STATEMENT BY [redacted]
DISTRICT ATTORNEY FOR LOS ANGELES COUNTY
ON THE CONCLUSION OF THE GRAND JURY
INVESTIGATION OF THE RODNEY KING CASE
FRIDAY, MAY 10, 1991
LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

b6
b7C

We have completed our presentation of evidence to the Grand Jury on the Rodney King Case. Having indicted the four police officers who directly assaulted Mr. King, the Grand Jury has decided not to issue indictments against those who were present at the scene of the crime but did not participate in the beating.

However morally wrong their failure to intercede, in California law there is no criminal statute under which these officers can be indicted.

We should be clear about what is and is not a crime under California law. No matter how reprehensible their action, or their inaction, no person can be charged with a crime unless they have violated a statute. On this point California law is absolutely clear: no statute, no crime.

Because the behavior of the bystander officers was both irresponsible and offensive, and in light of the unprecedented public furor over this case, the Grand Jury is to be commended for remaining true to their duty. Their decisions were based, as they should be, solely on the evidence and the law.

Because Federal civil rights law is somewhat broader than California law, I have referred this case to the United States Attorney for their assessment of whether there may have been a violation of federal civil rights law.

We have been working very closely with the U.S. Attorney's office during the course of our own investigation and will continue to do so.

I'd like to take a few moments now to go over the various provisions of state law that could apply to the bystander officers. Specifically, could they be charged with aiding and abetting their fellow officers in the commission of the assault on Mr. King? The answer is no.

The essence of the law that a judge must direct a jury to follow is contained in the California Jury Instructions, which reads: "Mere presence at the scene of a crime . . . does not amount to aiding and abetting. Mere knowledge that a crime is being committed and the failure to prevent it does not amount to aiding and abetting." [CALJIC 3.01]

The next question concerns the officers' failure to stop a crime in progress. Can they be charged with dereliction of duty?

In point of fact, there is no such crime. A police officer cannot be criminally prosecuted for failing to do his or her duty. Although such conduct is disgraceful, and perhaps cause for dismissal, it is not a criminal offense.

The only exception remotely applicable to this case requires a police officer to suppress an unlawful or riotous assembly. However, court decisions defining unlawful and riotous assemblies deal, as one would surmise, with meetings and demonstrations, or with rampaging mobs. None deal with facts even remotely like these.

Four people assaulting someone is not an unlawful or riotous assembly. It is an assault.

The law is quite clear on the impermissibility of attempting distorted interpretations of criminal statutes. To quote from the California Supreme Court: "[I]t is clear the courts cannot . . . create an offense by enlarging a statute, by . . . us[ing] false or unusual meanings. (People v. Baker (1968) 69 Cal. 2d, 44, 50 ....)." And "Penal statutes will not be made to reach beyond their plain intent; they include only those offenses coming clearly within the import of their language." [Emphasis added.] Keeler v. Superior, (1970) 2 Cal. 3rd 619, 631-632.

Finally, there is the question of whether some of the officers may have violated Mr. King's civil rights, in that they were motivated in their acts by racial hatred.

What evidence there is of racial motivation in this case -- a racist remark made prior to the King incident, and the possible use of a racial slur during the arrest -- concerns only those officers already indicted, not the bystander officers.

It is also important to remember that state civil rights law is quite different from federal law. State civil rights law merely provides that a misdemeanor offense which is racially motivated may be elevated to a felony.

We have no misdemeanor offenses charged in this case. Every charge in this case is a felony -- punishable by confinement in state prison. Furthermore, if the indicted officers are convicted, their racial motivation can -- and will -- be urged as an enhancement factor at the time of sentencing.

Finally, while many of the bystander officers were deeply disturbed by what occurred, I need to note that in the course of our investigation we found that, to this day, some of the officers present do not acknowledge that the incident should have been handled any differently than it was.

Because this is of great concern to professional law enforcement. We are transmitting these disturbing interviews to the Christopher Commission for their consideration.

For now, because this investigation is still open, it would be inappropriate for me to comment further on the facts of the case. I must refer any questions to the U.S. Attorney's office. Meanwhile, we will proceed with the prosecution of the four officers who assaulted Rodney King.

ALSO ON THIS DATE, THE CASE AGENT AND DOJ ATTORNEY, [redacted] VISITED THE COMMUNICATIONS CENTER OF THE LAPD FOR THE PURPOSE OF OBTAINING A BETTER UNDERSTANDING OF THE LAPD COMMUNICATIONS NETWORK.

ON WEDNESDAY, MAY 13, A MEETING WAS HELD WITH [redacted] ASSOCIATE ATTORNEY GENERAL AND HIS EXECUTIVE ASSISTANT, [redacted] ITS PURPOSE WAS TO BRIEF HIM ON THE LEGAL ASPECTS OF THE CASE AND OTHER CONCERNS AS IT PERTAINS TO CAPTIONED

A THIRD TEAM OF TWO LAFO AGENTS WILL MAKE UP THE TEAM CALLED THE "CLEAN TEAM". THESE AGENTS WILL CONDUCT INTERVIEWS, WITH DOJ ATTORNEYS, OF WITNESSES WHO HAVE BEEN THROUGH THE SCREENING PROCESS, AND HAVE BEEN FOUND TO BE UNTAINTED. IT IS EXPECTED THAT THESE TWO AGENTS WILL BE TIED UP FOR AT LEAST SIX TO EIGHT WEEKS.

FINALLY, LAFO IS ASSIGNING SA [redacted] TO ACT AS FULL-TIME ASSISTANT CASE AGENT, BEGINNING MAY 18, 1992, FOR THE DURATION OF THE INVESTIGATION. b6 b7C

Briseno Breaks Silence About King Beating

LAPD: Officer is defensive, bitter and angry as he describes his ordeal since that infamous night. He lashes out at politicians, the department and a co-defendant.

By JIM NEWTON
TIMES STAFF WRITER

Sitting in his lawyer's office, Theodore J. Briseno fidgeted in his chair, stared out the 18th-story window and took a deep breath.

After months of self-imposed silence, Briseno—facing federal civil rights charges in the March 3, 1991, videotaped beating of Rodney G. King—said he was eager to tell his version of the events that transformed him from an unknown street cop into one of the four most infamous police officers in the United States.

But the case has so overwhelmed Briseno's life that his feelings come out in bursts. Sometimes he is defensive and bitter, other times anguished.

"I have so much anger," Briseno, 40, said during a 2½-hour interview with The Times on Friday. "I don't know what to do with it all."

Once a supporter of President Bush, Briseno is furious with him for his comments about the case. He is mad at Mayor Tom Bradley for condemning the verdicts, at the Police Department for abandoning him, at one of his co-defendants for comments he made in a manuscript, at the media for the way they have covered the case and at the federal government for new charges it has filed.

All of that leaves Briseno tightly wound. He has gone for more than a year without a paycheck, and bills are piling up. He worries about his wife, Kathy, and his two daughters—one is 11, the other 9. He has trouble sleeping and eating, and says he has lost 22 pounds; the stiff-collared shirt he wore Friday hung loose around his thin neck.

He sees a therapist twice a week, and joked bleakly about suicide. Smiling thinly, he said that if he wanted to kill himself, he would have done it long before now.

"There are days where you think everything is going OK," Briseno said, nervously tugging at a rubber band wound around his left hand. "But then you sort of drift around, and you wake out of it and find yourself in your back yard, and you don't know how you got there or how long you've been there. It's overwhelming."

It has been 17 months since Briseno used his foot to push King to the pavement in Lake View Terrace, a blow that prosecutors say was intended to hurt King and deprive him of his civil rights.

During the state trial in Simi Valley, Briseno testified that he was King's defender, and was trying to protect the motorist from getting up and being struck by other police officers.

That testimony, during which Briseno said the beating had gone "out of control," broke the "code of silence" among police officers. Because of that—and because many familiar with the case believe that Briseno lied on the stand—he has been ostracized by some officers and isolated from his co-defendants, with whom he says he has never spoken at length.

Last week, however, he emerged from his long silence. His new lawyer, Harland Braun, wants to remold the public's view of Briseno.

With that encouragement, Briseno is launching an ambitious media schedule. He began last week by giving interviews to the "Today" show and the London Daily Mail. This week, he will appear on CNN's "Larry King Live."

In addition to spreading Briseno's version of the events on the night of the beating, the exposure helps communicate some subtler points. Among other things, Braun hopes viewers will notice Briseno's size. He stands 5 feet, 9 inches and weighs less than 130 pounds these days, making him by far the smallest of the four officers charged in the beating.

At the same time, the new approach exposes Briseno to a torrent of questions, some of them hostile. Braun, one of the best known criminal defense attorneys in Los Angeles, has put no limits on what his client can be asked.

"I figure, you either trust your client to give interviews or you don't," Braun said later. "I trust him, and he doesn't need me watching over him."

On April 29, a Ventura County jury acquitted Briseno of assault and excessive force in the King beating. Also acquitted on all counts were co-defendants Sgt. Stacey C. Koon and former Officer Timothy E. Wind. Officer Laurence M. Powell, who delivered the majority of the blows to King, was acquitted on all counts except for one in which the jury could not reach a verdict.

There was an instant of relief, Briseno said, but it quickly passed. The federal government reopened its investigation of the beating soon after the verdicts and three weeks ago filed civil rights charges against the four officers.

Briseno blames that on Bush and the pressures of an election year.

In particular, Briseno faults the President for saying he and his family were "stunned" by the not guilty verdicts.

"I want to ask the President: 'Why did you say those things? You don't know me. You don't know my family. You don't know about my performance on the job,'" Briseno said. "Bush wants to push this case because he wants to get elected."

b6

During the interview, Briseno stressed several times that he is not a violent person, that he has never raised his voice to his wife. There are those who disagree, including his ex-wife, who has said that he beat her on several occasions. Briseno was suspended in 1987 for 66 days after allegedly beating and stomping a suspect in custody.

Briseno denies both allegations. His ex-wife is bitter and out to sell her story, he said. Although he acknowledges the suspension, he says he was not guilty but accepted the punishment to put the incident behind him.

Briseno politely fielded hours of questions during the interview, but bristled when asked whether his colleagues will ever forgive him for testifying against other officers.

"These policemen who feel I broke the code, that's fine," Briseno said, his voice rising. "They're not in my shoes. They don't have the slightest idea—not the slightest—about what me and my family are going through."

As in his testimony last spring, Briseno said he believes that the beating was excessive, and he was particularly critical of Powell.

On the videotape, Briseno is seen with his foot on what appears to be the back of King's head or neck. Briseno pushes King down hard to the pavement, but he says he was trying to get King to stay down so that he would not be hit again. In another section of the tape, Briseno reaches for Powell's baton, and he testified that he was pleading with Powell to stop the beating.

As he was leaving the federal courthouse recently, Powell said: "Nobody buys that story."

Powell's lawyer, Michael P. Stone, agreed: "There are so many reasons to disbelieve Ted. He doesn't just want to be innocent. He wants to be a hero."

Briseno responds by saying he told the truth about Powell's actions, but he concedes that there may be other interpretations of the same exchange.

"We all saw it different ways," Briseno said. "It's my view that the force was excessive, but I can see how some people would see it differently."

Braun stresses that point and said he has asked the other defense lawyers to consider a unified strategy. Still, there are other issues that could pit the defendants against each other. In particular, Briseno said he is concerned about statements made by Koon in an unpublished manuscript.

In that document, Koon referred to King as Mandingo, a reference to a West African people that is sometimes used as a derogatory term for black male slaves.

"I was totally shocked by that," Briseno said. "It was a total embarrassment. . . . That hurts me, too. It hurts me because everyone talks about the 'four white police officers.' They lump us together. . . . I'm not racist."

Although Briseno said he expected that at least Powell would be convicted in state court, he added that he believes all four are innocent of the charges brought by the federal government. To be guilty of violating King's civil rights, the officers would need to have intentionally sought to deprive King of those rights, and Briseno said the moment was too charged, too chaotic, for the officers to have acted willfully and in concert.

A federal grand jury meeting in Los Angeles disagreed.

To Briseno, the new charges feel more like persecution than prosecution.

"It's like we were the Cinderella team," Briseno said. "We came from nowhere and we won. Now the federal government comes in and says: 'Time out. We're going to play the game again, and this time we're going to bring in our home run hitters.' "

The coming months loom ominously for Briseno. It could be months before the new trial begins, and Briseno cannot go anywhere without being recognized. At lunch in a busy mall, several people stared hard and whispered to each other as he passed.

He ignored the long looks, but says the notoriety can be oppressive. Most of all, he worries about where this case will end because none of the options look inviting.

If he is convicted, he faces up to 10 years in prison and a $250,000 fine. If he is acquitted, he looks toward an uncertain future, knowing he will never return to police work and the life he enjoyed before March 3, 1991.

"We were just at that stage where everything was going right," Briseno said. "We have a great family, and we're happy in our community. Everything was wonderful. And then everything changed."

[redacted] stated he did not remember any conversations that he might have had, and could not recall any without being refreshed.

[redacted] offered to contact other witnesses to refresh his memory. He stated that he was not willing to hide any information. He did recall some things, however did not recall everything. AUSA [redacted] stated he was not acusing [redacted] of misconduct but rather again believed [redacted] had information and perceptions. For this reason, AUSA [redacted] was seeking his best memory and recall. b6 b7C

AUSA [redacted] played the video tape of the Rodney King incident at 25% speed. [redacted] voluntarily identified Officer Powell as well as Sergeant Koon, using the taser. AUSA [redacted] requested [redacted] while watching the tape to advise when he considered the actions of officers to be in or out of LAPD policy. b6 b7C

Upon viewing the tape, [redacted] advised that if a suspect was trying to get up, the use of a baton was in policy. He repeated the statement again while continuing to view the tape. [redacted] advised the hitting observed to the ankles of Rodney King was also a correct procedure to stop a suspects attempts to get up. The tape was stopped at time frame 4:20:04 and played again. [redacted] related the kick to the head of Rodney King was also in policy if a suspect was attempting to get up.

[redacted] related in attempting to make an arrest, the LAPD also allows a practice known as a swarm technique. This practice allows a suspect to be overpowered by four to six officers. [redacted] believed the swarm technique could have been used in the Rodney King arrest. [redacted] related he would have tried the swarm attempt, with enough personnel. He explained the use of the technique is the decision of the on scene Sergeant and would depend on his knowledge of the personnel at the scene. He advised he would also try to verbalize with the suspect.

At 10:23 a.m. AUSA [redacted] telephonically contacted Attorney [redacted] representing [redacted] AUSA [redacted] advised [redacted] that her client was present for the interview as previously discussed. He advised her the tape of the King incident had been shown to her client and the discussion which followed was limited to policy and tactics, not the identification of personnel. [redacted] inquired of her client if he wished to have her present and or continue with the interview. [redacted] advised he would continue without her presence.

[redacted] related his belief that officers at the scene were dealing with a PCP suspect.. If the suspect was "up", physically, it would call for different tactics, and depends on each situtation. He explained he had to put himself in the officers mind, for example the suspect, King had not been searched. He stated LAPD policy has also been changed to remove the upper body control hold and now the baton is used. [redacted] stated the use of firearms would have been inappropriate in this situtation. He stated the officers would not have used the swarm technique unless they keyed on their sergeant.

[redacted] believed that Sergeant Koon had "tunnel vision" in using personnel to the best advantage in the swarm technique. He explained the approach is to place the suspact at the greatest disadvantage and the officers greatest advantage.

In viewing the tape AUSA [redacted] noted that King was handcuffed while in a sitting position rather than being prone. [redacted] stated King may have been approached in this manner since it appeared that he was exhausted.

AUSA [redacted] requested of [redacted] that while he reviewed the tape, he would advise when the actions of the officers were out of policy. The tape was played at regular speed. At 4.4.01, [redacted] advised he would have had the officers stop. Additionally, he would have yanked Powell, stating his actions may have agitated King. [redacted] advised he did not know why the actions as observed on the tape were taken. Possibly in desperation and tactical consideration.

[redacted] advised that he could not tell without the frame tape and his statements to the IAD of the concerns as explained to them.

[redacted] is a Paramedic with the Los Angeles Fire Department (LAFD). [redacted] Prior to her employment with LAFD, [redacted] first completed a certified paramedic training course and worked for a private paramedic service.

On that evening, [redacted] recalls that a call came in around 1 a.m. As she recalls, the call came in as either a "Person Down" or an "Assault." Consequently, she and [redacted] along [redacted] were assigned to the response. [redacted]

Once at the scene, [redacted] observed that the Engine had arrived before she had. She explained that that was not unusual since the Engine had a less complicated route to the scene based upon the Station floorplan. Upon her arrival, [redacted] observed the subject of her call, RODNEY KING. Upon noting his position, [redacted] drove a little past KING's position in order to better position her ambulance to access KING. [redacted] stated that once she arrived upon the scene she knew that KING was in custody of the police.

After their arrival, [redacted] spoke briefly SGT STACEY KOON. She remembers that at that time someone told her and [redacted] that KING was under the influence of "something." Around that time, [redacted] left the conversation and went back to her vehicle to retrieve a gurney on which to transport KING. [redacted] did not recall speaking with any other police officers at the scene about what had happened prior to her arrival. b6 b7C

After retrieving the gurney, [redacted] went over to where KING was lying on the ground. She observed that he was handcuffed behind his back, flex-cuffed around his ankles, with a second flex-cuff tying together the handcuffs to the ankle flex-cuffs (hog-tied). She further observed that KING appeared to have been in a recent struggle as he was covered extensively with dirt. She also saw that KING had a bloody face and that about 10 cc's of blood had accumulated on the ground around his head area.

While [redacted] had gone to get the gurney, [redacted] believes that [redacted] performed a preliminary assessment of KING. Later, [redacted] was informed by [redacted] that KING was "fully oriented times four." [redacted] explained that this means that the individual was aware of Person, Place, Time, and Circumstance. When [redacted] arrived at KING's side, the decision had already been made to immediately transport him to the hospital, consequently, she never performed a medical examination of KING. Once the gurney was in place next to KING, he was picked up by 3 or 4 firemen, a policeman, and herself, then placed upon the gurney where he was strapped down, face down. b6 b7C

[redacted] could not recall if KING was spitting during the time he was wheeled from his original position to the back of the ambulance, however, she does remember him beginning to spit at that point. It was [redacted] impression that KING was trying to deliberately spit at people rather than simply to clear his mouth of excess blood. [redacted] claims to have tried to direct KING to calm down and to tell him to direct his spitting into a towel on the gurney provided for that purpose. b6 b7C

Once at the back of her rig, [redacted] was unable to see any injuries to KING other than the cut on his face. She also stated that in her experience, any marks on KING's face did not appear to be consistent with those which would be present had there been blows to KING's head with a PR-24 or other similar baton blow. [redacted] then attempted to readjust the wires from the Taser in order that they would not get caught up in the gurney. b6 b7C

During this time KING directed remarks toward [redacted] that she described as "unfriendly, aggressive, or angry tone of voice." Once the Taser wire readjustment was completed, KING was loaded into the rear of the rig. At that time, two officers also climbed into the rig along with [redacted] [redacted] also attempted to climb in to assist her partner in taking KING's blood pressure, but was instructed to just get started for the hospital. She described KING's actions at the time as "combative," trying to fight against his restraints rather than to attempt to find a comfortable position with them.

Enroute to the hospital, [redacted] could not hear what conversations were going on in the back of the rig. This was due to road noises and the general construction of her ambulance. Consequently, all [redacted] was able to hear were shouts coming from the rear. She heard [redacted] yelling at KING to stop spitting. [redacted] was unsure if anything else was said enroute, but indicated that she may have received directions from [redacted] as to how to get to the hospital. b6 b7C

Once at the hospital, [redacted] assisted in transferring KING from the gurney onto a hospital gurney, where KING was placed in a four-point restraint. That completed, [redacted] set about to cleaning up for her next run. While cleaning the back of the ambulance, [redacted] observed several traces of blood mixed with spittle on both walls of the ambulance. [redacted] described the blood content as a "mist of blood on the walls versus clumps."

She advised that not every ACC has a Police Service Representative (PSR) attached to it, in fact it is not uncommon to have an ACC without a PSR. b6 b7C [redacted] stated for purposes of background, the Mobile Digital Terminal(MDT) and ACC are different systems, and each has a different format.

On March 3, 1991, [redacted] related she was assigned to [redacted]

b6 b7C

[redacted] recalled her assignment was to [redacted] which also handled other emergency calls. She was aware of the identity of [redacted] She could not recall the identity of the Emergency Board Operator (EBO).

Following the King incident, [redacted] recalled questions were asked within the week about the role of the RTO.

She recalled taking a break [redacted]

Upon her return, [redacted] was informed by her relief, [redacted] of a pursuit involving the California Highway Patrol (CHP), wherein the CHP requested assistance of the LAPD. A vehicle was stopped, or "Code 6", and the suspect was in custody or "Code 4". [redacted] a rescue ambulance (RA) was requested because of a beating., This was noted in the comments of the call created by the EBO with a corresponding incident number. [redacted] would have typed in the RA request to BCC. [redacted] said she saw the message. She identified RTO 15 as the number assigned to her and identified the comments [redacted] typed in. She did not recall any additional information as provided by [redacted]

b6 b7C

b6 b7C

[redacted] advised she was surprised to hear they placed the "victim of a beating" call and the request for the RA unit

b6 b7C

the way they did. She recalled responding to [redacted] "your kidding, no way", again expressing surprise and stating again, "your kidding, no way".

In summary, [redacted] explained she was aware of the pursuit, a car stop, a suspect being taken into custody and the request for the RA unit. She also believed she made a request for a tow truck.

b6

[redacted] explained she could not recall a prior experience requiring an RA unit at the end of a pursuit, stating she has handled many ambulance calls.

[redacted] explained she is unaware of the LAPD policy on the use of force.

She explained her surprise to the request for the RA unit was aa reaction to the way the request was made and what was said.

[redacted] stated she could not recall the occupants of car 53 during her shift. Further, she did not have contact with anyone at the scene from the Foothill division after the King incident.

b6
b7C

She recalled her [redacted] and believes she was again relieved by [redacted] She explained [redacted] was the assigned relief for the shift.

b6
b7C

[redacted] related she does not know any officers at the Foothill station. She does not know Sergeant Stacey Koon, Officer Theodore Briseno, Officer Timothy Wind or Officer Lawrence Powell.

b6
b7C

[redacted] was shown an "MDT" printout dated March 3, 1991 with a Julian date of 62, with printout number [redacted] The message sent [redacted] reads [redacted] advised this was her MDT message transmission.

[redacted] again stated she never met Ted Briseno however "heard that he had a tendency to get in trouble". Basically, she heard Briseno had been in trouble before, specifically that he had been in trouble in the Devonshire division. [redacted] also heard Briseno lived in an apartment building within the Devonshire division and she heard that "Ted" told an officer that a kid suspected in an auto theft case was a good kid. [redacted] believed "Ted" was possibly "over enthusiastic" in believing the kid was a good kid. She did not believe "Ted" was interfering with the investigation.

She also understood Ted took days off for excessive force. Additionally she explained everyone had an attitude about "Ted", in that he could be involved in trouble. Her information concerning Ted Briseno was furnished in part by a friend, [redacted] a police officer, assigned to the Devonshire division. [redacted] was hesitant to provide the names of individuals she received information from, since it was hearsay and because she felt they did not want to get involved. b6 b7C

[redacted] told her he heard from a variety of people about Ted Briseno. [redacted] reiterated she does not know of Briseno except through hearsay and reputation. In this regard, she stated it was general knowledge that Briseno had been given days off. She also believed a [redacted] told her on one time that Briseno was a "jerk". She explained Wells knew Briseno while [redacted] b6 b7C

She believed that from the sound of the message, it was in response to something, however she could not recall sending the message to Briseno. She further didn't recall that he was in car 53. She believed Briseno may have said something over the air, possibly like "did you get my tow message?" She related she again didn't know what predicated the message. She guessed that Briseno would have asked for something, wherein she heard his voice and responded with the message to him.

The radio tape of messages sent on the Foothill frequency at the time of the incident, was played for [redacted] Upon hearing the tape, [redacted] speculated that Briseno came back with an "attitude", and an unknown remark about the tow. She also speculated she possibly did a unit history to determine that Briseno was in unit 53. [redacted] believed there could be another message after the portion listened to which could indicate why she sent the message. She would not have said it over the air. b6 b7C

[redacted] explained her feeling about Briseno was "excuse the phrase, but he was like a shit magnet". It was not unusual for him to be involved in trouble, since he had an "attitude".

[redacted] said she never heard of Stacey Koon, Laurence Powell, or Timothy Wind before the King incident. Briseno was the only person she had an impression of, based on his reputation at the Devonshire division.

[redacted] explained she does not know, [redacted] however she did not know him before. She does not know [redacted] She believed [redacted] was possibly a P-3, (patrolman three) and not a sergeant. She did not recall meeting him, but he may have worked Foothill division when she was there. [redacted] also [redacted]

b6

[redacted] belived that officer [redacted] may have worked at Devonshire with Briseno, however she was unsure.

[redacted] stated she knew of [redacted] only because he is presently working Foothill division.

b6

[redacted] stated she does not know [redacted] or [redacted] althought [redacted] may have walked through the station.

[redacted] was shown a second MDT message at 5:11 a.m., number [redacted] dated March 3, 1991, [redacted]. The response is noted in message number [redacted] She speculated the unit she directed the message to was possibly clear. She could not state why she said it. She could not recall why she would have directed a message to Powell and Wind. She explained she did not direct any message to Officers [redacted] Briseno. She believed the message was sent at random.

[redacted] was shown additional MDT responses at 4:53 a.m., concerning "Code 7" requests rior to making an on the air request. She stated this was a procedure followed by some officers to check the possiblity of going code 7.

[redacted] stated she has no recollection of sending or receiving these messages. She explained she has sent casual messages in the past and would have used the word cranky. In this regard, she advised that she did not have any relationship with either Powell or Wind over the MDT system. b6 b7C

[redacted] related she knew the identity of units by number in the field throught he use of the UVA on her screen. She advised that A23 and A53 would have been located near the top of the list of units. Again [redacted] explained she did not know why she sent the message. She described the message as mild. She could only guess why she carried it over from midnight to 5 a.m. in the morning, however, could not furnish a reason. b6 b7C

[redacted] related that [redacted] was working the BCC the night of March 3, 1991, while [redacted] was working the frequencies. [redacted] would not have listened to [redacted] frequency because of the volume of traffic. [redacted] has discussed the interview [redacted] had in this matter. She read a transcript of [redacted] contact with the District Attorney's office regarding her contact with the fire department. Specifically, she read exerpts from [redacted] contact with the fire department. b6 b7C

[redacted] speculated [redacted] may have known about the pursuit since her responsibility also included monitoring emergencies. [redacted] could only guess that [redacted] heard the incident. b6 b7C

[redacted] told [redacted] the interview with the District Attorney, specifically [redacted] was very stressful. [redacted] complained that she was alone during the interview. [redacted] advised [redacted] she responded as a stress reducer because she was working the valley. b6 b7C

[redacted] stated she may have inquired of [redacted] why she said what she did in reference to the beating, however she did not recall asking her. She could not account for why [redacted] said what she said. b6 b7C

[redacted] stated that based on her experience, there is no perception or knowledge where suspects are taken into custody following a pursuit that they are beaten. She recalled a number of pursuits having taken place, where no such action as in the King incident took place. She stated this incident was unusual and does not normally happen.

During the entire interview, [redacted] was accompanied by his attorney, [redacted] After being advised of the official identity of the interviewing agent, [redacted] voluntarily provided the following information. b6 b7C

[redacted] was hired by [redacted] prior to the state trial in order to attempt enhancement of the audio track of the [redacted] Tape." The resultant enhanced video tape is maintained by [redacted] as attorney work product due to the business arrangement between [redacted] Despite the lack of the "original" enhanced tape, [redacted] explained the means by which he attempted his enhancement. b6 b7C

Initially, [redacted] was able to obtain the original [redacted] Tape." From that tape, he made an audio recording utilizing a line feed without external amplification into a digital recorder. The subsequent digital recording was then processed through various computer programs in order to minimize the overriding sounds of the helicopter by means of clipping and smoothing the amplitude frequencies believed to be associated with the helicopter's emitted sounds. Conversely, none of the amplitude frequencies believed to be associatedwith the officer's voices were magnified.

[redacted] utilized both a MacIntosh and a DOS-based computer during his enhancement process. On the MacIntosh, the programs "MacRecorder" and "Sound Edit" were utilized. On the DOS-based computer, "Personal Computer Digital Filter 4026 (Manufactured by Digital Audio Corporation)" was utilized. b6 b7C

Once an enhanced digital soundtrack was established as described above, [redacted] synchronized his enhanced soundtrack back with the video tape. This synchronization was done by utilizing two benchmark, high-frequency sounds which were readily recognized on both the original [redacted] Tape" and the enhanced tape. The two benchmarks were matched on each media, thus synchronizing the enhanced version to the original.

The following investigation was conducted by Special Agent (SA) [redacted] b6 b7C

On the morning of March 3, 1991, RODNEY GLEN KING was seen at the emergency room of Los Angeles County, University of Southern California Medical Center (LAC-USC). His treatment that morning was conducted/overseen by [redacted] According to [redacted] none of the medical records of the hospital would reflect which of their personnel actually drew the blood from KING which was later analyzed. According to [redacted] there is no set procedure for who is to draw the blood, thus the task simply falls on whoever is available. Once drawn, the specimen is labelled with the patient's name and medical record number. It is then forwarded to their laboratory for analysis. b6 b7C

Once in the laboratory, the specimen is analyzed by any one of the technicians in the laboratory. Again, since maintaining a chain of custody is not a normal requirement for the hospital, it is impossible to determine which technician analyzed the blood. Once analyzed the specimen is normally discarded after a short period. In this case, the blood coincidentally was still on the premises when it was requested by Los Angeles Police Department (LAPD).

On May 7, 1992, [redacted] were released from the [redacted] to Special Agent [redacted] by order of a Federal Grand Jury subpoena.

If needed, the original chain of custody report could be obtained from LAPD property room.

On July 31, 1992, [redacted] Los Angeles County Deputy Sheriff, Transportation Division, accompanied by his attorney, [redacted] appeared at the United States Courthouse at Los Angeles for a pre-grand jury interview. [redacted] was interviewed by Department of Justice Attorney (DOJA) [redacted] with Special Agent (SA) [redacted] in attendance as a witness to record the proceedings. After being advised of the official identities of the interviewing officials, [redacted] voluntarily provided the following information.

[redacted] had been assigned to the Transportation Division for approximately [redacted] prior to the RODNEY KING incident. Approximately one night following the incident, [redacted] was assigned to transport KING and others from the Los Angeles County Hospital to the men's Central Jail. That evening [redacted] was assigned to work with [redacted]

When the two arrived at the hospital, they went up to the jail ward to pick up their prisoners. [redacted] believes that most, if not all, of the prisoners were waiting for transportation in a holding cell. On this particular trip [redacted] thinks that between nine and twelve prisoners were transported. The prisoners were taken out of the holding cell one at a time by [redacted] then passed on to [redacted] who would handcuff the prisoners together.

[redacted] recalls that when KING came to him for handcuffing, he had to hop on one foot because the other foot was either casted or taped. Seeing this, [redacted] picked up a nearby crutch and gave it to KING to help him walk. Normally, prisoners are chained together in groups of four. In this particular instance, [redacted] could not recall if KING was chained together with other prisoners, or "single wrapped" due to his bad foot.

[redacted] also stated that he was never told by anyone that KING could be a potential problem prisoner. [redacted] stated that as far as he was concerned, KING was "just another prisoner." Further, he believed that his partner felt the same way.

Once all the prisoners to be transported were prepared, they were taken down the elevator to the bus which had been parked at the loading dock. [redacted] stated that the elevator could only hold about twelve people, however, he could not recall if more than one trip had to be taken back up the elevator in order to bring down more prisoners.

[redacted] remembers KING as being cooperative. He further stated that he had minimal contact with KING, other than that described above. According to [redacted] there was nothing unusual about this transportation which would cause it to stick out in his mind.

Once the prisoners had all been loaded on the bus, they drove over to the Central Jail where they were unchained and released to the jail's custody.

A few days later, after the video had aired, [redacted] approached [redacted] and told him that it was they who had transported KING. Until that time, [redacted] had not associated his prior day's prisoner with the videotape he had seen. [redacted] could not recall exactly what was said to him by [redacted] during this conversation, but he thought that [redacted] told him that he had asked KING what had happened to him. [redacted] noted that he did not think that anything of significance was related to him during his conversation with [redacted] except for the notoriety of their prisoner.

heard the police officers shouting in loud aggressive voices "back" or "black". [redacted] was not sure what the officers were shouting because the noise from a police helicopter, equipped with a search light, hovering overhead made it difficult to hear clearly. [redacted] described the shouting as being similar to being yelled at in the Army when you do something wrong. Nonetheless, [redacted] speculated the police officers were ordering KING to put his hands behind his back because KING placed one hand behind his back. When KING attempted to place his other hand behind his back, he was struck by a police officer's baton. KING moved in reaction to the blow which, in turn, caused the police officers to strike KING again with their batons. [redacted] observed it was difficult for KING to comply with the police officers' commands because each time he was struck he moved depending on where he was hit. At one point, KING rose up to one knee, was struck by a baton and fell back to the ground. KING again tried to get up. [redacted] saw a police officer kick KING's head. A police officer then approached [redacted] and told him to leave the area. [redacted] complied fearing he, too, would be beat by the police. [redacted] estimated he viewed the incident for approximately two minutes.

Approximately one week after the incident, [redacted] telephoned KING's attorney. KING's attorney was told by [redacted] that he witnessed the incident and wanted to help because he felt what happened to KING was wrong. [redacted] was interviewed by an investigator employed by KING's attorney. The interview was tape recorded. The investigator subtly attempted to get [redacted] on the side of the investigator but [redacted] just related the things he saw in an honest manner. [redacted] advised the information he provided the FBI is essentially the same information he related during the tape recorded interview. [redacted] received no compensation from KING's attorney for the information.

Shortly thereafter, [redacted] was contacted by police investigators, working for lawyers representing the police officers involved in the KING incident, media reporters, and a person, without identification, who identified himself as an FBI Agent. [redacted] spoke to one reporter about the incident but he determined the reporter was subtly trying to get him to say the police officers were yelling ethnic slurs at KING while he was being arrested. [redacted] knew the judge would believe him and not the police officers if he lied about what was said by police officers at the time of the incident. [redacted] knows this to be wrong. In an effort to avoid any misinterpretation of what he saw or heard, [redacted] refused to speak to anyone about the incident.

On Sunday, at approximately 1:00 a.m. on the day the RODNEY KING incident occurred was a passenger in is brother. Also in the car were and a cousin, recalled driving on the 210 Freeway and exiting at the Osborne Street exit. then turned onto Foothill Boulevard where saw a lot of police cars. first speculated there had been a gang fight. When the car got closer, saw police officers using batons to strike someone who was lying on the ground. later came to know the person lying on the ground to be RODNEY KING. also saw two police officers kick KING. At one point, KING got up on his knees. heard the police officers shout to KING, "Stay there." could not hear much of what was said because of noise coming from a helicopter hovering overhead. Nonetheless described what he heard as police officers giving orders. saw some type of chain resembling handcuffs attached to each of KING's wrists. could not be sure of what was on KING's wrists because of the poor lighting in the area. It was opinion that KING did not resist the police officers and attempted to obey all their orders.

Approximately one week after the incident, was interviewed by an investigator working for KING's attorney. This interview was tape recorded; however, he did not reveal the contents of the interview to the FBI.

[redacted] official report of the incident lacked many standard reported items, such as KING's name, and the make and model of the car. [redacted] report was never signed-off by a supervisor. Most importantly, however, the [redacted] report contains lies. b6 b7C

[redacted] has obtained the CHP "radio communication tape" for the incident, and has compared the radio communication from the [redacted], predominantly [redacted] the passenger, to the written version of the event as contained in the report. [redacted] discovered that the report claims the car they were chasing (KING) was going 80 miles an hour across side streets. However, the tape reveals that [redacted] calls out the speeds for the vehicle from 50 m.p.h. to 65 m.p.h. across the same side streets.

[redacted] further states that he has timed the pursuit from the time that the [redacted] radioed that they were "leaving the freeway" by taking the PAXTON off-ramp and the time that [redacted] made his last real communication, which was that they were "approaching OSBOURNE" (phonetic). This period of time, timed from the tape, according to [redacted] takes 4 minutes and 50 seconds, give or take 5 seconds. After that communication, there is much shouting, and [redacted] then goes bananas" over the radio. [redacted] is asked by CHP control to repeat his unintelligible message, but [redacted] does not. b6 b7C

[redacted] has measured the distance from the [redacted] off-ramp to the intersection of Foothill and Osbourne Streets, where the beating took place. In [redacted] Toyota, the distance is 2.7 miles on the odometer. In [redacted] Cadillac, the same distance measures 3.1 miles on the odometer. Taking the known time it took the [redacted] to travel the distance, some 4 minutes and 50 seconds, give or take 5 seconds, and dividing by the distances measured by the Toyota (2.7 miles), the [redacted] were going an average of 33.6 m.p.h.. If the Cadillac odometer reading is used (3.1 miles), the [redacted] were going an average of 38.4 m.p.h. b6 b7C

In any event, the [redacted] were travelling at a rate much, much slower in the side street pursuit of KING than the CHP report indicated (80 m.p.h.)

Additionally, [redacted] advised that the [redacted] CHP report indicated that the car they were pursuing was going 110 m.p.h. Aside from the near impossibility of a Hyundai attaining such a speed, the fact is that the [redacted] report states the vehicle (KING) was overtaken after 3 miles. According to [redacted] the [redacted] CHP vehicle would have had to be going an average of 165 m.p.h. to overtake the KING vehicle. [redacted] advised that this would be absolutely impossible, and commented that the fastest-ever CHP vehicle, the Ford Mustang, could only attain top speeds of 135 m.p.h., and the [redacted] were not in such a vehicle. b6 b7C [redacted] advised that he will be available for further interview, and would be "very happy" to testify if needed.

 b6 b7C

telephone [redacted] social security number [redacted], was telephonically contacted regarding possible information from [redacted] relevant to the RODNEY KING investigation. After being advised of the identity of the interviewing agent and the nature of the interview, [redacted] gave the following information:

[redacted] is [redacted]. His date of birth is [redacted] and his social security number is [redacted]. [redacted] has been very concerned, as he follows the progress of the federal KING trial, that a very important issue has not been addressed. [redacted] believes that KING's attempts to get up, after being hit and while being hit by the LAPD officers, were not willful resistance to being handcuffed. Rather, they were a physical response from the involuntary signals from the brain.

b7C

According to [redacted] when a person is knocked down, and especially when the knock-down force is applied to the head region, the "sub-conscious," and overwhelming, reaction is to "get up." There is the belief, however unfounded, that by "getting up," the body will be "okay."

b6

This overwhelming desire is especially strong in children. [redacted] has seen this reaction many times in coaching. A hurt child will attempt, even desperately, to get up, when that action may be detrimental. The reaction is also very obvious in boxers who have been knocked down by blows to the head; the attempt to get up is innate in survival.

In addition to [redacted] The brain's function in controlling the body's motor-sensory functions in these "knock-down; get-up" situations is well documented by medical research. [redacted] has told [redacted] "just ask any neurosurgeon or neurologist."

[redacted] "strongly believes" that KING did not have control of his body when he was being beaten, regardless of any issue of alcohol use or drug abuse. [redacted] does not know, but does not believe that this medical/scientific explanation has ever been considered by the prosecuting attorneys.

[redacted] advised that she and her son are by no means "pro-KING" or "anti-cop," but do believe strongly that this important issue may be overlooked and/or mis-understood.

[redacted] further advised that her son is more than willing to discuss this with anyone interested in listening. [redacted] stated that her son know all the "medical terms" about the above described condition, and that he "knows much more about it" than she does.

- ALREADY SPOKE TO DISTRICT ATTORNEY INVESTIGATOR [redacted] b6 b7C ON 3/7/91.

- ~~TODAY~~ SAT NIGHT WENT TO BED BETWEEN 9:30 - 10:00 PM. I HEARD A HELICOPTER HOVERING ABOVE. [redacted] SAW WHITE CAR AND SEVERAL POLICEMAN STANDING AROUND. SAW THIS MAN (UNK BLACK MALE) HE WAS STANDING HOLDING ONTO CAR SPREAD. I ~~SAW~~ THEN SAW HIM DROP TO GROUND. ~~I SAW~~

- TWO OR THREE OF THEM WERE BEATING AND HOLLERING AT HIM

- I HEARD HIM HOLLER, "PLEASE STOP, PLEASE STOP'

- THEY WERE ALL ON HIM. ONE WOULD GO UP AND KICK AND ~~STAB~~

- A WHOLE BUNCH STOOD OVER HIM.

- THEN THREE

THEY KICKED HIM AND KEPT JUMPING DOWN ON HIM.

- THEY ~~HANDCUFF~~ HANDCUFFED HIM / TIED HIS ANKLES UP AND DRAGGED HIM

- THEY LEFT HIM LAYING THERE ON THE SIDE OF THE ROAD

- "YOU WOULD OF HAVE TO HAVE BEEN THERE"

- I DIDN'T SEE HIM TRY TO RESIST ANY POLICE OFFICERS.
FIRST TIME THEY HIT HIM
- IT LOOKED LIKE HE WAS TRYING TO RAISE HIS ~~HAND~~ ARM.
HE WAS KINDA OF HUNCHED OVER

- OPINION: IT APPEARED IT WAS SOME KIND OF PROVOCATION AS IF ONE OF THE POLICE OFFICERS TRIED TO PROVOKE HIM TO GET UP.

- THERE WERE MORE 15 THAN 15 COPS. THEY WERE SO MANY I STOPPED COUNTING AFTER...

- I COULDN'T MAKE ANYMORE... (ACTUALLY THOUGHT HE WAS DEAD.

- I DIDN'T SEE THE OTHER TWO PASSENGERS.... CAN'T DESCRIBE OR WHAT HAPPENED

- ~~I STARTED~~ HE WAS ALREADY OUTSIDE THE CAR

- HEARD COPS ORDER VICTIM TO GET ON GROUND. ONCE HE GOT ON GROUND IT LOOKED LIKE THEY TRIED TO PROVOKE. MY IMPRESSION HE DID NOT GET OFF THE GROUND ON HIS OWN. (IT LOOKED LIKE SOMEONE TOLD HIM TO GET UP AND THEN THIS UNKNOWN WHITE MALE COP THEN HIT HIM ACROSS THE UPPER BACK. I COULDN'T UNDERSTAND WHY THEY JUST DIDN'T PUT THE HANDCUFFS ON AND PUT HIM IN THE POLICE CAR. THEY JUST STARTED BEATING HIM.

- I DIDN'T PERCEIVE THAT NO OTHER PO INTERVENING OR REMEMBERING ANY OTHER

- THEY WERE ACTING LIKE SADISTIC PEOPLE. AFTERWARDS, YOU COULD HEAR THEM LAUGHING ABOUT WHAT DID. I HEARD LAUGHTER. I COULDN'T UNDERSTAND THE LAUGHTER ON PATIO

AMBULANCE CAME

AFTER BEATING HE WAS HANDCUFFED, HIS LEGS WERE POINTED UP. TWO OR THREE DRAGGED HIM TO THE SIDE OF STREET SO AMBULANCE HAD NO PROBLEM GETTING TO HIM. FROM BEHIND

AMBULANCE

- YOU COULDN'T SEE FACES CLEARLY BUT ALL I SAW WAS GROUP OF WHITE MALE COPS.

- THEY STOMPED HIM IN HIS HEAD, ON HIS FACE, ON HIS BACK. IT WAS SADISTIC."

THEY WERE ACTING LIKE THEY WERE ON SOMETHING."

- EVEN IF HE HAD BEEN RESISTING ARREST THERE WERE ENOUGH TO SUBDUE.

- REMEMBER SEEING TWO COPS WITH THEIR GUNS POINTED AT VICTIM

TOTAL, IT WENT ON FOR ABOUT 5 OR 6 MINUTES, IT WAS BRUTAL.

(3)

I DON'T CARE WHO HE WAS. HE DIDN'T DESERVE THAT.

INTERVIEW OF: [redacted] b6 b7C

DOB: [redacted]

[redacted]

- EARLY SUNDAY MORNING, MAR. 3, 1991, AT APPROX. 1230 AM MY HUSBAND AND I WERE AWAKENED BY THE HELICOPTER SOUNDS AND THE POLICE SIRENS @ APPROX 1230 ON MAR 3, 1991, [redacted] b6 b7C [redacted] AND WE SAW A WHITE FOUR DOOR HYUNDAI PULLED OVER ON THE WEST SIDE OF ~~HAUN~~ FOOTHILL BLVD. THERE WAS A NONDESCRIPT POLICE VEHICLE PARKED DIRECTLY BEHIND THE HYUNDAI AND SEVERAL OTHER LAPD VEHICLES PARKED ON THE STREET A FEW FEET BACK FROM THE HYUNDAI. ONE LAPD VEHICLE CAME TO PARK IN FRONT OF THE HYUNDAI (THIS WAS AFTER OTHER LAPD VEHICLES HAD ALREADY STOPPED THE VEHICLE. MOST OF THE INCIDENT HAPPENED DIRECTLY ACROSS FROM A STREETLIGHT ON THE EAST SIDE OF FOOTHILL. THE POLICE VEH HAD LT LIGHTS ON AN UNIDENTIFIED

RE: [redacted]

BLACK MALE (LATER IDENTIFIED IN THE LA TIMES AS RODNEY G. KING). THERE WAS ALSO POSSIBLY A CHP VEHICLE THAT PARKED ON THE EAST SIDE OF STREET ACCROSS FROM HYUNDAI. ALL THE VEHICLES CAME TO A STOP AND NO ONE MOVED FOR A MINUTE OR TWO (HER THOUGHTS WERE THAT MAYBE THEY WERE CHECKING OUT THE LICENSE PLATES.) SO, ONE LAPD OFFICER YELLED SOMETHING OUT AND THE DRIVER GOT OUT THAT CAR AND PUT HIS HANDS ON TOP OF HIS CAR. KING KEPT HIS HANDS ON TOP OF THE CAR FOR ABOUT A MINUTE NEVER REMOVING HIS HANDS FROM THE TOP OF THE CAR. WE HEARD A VOICE YELLING AND THIS TIME KING MOVED AWAY FROM THE CAR WITH HIS HANDS IN THE AIR, AND THEN LAID DOWN ON THE GROUND IN A PRONE POSITION. HIS HANDS WERE SPREAD OUT IN A U SHAPED POSITION. HIS BODY LAY IN EAST WEST DIRECTION, HEAD FACING EAST. KING LAY THERE FOR ABOUT 30 SECS TO A MINUTE AND DIDN'T MOVE. FROM MY VIEWPOINT, IT LOOKED LIKE HE HAD ALL HIS SENSES, LIKE HE WAS WELL AWARE OF HIS SURROUNDINGS. THEN ABOUT 10 TO 12 LAPD OFFICERS THEN CAME OVER TO WHERE KING LAID AND MADE AN IRREGULAR CIRCLE AROUND HIM. A FEW OTHER POLICE OFFICERS WERE STANDING BY THEIR VEHICLES AND A COUPLE OF P.O'S WERE STANDING BY THE HYUNDAI (KING'S VEHICLE). ~~OF ABOUT~~ WITH UP TO 12 LAPD P.O'S AROUND KING, ONE P.O. ON THE LEFTSIDE OF KING, KING WAS VERY STILL AND MADE NO ERRACTIC MOVEMENTS (~~THE~~ AT THIS POINT THE OFFICERS HAD NOT TOUCHED KING OR SEARCHED HIM. THEN THE P.O. ON THE LEFTSIDE OF KING MADE A DOWNWARD SWINGING MOTION ~~OF IT~~ WITH HIS RIGHT HAND. I DO NOT RECALL WHAT WAS IN HIS RIGHT HAND BUT WHATEVER I THOUGHT THE P.O. THREW DOWN, IT MADE A VERY DISTINCT SOUND LIKE THAT OF GLASS STRIKING CONCRETE. RIGHT AFTER HEARING THAT SOUND, THE P.O. (THE P.O. THAT MADE THE MOTION WITH HIS ARM) STARTED TO HIT KING WITH A NIGHTSTICK AND OTHER P.O'S JOINED IN. THEY WERE HITTING KING WITH NIGHTSTICKS AND KICKING HIM. KING IS GETTING HIT IN THE FACE, IN THE BACK. I SAW OTHER P.O. HIT KING. IT SEEMS THEY WERE HITTING HIM EVERYWHERE. THEY MUST OF HIT HIM AT LEAST 30 TIMES. THEY WERE ~~THE~~ HITTING HIM "LIKE SHARKS ~~THAT~~ TRYING TO GET A PIECE OF ~~THEIR~~ HIM!" HIS INITIAL REACTION WAS TO STAND UP TO GET AWAY FROM THE ~~BEATIN~~ NIGHTSTICKS

RE: [redacted]

(3) b6 b7C

b7C

AND ALL THE FORCEFUL BLOWS COMING HIS WAY. KING STOOD UP AND RAN BLINDLY AND DAZED IT SEEMED. HE TOOK TWO OR THREE STEPS AND A P.O. ~~SWUNG AT HIM AND KNOCKED~~ HOLDING A NIGHTSTICK LIKE A BASEBALL BAT SWUNG AT HIM AND KNOCKED KING BACK DOWN TO HIS KNEES BY A BLOW TO HIS FACE. KING WAS HIT IN THE FACE QUITE A BIT THE FIRST TIME HE STOOD UP. HE WAS HIT MOSTLY IN THE FACE AND HEAD AT THIS POINT. WHEN KING WENT BACK DOWN IN THE PRONE THE P.O. THAT INSTIGATED THE BEATING DELIVERED FIERCE BLOWS WITH HIS NIGHTSTICK TO KING BACK AND LEGS. "HE JUST HIM HIM AND HIT HIM. "YOU KNOW, LIKE WHEN YOU HIT A RUG TO GET THE DUST OUT." ~~BUT~~ AND OTHER P.O.'S HIT KING SIMULTANEOUSLY IN OTHER PARTS OF THE BODY AS WELL. KING WAS MOSTLY IN THE BACK BY ~~THE~~ (OFFICER #1, THE INSTIGATOR). SO KING TURNED OVER AND SAT UP SO THEY WOULDNT HIT HIM THERE ANY MORE. (SO AS P.O. #1 ~~WAS~~ THAT DELIVERING THE BACK BLOWS WOULD CEASE.) ONLY KING RECEIVED MORE FIERCE KICKING. HE STILL WAS HIT WHETHER HE SAT UP OR ~~LAY~~ LAID DOWN.

RE: [redacted]

b7C

AT THIS POINT, A UNIDENTIFIED SOUND WAS HEARD WHEN KING WAS SITTING UP. THERE WAS A LOT OF COMMOTION. I COULD SEE SOMETHING ATTACHED ~~OUT~~ TO KING'S NECK AND IT LOOKED LIKE A CHAIN. THE P.O'S CONTINUED TO HIT HIM. AGAIN, P.O. #1 KEPT ~~THIS~~ "PUMMELING HIM WITH ALL HIS MIGHT". BLOWS WERE LANDING MOSTLY IN THE REAR BACK AND LEGS. WHEN I SAW WHAT APPEARED TO BE A CHAIN AROUND HIS NECK, I SAID TO MY HUSBAND, "THEY'VE GOT A CHAIN AROUND HIS NECK." A P.O. ~~HAD~~ STEPPED BACK AND I SAW WHAT I BELIEVED TO BE A CHAIN. AT THIS POINT KING FELL FLAT TO THE GROUND. THEY CONTINUED TO HIT HIM. "I CAN'T DESCRIBE ALL THE TIMES THEY HIT HIM. IT WAS TOO MANY." MY ATTENTION WAS THEN DIVERTED ~~BE~~ MOMENTARILY BECAUSE I WAS TRYING TO HEAR WHAT MY NEIGHBORS WERE SAYING. THEN I TURNED ~~M~~ MY ATTENTION BACK TO KING TO NOTICE HIM BEING HANDCUFFED. ~~AFTER~~ AFTER HE WAS HANDCUFFED, ~~THEY~~ THE P.O.'S STEPPED AWAY AND A COUPLE OF P.O.'S THEN GRABBED KING AND DRAGGED HIM CLOSER TO THE CURB. I SAW OTHER P.O.'S WALK UP TO KING. THEY WERE YELLING SOMETHING AT HIM. I COULDN'T ~~HEAR~~ ~~DEFINITELY~~ ~~HEAR~~ EXACTLY WHAT SAID TO KING.

AFTER THE BEATINGS, THE P.O.'S WERE MILLING AROUND. THEY THEN TOOK OUT ~~ONE~~ BOTH OF THE PASSENGERS OUT OF THE HYUNDAI AND TOOK ~~THEM~~ ONE OF THE PASSENGERS OVER TO THE EASTSIDE OF THE STREET TO A POLICE VEHICLE.

SO, KING WAS JUST LYING MOTIONLESS, I KEPT WATCHING HIM TO SEE IF HE WOULD MOVE. EVEN FROM WHERE ~~AT~~ I WAS I COULD SEE THE P.O.'S CONGRATULATING THEMSELVES. ~~I COULD SEE FROM THERE GESTURES THAT THEY DANCE AT FOR EXAMPLE WHEN YOU'RE~~. A FIRE TRUCK AND THE PARAMEDICS ARRIVED. WHEN THE PARAMEDICS ARRIVED THEY GOT KING AND PUT HIM ON THE STRECTHER WITH HIS ~~HANDS~~ HANDS BOUND AND ~~HIS~~ TIED TO HIS ANKLES. "HOGTIED" IS WHAT IT'S CALLED. THEY CLOSED THE DOORS AND THE AMBULANCE DROVE OFF. TWO POLICE CARS ESCORTED THE AMBULANCE FROM THE AREA. I DIDN'T SEE THE PARAMEDICS CHECK HIM AT THE SCENE. OR THEY DID NOT GIVE HIM ANY MEDICAL ASSISTANCE ~~WE~~ THEY PUT ~~A~~ SOMETHING WHITE OVER HIS BODY COVERING HIS HEAD. I REALLY THOUGHT HE WAS DEAD.

- [redacted] DA INV.; [redacted] LAPD. INT. AFFAIRS; [redacted] LAPD ROBBERY-HOMICIDE; [redacted] ROB-HOM.

WENT TO SLEEP AROUND 10:30 PM, MAR 2, 1991. WAS AWAKENED BY THE NOISE OF HELICOPTER AND POLICE SIRENS. [redacted] b6 b7C AND SAW A WHITE IN COLOR VEHICLE, SMALL BEING CHASED BY POLICE CARS. THEY ALL PULLED OVER TO THE SIDE OF THE ROAD (FOOTHILL BLVD) NEXT TO ~~AN~~ A CLOSED BLDG. (PHILADELPHIA STEAK HOUSE) ON EAST SIDE OF STREET. UNKNOWN BLACK MALE (LATER IDENTIFIED AS RODNEY KING) GOT OUT OF VEHICLE, PUT HANDS ON TOP OF CAR AND SPREAD HIS LEGS APART. I DON'T REMEMBER HEARING ANY INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN BY POLICE BUT IT SEEMED LIKE HE WAS ORDERED TOO. HE EXITED THE VEHICLE VOLUNTARILY. ABOUT 6 OR 7 P.O'S SURROUNDED KING AND A FEW HAD THEIR GUNS DRAWN AND OTHERS HAD THEIR BILLYCLUBS OUT. HE WAS THEN TOLD I THEN OBSERVED KING LAY ON THE GROUND IN A PRONE POSITION. IT SEEMS LIKE THERE WAS ANOTHER COMMAND (ALTHOUGH I COULDN'T HEAR THEM, HE SEEMED

BTL CONT

TO BE RESPONDING TO THEIR COMMANDS. HE DID NOT RESIST OR SHOW ANY RESISTANCE AT ALL. I DON'T KNOW EXACTLY WHEN BUT AT SOME POINT I HEARD A POPPING SOUND (LIKE A BOTTLE CRACKING). ALL OF A SUDDEN KING ~~WAS ON HIS HANDS AND KNEES~~ STOOD UP. HE WAS HIT IN THE HEAD BY ONE OF THE COPS WITH A BILLY CLUB. HE WENT DOWN. KING WAS ON HIS HANDS AND KNEES AND IT APPEARED THAT HIS BODY "SORT OF CAVORTED", IT LOOKED A CERTAIN WAS AROUND HIS NECK ~~AND~~ AS THOUGH YOU HAD A DOG YOU WERE LEADING AROUND. THEY WERE REPEATEDLY BEATING HIM IN THE LEGS, BUTTOCKS, HEAD, BACK WHATEVER AREA OF KING'S BODY WAS EXPOSED. TWO IN PARTICULAR WERE PARTICULARLY VIOLENT. IT SEEMS AS THOUGH THEY WERE HITTING WITH ALL THEIR MIGHT. A FEW OTHERS GOT IN A FEW GOOD KICKS. I SAW ABOUT FOUR OF THE P.O'S DOING MOST OF THE HITTING AND KICKING. THE OTHER P.O.'S WERE STANDING AROUND AND WAITING. I ACTUALLY SAW BLOOD ON KING'S FACE. I ACTUALLY THOUGHT KING WAS DEAD WHEN HE STOPPED MOVING.

I ~~STAN~~ DID SEE ONE COP PUT HIS GUN IN HIS HOLSTER AND ~~HE~~ HE WALKED UP TO ONE OF THE COPS BEATING KING AND IT SEEMED LIKE HE WAS ATTEMPTING TO ~~STOP~~ STOP THIS COP FROM BEATING KING. THE COPS CONTINUED TO BEAT KING ON ALL PARTS OF KINGS BODY.

ABOUT 8 TO 10 COPS SURROUNDED KING AND I COULDN'T SEE EXACTLY WHAT THEY WERE DOING TO KING. AFTER THEY STEPPED ASIDE I NOTICED THEY HAD HOGTIED KING. THEY GOT IN A FEW MORE LICKS. TWO OF THEM DRAGGED KING OVER TO THE SIDE OF THE ROAD. THEY DIDN'T LIFT KING OFF THE STREET, THEY DRAGGED HIM WITH HIS FACE DOWN ON THE STREET. IT LOOKED LIKE HIS EYE WAS ABOUT TO POP OUT.

AT THIS TIME THE P.O'S STARTED LAUGHING AND TALKING WHILE KING WAS LYING HOGTIED ON THE GROUND. THE FIRE TRUCK AND THEN THE AMBULANCE EVENTUALLY ARRIVED. THE PARAMEDICS PICKED HIM UP ON PUT HIM ON THE STRETCHER THE WAY HE WAS ~~TIED~~ HOGTIED. I COULD SEE BLOOD ALL OVER HIS FACE. TWO POLICE CARS FOLLOWED THE AMBULANCE.

TWO UNKNOWN BLACK MALES (LATER IDENTIFIED AS KINGS PASSENGERS) WALKED TOWARD THE ONLOOKERS (TENANTS) AND ASKED IF ANYONE HAD A PHONE THEY COULD USE. ONE OF THE PASSENGERS ~~STOOD~~ ~~MADE THE STATEMENT~~ STOOD WITH ONE HAND CUPPED OVER HIS EAR AND SAID ~~ONCE~~, "THAT COP HIT ME SO HARD, I SAW STARS."

She obs through the bino's Kuig's face & was bloodied & was bleeding from mouth. King lost his bal & he attempted to break his fall by grabbing [redacted] his car w his hands. The P/O, who was to King's R, began hitting King, w his baton, throughout K's lower body repeatedly & incessantly. She ~~stated~~ described the P/O as having lost all control "he just freaked". A second P/O approached King from his (L) & also began hitting King w his baton in the upper body. King initially went into a fetal pos & shortly thereafter flattened out w ~~portion~~ of his hands & arms that remained protecting his head. The first P/O would occasionally stop hitting King w his baton & would kick him in the rib cage & legs. Apparently when his arms would get tired. She stated 2ND O was more subdued in his beating of King ... stating that if the 2ND P/O had been as aggressive as the 1ST, ~~King~~ she didn't think King would have survived. She said another factor for King was his large size, he was able then to withstand the punishment better than had he been small. During the incident she observed the Bino's w V/C about 3 times. At some point during the beating ~~the~~ 3RD O ~~pat~~ 1ST O patting him on shoulder as if telling him that K had had enough. The 1ST O hit K about 5 more time & backed off, went to his car & wiped his hands on a towel. She thought that the 1ST O was wiping King's blood from his hands inasmuch as K's face was covered w blood. 2 other P/O's approached K, who lay STILL on the ground & HOGTIED him. The O that was closest to K's head walked around him & dragged him over to the ON SIDEWALK next to the curb on West side of Foothill Blvd. where he remained hogtied. About 5 min's later 2 Paramedics arrived, lifted him on to a gurney & placed him in the Ambulance. One of the Paramedics walked over toward a group of O's and said "I need someone to follow me" & one of the CHP responded that he would.

She stated that apparently the amb. was called after the beating had stopped. She made this conclusion based on her knowledge of the area & stated that any ambulance would take ≤ 10 min to arrive there.

She obs. the 2 pass's approach K's car as it was being prepared for towing. One of the Pass. was given his crutch by one of the P/O's. Pass's then crossed Foothill Bl. toward her [redacted] b6 b7C the fence & asked [redacted] also to use a telephone. Someone directed the Pass's toward a Tel & they walked away.

During the incident she recalled [redacted] filming & felt saddened & felt sense of relief knowing that this incident was video taped. She said it was hard to find anyone in the area willing to get involved w police matters. Generally ppl. shy away from their involvement in these matters.

R.D. [redacted]

ON Duty: 7pm March 2 - 7AM March 3rd. came in 5:30 AM.

Came in to Booking area.
Searched in restraints (Leather) not unusual. determined by deputies here, not arresting officer.
no police were with him.

interviewed him.
asked him how he felt?
He said he was sore
She ~~[redacted]~~ said that he was pleth beaten up, he shrugged. ~~[redacted]~~ he said he'd been to another hospital.

an LAPD officer, interview 1 after (w PCP)
" he said " might be under influence of drugs, then TAZED him but it didn't work."
Then didn't have paper from the other [redacted]
Notes taken to get idea of what to do for him.

24 hours later, she saw the news

3/3/91, in, [redacted] discharged 12 noon today on 3rd back on 4th at ~~[redacted]~~ 4-7 pm.

1st interview, nothing unusual.

Police report, indicated PCP, & said it.
Said he was "hostile & combative"

Taze case is different, if it works. If didn't, "Then said it didn't work."

Tazin has no residential effects.

Didn't find data. didn't see data around.

She asked him about baria data, he was not "in stock."
Then Dr.'s take him.
saw him again that evening.
2 pm, 3rd she came back for her visit, he was still there.
on that shift, saw him a few times;
asked to make call, splashed water on his face.
He never told her anything about the incident:

Not interviewed, but an attempt by DA office. never happened.

Now of TV photos she recognized as one of the officers.
she knows he was a male LAPD, that's it!
in notes, doesn't id the officer, only Fire Department.
Billing notes signed by officers.

"it was videotaped, it would have been just another incident!"
injuries were not anything out of the ordinary.

No Disparaging comments.

Description: HANDWRITTEN NOTES OF [redacted] b6 b7C COPY OF 11/a/97

b6
b7C

[redacted]

approx.
March 3, 1991 12:30 am (1)

My husband and I were awakened by the loud sounds of a hovering helicopter and police sirens around 12:30 am on Mar. 3.

[redacted] b6 b7C to see a white four door Hyundai pulled over on the west side of Foothill Bl. There was a nondescript police vehicle parked directly behind the Hyundai and several LAPD vehicles parked on the street a few feet back from the Hyundai. (LAPD vehicles began to park in front of the Hyundai) Most of the incident happened directly across from a street light so the area was pretty well lit. Plus an officer had a flashlight. There was also an LAPD vehicle that came to park in front of the Hyundai but ~~on~~ ended up parking on the street (possibly a CHP). There was a Sheriff's vehicle that parked on the east side of the street across from the Hyundai.

~~[redacted]~~ all the vehicles came to a stop and no one really moved for a minute or two. (It seems like maybe they were checking out the car plates or something) The LAPD officer yelled something out and the guy got out of the car and put his hands on the roof

The guy (King) kept his hands on top of the car for maybe another minute never moving his hands from the roof top of his car.

Again we heard a voice yelling and this time King moved away from the car, and with his hands in the air, and lay in the prone position, his hands up near his head. He lay down on the street with his body lying east-west, his head facing east. King lay there for about 30 seconds and didn't move. About 10 LAPD Officers then came over to where King was lying and made a irregular circle around him. A few other officers were standing by near their vehicles and a couple were standing by the Skyline. With the 10 LAPD's around King, one LAPD officer was on the left side of King. King was lying very still and made no erratic movements; the officers did not and had not searched him or touched him otherwise (1) the officer on the left side of King made a downward swinging motion with his right hand. I did not see what was in his hand but whatever it was that the officer it threw down, made a very distinct sound like that of glass striking concrete. The glass struck the floor just a few inches from Kings head and to the left.

(1) At the time King was laying in the prone position a couple of officers went to the passenger side of the Hyundai and took the two passengers out. One of the passengers was escorted to the Sheriff's (pass CHP) vehicle that was parked on the east side of the street and that passenger sat inside through the beating. The passenger was handcuffed before being escorted to the vehicle.

Right after that distinct sound the officer that made the motion that made the sound of something breaking started to hit King with the night stick and more officers joined in (hitting with sticks and kicking King). King's initial reaction was to stand up to get away from the sticks and all the forceful blows that were coming his way. He stood up and ran blindly. He only took a few steps to be knocked back down to his knees by a blow to his face with a night stick ~~[illegible]~~. He was hit in the face quite a bit that first time he stood up. He was hit mostly in the face and head at this point. (2) when he went back down (2 goes here) on his stomach in the video (2) may have started at this point the officer that instigated the beating, delivered fierce blows with his night stick to King's back rear area and his legs and feet. But other officers were hitting King in other parts of the body as well. The poor guy was getting hit mostly in the back rear so he turned over to sit down. (So as that officer that kept delivering those blows to his back rear would cease only to receive fierce kicking & beating w/sticks to his back, neck & head. (3) See next pg. There was a few seconds pause and an officer put what appeared to be a device around King's neck. (next pg.) The officers continued to deliver blows and again that officer who instigated hit King with all his might, the blows landing on the back rear and legs. It is all on video and everyone can see for themselves the degree of unnecessary violence that which was inflicted upon the poor guy.

Other points that I would like to mention is that I heard 2 officers yelling at King to get down when the guy was already down.

(3) At this point there was a clear gun shot (possibly a stun gun) which coincidentally almost matched the sound of something like glass striking pavement. (Possibly what I thought to be something [redacted] being thrown down to the left of King's head could have been a shot from a stun gun instead.

(pick up here) My husband vividly recalls that the officer who came over to handcuff Rayshard King landed on King's back with the officers knee going right into the middle of his back (I did not see this because there had been a full and I was trying to hear my neighbors below me talking about why King was pulled over). My attention immediately focused back to see [redacted] King hogtied and laying motionless on the street and 2 officers going over to King, [redacted] and dragging him about 15 yards by the same device that held him tied. King lay motionless and I kept watching him to see if he would move and 3 officers went over by King and yelled at him and still kicked him even as he lay there tied up. He lay motionless - very still. I thought he was dead.

Even from where I was I could see that the officers were carrying on like they had done a good job. There was a few minute pause before the fire truck and the paramedics arrived on the scene.

When the paramedics arrived they got the stretcher out and put King on the stretcher with the ties still on. They put a white sheet over him covering his head to the back rear area with his legs still sticking out. The paramedics drove off with two LAPD escorts, one in front, one in back.

(4) At one point after ~~[illegible]~~ the officers put the device around his neck, King was on his hands and knees and the officer that held what appeared to be a chainlike device ~~[illegible]~~ stepped back a few feet ~~[illegible]~~ and as he did so, King went back down on his stomach.

Blood samples should have taken regardless of injuries

- If there are other charges, should be listed under additional filings: want to list as many violations as possible

- Parole condition: you don't need subjects consent to take blood
- PO's are to document all medical treatment
- Contusions + abrasions would not prevent PCP evaluation.
- Based on Subject King's symptoms listed in report, [redacted] would not conclude PCP → could have been diabetic reaction. b6 b7C

Federal Bureau of Investigations
William Sessions, Director
Tenth Street and Pennsylvania Avenue NW
Washington, DC 20535

Dear Mr. Sessions:

I am appalled by the verdict in the Rodney King case ... angry beyond expression ... I am additionally angry at the judge because I can see no way any jury could reach the verdict reached except that the court's instructions were improper -- so limiting to the jury that they were bound by the instructions so that they had no option to reach any verdict other than the one reached.

I am angry if the instructions were that limiting. I feel outraged. I feel that there is no justice in this world if you are a minority in this society. I am not a minority; I am a white woman.

This country has been disgraced by this verdict. Tonight I am ashamed of the jurors of that jury. I am ashamed of our so-called justice system.

I feel so sorry, sad for the men and women on that jury who have to live with their disgraceful decision. I believe their hands were somehow tied into the verdict they found. Either that or the most conservative, racist jury possible to be found in this world was seated on the jury. It is an extremely sad commentary on this society in general and our treatment of our minority people.

I think you can understand my feelings and their depth from what I have said thus far.

What I would hope you could do for me and my peace of spirit and America is to:

1. Tell me how I can get a copy of the instructions to the jury.

63-HQ-1030159-1

2. Please be compassionate to the gross injustice of not severely punishing the police officers involved in t[redacted] beating.

AOK
5/29/92

[redacted]

[redacted]

b6
b7C

3. I implore you to give the officers involved the same treatment anyone else commiting this assault would certainly receive. Because that is what they did; they were not enforcing any law by beating a man who was on the ground 56 times.

4. Please forward this letter on if need be to achieve the desired result-- fair and swift action.

In closing, I would like to reiterate my hurt, disgust, anger and sick feeling at this miscarriage of justice.

Thank you for your time in reading this letter and in responding promptly to me. Please pray with me for Rodney King, his family, friends and sympathizers. Please pray especially that this does not result in further violence in our streets but that it may serve as a means to lead people to seek a peaceful resolution to a terrible tragedy resulting from the racist society we live in.

Thank you in advance for letting me know how I may receive a copy of the instructions to the jury. I will not be able to rest until I have done my personal utmost to assure that the police officers are punished for what they did -- this is one small step toward that peace.

Enough time has passed now so that it is now being stated on the news that a video tape is goning to be used to prosecute the looters in Los Angeles that acted after the verdict. I am confident that I am not the only American who is wondering how a video tape can be used to prosecute these people but apparently had no influence in the trial of the police officers.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Dear [redacted]

I am writing in response to your May 11th letter concerning the incident involving Rodney King and officers of the Los Angeles Police Department and the subsequent riots after the trial of the police officers.

Following this incident, the FBI initiated a preliminary Civil Rights investigation. The case was placed in a pending status, awaiting the outcome of the local trial. Upon the conclusion of the trial, additional investigation was initiated and is currently ongoing. The results will be provided to the Civil Rights Division, Department of Justice, which has the final authority regarding Federal prosecutive action in civil rights matters.

In addition, a joint Federal/State Task Force has been formed to investigate and prosecute those involved in the riot-related criminal activity in the Los Angeles area. Federal, state, and local authorities will work diligently and expeditiously together to identify and bring to justice those criminals who terrorized communities throughout the area by acts of violence and wanton destruction.

With regard to your request for help in obtaining a copy of the instructions given to the jury in the trial of the four police officers, you may wish to write to the Simi Valley Courthouse, 3200 Cochran Street, Simi Valley, California 93065, for possible assistance.

We appreciate your interest in writing.

Sincerely yours,

Thomas F. Jones

Dear Director Sessions: b6 b7C

As graduate of U.S. Army Provost Marshal General's School Military Police as well as the Guard House Administration Course in the 1940s, I don't recall being taught to beat subject with a night stick (Baton). We were taught in incident such as with Mr. Rodney King to get subject off their feet, so as to overcome any possible danger, hand cuff applied soon as possible. With the number of b6 b7C Police at the scene, the prudent action would have been to sit on Mr. King and apply the handcuffs, Beating as administered was not best of Police work. Those Police officers should be removed from Police work as unsuited mentally, if they believe beating is necessary with so many Police available. FBI should view the tapes and locate looters and those who shot the truck driver, etc. for prosecution.

Sincerely

The Honorable William Sessions

Dear Judge Sessions:

I know that you share my strong concerns about the recent rioting in Los Angeles that left 52 people dead, 2,383 injured and damage to parts of the city estimated to cost nearly $800 million to repair.

I support the efforts of President Bush and the U.S. Department of Justice to investigate potential violations of civil rights laws in the Rodney King incident. However, I also believe that individuals and organized groups that took advantage of the popular anger following the Rodney King verdict should be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

I urge you and the FBI to work together with the U.S. Department of Justice and local authorities to investigate and prosecute rioters and gangs who violated federal drug, arson, firearms or organized crime laws following the Rodney King verdict. Regardless of the circumstances, criminals must know that if they choose to break the law, they will be caught; and if they are guilty, they will be punished.

Thank you for your attention to this very important matter.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

163-110, 10 [illegible]59-7

THIS STATIONERY PRINTED ON PAPER MADE OF RECYCLED FIBERS

Honorable Robert J. Lagomarsino
House of Representatives
Washington, D.C.

Dear Congressman Lagomarsino:

Thank for your recent letter urging the FBI's cooperation with Federal and local authorities in the aftermath of the Rodney King verdict.

In close coordination with the Department of Justice, the FBI acted swiftly in the wake of the unfortunate violence that recently erupted in Los Angeles. We fully recognize the significance of the complex law enforcement issues surrounding the King verdict. Attorney General Barr and I met with the President to develop and implement the most effective response plan possible. I am proud that the President designated the FBI to lead the Federal law enforcement effort.

Of course, immediate efforts were directed at helping to restore peace to the streets of Los Angeles, and, as you know, a large number of FBI Special Agents, trained in special tactics, were dispatched to that area soon after rioting began. Their presence, along with local and other Federal law enforcement officers and military troops, assisted greatly in bringing the tense situation under control.

The FBI has played and is now playing an active role in exploring the issue of whether Rodney King's Federal civil rights were violated. A Federal grand jury has been convened for this purpose, and we are working closely with the Department of Justice. Because this remains pending, I am unable to provide further details at this time. You can be sure, however, that this is being pursued with great vigor. Also, where appropriate, the FBI is pursuing each and every other potential violation of Federal civil rights laws brought to our attention.

Honorable Robert J. Lagomarsino

With order restored and a review of civil rights matters now underway, we are also investigating those other Federal crimes directly related to and stemming from the verdict. As you may recall, in January, 1991, I unveiled a national SAFE STREETS campaign designed to strengthen the Federal response to gang and drug-related street crime through the use of combined task forces. Prior to recent rioting, our FBI Los Angeles Office, under the leadership of Special Agent in Charge Charlie J. Parsons, and in recognition of the gang violence problem there, had three task forces in place using this strategy. Only recently, an additional SAFE STREETS task force was organized to specifically address those acts of violence committed in the aftermath of the King verdict. We are pleased that the level of cooperation between the FBI and other law enforcement agencies has been and continues to be excellent.

The arrests of four individuals for the senseless beating of truck driver Reginald Denny served to illustrate the spirit of cooperation between the FBI and local law enforcement. Information was received by the FBI which lead to the identification of these men, and, as widely covered in the media, the FBI assisted the Los Angeles Police Department in making arrests.

The FBI is well equipped, when immediate action is required, to address a myriad of law enforcement concerns. This type of effort was necessary and will continue to be required in Los Angeles for some time. Please be assured that the FBI is committed to producing the kind of results that will best serve not only the citizens of Los Angeles but citizens all around our country.

Sincerely yours,

William S. Sessions

A Federal grand jury has been convened for this purpose, and we are working closely with the Department of Justice. Because this inquiry is pending, I am unable to provide further details at this time. You can be sure, however, that this matter, as well as any and all other potential violations of Federal civil rights laws which are brought to our attention, will be pursued with great vigor.

Dear Dir. Sessions,

I hope I've obtained the correct address and you receive my mail herewith & I think Chief Daryl Gates should step as Chief of Los Angeles Police dept. or someone from the dept. should be Chief. Enclosed, please find list of material enclosed herewith, re. S.A. Police dept. and City Hall etc.

My reason for sending it to you, is that I feel the law-suit against the F.B.I. re. promotions, by some minority F.B.I. agents, was unfair, as I understand promotions by assessment (psychological testing) is Nationwide in law-enforcement depts. and therefore is unfair, as ruled by the courts, documents herewith prove and as plenty of S.A. Police dept. (S.A.P.D.) officers say rank isn't fair in the dept.

It was supposed to have been abolished in 1985 when the 7 Defs. — S.A.P.D. won on appeal — their lawsuit against City Hall, over promotions' — appeal documents at City Attys. office, so as F.B.I. agents have stated, some agents weren't qualified for some jobs — promotions.

Since the Rodney King case, it's proven that givin' jobs to unqualified people doesn't and won't work.

I think criminals allowed into police and other law-enforcement depts. is the cause of all the terrible crime and such brutal criminals and drugs too — there the cause of.

People will do as they please as criminals, think of money and themselves only.

Therefore, I think something needs to be done about the unfairness of said law suit for fairness and truth and for everyone's benefit - Minorities and Anglos, Anglos are getting rank by assessment too.

Re. the Rodney King case, I think now people takin' video or regular camera pictures of crime scenes, are out for money only — are not out to help other citizens. I've met such people & the one King case left part of it out purposely of course, and sold it to news-media as other such people do.

Looks to me like there was a conspiracy between Mayor Tom Bradley and perhaps Rodney King (Gov. Pete Wilson at, a proven criminal — not a poor little Angel, so quite capable of being involved in such a conspiracy and the gangs — Crips & Bloods etc. — & California Gov.

Also, Mayor Bradley hadn't spoken to Chief Daryl Gates for 13 months, news reports told us, (This excuse for Watts Brand delay, after he ordered them to riot, he said they didn't have enough ammunition — how stupid sounding — lie)

With his speech (public) against the King verdict (the trial of which he didn't go to) & as a Mayor, has to know it makes a difference going to a trial and hearing all the fact and evidence and seeing too, it all, how could Chief Gates & officers do their jobs properly with interference and criticism from their Mayor all the time.

With the video scene — I saw on CNN T.V. I didn't see any of the hits-strikes — supposed by baton wielding police — hit King and as news told us the jury didn't either — hence their verdict and that the officers had'nt planned it — the said supposed beating.

I think it was for Mayor Bradley to get Federal money, and since I see former Mayor Henry Cisneros is a friend of his, I'm not surprised as he's always after money and was after Fedl. money constantly, to spend and waste — didn't care about the people here really, but himself. I wondered too, if he — Bradley ordered the police to retreat from that intersection where the riot started.

Perhaps he was involved in the possible conspiracy too, plus the video person — set the police up — to chase him — King & the others in the car, during it and cause the officers to be furious with him, but the beating if it happened at all — wasn't life threatening, as I think the Judge in King case informed the jury to base their evidence by, — and reasonable doubt, so the video camera man was lying — as if he was doing it for good citizens benefit and was just — cleaning it or something, he wouldn't have sold the film to — tape — news — media.

Is there a possibility King hurt his face — when stopping at end of Police chase — did he crash — didn't he crash into a patrol car.

Also, the police had to be careful they didn't break King's arms, pulling them to hand-cuff.

Former Mayor Henry Cisneros was trying to control the S.A. Police dept. when Mayor — to abolish the union — he's against unions.

I feel the Blacks that continually complain about and are against whites, have the choice of going back to Africa then and if they say too, they were forced to come here as slaves, — (their ancestors that is,) Other Blacks manage to get along with whites etc. and don't think of the past, as, if they hadn't been brought here to America, they'd still be in the jungle, fightin' Lions & Tiger's etc. — and huntin's for food. The Americans and English modernized Africa and taught them English and built cities there too, so they can either work here or go back home to Africa I think.

Everyone else — whites too, worked 14 hours a day years ago too and the laws were strickter then, for everyone, in the States, so their negative attitude will get them nowhere, but in trouble and hurt their own people and we can't wait for more riots by criminals for sreed. — spend all the money they get and are in and out of prison all their lives, except a few.

Also not all poor people are criminals and no one can help how they're born — rich or poor or middle-class.

In England, where I'm originally from Sir. Sessions, the Royal family gets tons of charity up all the time for the poor and that's the reason they love them. They're very kind to the people, so people think they deserve all they get.

Notice Prince Charles & Di & all of them trying to help people.

It's sad when some money or charity to help the poor, goes in other people's pockets instead, in the States.

Criminals need to be booted out of law-enforcement depts. — now — by abolishin's assessment — it can be done. Then peace and fairness and jobs will prevail and for people to think & be kind to others & help others.

Thank you very much.

Sincerely,
Barbara (Thomas)

P.S. I see Chief Gates is (FBI) seeing if there was conspiracy in the King case.

Hon Dan Quayle
Vice President, US
THE WHITE HOUSE
Washington, DC

Dear Mr Quayle:

We request your kind attention to the recent failure of leading news media to present the whole Rodney King story to the general public.

The jury's verdict proved that if all facts had been publicised, instigation to riot would have failed.

The constant, prolonged presentation of only one phase of this event, however, resulted in easy incitement of the public. Americans always react to gross injustice!

The MEDIA know, as we do, that there is a criminal element always ready to disrupt the peace.

Therefore, repeatedly presenting only the beating of KING and repeatedly omitting his counter-attack on the police was dereliction of the media's duty to the public to present truth.

Many such derelictions through the years have occurred; but the violence resulting from the King event finally requires our voicing strong objections.

TV, RADIO and NEWSPAPERS are equally guilty; but in so many cities where there is only one major newspaper, that newspaper is more to blame.

We strongly urge public disclosure of all the facts in the King case. We also strongly urge that you remind the news media of their duty to truth and their fellow man.

Thank you for your consideration of our request. Such request is the result of a unanimous vote at our June meeting.

Sincerely,

Mrs John K. Lynch

EXCERPT FROM "RODNEY KING" REPORT IN JUNE NEWSLETTER,

North Shore Women's Republican Club, Greater Cleve., O.

Rodney King is 6'4" tall, weighing 250 lbs.. At the time of his arrest, he was on parole and highly intoxicated. He knew that if caught he would go back to jail. Therefore, he tried to escape.

It all started with a long, high-speed chase through Los Angeles streets. King sometimes slowed almost to a stop, then sped away again. He refused to get out of the car in spite of repeated orders to do so.

Several officers, trying to handcuff him, used the "swarm" technique whereby each officer grabs a leg, arm, torso or head.

King was still violent, so a stun gun was used. King continued to resist arrest, even after twice struck by the "Taser Stinger"

Normally, just one jolt immobilizes. About the only persons able to resist after hit by a Taser are those high on heavy "crack" or angel dust".

What the public did not see or read was that KING ROSE UP AFTER BEING KNOCKED DOWN AND CHARGED AN OFFICER.

It was then the blows began that were so widely publicised.

King had to be subdued and handcuffed--and the police had to be sure of it.

Her incoming was reviewed by [redacted] Civil Rights Unit, CID, and SSA [redacted] Public Corruption Unit, CID, who advised of no public corruption interest since no court was specified. Dear Sir:

Undoubtedly, you or your colleagues, did not watch the Donahue show the afternoon of April 30th. The topic was the Simi Valley verdict.

A juror from the trial called in to the program, anonymously, stating she felt compelled to inform the audience, that during the discussions, several members of the jury felt strongly, the correct verdict should be "guilty" but they were pressured, threatened and coerced into voting "not guilty". The caller was reluctant to say more in fear for her personal safety.

I have heard that the names and addresses of the jurors in the trial have been published in the Ventura California papers, and I wonder about their welfare. If the juror who called the program is correct, a great miscarriage of justice has occurred. I have not heard anything about this from the media. This is no rumor. I heard the call. You will be able to get a copy of the tape from the program, I am sure.

I feel strongly this should be followed up. Your department may not be the correct one to look into this, but I don't know who else to call upon. I have followed this situation closely from the beginning, and as many others felt, was incredulous and outraged at the verdict.

If our justice system is to be trusted, coercion and threats have no place in jury discussions. I feel each juror must be interviewed separately, and protected if necessary, about what went on during the discussions.

I trust you will forward this to the proper department or persons who will follow up on this.

For obvious reasons, I would prefer to remain unnamed, publicly. You may write to me at my address. I appreciate whatever you can do in this matter. This kind of perversion of our judicial system will make us all mistrust the system.

Sincerely

Dear Mr. Sessions,

See an item in the Indianapolis Star that your office has determined no pre-planned conspiracy existed in the riots that followed the acquittal of police officers in Los Angeles.

Perhaps you would be interested in my views of the cause of the riots?

See enclosed newspaper clipping and my letter to them.

It is amazing that they did print. They did, however, leave out a couple of my "bottom lines". Was Rodney King ever charged and tried for anything? If not, why not? And also I point out that we make Rodney King a hero and role model for us and our children.

Thanks for listening !

FBI says LA riots "not due to conspiracy

Rioting in Los Angeles that followed the acquittal of four white officers in the videotaped beating of a black motorist was spontaneous, and there was no indication of a pre-planned conspiracy, the FBI said Friday.

At least 52 deaths and more than $800 million in damage were caused by the rioting, which occured from April 29 to May 1.

OPINION

Facing realities

With what is now known as the "motorist King" situation, The Tribune and other media still will not face up to realities.

Has it not been common knowledge that gangs have taken over Los Angeles and other communities? Why could not the media also tell the other side, the problems the peacekeepers have?

The policemen were tried and a verdict given. The mayor of Los Angeles said that, in effect, this was a breakdown of the legal system — a (nearly) all-white jury was prejudiced for all-white policemen against a black motorist. The media picked it up in the same vein.

I read in various media, not in headlines, that the "motorist" led the police on a long, fast chase that endangered people. He would not get out of the car and appeared to be going to his clothes. For a weapon? He was pulled from the car and continued in this manner. Should he not have been immediately immobilized and taken to jail or to the hospital? I also read that there were two passengers. They got out of the car when directed to and were no problem.

Nothing can replace lives. I blame the mayor and the media. The blood is on their hands. In a June 10 editorial, headlined "So long, chief," The Tribune was still blaming the police and not where the problems are. Am I the only one that refuses to be told what I am supposed to think?

FOUR INDICTED BY FEDERAL GOVERNMENT FOR CIVIL RIGHTS LAW VIOLATIONS IN KING CASE

LOS ANGELES - United States Attorney Lourdes G. Baird announced today that a federal grand jury returned a two-count indictment charging Stacey C. Koon, 41, Lawrence M. Powell, 29, Timothy E. Wind, 32, and Theodore J. Briseno, 39, while acting under color of law with depriving Rodney Glen King of his federally protected civil rights.

According to Ms. Baird, the indictment, which was unsealed by the U.S. Magistrate today, alleges that three of the defendants, Powell, Wind and Briseno, who at the time of the incident were on-duty officers of the Los Angeles Police Department, willfully and intentionally used unreasonable force, during their arrest of Rodney King on March 3, 1991. The conduct as described in the indictment is a deprivation of a right provided by the United States Constitution. The fourth defendant, Koon, then an on-duty sergeant with the Los Angeles Police Department, is charged in the second count of the indictment with depriving King of a constitutionally protected right by willfully permitting and failing to take action to stop the unlawful assault by the other defendants, who were under Koon's supervision.

In Los Angeles, U.S Attorney Baird said, "This indictment, for violations of federal civil rights law, is the result of the federal investigation which started after the assault, was suspended during the state prosecution and resumed following the verdict in the state case against the same defendants. In accordance with United States Department of Justice policy and the United States Supreme Court legal authority, the federal government can and often does await the outcome of state proceedings before initiating its own prosecutions." Baird added, "Yesterday's indictment does not conclude the federal investigation of this matter. The investigation is continuing."

In Washington, D.C., Associate Attorney General Wayne Budd, who has personally directed the federal investigation, said, "The Department of Justice has a responsibility to vindicate the violation of the fundamental rights protected by the United States Constitution. The indictment of the four police officers in Los Angeles whose conduct was captured on video tape last year is the first step toward fulfilling that responsibility." Budd noted that an extensive federal grand jury investigation has been conducted over several months and was directed by attorneys from the Civil Rights Division of the Department of Justice and the United States Attorney's Office.

Each of the four defendants is charged under 18 United States Code § 242. Under that statute the maximum penalty for each defendant is ten years imprisonment and a $250,000 fine.

Baird commended the efforts of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the agents who are working on the investigation, as well as the attorneys who are conducting the grand jury investigation, Assistant United States Attorneys Steven D. Clymer and Lawrence S. Middleton, and U.S. Department of Justice Civil Rights Division prosecutors from Washington, D.C., Barry Kowalski and Alan W. Tieger.

Dear Sirs:

That an United States District Attorney was permitted to issue a re-trial on the Rodney King case on a "civil rights" basis, misrepresents the rights and authority of our police officers to arrest an unruly criminal.

On the other hand what right did Rodney King, the criminal, have to obstruct his arrest by police officers? Please note King's offences:

1. Speeding over 100 miles an hour on a freeway to resist arrest.
2. After exiting, he ran a series of red lights.
3. He vacillated getting out of the car when ordered to by the officers.
4. He fomented aggressive movements toward the police officers.
5. He resisted handcuffing, so he was ordered to "prone" on his stomach to be handcuffed. King refused!
6. Consequently, King was taser stun-gunned. Still he rose up to fight off the officers, although having received 50,000 volts of electricity. He was stunned a second time, yet he rose up to charge at Powell.
7. Finally, the baton was used against this hostile, resistant criminal, and beaten to subdue him into submission.

Your so-called re-trial, therefore, is a miscarriage of justice aimed at officers Powell, Koon, Briseno, and Wind. This brings contempt toward our policemen who endeavored to subdue an insolent criminal, an outrageous act. The District and Federal Courts need to honestly deal with the Rodney King case, dealing with an insubordination to arrest.

Sincerely yours,

THIS WEEK'S NEWS FROM Inside Washington

Perils of Trial by Media

By REED IRVINE and JOSEPH C. GOULDEN

We saw in the flames of Los Angeles the awful cost of convicting people of serious crimes in the media before they have their day in court. The nation was appalled in March 1991 to see on television the videotape of Los Angeles police officers clubbing and kicking a black man lying seemingly helpless on the ground. Even the most ardent supporters of the police found it difficult to defend those officers.

Four of the officers were suspended and charged with several felonies. Nearly every news report that mentioned the case was coupled with a reprise of that shocking videotape. The officers were tried and convicted in the minds of millions by what appeared to be unassailable evidence.

Thus the public felt a stunning shock on April 29 when the jury acquitted the officers except for one charge against one officer on which they failed to reach agreement.

Immediately the TV screens were filled with comments from people whose knowledge of the evidence was limited to 30 seconds of videotape that they had seen so many times. They couldn't understand how jurors who had spent three months in court hearing the evidence and arguments presented by both sides could have arrived at a different verdict from their own.

Our media somehow never got around to addressing an important issue: Should criminal defendants be convicted on the basis of a snippet of televised film, or are they entitled to a trial where jurors have the opportunity to hear and evaluate all the evidence?

Implicit in the jury's acquittal was a conclusion that our networks had not given the public the full story of what happened during King's arrest. We agree.

Jurors interviewed by the networks emphasized that there was credible testimony that King aggressively resisted arrest when officers ordered him from his car after a high-speed chase down a freeway and then through residential streets. The jury saw the full 81 seconds of the amateur video, and the defense called experts who used it to demonstrate that the actions of the police were purposeful and justified.

But the excerpts shown on local and network television ran no more than 30 seconds. They showed a man being beaten, but they didn't explain why. This bobtailed video is what convinced much of the nation of the officers' inexcusable brutality. Even prosecutor Terry White (who is black) acknowledged that the full tape could hurt King.

"We knew that there were parts of the videotape that showed Mr. King in somewhat of what could be seen as aggressive movement towards the officers," White said on ABC's "Good Morning America" on April 30. Ironically, ABC at this point showed a film clip not of the "aggressive movement" but of police batons flailing at a seemingly helpless King.

White said the jurors "looked at a man who had led police on a chase, who didn't stop when the police tried to pull him over and he acted strangely once he got out of the car and didn't immediately follow their commands."

Viewers of the tape didn't know that, nor were they told that two passengers in King's car promptly obeyed the instructions of the police but that the powerful King had repulsed the officers when they tried to handcuff him.

They weren't told that he was hit twice with a Taser stun-gun, which knocked him down but not out.

Defense attorney Michael Stone told CNN that the tape showed King starting to get up. He said, "My perception is that if you run this tape in real time, you will see Mr. King moving as fast as any professional linebacker...Mr. King has already been Tasered twice when this starts. He has fought off the effects of 50,000 volts of electricity."

Harvard Law Prof. Arthur Miller, who is legal commentator for ABC News, saw much of the trial on cable TV. He said on "Good Morning America" on April 30, "I think that a jury of 12 people, having heard all the evidence, might have come to the conclusion that these officers were using reasonable force in the circumstances. I personally, having watched a good deal of the trial, thought that at least two of the officers would be acquitted."

Trial by video is the technological equivalent of lynching. Our system wisely provides for trial by jury, where citizens can hear all the evidence, not just a snippet selected by a TV news department and broadcast ad nauseam. It is chilling to see so many intelligent people trashing the system because it failed to produce the verdict trial by video led them to expect. ■

Mr. Irvine is chairman of Accuracy in Media. Mr. Goulden is AIM's director of media analysis.

Why King Jury Failed to Convict

When the 12 jurors in Simi Valley acquitted four Los Angeles policemen of assault with a deadly weapon and various other charges in the Rodney King case, the jurors were immediately condemned.

L.A. Mayor Tom Bradley, inflaming the passions of an already ignited populace, scored the jurors for asking "us to accept the senseless and brutal beating of a helpless man." Even President Bush appeared to second-guess the verdict, saying he and his family were "shocked" by the outcome, and then directed his Justice Deparment to see whether the policemen could be tried on violating federal civil rights statutes.

The jurors have been called "ignorant" and "racists," and have received so many hate letters and death threats that they have been given special protection by the police.

But the six men and six women—one a Filipino, one an Hispanic and the rest white—hardly deserve the kind of verbal abuse and the threats they have been enduring. Despite all the howling, there is not a scrap of evidence that a single one of the jurors was either incompetent or a bigot. Nor has anyone come forth to accuse them of having prejudged the case. When the jury was sworn in, the prosecutors themselves said they believed they were capable of rendering a just verdict.

Many of those who assailed the jurors insisted the case was open and shut because of an amateur video showing King being beaten by the police. But the jurors saw the entire video—not just the slice customarily shown on TV (see Reed Irvine story above). They were shown the film in slow motion and in freeze frame, and they picked up detailed information the general public never viewed. Over the seven-week period of the trial, they also heard more than 50 witnesses, including specialists who had examined King after the beating.

Their conclusion: King had repeatedly resisted arrest, and the police officers, contrary to the impression left by the TV version of the video, had acted rationally in trying to subdue him.

RODNEY KING

Nor were the jurors alone in coming to this decision. Harvard Law Prof. Arthur Miller, who saw the trial on TV and is an ABC-TV commentator, said:

"I think a jury of 12 people, having heard all the evidence, might have come to the conclusion that these officers were using reasonable force in the circumstances."

Virginia Loya, the lone Hispanic on the jury, has argued that Laurence Powell, the officer who most used his baton, should have been convicted of assault under color of authority. Three other jurors upheld her point of view, and he may be retried on that charge. She now says she would also have convicted Sgt. Stacey Koon, commander at the beating scene.

But even she says that she believes that two of the officers, Timothy E. Wind and Theodore J. Briseno, were clearly innocent.

In other words, the case was far from being air

63-HQ-1039[illegible]-17

tight from the beginning, and those who just saw the TV version of the video were clearly being misled if they thought no exculpatory evidence could be produced at the trial.

There is no question that the defense lawyers for both Powell and Koon, Michael Stone and Darryl Mounger, respectively, did a superb job presenting the case for their clients and the police in general. But that is hardly the fault of the jury. And the picture they presented boiled down to this: at every stage, the police acted in a reasonable manner. They tried to subdue the 6'4" King, who tips the scales at 250 pounds, with verbal commands initially. When that didn't work, they tried the electric taser darts. And when he was still resisting, they finally brought out the batons.

Here's how the jury viewed the case, through the eyes of the defense lawyers:

The California Highway Patrol (CHP), on the Foothill Freeway in Los Angeles on March 3, 1991, began chasing Rodney King, who was driving a Hyundai at speeds up to over 100 miles per hour for nearly eight miles. King is black, and he also had two black passengers, Bryant Allen and Fred Helms. He raced along the freeway, then turned off onto surface streets, running a series of red lights. The Los Angeles Police Department (LAPD) was called in to assist. All the time, the CHP car was close behind, red light flashing and siren blaring.

Allen, so he testified on the stand, kept tapping King on the shoulder, begging him to stop, but King acted as if he never heard him or felt his tap. When the car finally did stop, Allen and the other passenger, Helms, got out on the right side, and "went prone," as they were ordered to do.

King, however, reacted differently. He was ordered out of the car, but it took him nearly a minute to get out. And then once he got out, he got back in again. He pulled this stunt more than once. The police, of course, were fearful that he was on drugs, and were worried that he might be searching for a gun in the car.

When he did finally emerge, he was faced with several policemen pointing guns at him, and they gave clear, concise orders for King to get down on his stomach. But King paid no attention, laughed at the helicopters overhead and did a dance.

Sgt. Koon then approached King and ordered him to get down on the ground. If he didn't, he was told, he would be shot with a taser dart, which delivers 50,000 volts of electricity. King knelt, keeping his arms and hands in a push-up position, but still refused to get on his stomach.

Four officers approached him with the intention of getting hold of his arms and legs, and came at him in a so-called "modified swarm technique." Powell then tried to take his left arm to the side and out, and then back behind the waist for handcuffing. He had also taken his handcuffs out of the pouch. But King still refused to comply with the order to go prone.

Powell finally kneed him in the back to force him down, and King's face hit the ground, but he bounced right back up, shaking off all the officers who were trying to get hold of both his arms and legs. So Koon again threatened to "taser" King. The officers backed off, and Koon hit him with a dart, and King, finally, fell down. He arose once more, was tasered again and went to the prone position.

This was when the video started. As Powell approached to cuff him, with baton in hand, King, in less than two seconds, sprang from a fully prone position and charged Powell. So now, for the first time, Powell used the baton. There was no other way at this point, according to the police, to subdue King.

Indeed, Tim Singer, a highway patrol cop, testified that King reminded him of a movie "where the monster gets shot and still is coming at you."

King was hit 56 times in 81 seconds, but there appeared to be no permanent damage, and there is no evidence on the video that he was hit on the head or on the spine, which would have been in violation of police instruction manuals.

Dr. Dallas Long, an Olympic Gold Medal winner in the shotput and an expert on traumatic injuries to the face and skull, also testified that none of the injuries sustained by King to the face were consistent with having been hit with a heavy instrument.

Did the jury, then, come in with the "correct" verdict? Should none of the officers have been convicted? Whatever one's view, the jury found the case for the defendants persuasive enough so they couldn't find the police guilty "beyond a reasonable doubt." Those who only saw the TV video may always think the jury made a wrong decision. But it is difficult to conclude, in view of all the evidence presented, that the jury acted in a prejudicial or unreasonable manner. And that is all you can ask from those who tried this extremely difficult, complicated and controversial case.

Many Involved in Riots

Our Illegal Alien Problem

By REP. DANA ROHRABACHER (R.-Calif.)

The media have quickly come to refer to the recent incidents and looting in Los Angeles as the 'Los Angeles riots.' Much of the damage was done by a foreign army. Not by an organized army but by an army, nonetheless. It should be no surprise to anyone that the Department of Justice estimates that large numbers of those arrested while looting America's second-largest city were illegal aliens. Not only are illegals looting the stores, they are robbing the taxpayers as well.

When the flow of illegal aliens was a trickle, and when those same illegals stayed clear of public services for fear of deportation, our country absorbed the newcomers with no problem. In fact, conservatives rightfully analyzed that immigrants, including illegals, were making a major contribution to America's economic well-being. That was then.

Today, the flood of illegal immigrants crossing our borders has reached a level where the taxpayers are beginning to feel like they are in over their heads. Furthermore, illegals are now drawing on government programs.

I've had numerous meetings with local, county and state officials all pleading that illegal aliens are putting an unbearable strain on local, county and state and yes, federal services. This is not just anecdotal evidence. Those on the front line report that our jails, criminal justice system, health care facilities and schools are overcrowded and overburdened with the cost of caring for and dealing with those who illegally cross our borders.

Taxpayers provide at least $5.4 billion in direct federal benefits to illegal immigrants, according to a recent study by the Center for Immigration Studies. This figure is dramatically underestimated, since the study did not include programs such as Social Security, Medicare, food stamps or unemployment compensation. And the problem is getting worse.

Women who are in the U.S. illegally do not have to pay for any costs associated with the birth of their children. Since the majority of these women receive no prenatal care, their babies are often placed in intensive care for several days, sometimes weeks, at an average cost of $5,000 a day.

According to Los Angeles County office figures, taxpayers spend $31.82 million to pay for illegal alien mothers' giving birth in county hospitals in 1990. Currently, Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) is provided to 117,000 children of illegal alien mothers. This number has increased 287 per cent in the past three years, resulting in a cost to taxpayers of $318 million in 1991.

These figures only account for Los Angeles County. The situation in San Diego County appears far worse. If one adds up the total, California taxpayers are spending over a billion dollars a year for illegal aliens. As long as we provide such benefits, as well as education in their own native tongue, free lunches and even housing and food subsidies, why are we surprised that the trickle of illegal aliens into our country has become a tidal wave?

Our social services and educational systems are already breaking down. As long ago as 1983, a General Accounting Office (GAO) report stated that illegal aliens received $23 in Social Security for every dollar they paid in. That is bound to catch up with us. Our seniors, who've paid in all their lives, are right to be outraged about this threat to Social

Honorable Janet Reno
The Attorney General
Washington, D.C.

Dear Madam Attorney General:

As you know, the Federal trial of four Los Angeles Police Officers charged with violating the civil rights of Rodney King began on February 3, 1993. The state trial of the subjects involved in the beating of Reginald Denny during the Los Angeles riots is scheduled to begin on March 31, 1993.

In preparation for potential civil unrest associated with these trials, Federal, state, and local authorities have been involved in developing a comprehensive and coordinated plan to deal with such an eventuality. Representatives of the FBI's Hostage Rescue Team are meeting with local and state police agencies in Los Angeles to develop contingency plans. These respective agencies are at a heightened state of readiness which will increase as the trials progress.

The Special Agent in Charge of the Los Angeles Division has established liaison with the California Law Enforcement Mutual Aid Regional Law Coordinators. This is the group which works with the Governor for the deployment of law enforcement and National Guard resources in the event of civil disturbance. According to officials in Los Angeles, it is highly unlikely that California Governor Pete Wilson will seek federalization if civil unrest does develop subsequent to the trials. All FBI offices

The Los Angeles FBI Crisis Management Center will be activated at the time the King trial goes to jury.

Predesignated personnel will be placed on standby.

All FBI field offices will be notified.

Efforts will be made to ensure that California law enforcement will receive a two- to three-hour advance notice prior to a public announcement of a verdict.

You will be kept advised of developments in this matter.

A copy of this letter is being provided to Mr. Sherman Block, Sheriff of Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department, Mr. Willie L. Williams, Chief of Police, Los Angeles, California, and Mr. Charlie J. Parsons, Special Agent in Charge, FBI Los Angeles.

Memorandum

To : The Attorney General Date 3/16/93

From : Director, FBI

Subject: The Rodney G. King Trial: Los Angeles

This morning I spoke with Los Angeles Police Chief Willie Williams and FBI Special Agent in Charge (SAC) Charlie Parsons about the situation in Los Angeles, California, and how it might be affected by the King trial.

Both of them estimated that the presentation of the defense would take three to four weeks but had no estimate on Government rebuttal. They both believed that the plans for dealing with an adverse public reaction were well conceived and in some instances tested by implementation. SAC Parsons and Chief Williams confer on a regular basis to assure that coordination between the FBI and the Police Department is solid and well supported.

At this stage, neither believes that there will be a necessity for involvement of Federal forces in response to any verdict which might be returned.

I will continue to keep in touch with both Chief Williams and SAC Parsons as the case progresses.
