Edward H. Levi
 Attorney General
 Washington, D. C. 20530

Dear Edward Levi:

The Board of Directors of the American Friends Service Committee meeting on September 26, 1976, in Seattle, Washington, minutes of grief, outrage and deep concern regarding the bombing death of Orlando Letelier and Ronni Karpen Moffitt on September 21st. The Board directed me to communicate to you its urgent call for a full and effective federal investigation of the murders, with a complete report on the findings to be made to the U.S. public within the next four months.

Behind this call lies our perception that very basic freedoms are at stake in the world and now even in the United States. Repression abroad, by regimes helped to power and supported financially by the United States, has reached across international boundaries and into our own capital city to cause, directly or indirectly, the deaths of a Chilean and a U.S. citizen. The investigative capacities of your department must be used to discover the guilty party or parties. The moral force of your office must be used to make plain the total revulsion you feel for such acts and the determination of the United States Government and people to turn back repression and take away props to repressive regimes.

We look to you for direction of an investigation into the Letelier and Karpen deaths and trust that you will reveal the truth, however terrible and however damaging to nations or individuals that truth may be.

Sincerely yours,

Louis W. Schneider

The Honorable Edward H. Levi
Attorney General

Dear Mr. Attorney General:

The American Friends Service Committee has been informed that the Canadian Government, through its Embassy in Washington, has approached the U.S. State Department to request an urgent investigation into the handling of the case of a Canadian citizen, Anna Mae Aquash, whose body was found on the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation in South Dakota last February. According to reports the American Friends Service Committee has independently received, she was first declared dead of exposure but a later autopsy at the request of her family determined she had died of gunshot wounds. In addition, it was reported that the hands were cut off her dead body and sent to the FBI for fingerprint verification, a procedure which can only be characterized as gruesome, and one which raises grave questions about the procedure used.

The Canadian Friends Service Committee, our sister Quaker organization in Canada, has asked us to support Canadian Quaker initiatives in seeking a thorough U.S. investigation of the case and appropriate subsequent action, which might well include compensation to the family for mistreatment of the deceased.

We earnestly support the Canadian Quaker initiative and urge your earliest effective response to the request transmitted through the Canadian Government. We are sending identical Letters to:

President Gerald R. Ford
Secretary of State Kissinger
FBI Director Clarence Kelley.

Mr. Louis V. Schneider
American Friends Service Committee, Inc.
1501 Cherry Street
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19102

Dear Mr. Schneider:

This is to acknowledge receipt of your letter dated June 2, 1976, concerning the death of Anna Mae Aquash.

The body of Ms. Aquash, then unidentified, was found on the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation, South Dakota, on February 24, 1976, by a rancher who notified the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA). Within 20 minutes of receipt of the report, officers of the BIA, accompanied by a Special Agent of the FBI who had never had any personal contact with Aquash and had never seen a photograph of her, arrived at the scene. The body was removed to the Pine Ridge Public Health Hospital. On February 25, 1976, an autopsy was performed at the request of BIA by Dr. W. O. Brown, pathologist, Scottsbluff, Nebraska. No FBI Agents were present during the autopsy; however, FBI Agents had photographed the body prior to the autopsy. One FBI Agent who assisted in the photographing did know Ms. Aquash from previous personal contact; however, he did not recognize her on this occasion due to the advanced decomposition of her facial features.

Dr. Brown estimated the woman had been dead 7 to 10 days and he concluded in his examination that she had died of exposure. Due to the difficulty of Obtaining fingerprints at the scene because of the deterioration of the body, an FBI Agent suggested that Dr. Brown could remove the hands for transmission to the FBI Identification Division, Washington, D. C., for examination. This was done. Removal of hands or fingers of unknown deceased for identification purposes is a procedure followed by many jurisdictions. Although 1 - Assistant Attorney General appearing as a distasteful means of identification, it is at times the only way relatives would ever learn of the whereabouts of a family member.

The body was interred at the direction of BIA on March 2, 1976. On March 3, 1976, FBI Headquarters telephonically notified the Rapid City, South Dakota, FBI Office that fingerprints obtained from the hands of the victim were identified as those of Anna Mae Aquash, a Federal fugitive wanted for violation of the National Firearms Act and Bond Default. A communication was immediately sent to the FBI's liaison representative in Ottawa, Canada, to alert Canadian authorities to attempt to notify the next of kin. At the same time, FBI Agents requested, through the United States Attorney, Rapid City, a court order for exhumation of the body. On March 9, 1976, an order for exhumation was issued. On the following day, Mr. Bruce Ellison, Wounded Knee Legal Defense/Offense Committee, contacted the Rapid City FBI Office. Acting as a representative of Ms. Aquash's family, Mr. Ellison requested that an independent autopsy be conducted by Dr. Garry Peterson, Minneapolis, Minnesota. The FBI representative readily agreed to this, and, in fact, delayed the exhumation proceedings for one day until Dr. Peterson could arrive from Minneapolis.

The body was exhumed on March 11, 1976, and Dr. Peterson conducted a second autopsy that same day. A small bullet wound was located below and to the rear of the right ear of the victim and a bullet was located behind the left eye socket. Dr. Peterson concluded that the cause of death was a gunshot wound. Thereafter the body of Ms. Aquash was turned over to Mr. Ellison for burial.

With the medical determination that Ms. Aquash died of a gunshot wound, an intensive investigation was initiated by the FBI to identify Ms. Aquash's killer. We have previously provided the United States Department of State with the facts of this case.

Sincerely yours,

NOTE: This is in response to Mr. Schneider's inquiry regarding the death of Anna Mae Aquash, deceased FBI fugitive who was known to be with the four indicted Resmurs subjects when they fled from the murder scene at Rapid City, South Dakota, 6/26/75. Aquash was later apprehended in possession of firearm during a raid by FBI at the residence of Al Running during November, 1975. She failed to appear based on charges stemming from that raid and was subsequently declared a fugitive. She remained in that status until her death. The letter to Mr. Schneider contains the information in a press release recently approved by the Director, as well as an explanation of the reason hands are removed from deceased for identification purposes.

Q 10 FSC?

American Friends Service Committee is an independent Quaker organization, founded in 1917 to aid conscientious objectors with an opposition to aid civilian victims during World War I. With international headquarters in Philadelphia and regional offices across the United States, program operations overseas, it is chartered on religious, charitable, social, philanthropic and relief work on behalf of the several branches and divisions of the Religious Society of Friends (Quakers) in America.

FSC is established as a non-profit Corporation consisting of 160 Quakers, appointed by 20 meetings of American Friends and also by a large, A Board of Directors, drawn from membership of the Corporation, governs the programs and administration of the AFSC. Its program and administrative committees, at home and abroad, oversee the operations of the AFSC and consult with the more than 400 men and women who make up the staff of the Committee. Hundreds of volunteers assist their work, thus making it possible to carry out the program of relief.

and healed civilian victims without regard to the politics of those who needed help—in France, Germany and Russia, Spain, China and the Middle East, Nigeria, Bangladesh and Vietnam. In 1947 the AFSC, together with the Friends Service Council of Britain, received the Nobel Peace Prize for its "silent help from the nameless to the nameless..."

In Guatemala, Mexico, Chile and Zambia, AFSC workers conduct projects of social and technical assistance designed to help people in developing areas discover and utilize their own power and resources. At home, the AFSC has long shared organizing skills and other resources with minorities and lower-income groups. In many projects across the U.S., staff who themselves are members of minority groups are hard at work in their own communities with the people most affected by racism and poverty.

Because war substitutes outward force for inward guidance and conviction, Quaker testimony opposes war and encourages refusal to participate in it. In more than 20 communities across the country, AFSC staff work to build informed public resistance to war and militarism and advocate nonviolent action for change.

AFSC staff in several countries, at the United Nations in New York and Geneva, and in Washington, D.C., organize informal meetings where leaders from different nations can explore ways to resolve international differences peacefully and to distribute world resources equitably.

What does FACS do what it does?

Quakers do not subscribe to a formal creed, but place the authority of conscience, individual experience, and communal consensus above the authority of creeds or traditions. With roots in the Religious Society of Friends, and with many Quakers and others on its staff, the AFSC is meaning to the call of Quakerism in the 17th to "walk cheerfully over God" in everyone.

Holding fast to the Quaker testimonies of love, integrity, compassion, and simplicity, the AFSC seeks to express a tenderness for the dignity and promise of every individual; a related emphasis on people rather than agendas, structures, or ideologies; a tolerance for cultural and philosophical diversity and a denial that violence can ever be right. The AFSC sees each human life as sacred, each person as a child of God.
