

violence," is one of the founding sponsors of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee and the editor of the Negro newsletter, Crusader. He was part of a Fair Play delegation to Cuba in 1960.¹²

Williams organized a Fair Play delegation to visit Cuba including John Henrik Clarke, Negro historian, Artist Edward Clark, Poet LeRoi Jones, Fair Play Secretaries Pat Linden and Lee Kolk, and Philadelphia Writer Joseph Hunter.¹³

While in Havana, Williams demonstrated at the American Embassy in protest against alleged anti-Negro activity in Monroe, N.C., and ridiculed the American demand for elections under Castro.¹⁴

In September 1960 he wrote a letter to Fidel Castro inviting him to visit him at his home in Monroe, N.C. Fair Play for September 16, 1960, referred to the invitation as a "time bomb."

Speaking before the Fair Play for Cuba Committee of Columbia University on February 10, 1961, Robert F. Williams remarked, "I don't know what kind of 'ism' they have in Cuba today, but whatever it is, we could use a little of it in the United States." This was evidently part of an EPCC tour covering Indiana University, Antioch College, Los Angeles, San Diego, San Francisco, Seattle, Portland, Vancouver, and Denver.¹⁵ In his newsletter, the Crusader, Williams has carried to his Negro leaders, a glowing description of Castro's agrarian reform program.¹⁶

In June of 1960 a literary supplement to the Havana newspaper Revolucion was published on the American Negro. It carried an original poem by Langston Hughes, who has in the past supported Communist candidates for public office.

The hands of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee were clearly visible in a pro-Castro-Lumumba demonstration held in United Nations Plaza, New York City, on February 18, 1961. Placards displayed read as follows: "Cuba Si, Congo Oui, Yankee No." "Hands Off Cuba." Chanted slogans were: "Viva Lumumba!" "Viva Fidel Castro!" "Down With Yankee Imperialism!"¹⁷

Leaflets advertising a forthcoming Fair Play for Cuba Committee picket line at the White House were distributed. The demonstration was glowingly described in the Fair Play for Cuba Committee Student Council Bulletin for February 25, 1961.

The Havana Radio Centro broadcast on June 6, 1961, condemned the U.S. Supreme Court decision and the "virtual outlawing of the Communist Party and, in practice the outlawing of all those . . . who declare themselves in favor of . . . the rights of the Negroes."

William W. Worthy, Jr., a Negro, is a featured writer in the bulletins of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee. During his career he has displayed a marked hostility to the United States and its laws. On April 25, 1944, he was indicted before a Federal grand jury in Philadelphia for violation of the Selective Service and Training Act of 1940. He failed to report for a physical examination in Boston on March 10, 1942, as a conscientious objector. He failed to report to a conscientious objectors' camp at Kane, Pa., on December 8, 1943, as ordered and on June 12, 1944, upon a plea of guilty, was sentenced to 1 day in prison by the Federal court in Philadelphia.

In the 1950's, Worthy went to Communist China without an American passport and in violation of passport regulations prohibiting such travel, as a result of which he lost his passport. In December 1954 his passport was restored to full validity and he made a trip for CBS to the Soviet Union. He is a correspondent for the Afro-American newspapers of Baltimore.

In the January 10, 1961, issue of the Afro-American, Worthy wrote from Havana about an alleged bombing attack for which he holds the United States responsible. He said:

"After the Cuban newspapers published photographs of the bombing materials seized by the police—pictures of dynamite containers clearly marked 'Made in U.S.A.'—60 ashamed American visitors went to a Havana hospital and donated blood for the innocent Cuban victims of the bombings.

"The Americans were among the 800 who visited the island under the auspices of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee."

In the Afro-American of April 29, 1961, there appeared a large advertisement called "A Declaration of Conscience by Afro-Americans" and sponsored by the Fair Play for Cuba Committee. In testimony of Dr. Charles A. Santos-Buch on January 10, 1961, it was shown that a previous advertisement of this committee appearing in New York Times of April 8, 1960, was paid for in major part by an official of the Cuban Government. In the April 29, 1961, advertisement, William Worthy is quoted as saying:

"If Cuba is attacked, I and others who know the facts will denounce the attack as an evil and wicked colonial war deserving of opposition and resistance by Afro-Americans."

Despite voluminous evidence and reports to the contrary, Worthy claims that neither Fidel Castro nor his revolutionary movement are Communist and that he himself is anti-Communist. Ignoring the testimony of knowledgeable Cubans, Worthy claims that Cuba today is free, allowing habeas corpus, the freedom to speak, to publish, to worship, to travel at home or abroad. He declared: "It is obscenely hypocritical for North Americans to preach sermons to Cuba about the 'urgency of free elections.'" He charges that "Politically wild and irresponsible elements in the Pentagon, dehumanized cold-war fanatics in the CIA and FBI, and powerful economic interests opposed to the revolution are spreading the lie that Catholic Cuba has become a base of world communism * * *."

The 17th Convention of the Communist Party, U.S.A., held in December 1959, adopted a resolution with reference to Cuba, which clearly delineates how the party proposes to capitalize the present situation. It said:

"The people of the United States can learn much from Cuba's democracy. The new government, in enunciating its set of principles a year ago, placed the elimination of racism as one of its major immediate objectives."

James E. Jackson, Jr., a Negro, is listed in Communist sources as the Communist Party's secretary for southern and Negro affairs²² and as secretary of the National Committee of the Communist Party, U.S.A.²³

He was the first American Communist leader to publicly address a meeting of the 21st Congress of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, according to the Worker of April 19, 1959, page 16. Part of his remarks were made in Russian. Mr. Jackson was convicted under the Smith Act on July 31, 1956, sentenced to 2 years' imprisonment, and his case was dismissed by the court of appeals on August 4, 1958. According to the Daily Worker of December 2, 1954, Jackson believes that "the South is that region of the United States where the most powerful revolutionary pressures may develop." What Mr. Jackson did after his return from Moscow is therefore significant.

On August 19, 1960, Jackson, who was listed as a member of the party's ruling secretariat, addressed the Eighth National Assembly of the Popular Socialist Party (Communist Party) of Cuba held in Havana, heading the American party's delegation. He paid ardent tribute to Fidel Castro as "that outstanding national hero and statesman" and spoke with pride of the "militant mass actions of the Negro people—featuring mass sit-in actions, marches, and demonstrations" in the United States.²⁴

This is the same James E. Jackson, Jr., who in the past has been one of the staunchest advocates of an independent Negro republic in the South, which would, if carried forward, have embroiled the Negroes of the South in a bloody and costly civil war. Thus far it is evident Fidel Castro and his Communist henchmen have been unsuccessful in entangling American Negroes in their nefarious designs.

It was stated that the contract is held by LOUIS, Rowe, Fisher, Lockhart Enterprises, Incorporated, 200 West 57th Street, of which the former heavyweight boxing champion is first vice president. According to the article, when the public relations firm registered as a foreign agent in May, 1960, WILLIAM L. Summary

Mr. Joe Louis, who you advised is the former heavyweight boxing champion of the world, and who resides in Caspar's Palace, Las Vegas, Nevada, was the subject of a Registration Act investigation conducted by the FBI during February and March, 1960, under his true name of Joseph Louis Barrow. That investigation was based on information indicating that Mr. Louis had been hired to act as an agent for the Castro Government in the United States. This investigation was discontinued when Mr. Louis' firm, Louis-Howe-Fisher-Loekhart Enterprises, Incorporated, terminated its contract with the Cuban Government and registered with the Department of Justice. (100-385510-43)

The central files of the FBI further reveal that in November, 1951, it was reported that Mr. Louis had associated with Paul Robeson, and that he had, with personal appearances or through the use of his name, aided the following communist organizations: Council of African Affairs, Southern Conference for Human Welfare, American Youth for Democracy, and the United Negro and Allied Veterans of America. All of the above organizations have been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450, with the exception of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, an organization cited by the House Committee on Internal Security (HCIS). Paul Robeson is the Negro singer who, according to the HCIS, was identified as a communist in sworn testimony before that Committee, and was also declared to have had an extensive record of communist front activity. (100-385510-1)

The January 5, 1960, issue of the "Evening Star," Washington, D.C., carried an article in which it was reported that Joe Louis, former fighter, praised the Cuban Government for a new tourist promotion campaign aimed at particular groups, such as Negroes, Jews and young people. (62-40510)

[REDACTED] Joe Louis

During the latter part of 1961 and the first part of 1962, information was received indicating that Joe Louis, former heavyweight boxing champion, was paid for his appearance at the bribery trial of James Riddle Hoffa, Teamsters Union head, by an official of the Teamsters. This information was furnished the Department of Justice in February, 1962, and no further investigation has been requested.

In October, 1968, we received information that at the invitation of Charles Evers, Field Secretary, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Joe Louis, former heavyweight boxing champion of the world, was to visit Mississippi on October 11, 1968, for the purpose of campaigning on behalf of the Humphrey-Muskie presidential ticket.

In September, 1969, Mr. Louis appeared at the Detroit, Michigan, office of the FBI and claimed that his food was being doped and that germs, in the form of a liquid, were being sprayed in his hotel room as a result of the "Mafia." Mr. Louis stated that this was caused by [REDACTED] calling the "Mafia" on him. At that same time, [REDACTED] Joe Louis, [REDACTED] had been a patient at a Detroit hospital and was under psychiatric observation there. [REDACTED] Mr. Louis' fear of the "Mafia" was such that he would at times carry a knife for protection. The September 26, 1969, issue of "The Detroit News," reported that Dr. Robert C. Bennett, Mr. Louis' long-time friend and personal physician, was conducting psychiatric and neurological tests to determine the cause of an emotional and mental letdown by Mr. Louis. (9-50117)

In June, 1969, information was received by the FBI that Joe Louis, the former heavyweight champion, was a heroin addict. In March, 1970, [REDACTED] representatives of our Los Angeles Office that Mr. Louis still had a serious mental problem and still believed that the "Mafia" was after him. [REDACTED] his mental condition has been deteriorating for some time [REDACTED] it was the result of Mr. Louis having previously taken narcotics. [REDACTED] he will not admit that he has a problem or that he is mentally ill.

[REDACTED] his condition is not improving
he could either do harm to himself or to some other individual.

SUMMARY

Captioned individuals, who you advised reside at [REDACTED] have not been the subjects of an investigation conducted by the FBI.

Our files, however, reveal the "New York Mirror," a daily New York, New York, newspaper, on January 18, 1960, carried a column by Walter Winchell which reported that former boxing champion Joe Louis and his public relations partner, Billy Rowe, were promoting Cuba as "the only vacation spot for Negroes to go without bias," and were handling a "special" promotion for Fidel Castro's Tourist Board. Rowe was identified as William L. Rowe, former New York City Deputy Police Commissioner, President of the public relations and advertising agency of Louis, Rowe, Fisher, and Lockhart Enterprises, Inc., with offices at 200 West 57th Street, New York City.

On June 13, 1961, William Leon Rowe, President of Louis, Rowe, Fisher, and Lockhart Enterprises, Inc., testified before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee at Washington, D. C., concerning the corporation's publicizing tourist attractions in Cuba for Castro. Rowe testified that the Cuban Tourist Commission still owed the corporation $150,000 and he had cancelled the contract in July, 1960, after relations between the two countries had deteriorated. Among the registrations of interest during this period are several political groups two of which seek to propagandize the current political

The purpose of this organization as stated in its registration statement is to combat Communism in the Americas and to restore a truly democratic Government to the Republic of Cuba. It claims to have a membership within the United States of 5,000 persons and a membership outside of the United States of 600,000 persons. The organization is headed by Dr. Carlos Marquez Sterling. Another such group interested in the ultimate overthrow of the Castro regime is an organization known as "La Rosa Blanca" (The White Rose). According to this organization's registration statement it seeks to "expose through legal propaganda to the public opinion of the continent the Communist nature of the Cuban dictatorship and its inhuman brutalities against the Cuban people". Membership in the United States is listed as approximately 200 and membership outside the United States as "several thousands." The foreign principal is listed as an underground movement in Cuba also known as "La Rosa Blanca".

Another political organization, the Nicaraguan Liberation Movement of July 23rd, registered for the purpose of engaging in propaganda activities to acquaint "the American public with the political, economic and social condition in Nicaragua under the Nicaraguan Dictatorial Regime." Donald Gavarrete is President of this group.

Also in the Latin American field are several individual registrations of interest as for example John Ek. Mr. Ek filed a statement as an agent of five Cuban officials for the stated purpose of conducting investigations of the activities of Cubans in the United States. A Washington attorney, Joseph A. ~~Fanelli~~, filed a registration statement as counsel for the Republic of Cuba for the purpose of prosecuting in the United States courts a claim against Miguel ~~Pons~~, a former Cuban Naval Attache in Washington, D.C. Joseph Louis ~~Barrow~~, better known as Joe Louis, former heavyweight boxing champion, filed a short-form registration statement in support of the registration of ~~Louis-Rowe-Fisher-Lockart Enterprises, Inc.~~ This organization has been retained by the ~~National Tourist Commission of Cuba~~ for publicity, public relations and advertising. Ruben Oscar Miro Guadia registered as an agent of Carlos Suere Calvo of the Republic of Panama and advised in his statement that he intended to solicit funds to support the presidential campaign of Victor Florencio ~~Goytia~~ in the Republic of Panama.

Two other registrants Raul F. ~~Kulberg~~ and Stephen Bernard ~~Gleason~~, are registered as agents of Soviet Embassy personnel and are registered respectively for furnishing information to and receiving an assignment from the Embassy personnel.

JOE LOUIS

B, 5-13-1914, A12-12012

SUMMARY

Joseph Louis Barrow, who is also known as Joe Louis, former heavyweight boxing champion of the world, was the subject of a Registration Act investigation conducted by the FBI during February and March, 1960. This investigation was based on information indicating that Mr. Louis had been hired to act as an agent for the Castro Government in the United States. This investigation was discontinued when Mr. Louis' firm, Louis-Howe-Fisher-Lockhart Enterprises, Incorporated, terminated its contract with the Cuban Government and registered with the Department of Justice. D.C.

100-385510-43

The central files of the FBI further reveal that in November, 1951, it was reported that Mr. Louis had associated with Paul Robeson, and that he had, with personal appearances or through the use of his name, aided the following communist organizations: Council of African Affairs, Southern Conference for Human Welfare, American Youth for Democracy, and the United Negro and Allied Veterans of America. All of the above organizations have been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450, with the exception of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, an organization cited by the House Committee on Un-American Activities (HCUA). Paul Robeson is the Negro singer who, according to the HCUA, was identified as a communist in sworn testimony before that Committee, and was also declared to have had an extensive record of communist front activity. 100-385510-1

The January 5, 1960, issue of the "Evening Star," Washington, D. C., carried an article in which it was reported that Joe Louis, former fighter, praised the Cuban Government for a new tourist promotion campaign aimed at particular groups, such as Negroes, Jews and young people. 62-40510
