Re Kansas City airtel to Bureau 1/6/71.

POTENTIAL COUNTERINTELLIGENCE ACTION

There is some conflict between these groups. The Kansas City Office is presently endeavoring to develop counterintelligence against these groups and the Bureau's permission to conduct such counterintelligence will be requested by separate communication in the near future.

POTENTIAL COUNTERINTELLIGENCE ACTION

At the present time most colleges and universities in this area are closed and most students have returned to their permanent residence from the college campuses.

The SDS Weatherman Faction in Kansas City is the only known faction that is possibly still active. This group had a commune type residence which was recently dissolved.

The YSA had been active in the Kansas City area and had been actively supporting the SMC in this area but there has been no activity in this area since the closing of schools. The best area for the COINTELPRO would be to cause dissention between the SDS Faction and the YSA Faction. When a proper opportunity presents itself, a letter will be directed to the Bureau setting forth recommendations.

The authorities in Kansas City, Missouri, decided against taking legal action against the SDS members at the University of Missouri at Kansas City who disrupted classes in view of their expulsion from school.

A member of the SDS in Kansas City, Missouri, was dismissed from his job as a teacher from the Kansas City, Missouri, School District which resulted in considerable publicity in the Kansas City area. It is believed by the Kansas City Office that in view of the present interest in this matter and the fact that the local school board and local police department are involved in this matter that the Kansas City Office should avoid any involvement in this matter at this time.

Potential Counterintelligence Action

For the information of the Bureau, [redacted] Bufile 100-453267, was released from El Reno Federal Reformatory on parole on 3/4/69 after serving approximately half of a three-year sentence for violation of Selective Service laws. [redacted] is currently on parole to the U. S. Probation Office in Kansas City, Missouri. Prior to [redacted] being sentenced to the penitentiary, he was the leader of the SDS at the University of Missouri at Kansas City (UMKC). [redacted] has attempted to obtain employment at UMKC since his release from prison and is planning on re-entering UMKC as a graduate student in the fall of 1969.

[redacted], Bufile 100-450846, is currently the leader of the SDS at UMKC. From information developed through [redacted] UMKC, it has been determined that [redacted] is experiencing some difficulty with some members of the SDS concerning his leadership and [redacted] tends to imagine that the FBI has him under constant surveillance.

It is suggested that an anonymous letter be sent to [redacted] suggesting to him that [redacted]'s early release from the penitentiary would indicate that [redacted] is now working for the Federal Government and will attempt to take his, [redacted] job as leader of the SDS away from him. This would cause dissension and suspicion amongst the SDS members at UMKC.

The University of Missouri Administration, which includes the University of Missouri at Columbia and the University of Missouri at Kansas City, has been under considerable pressure from the Missouri State Legislature to curtail New Left and related activity on their campuses. Counterintelligence action taken can be decisive and may even result in complete withdrawal of the New Left from these educational institutions.

both uniformed police and plain-clothes officers. [redacted] stated that they expected the main problem to be from the National Mobilization Committee, which was expecting to gather 4,000 demonstrators. The [redacted] expected to use divisive tactics to disrupt the demonstrators. [redacted] stated that if the demonstrators got out of control they planned to arrest the leaders and agitators and remove them from the group in hope to control the others by this method.

[redacted] stated that he and [redacted] then went to Lincoln Park in Chicago, Illinois, and after 11:00 PM, the Chicago police attempted to remove the various demonstrators from the Lincoln Park area in accordance with the Chicago curfew in this area. There were approximately 1,500 demonstrators in this park, and [redacted] stated he observed no force or violence on the part of either the demonstrators or the Chicago police that night. The demonstrators were removed from the park several times and then infiltrated back through the police lines into the park. This continued until approximately 3:00 AM on the morning of August 26, 1968.

[redacted] noted that several of the demonstrators had hats and arm bands which proclaimed them to be newsmen and most of them also had cameras. [redacted] stated he noted members of the regular press present, who were first well dressed, and then he observed them later in the week and noted that they had changed their clothing and attire to conform with the demonstrators.

[redacted] stated that they observed various groups of demonstrators in the Grant Park and Lincoln Park areas of Chicago on August 26, 1968, and August 27, 1968; however, he did not observe any arrests by the Chicago police or any force or violence on the part of the demonstrators. The demonstrators were seen to set trash fires and shout obscenities at the police during this time. Newsmen and television cameramen were very active amongst the demonstrators, interviewing them and working throughout the crowds of demonstrators. [redacted] noted that it was becoming extremely difficult to distinguish members of the news media from the demonstrators.

[redacted] stated that he heard several demonstrators telling other individuals on August 26 and August 27, 1968, that everyone was to gather for a rally in Grant Park between 1:00 and 4:00 PM on August 28, 1968, and they were going to march on the Chicago amphitheater where the Democratic National Convention was being held even if they had to be arrested. Numerous items of inflammatory literature was being distributed by these various demonstrators, however, [redacted] stated he could not identify any of the demonstrators distributing literature or making inflammatory statements.

[redacted] stated that on August 28, 1968, large bodies of demonstrators were observed marching from Lincoln Park to Grant Park. They appeared to be well disciplined and moved in groups of one hundred to two hundred at a time and were following leaders who were distinguished by the black arm bands that they wore. [redacted] stated that he could not identify any of the individuals wearing black arm bands.

[redacted] stated that he was not near the Hilton Hotel on the evening of August 28, 1968, when the Chicago Police Department fired tear gas at the demonstrators, nor was he present when they removed the demonstrators from the lobby of the Hilton Hotel. [redacted] stated that when they arrived, the police had just finished clearing the demonstrators from the hotel lobby and there was still a strong odor of tear gas in the area. Most of the demonstrators had been driven across Michigan Boulevard into Grant Park. [redacted] estimated their number at approximately 1,500. There were also about 1,500 persons standing along the side streets on either side of the Hilton Hotel, on the west side of Michigan Boulevard, watching the demonstrators. From time to time groups of individuals among the spectators were permitted by the Chicago police to cross Michigan Boulevard and go into Grant Park to join the demonstrators.

[redacted] stated that he observed two individuals being taken into custody by the Chicago police, apparently after they had been involved in some violation of the law. He did not see any undue force being used on either individual.

[redacted] stated that he did observe one demonstrator on the evening of August 28, 1968, pour catsup on a bandage and then tie it around his head to give the impression that he had received a head wound.

COUNTERINTELLIGENCE PROGRAM

On September 4, 1968, [redacted] advised that he went to Chicago on August 25, 1968, accompanied by [redacted] of the Kansas City, Missouri, Police Department, as an official observer for the Kansas City, Missouri, Police Department. [redacted] stated that he and [redacted] viewed various groups of demonstrators in Chicago, Illinois, on August 25, 1968, through August 28, 1968. They were frequently separated during the time that they went to Lincoln Park and Grant Park, and, therefore, did not always observe exactly the same things.

[redacted] stated that the group of demonstrators on the night of August 25, 1968, could be described as a "good natured" crowd, who were more interested in shouting obscenities at the police and attempting to make a nuisance of themselves. [redacted] heard many of these demonstrators telling each other "Don't do anything to get yourself arrested tonight." [redacted] advised, however, he did see the Chicago police remove one or two individuals from the park, although they offered no resistance and there was no undue force used by the Chicago police.

[redacted] noted that many of the demonstrators had hats and arm bands which indicated that they were with the press and most of these individuals also had cameras and they were taking pictures of the Chicago police in an attempt to harass them. [redacted] noted that several members of the regular press were present, and he noted that several of these individuals were observed later in the week to have changed their wearing apparel to conform with the wearing apparel of the demonstrators. [redacted] noted that nearly half of the male demonstrators and nearly half of the members of the press were bearded and after a few days, it became virtually impossible to distinguish members of the press from the demonstrators.

[redacted] stated that they observed various groups of demonstrators in Lincoln Park and Grant Park in the Chicago area from August 25, 1968, through August 27, 1968, during which time they continually shouted obscenities at the Chicago police and were seen to pass out various items of literature. [redacted] stated that he could not identify any of the individuals seen passing out literature or making inflammatory or obscene statements.

COUNTERINTELLIGENCE PROGRAM

[redacted] stated that he heard various individuals on August 26 and August 27, 1968, stating that on August 28, 1968, the demonstrators were all going to march on the Chicago amphitheater even if they had to be arrested. [redacted] stated that he observed groups of demonstrators who appeared to be well disciplined and following leadership of individuals wearing black arm bands march from the Lincoln Park area to the Grant Park area on August 28, 1968.

[redacted] stated that he was not present near the Hilton Hotel, Chicago, Illinois, when the Chicago Police Department fired tear gas at the demonstrators or removed the demonstrators from the lobby of the Hilton Hotel. He stated he arrived at the scene shortly after the police had cleared the demonstrators from the hotel lobby and there was still a strong odor of tear gas in the area.

During that evening, [redacted] stated he observed approximately twelve persons being arrested by the Chicago Police; however, none of the demonstrators offered any resistance and no undue force or violence was used by the Chicago police. [redacted] stated he did observe one demonstrator pouring catsup on a bandage and then tieing the bandage around his head, giving the impression that he had suffered from a head wound.

The enclosed letterhead memoranda are classified "Confidential" since data reported from confidential sources if disclosed could reasonably result in the identification of these sources of continuing value and compromise their future effectiveness.

Kansas City is now in the process of making a determined effort to secure live informant coverage in each of the SDS chapters in existence in this area. The chapters are dormant for the summer vacation period and upon the resumption of classes in the fall, it is believed that sources can be developed in these groups when they again become active. In view of the past activities of these groups in this area, it is not believed there is any great potential for violence among these groups.

1. STUDENTS FOR A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY

A. The Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), as it is known today, came into being at a founding convention held at Port Huron, Michigan, in June, 1962. The SDS is an association of young people on the left and has a current program of protesting the draft, promoting a campaign for youth to develop a conscientious objector status, denouncing United States intervention in the war in Vietnam and to "radically transform" the university community, and provide for its complete control by students. Gus Hall, General Secretary, Community Party, USA, when interviewed by a representative of United Press International in San Francisco, California, on May 14, 1965, described the SDS as a part of the "responsible left" which the Party has "going for us". At the June, 1965, SDS National Convention, an anticommunist proviso was removed from the SDS constitution. In the October 7, 1966, issue of "New Left Notes", the official publication of SDS, an SDS spokesman stated that there are some communists in SDS and they are welcome. The national headquarters of this organization as of April 18, 1967, was located in Room 206, 1608 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois.

B. Membership

[redacted] advised the local chapter of SDS at Wichita State University has between four and five members who are members of the national organization of SDS. [redacted] said there are approximately eight hard core members in the local chapter of SDS, and an additional five or six sympathizers. According to [redacted] this would make the approximate membership in the local chapter of SDS at between fourteen and fifteen.

An article which appeared in the Sunflower Newspaper, Wichita State University, March 11, 1968, indicates that on that date a peaceful demonstration in protest of the presence on the campus of recruiters from the Naval Weapons Center, Corona, California, was held by the local chapter of SDS. The demonstrators carried an American flag and a flag of the Vietnamese National Liberation Front. A student, [redacted], ripped the flag from the flagpole carried by [redacted] a demonstrator for SDS. This flag was the North Vietnamese Liberation Front flag.

No detailed analysis of potential counterintelligence action against New Left organizations is being submitted by the Kansas City Office. There are no key Activists within the Kansas City Division.

The only known New Left activity within this division is the SDS, which has not been active to any extent during the past several months and with the coming summer break at most colleges and universities in this area it is not believed there will be SDS activity in this division until the resumption of classes this coming fall.

The importance of this program is realized and no opportunity to implement the program will be overlooked.
