PUBLIC RELATIONS MATTER

The above captioned individual telephonically contacted the writer and advised that he was in the process of organizing the club and organization to be known as [REDACTED] which it was contemplated would be nation wide in scope with chapters in various cities in the country. He stated that he had planned on approaching five prominent individuals with the intention of securing their endorsement for the club, one of which was to be FRANK SINATRA, but that he had heard in recent days that there was some indication that SINATRA was developing the reputation of being a Communist sympathizer.

[REDACTED] described some of the four individuals that he had in mind as a professor of Columbia University, a multimillionaire and Mr. VINCENT SULLIVAN of the DAILY NEWS all of whom he described as very conservative individuals and in the event of their acceptance of the position as officers in the organization, he did not want to embarrass them by having SINATRA associated with them in the event that the allegations were true.

[REDACTED] also made reference to a short statement appearing in the column of WALTER WINCHELL in the DAILY MIRROR on May 1, 1946 which stated that the FBI was setting up an organization for the purpose of clearing people's names who had been unjustly accused, and [REDACTED] desired to know whether or not the allegations he had heard against SINATRA were well founded.

[REDACTED] stated that he had contacted Mr. WOOD, Managing Editor of the World Telegram newspaper publication, who advised him that as far as he knew there had been no information developed to date which would indicate that SINATRA was a Communist sympathizer and [REDACTED] stated that due to the WORLD TELEGRAM'S reputation in Communist intelligence matters, he is inclined to rely on Mr. WOOD'S statement.

As Pegler Sees It

Publicity Would Re-Shine Sinatra's Reputation

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright 1947 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

A CAMPAIGN OF PROPAGANDA has been running in some areas of our press, including magazines, and on the radio, to rehabilitate the reputation of Frank Sinatra. This reputation was impaired last Winter when Sinatra was observed in association with notorious persons including Lucky

WESTBROOK PEGLER

Luciano, the deported Italian criminal who had served part of a long term in New York for prostituting women, but turned up in Cuba for the social season of the criminal scum of the North American underworld.

Luciano is a gangster in the Al Capone tradition and is associated with the narcotics trade as well as with prostitution.

Not long after the escapade in Cuba, Sinatra made his way to Hollywood, by way of several Mexican resorts. In Hollywood, on April 9, he was arrested on a charge of assault and held in $500 bail.

Sinatra said Lee Mortimer had called him a vile name and that he saw red and hit him. Mortimer is a theatrical reporter and critic about Sinatra's own size.

Mortimer said Sinatra was a liar. He said he did not even know Sinatra was present in Ciro's restaurant, where the slugging occurred, until he was knocked down by an assailant standing to one side of him or behind him.

ON JUNE 3, MORTIMER ANNOUNCED in court that he was willing that the case be dismissed, subject to the approval of the judge, and said Sinatra had publicly acknowledged that the slugging was unprovoked. Mortimer said Sinatra had paid him $9,000, but explained that he felt obliged to accept this settlement because otherwise Sinatra might induce the court to grant him many postponements.

Mortimer had made one return trip to California already and apprehended that he might have to go back there half a dozen times, neglecting his work in New York. Even then, he might one day discover that, in his absence, the defendant had suddenly come into court and won acquittal because of the failure of the prosecuting witness to answer to his name.

Soon after he was arrested, Sinatra's license to carry a pistol was revoked. The fact that he had a pistol was news to the public and this incident evoked some comment on the fact that he had not carried arms against the Nazis in the war, although in the last days of the European war, and with increasing ferocity after V-E Day, Sinatra had condemned aggressors, dictators and "intolerance."

...the groups with song until the war was over over there. He never wore a uniform. Sinatra himself retired into a silence, but propaganda in his favor rose to an oppressive clamor.

ONE E. J. KAHN, JR., wrote a series of laudatory essays in the New Yorker which were reproduced in book form, warmed over in Look and condensed in one of the digests. A number of those columnists who publish prattle and publicity about the "celebrities," including criminals, of New York, the Miamis, Havana and Saratoga, came to Sinatra's help.

Ed Sullivan, of the New York Daily News, impugned the professional integrity of legitimate journalists who had faithfully covered the "Sinatra Story" in the Havana and Hollywood episodes. He wrote that their motive was to punish Sinatra because he gave of his spare time and energy "to persuade kids to be nice to minority groups."

He mentioned Sinatra about a dozen times in one brief visit to Hollywood and undertook to "make character" for him by proclaiming that Sinatra had turned to painting and was giving a number of his works to charity. Charity takes a severe beating in the publicity of the glamor belt.

In the same brief season, it was observed that a number of other personalities, frequently mentioned and praised as members of the 400 of the night clubs, radio and the movies, had old court and courtmartial records which were more or less forgotten.

There were smugglers who had been caught and had paid fines. There was a draft-dodger who had tried to buy a chief petty officer's rating and a safe assignment early in the war.

And there were Bugsy Siegal, a vicious New York and Hollywood gangster, and his friend and bodyguard, Allen Smiley, a gambler and underworld character. Smiley had been indicted with Tommy Dorsey, the band leader, and his wife of the moment, Pat Dane, charged with hacking off some of the nose of Jon Hall, an actor, at a birthday party. All these were of Hollywood society.

MANY SUCH NAMES OCCURRED and recurred in the seemingly aimless and innocent babble of the Broadway, Hollywood and radio columnists day after day. Each pleasant mention of this kind, especially in material which is widely syndicated or broadcast on national chains, is of incalculable value, although hardly priceless.

Sinatra's most affectionate biographer, Mr. Kahn, states that his income is about $1,000,000 a year. Most of that, of course, would be taxed away. However, as all professional celebrities know, the cost of the maintenance of a professional name, or the reglamorization of a name which has been deglamorized or tarnished by unpleasant publicity, may be legitimately charged off as a business expense.

In a way, the Government might here become a partner some day in a deal to create an utterly false reputation for a low and dangerous character so that the low and dangerous character might earn more money and pay more taxes to the treasury. That, however, is just one of the complications of a complex civilization.

As Pegler Sees It

More About Frankie And Some of His Pals

By WESTBROOK PEGLER
Copyright, 1947. King Features Syndicate, Inc.

E. J. KAHN, JR., ONE OF the rapturous writers in the concert of propoganda to rehabilitate Frank Sinatra's artificial reputation, may, in this instance, be an inferior reporter, for all his seeming of thoroughness and authority. Kahn professes to have made a competent study of his subject, but nowhere in his eulogies does he report that Frank Sinatra was arrested on Nov. 6, 1938, charged with a sexual offense.

WESTBROOK PEGLER

He does tell us that Sinatra's income is somewhat more or less than a million dollars a year, out of which, it might be noted, he could distribute, say, $500,000 as a deductible business expense to stimulate favorable publicity and to suppress unfavorable information.

Kahn writes also that some of Sinatra's public earnestly believe that his birthday is second in importance to only that of Jesus Christ.

Sinatra's publicity has been a phenomenon of propoganda. Almost all of it since his involvement in two unpleasant episodes last Winter has been complimentary. And most of it has been absolutely gratuitous, unjustified by any City Desk news standard.

Doubtless, much of it has been free propoganda in the nature of public mash-notes from ideologians of the Far Left who have thus repaid Sinatra for his pretentious "services" to some of their political projects.

MR. KAHN DID HIS PRAISEFUL ESSAYS originally for the New Yorker, but he got a lot of other mileage out of his stories. Much of the same material has later appeared in book form, in a digest publication and in one of the weekly picture-books.

Nevertheless, this noted authority on Sinatra failed to tell us that on Nov. 28, 1938, in the Criminal Judicial District Court of Bergen County, N. J., Frank Sinatra, of Hoboken, was charged with seducing, on a promise to marry, a young woman "of good repute for chastity, whereby she became pregnant."

Sinatra was released on $1,500 bail provided by the Peerless Casualty Co., of Hackensack, and the complaint was withdrawn on Dec. 7. Two weeks later Sinatra was arrested again, charged this time, with adultery with the same girl, now described as a married woman. The case was referred to the grand jury, which found no bill. It was then dismissed.

Sinatra was about 22 years old at the time. This age conflicts with the accounts of his propogandists, but it is consistent with the age which he stated on the official passenger list of the Pan-American Airways last Feb. 11, when he flew from Miami to Havana with the Fischetti brothers, Joe and Rocco, of Chicago. Sinatra was not merely a passenger on the same plane with the Faschettis. He was with them.

The Fischettis are related to the Capones and have many interests in common with the Capone gang. On this passenger-list, Sinatra's age is given as 30. He was not famous or wealthy in 1938, so the suggestion of blackmail is not as per-from Miami to Havana with the Fischetti brothers, Joe and Rocco, of Chicago. Sinatra was not merely a passenger on the same plane with the Fascettis. He was with them.

The Fischettis are related to the Capones and have many interests in common with the Capone gang. On this passenger-list, Sinatra's age is given as 30. He was not famous or wealthy in 1938, so the suggestion of blackmail is not as persuasive as it might be, had the trouble with the girl occurred in the 1940s.

MR. KAHN IS ONLY ONE of many writers, including night club, radio and movie columnists of New York and Hollywood, who have minimized incidents of Sinatra's career which other persons might have viewed with severity.

Dozens of these "interpreters" and propagandists purport to be authorities on the personal histories of all such "celebrities." Many of them draw outlandish salaries as "reporters." But not one of them has ever reported this episode, the most dramatic in Sinatra's life.

Mr. Kahn concedes that Sinatra has "several friends who, while not precisely desperadoes, are fairly rough-and-tumble individuals." He quotes one of Sinatra's friends as saying that such persons "are always looking out to see that nothing happens to Frankie and it makes him happy to think they're tough hombres." We are not told why they should apprehend that anything might "happen to" a decent man, keeping good company.

Again, Kahn says: "He is often surrounded by a strolling wall of self-appointed guardians," and "he doesn't have any official bodyguard now, but he has had them."

When Sinatra slugged Lee Mortimer, the New York theatrical reporter, in Ciro's, in Hollywood, without warning, striking him from the side or from behind, Mortimer said "Sinatra and three men jumped me."

Now, touching Sinatra's relaxation with Luciano, the Fischettis and others, in Havana, Kahn writes: "One of his acquaintances this past year has been a Chicagoan named Joe Fischetti. He was a man of unsullied reputation himself, but a member of a family not unfamiliar with the due processes of the law. It was through relatives of Fischetti's that Sinatra, while vacationing in Cuba, was induced to shake hands with Lucky Luciano."

That is Kahn's version. He stands on it.

BUT ONE OF SINATRA'S OWN GROUP has referred to a wild party, in which the idol of innocent American girlhood took part in the Hotel Nacional in Havana, as "that debauch." Among those present were Sinatra, Luciano, the Fischettis, a Chicago journalist of the night club and underworld run and a number of women. It was a very loud party.

Such was the handshake with Luciano, one of the foulest criminals of the age and a man soon to be deported even from Cuba for conspiring to start a great narcotic trade. The United States even cut off legal narcotic traffic with Cuba until he had been taken out of action. Sinatra knew who and what Luciano was and he reveled with him.

A strip of moving pictures shows Sinatra coming off the plane in Havana accompanied by two Fischettis, Joe and Rocco. Sinatra is carrying a small baggage case, hardly big enough for more apparel than a shirt, but apparently quite heavy.

This is an appropriate point to quote an official of the U. S. Bureau of Narcotics: "The fact of his being associated with the Fischettis warrants our giving him (Sinatra) more than passing attention."

Another Government investigation revealed that Sinatra's friend, Joe, was a partner with Rocco and another brother named Charlie in a suburban Chicago gambling dive. Rocco was described as a member of the Italian secret underworld organization, the Mafia, of which Luciano was the leader.

Rocco is named in the passenger list just above Sinatra and is with him in the candid movie shot. In Chicago, all three Fischettis live together. Joe and Charlie professed to be antique dealers, but Joe, in official Government papers, gave his occupation as wagering." Rocco said he was "a gambler."

The Narcotics Bureau interviewed all three Fischettis on official business.

As Pegler Sees It

Tells of Parasite Hoodlums of Hollywood

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

SENATOR SHERIDAN DOWNEY, of California, a ham n' eggs New Dealer, recently learned that California, and Hollywood in particular, had developed an underworld. He was apprehensive of a gang war and called upon the Governor, Earl Warren, a Republican, to do his duty.

The Governor took steps. It is ironic that the gangs that Senator Downey mentions are actually a New Deal underworld. The hoodlums are parasites on the moving pictures, radio, the night clubs and trade unions. They operate the corrupt auxiliaries—gambling, narcotics and prostitution.

They enjoy the flattering attention of a whole corps of journalists of a peculiar sort, few of whom ever had city-room training or any education beyond the primary grades. These propagandists, subject to no verification, discipline or any other standards of news journalism, have the power to confer public recognition, even distinction, on individuals who meet their favor for any personal reasons.

They have the power to intimidate, condemn, silence and banish actors, writers, singers and others, for personal or political reasons. They may suppress uncomplimentary facts about individuals and create fantastic artificial reputations and arouse sympathy. This has been done notoriously in the case of Frank Sinatra, who tarnished his own reputation last Winter. Of all the "celebrated" Broadway and Hollywood radio reporters and columnists, not one ever reported that he was once arrested charged with a sexual offense.

Sinatra has been thrust upon the public as a crusader for clean thought and living and "tolerance" among American youth, particularly innocent but excitable young girls. This was a quick and directed change from his old propaganda by which some alarmingly large element of adolescents had been directed into scenes of emotional public behavior. Sinatra, somehow, had acquired a power.

HE HAD A SPELL. There was nothing quite like this in the history of mass hysteria. The bobby-soxers were staying up far into the night on the dark streets of New York. There were episodes here and there over the country—shop-lifting, picketing, waywardness. It then became advisable to indicate that Sinatra was a very wholesome, domestic fellow.

He had been hired to play the role of a fine priest in a movie version of "The Miracle of the Bells." Therefore, in a manner of speaking, it was imperative that he be deloused after his notorious association last Winter with Lucky Luciano, the deported dealer in prostitutes and narcotics, and with the Fischettis of Chicago, who are relatives of the Capones and have been associated with typical Capone business interests.

This Luciano episode had been followed by the slugging of Lee Mortimer, a New York theatrical reporter, by Sinatra, in Hollywood last April. But it was now too late to stop serious inquiries into Sinatra's past and his associations.

In anticipation of his trial in the Mortimer slugging case, a canvass was made of his early career. The seduction case turned up and Sinatra's photographs and fingerprints from the court files were sent to California.

Meanwhile, the F. B. I. and the Bureau of Narcotics had

Lee Mortimer, a ...
Hollywood last April. But it was now too late to start serious inquiries into Sinatra's past and his associations.

In anticipation of his trial in the Mor... or slugging case, a canvass was made of his early career. The seduction case turned up and Sinatra's photographs and fingerprints from the court files were sent to California.

Meanwhile, the F. B. I. and the Bureau of Narcotics had come across Sinatra's name in their records in the routine course of their work. Both of these agencies were interested in many of Sinatra's associates—Luciano, the Fischettis and Willie Moretti, a notorious New Jersey gangster, who for years has been associated with Frank Costello, Joe Adonis, Longie Zwillman, Meyer Lansky and the late Bugsy Siegal.
Moretti is commonly known as Willie Moore.

Adonis, a mighty man in the underworld of New York and Brooklyn, recently moved to Bergen County, N. J., where Moore is the absolute underworld boss. It was in Bergen County that Sinatra was arrested in 1936 on a charge of seduction and causing the pregnancy of an unmarried young woman. Sinatra was in the roadhouse stage of his career and Moretti, or Moore, was his friend of some years. The complaining witness developed a husband in about one month, so the charge was reduced to adultery which, naturally, was beneath the notice of a worldly Bergen County grand jury.

NO INDICTMENT WAS FOUND and Sinatra was discharged. The incident did indicate a certain precocity, however, for it will be observed that the facts of the case never were tried and that this experience of the youth so soon to become the idol of American girlhood was by no means common to decent young American males, however poor.

Incidentally, Sinatra's political appeal has been based on the piteous pretenses that he was a poor boy and was called a "Dago" when he was a child. He never was dirt poor, however, and always had a comfortable home in Hoboken, where his father is a captain of the Fire Department, an important political appointment in that jurisdiction.

There were many respectable Italian-Americans in the area, so the picture of little Frank Sinatra as a sensitive and oppressed member of an ostracized minority is an invention of self-serving and self-pitying publicity. By choice, Sinatra became the friend of Moretti, who was no credit to the Italian community. Frank appears to have been tough only in a sly and tricky way.

He never made a name as an upstanding, man-fashion fighter.
In his only confirmed public fistfight it was shown that he slugged his victim, Lee Mortimer, with a sneak punch from behind or from a blind side. Mortimer did not even know Sinatra was near.

NOT ONLY SINATRA but the clique of radio and syndicated newspaper columnists and propagandists who advertise underworld personalities are clamorous idolators of the late Roosevelt and partisan Democrats. Many of them and, of course, thousands of magnates and actors of the movie industry and radio entertainers elbowed for room in the spotlights to show themselves to Roosevelt and the other party bosses in the March of Dimes and Birthday Ball rites.

The hangouts of such people have long been the unofficial political headquarters of the bosses and aristocrats of the new ruling class. It was at Toots Shor's restaurant, in New York, frequented by Longie Zwillman and similar trade, that Bob Hannegan, the Postmaster General, then chairman of the Democratic National Committee, who also makes the place his spiritual home in town, invited Sinatra to visit President Roosevelt in the White House.

This was toward election time in 1944. Shor was in wrong with the O. P. A. at the moment over red points for steaks, but Hannegan invited him, too, and Sinatra and Shor were duly received.

Prior to this time, Sinatra had been classified 1-A by his draft board but had not been called. E. J. Kahn, Jr., a very friendly biographer reports that after the visit with Roosevelt, Sinatra gave $7,500 to the Democratic campaign fund for the fourth term.

A few months later, in March, 1945, he was permanently deferred on final orders from Washington.

In tomorrow's Journal-American Westbrook Pagler continues his forceful, factual blasts against injustice. Don't miss his column in Sunday's Journal-American either.

ITALIAN 'STREETS' TO TAKE PART IN APPEAL BROADCAST

Sinatra to Stage Radio Plea To Italy for Defeat of Reds

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS,
International News Service Motion Picture Editor.
HOLLYWOOD, April 4 (INS).—An appeal broadcast directly to the Italian people to vote against the Communist ticket at the April 18 election is being arranged by Frank Sinatra.

Guests will be Jimmy Durante, Joe DiMaggio and Alida Valli. The hour-long show will be in Italian.

Sinatra, who returned from New York today, was asked by high Washington officials to get together a show with famous guests of Italian parentage and Frankie gladly accepted the assignment to help fight Communism.

Twenty-seven recordings will be made and played in various parts of Italy in an effort to reach even the most remote parts of the country.

Frankie told me Washington also had requested that Clark Gable and Tyrone Power appear on the show, even though they are not of Italian descent and do not speak the language.

300 War Brides Plan Plea to Italy

More than 300 Italian war brides yesterday gave a boost to the campaign to bombard the people of Italy with appeals to vote anti-Communist in the April 18 elections, when they recorded their sentiments on separate phonograph discs at the radio station WOV.

The war brides are each from a different town in Italy and their messages, written and spoken by themselves and addressed to friends and relatives in their home towns, will be flown to Italy tomorrow. Comparatively few Italians hear short-wave programs, but almost every home has a phonograph, and a record sent from America in the voice of a former resident will be passed from house to house.

Typical was this message, addressed to friend and relatives in Bari, by Mrs. Frank Ferrucci, 15, of 301 Grant Ave., Hoboken: "We have been under one dictatorship. We don't want another. We must remain faithful to Christ."

Meanwhile, the informal campaign to flood Italy with anti-Communist letters, cables and records is sweeping the country. Postmaster Goldman reported yesterday Italy-bound mail has more than doubled recently.

MEMO

RE: FRANK SINATRA

At 11 a.m. today Assistant Director L. B. Nichols called and said the wire service boys told him there is a story going around New York that the FBI or someone else is about to arrest FRANK SINATRA inasmuch as he took two million dollars to LUCKY LUCIANO in Havana, Cuba, a few years ago. He said he had heard nothing about this and wondered if I had.

I advised I knew nothing about that, but that there had been a rumor around the building that either SINATRA was supposed to testify or was not going to testify before the Kefauver Committee, which is scheduled to hold some hearings in this building in the near future; that I think probably there is some publicity coming out soon on the Kefauver Committee and Sinatra.

Mr. Nichols mentioned that he had heard that the Kefauver Committee were going to begin hearings up here next Monday.

Mr. Hoover -

It is being reported here in New York that people who are in the music business in a position to find out whether Sinatra is still active in narcotic habits.

b7c

A few days ago I read at least six or seven columns of text in print and from precisely the source from which I hoped it would come. Mr. By Gardner, in his column in the "New York Herald Tribune," reported that a leading Hollywood producer-executive (who used to head the studio) contends that the empty seats in the theatre across the country and the subsequent loss in box office receipts is due to the "entertainment" of the calibre of Ingrid Bergman, Grace Kelly, and the new "Ava Gardner" and Frank Sinatra. It has certainly to be said that the "entertainment" to give evidence of their disclosure with its character of "entertainment" is a good thing that since the public is entitled to know the truth, it is most effective - loss of box office receipts. In other words, Grace Kelly, Grace Kelly, and Grace Kelly, it is wanted immorality, and the "Ava Gardner" mayed. Ava Gardner. This letter is concerned with Frank Sinatra, and in addition to his flaunt immorality over a considerable period of time, is guilty of a more serious behavior. This letter is prompted not only by his lust over such people, but by the few letters published in the public through the series of articles run recently by the "New York Post" on the life of Frank Sinatra, in which there were two distinct errors - attempts by Sinatra at to wash new that he had lost his press, his popularity, and how that he is being "rehabilitated" by the press, the radio, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation against hoodlums, gangsters, racketeers, and those who are "connected" with these people. It is a shame that he should have to realize that he has lost the same and it may be that he's really trying to "rehabilitate" himself in order to retain his career which is fast fading. It is a pity that he is and also feeble. The stupidity of what one columnist calls "Frank Sinatra's wayward son" is pathetic if it weren't that it is the result of a line of what yet another columnist just recently referred to as "Frank Sinatra and his partner" are in the same category.

I was also very glad to learn from both the "New York Herald Tribune" and the "New York Telegram and Sun" that one of the "entertainment" of the "New York and Hollywood" realms of his movie, "Meet John Doe," was a "frenzy" another frantic attempt to hold what little he has left and that attempt took the form of giving a "rehabilitated" N.Y. and allowed for an attempt at fence-mending in the direction of the press, which was apparently abused over a period of time, that the press "rehabilitated" involves which was precisely what he richly deserved. It is a pity that as Vegas last summer for his divorce he opened at the "entertainment" in an in-charge and the very morning he arrived he instantly "rehabilitated" the press to come around for an exclusive interview. Of course! He was on edge that night and he sadly needed that press, which he had by then abused and abusively, the gentleman of the fourth estate who went forth with a magnificent piece of work on slanting his story so as to "rehabilitate" that the newspaper had not been taken in at all. The "entertainment" was even fool is Sinatra.

I hope you will bear with me for the rest of this letter. The articles run by the "Post" (the interview not given by his former partner who has never been able to control in) state that his career of the start of his career for in the "entertainment" realm, the "entertainment", and then Sinatra himself uses an ill-timed and unwise, statement to be effect that he was not guilty with regard to a trip made with the Pischetti brothers of Chicago, that he did not know what was in the suitcase, the second error in that article. Permit me now to tell you, in the event you do not know, that Sinatra obtained that job in the Rustic cabin in New Jersey through Willie Moretti, the notorious New Jersey racketeer who was murdered this past fall. Moretti found Sinatra in a gymnasium when Sinatra was around twenty, when he was learning to box. He got tired of that and became interested in his vocal cords and with that Moretti went along. He got the job for him in the Rustic cabin at $35 per week and felt that money was too little so he kept Sinatra liberally supplied with pocket money, which was the first real money Sinatra ever saw, and that resulted in drinking parties and women-chasing with his pal, one Rocco Pischetti, the younger of the two Pischettis, the elder of whom is now on his way to jail. Moretti also attempted to keep Sinatra out of trouble. Sinatra was arrested on a sex charge in Bergen County, jailed, and the case went to the grand jury, but through the influence of Willie Moretti the charge was reduced to seduction and even Moretti had to admit that he had influence. Around that time, Sinatra went to Los Angeles where the sheriff apprehended him for carrying a gun illegally and long after the sheriff told the press he had taken away the gun and warned Sinatra against a second offense Sinatra was still carrying a gun. He seems to be gun-happy. Around two years ago, after he was fired by MGM for his politics-on, he came to New York where he and Gardner, who was not really known, had adjoining apartments and I don't know anybody knew them. One evening she was entertaining another man when Sinatra stalked in with a gun and fired it. The police were called and they blew off the so-called privacy. After Sinatra returned to New York, Landau sent out word that they wanted a good job for Sinatra and they selected Tony Dorsey who was forced to hire him as a soldier under contract. Sinatra got tired of that, too, and wanted out and when Dorsey refused the $1000 a week the underworld paid him a visit and Sinatra was released.

In addition to dope peddlers and drug addicts, Sinatra's friends included not only the murdered Moretti, but Joe Bonis, Ralph and Al Capone, the Pischettis, Meyer Lansky, Frank Costello, and Lucky Luciano. You may read all about this in an article entitled: "Frank Sinatra Confidential (Lansky's Favorite Club)" by Mr. Lee Mortimer in last August's American Mercury magazine, and you may meet the same unsavory character in the book: "New York Confidential" by Mr. Mortimer and Mr. Jack Lait. In February 1947, you will find in the manifest of the Pan-American Airways of a trip Sinatra made with the two Pischettis from Miami to Havana accompanied by the Coones. This is the trip he now claims innocence about. Prior to that trip Walter Winchell gave a tip-off in his broadcast. If Winchell, who was not in the scene, knew the Pischettis were making that trip, knew the purpose, and knew Sinatra's part in it, how could Sinatra, who was Rocco Pischetti's fast and firm pal, who was familiar with his activities, know about the Havana end of the trip, and how would he be doing? That's a tall tale for him to expect to be awarded a pardon if he was innocent. Luciano has been deported by the Government to Cuba and had gained illegal entry into Havana. The Pischettis made the trip, arranged by the T-men from Miami to Havana, I could say now to Lait, etc., through the Coones, and Sinatra carried the heavy suitcase containing the ten million dollars, the proceeds of narcotic sales in this country, to be turned over to Luciano in Havana, which fact Rocco Pischetti performed. I am going to try to substantiate all this. If Sinatra were innocent or has been used, he has been screaming his head off immediately after that trip, and he has brought action against Winchell for the broadcast and he should have brought action against Mortimer for his American Mercury article and against Lait for their book containing this fact. But not a peep out of him until now, until now that he realizes the country is incensed over narcotics and he has been broken out into print a bare few months with regard to this matter, and he has to do something to regain his lost ground, but there he is, the only one who could not raise his voice louder than he did because that would attract too much

On November 1, 1944, informant advised that Bella Dodd conferred with Gil Green at which time they discussed a meeting held in the Garment Workers district on November 1, where thousands of workers were gathered expecting to hear FRANK SINATRA who did not appear. Vito Marcantonio was also scheduled to be there. It was stated that all speakers were booted probably because Sinatra did not come. Green stated he is afraid that they will lose five thousand votes because of this meeting. It was also stated that Sinatra was supposed to be at a meeting in Harlem on Friday night but will be unable to be there. It was further stated advance notice should be given the people in Harlem so as to avoid serious trouble.

Mirror newsclipping dated 4/13/47.
Article entitled "SINATRA TO BE CALLED IN HOLLYWOOD RED INQUIRY"

"Crooner Frank Sinatra whose latest escapade ended in his arrest for the slugging of Lee Mortimer, Mirror movie editor and highlife critic, will be among witnesses called when a House subcommittee on un-American activities opens its inquiry into Communist influence in Hollywood next month, it became known in Washington yesterday.....

Meanwhile, the District Attorney's office in Los Angeles was shaping up Mortimer's case against the crooner.

Mortimer charges Sinatra sneaked up on him outside Ciro's and hit him while he was held by some of Sinatra's friends. Mortimer credited his barbed comments on Sinatra's left-wing and underworld associations with being the cause for the Voice's attack on him. The critic said Sinatra was angry over disapproval expressed in his column of Sinatra's association in Cuba with Charlie (Lucky) Luciano, convicted New York vice czar.

It also was pointed out that when Sinatra visited Florida, he was entertained royally by the Fischetti brothers of Chicago and Miami. The Fischetti brothers are cousins of the late Al Capone.....

Singer Kay Kino, who was with Mortimer when he was hit by Sinatra, said in Los Angeles that Sam Weiss, 250-pound music publisher, held Mortimer.

District Attorney's investigators revealed she told them that at the sound of a scuffle she turned and saw the Voice hit Mortimer as Weiss held him. After Mortimer fell Weiss continued to hold him while Sinatra struck again, she said."

"Wrong-Way Frank"—See Editorial Page

Screen idol Frank Sinatra was scathingly criticized today for hiring a film writer labeled a communist by Congress.

Sen. Mundt (R.-S. D.), in Washington, branded the action "shocking" and the actor's film associates in Hollywood opposed it in terms ranging from mild rebuke to outraged indignation.

Of the hiring of Albert Maltz, one of the notorious "Hollywood Ten" convicted in 1947 of contempt of Congress, producer Robert Lippert said:

"Perhaps Frank Sinatra should repeat: You're sick, sick, sick!" his own phrase, while he is looking in the mirror tomorrow morning, and repeat it during each shave for a week."

Said actor Robert Taylor:

"I realize that Mr. Sinatra is completely within his legal rights in hiring anyone he chooses—which, I guess, makes him and Mr. Maltz both very lucky.

"However, I can't help speculating that, had Mr. Maltz been a Russian national and taken the same stand toward Russia that he once took toward the United States, his present availability would be no problem—he'd either be in a Siberian concentration camp or would have been 'liquidated' long ago.

"Maybe the communists have got something there."

Novelist and screen writer Frank Gruber had this comment:

"This is chauvinism in reverse. Mr. Sinatra should kiss the ground he walks on in thanks for America, truly the land of the free."

And director Henry King said:

"We are guaranteed our freedom by the Constitution to do many things. It's too bad that one of the basic ones is what Frank Sinatra has utilized."

A spokesman for the Writers Guild of America, West, said:

"A good many members of the Guild won't like it, but Maltz will have to be accepted as a Guild member when qualified by Mr. Sinatra.

"We have an anti-Communist clause in our constitution, but it applies only to those convicted of trying to overthrow the government, not to those convicted of contempt of Congress, as Maltz was.

"Writers like Maltz can take advantage of this loophole when a producer qualifies them for membership in our guild by hiring them and sending in their screen credits. Whether we like it or not, we'll have to accept Maltz."

Sen. Mundt, only member of the House Un-American Activities Committee of 1947 who is still in Congress, declared:

"In these uneasy times it is hard to understand that people will grant new opportunities for the injection of communist propaganda into motion picture fare."

The eminent of the Senator, who served on the panel probing Reds in Hollywood, was drawn by Mr. Sinatra's hiring of Maltz to write the film adaptation of "The Execution of Private Slovik," the story of the only American soldier executed for desertion in either World War.

The senator also was referring to the hiring of blacklisted writers by producer-directors Otto Preminger and Stanley Kramer.

Maltz served 10 months in a Federal road camp when he refused to say whether he was or had been a member of the Communist Party.

A photostat of a Communist Party card No. 97196, dated Nov. 30, 1944, was introduced into evidence during the 1947 hearings as belonging to Maltz.

Maltz has been living in Mexico recently, writing American movies under pseudonyms.

He will begin work on the film in January next year with Mr. Sinatra, who in 1947 said of the Un-American Activities Committee:

"Once they get the movies throttled, how long will it be before the committee gets to work on freedom of the press?"

Asked in Miami yesterday if he were fearful of the reaction in Hollywood, Mr. Sinatra replied:

"We'll find that out later. We'll see what happens."

Herald Headline Service Exclusive to N. Y. Journal-American

Frank Sinatra's hiring of Albert Maltz, Communist writer and a member of the notorious "Hollywood Ten," has led to disclosure of a letter Maltz wrote to the editor of a newspaper in Communist East Germany six years ago.

This was in 1954—seven years after Maltz's Communist party membership card was introduced into the record of the House Un-American Activities Committee. The date serves to establish the continuance of his loyalty to the Communist cause.

In the letter Maltz condemned "Adenauer Germany" as "a revival of all that darkened Germany's past."

He praised Communist East Germany as a country of "people moving into the sunlight of fraternalism, of peaceful, constructive labor, of independence from imperialism."

He denounced his own country as an intellectual and cultural tyranny where "economic persecution and imprisonment are visited upon those who refuse to dance to the beat of the drums."

The letter follows:

Editor, Tagliche Rundschau
Berlin—G. D. R.

Dear Colleague:

By means of this letter I would like to express my very deep appreciation of the honor paid to me by your newspaper and others, and by various individuals, on the occasion of my 45th birthday. Yet, beyond personal sentiment, (however keen), there is an additional reason that prompts me to write to you.

It is the appreciation that I, and thousands of progressive Americans, feel for the people, the cultural leaders, the political leaders, of the German Democratic Republic. Let me explain.

In the German tragedy that began in the Reichstag fire in 1933, there was a cultural aspect that many Americans, (and many in all countries), found bitterly disheartening.

This was the demonstration that under given historical conditions even the most advanced culture could turn upon itself with narrow, frenzied chauvinism, cast out with venom some of its best thinkers, artists, teachers, scientists, pervert its humanistic tradition, reduce its fertile minds to silent conformity.

There were some Americans who said of this: "There you are—that's the way the Germans are." But there were others of us who said, "No! This is what can happen in any land when a people are betrayed by their woes and by false leaders. There is another Germany," we said, "there will be another Germany."

And we retained in our hearts and minds the Germany of Beethoven and Goethe, of Kepler and Ehrlich, of Kant and Hegel, of Marx and Engels, of Mann and Seghers, of Thaelmann.

How goes it now? The world scene has altered a bit.

Now thieving, demagogic politicians like the intellectual Cretin, Senator McCarthy, are deciding more and more what books Americans may read, what films they may see, what radio and television programs may entertain (i.e. corrupt) their leisure hours.

Chauvinism and conformity pervade our universities, scientists are harnessed to the military, economic persecution and imprisonment are visited upon those who refuse to dance to the beat of drums.

Is there any wonder that I, and so many other Americans, look to the German Democratic Republic with appreciation and indebtedness?

Your people, your bitter history, can teach us not to despair over our people or our present trials. We see in Adenauer Germany a revival of all that darkened Germany's past, brought its people to slaughter, its cities to devastation.

We see in the German Democratic Republic a people moving into the sunlight of fraternalism, of peaceful, constructive labor, of independence from imperialism, of a culture in which Goethe, Beethoven and Kepler would have felt at home, knowing that here man is valued above profit.

Now it is your turn to comfort us, to say "there is another America." Now we must draw strength from you. Now, when I find my work honored in your country, but dishonored by the Fascists of America, I can know that I am fit company for decent men.

Thus wrote the man now hired by Sinatra to adapt the film version of "The Execution of Private Slovik," the only American soldier executed for desertion in either World War.

[redacted] in New York City, called at 11:45 a.m. on 3/24/60 and stated that he wanted to give us some information that came to his attention concerning FRANK SINATRA. He mentioned an article in the Journal-American recently captioned "Wrong-Way Frank," and stated that SINATRA is having one of the Hollywood ten, Albert Maltz, (ph), make a picture out in Hollywood concerning an episode in the life of an American soldier.

The following year Joe Davidson, a well-known sculptor who, according to [redacted], has been associated with the Communist Party, received a commission of $5,000 to do a head of FRANK SINATRA. Davidson utilized the services of a plaster caster, one Victor Russo, 407 West 18th Street, New York City, telephone CHelsea 2-2245. According to [redacted] Davidson sculptured the head in clay and had Russo make the plaster cast. DeLue stated that a few weeks later Davidson said to Russo that he, Davidson, didn't do very well on this bust and that outside of the bronze casting and the plaster casting he had to give all of the money he received for this job to the Communist Party. According to [redacted] this was in 1946, and in his conversation with Russo, Davidson said that FRANK SINATRA had to "kick in" to the Communist Party also. [redacted] suggested that we may want to talk to Russo to confirm this information, and that since one of the Congressional Committees is going to look into some matters dealing with SINATRA, it might be well for them to have this information also.

[redacted] stated that he feels agents can talk to Russo, who is very anti-Communist. He stated he would prefer that we not mention he has furnished this information to [redacted] and advised that Russo has furnished this information to many people and should not be reluctant to talk to us.

"Time & Place: 176 Schenk Street, Great Neck, Long Island, New York, Oct. 5, 1963, 9:00 PM

"This was a party being held by a Progressive group. As delegates from the Casa Cuba were: Nivardo Parra, Victor Vicente, Eusebio and Eva Valdez, Margarita Vicente and Emilia Alonso. The party was being held in honor of Stanley Faulkner for his many years of work on Civil Rights cases, defense of minority groups, etc. There were many people there, as many as 75 or 100. From the looks of those present and after speaking to a few, it was realized that most of those present were fairly wealthy people. Some being doctors, others teachers, dentists, contractors, etc. One of those present and also a speaker, was Peress, the Army Major who some years back was brought before the McCarthy Committee for a hearing. Stanley Faulkner was one of his defense lawyers or something to that effect. The house the meeting was being held in was a very beautiful house and it was learned through conversation that the owner was a builder and had built it himself.

[REDACTED] were also there. In conversation with [REDACTED] it was learned that the group gathering was the elite of the CPUSA in the New York area and particularly in the Long Island area. That all those present were financially well off and when the time came for an appeal for contributions, this was proven to be correct. The appeal began with $500 (for which there were no takers), then it was dropped to $100 and three persons came forward, then $75 and some others came forward, then $50, $25, and finally $10. In all $1548 was collected in less than a half hour. Then food and drinks were supplied to those who wanted some. One person by name was [REDACTED] Puerto Rican, married to a dentist who was also there. [REDACTED] is their married name.

"Stanley Faulkner received telegrams of congratulations from such people as Frank Sinatra, Gus Hall, Sammy Davis, Jr., and many other celebrities and the party ended at 2 AM.
