted in the SDNY in September 1983 on numerous charges including mail fraud, wire fraud, tax evasion, and racketeering. Shortly after Rich and Green were indicted, the pair fled to Switzerland where they have lived in exile and have remained fugitives. Rich and Green were partners in a commodities business and were also indicted for several counts of illegal trading for business conducted with Iran during the 1980 hostage crisis. Rich and Green were two of 141 individuals who were pardoned by Clinton in his last day as President.

[redacted] has been a major political donor to the Democratic Party. These contributions may have been intended to influence the pardon issued to Rich and Green. A review of contributions filed with the Federal Election Commission (FEC) has revealed that from approximately [redacted] [redacted] donated approximately [redacted] in "soft money" contributions to the Democratic National Committee (DNC). [redacted] of the donations were contributed in the year 2000. FEC records also indicate that [redacted] contributed another [redacted] to Democratic and Republican committees, and [redacted] to the New York State Senatorial joint fundraising campaigns. b6 b7C

Public records also indicate that [redacted] contributed approximately [redacted] to the William J. Clinton Presidential Foundation, a foundation that supports the Clinton Presidential Library. Of the [redacted] checks were donated [redacted] respectively. Additionally, [redacted] personally gifted [redacted] valued at approximately [redacted] to the former President in the year 2000. b6 b7C

Pursuant to testimony provided at the aforementioned hearing, it appears that standard DOJ procedures governing the issuance of pardons were not followed. DOJ rules and regulations, codified in the Code of Federal Regulations, require that the pardon attorney at DOJ receive a formal pardon application to commence a pardon investigation. That investigation would include contact with the respective U.S. Attorney's Office and investigative agencies. Based upon the findings of that investigation, a recommendation is made by the pardon attorney to the White House for the President's review and consideration. On February 14, 2001, U.S. Pardon Attorney Roger Adams testified before the Senate Judiciary Committee that with respect to Rich and Green, "none of the regular procedures were followed." Former Deputy Attorney General Eric Holder previously testified on February 8, 2001 at the House Government Reform Committee hearing that he was the only person at DOJ notified of the pardon sought by Rich. Holder was contacted directly by Jack Quinn, Marc Rich's attorney and former Clinton White House Counsel.

The FBI and the SDNY will initially [redacted] as it pertains to the investigation. Furthermore, material witnesses will be subpoenaed to testify before the Federal Grand Jury. Interviews of material witnesses will also be conducted. b3

On February 13, 2001, [redacted] SDNY, and Assistant United States Attorney, [redacted] SDNY, advised Special Agents of the New York Office of the b6 b7C

Thanks [redacted] b6

I'm trying to connect with AD Kortan on this - I believe he wanted to discuss the matter with the Director's Office before it was released.

I will keep you updated, but please don't release it to the requestor until we have concurrence with AD Kortan.

Thank you!

Per [redacted] email yesterday, here is a blurb to accompany the release. Please don't make it live before checking in with [redacted] on whether or not OPA has had a chance to be fully aware of the matter. Thanks, b6

This initial release consists of material from the FBI's files related to the William J. Clinton Foundation, a non-profit 501(c)(3) organization. The bulk of these records come from a 2001 FBI investigation into the pardon of Marc Rich (1934-2013), aka Marcell David Reich, by President Clinton in 2001; it was closed in 2005. The material is heavily redacted due to personal privacy protections and grand jury secrecy rules.

I have been calling several reporters and providing them with context on the FOIA process, however, the numbers of reporters are ever increasing so I'd like to send them this statement and then talk to them on the phone for additional context. Any issues with this?

Per [redacted] email yesterday, here is a blurb to accompany the release. Please don't make it live before checking in with [redacted] on whether or not OPA has had a chance to be fully aware of the matter. Thanks,

This initial release consists of material from the FBI's files related to the William J. Clinton Foundation, a non-profit 501(c)(3) organization. The bulk of these records come from a 2001 FBI investigation into the pardon of Marc Rich (1934-2013), aka Marcell David Reich, by President Clinton in 2001; it was closed in 2005. The material is heavily redacted due to personal privacy protections and grand jury secrecy rules.

Hi, [redacted]

Hope all is well on your end. The @FBIRecordsVault Twitter account did some automatic Tweeting these past few days, which it hadn't done in awhile (October 2015). Had you previously requested to be taken off the auto-Tweet feature for the account?

Thank you!

FBI Domestic Investigations and Operations Guide (DIOG)

Wednesday, September 14, 2016, 12:00:00 AM | fbi
The FBI's Domestic Investigations and Operations Guide (DIOG) was revised and updated based on comments

The FBI's Domestic Investigations and Operations Guide (DIOG) was revised and updated based on comments and feedback received since the original DIOG was issued on December 16, 2008. This new version was approved by Director Mueller on October 15, 2011. The changes primarily clarify and enhance the definitions of terms and procedures used in the original DIOG. Each change has been carefully looked at and considered against the backdrop of the tools our employees need to accomplish their mission, the possible risks associated with the use of those tools, and the controls that are in place. The DIOG was first issued to help implement the new Attorney General's Guidelines for Domestic FBI Operations that were issued earlier in 2008. Those guidelines had reconciled a number of previously separate guidelines, the first of which had been issued in 1976. The most recent version of the Guide is the version update of 10/16/2013, which was posted here on 9/14/2016.
