"CARLO GAMBINO and his brother, PAUL (GAMBINO), have long been known to the Bureau of Narcotics as important leaders in the Mafia and intimate associates of SALVATORE LUCANIA, with alias, 'Lucky' Luciano.

"During the spring of 1948, reliable information obtained from a Bureau of Narcotics source indicated that CARLO GAMBINO travelled clandestinely to Palermo, Sicily, where he joined his brother, PAUL (GAMBINO), who had fled to Italy to avoid prosecution in a Federal alcohol tax case. The GAMBINOS were reported to exercise control of the narcotic smuggling activities between the Mafia element in Palermo and the United States on behalf of SALVATORE LUCANIA and during 1948, both GAMBINO brothers met with LUCANIA at the home of their relatives in Palermo, Sicily.

"Investigation conducted by the Bureau of Narcotics after 30 some odd Sicilian aliens had been smuggled into the United States aboard the SS Panormus at the Port of Philadelphia during May, 1948, disclosed that CARLO GAMBINO was involved in the smuggling of these aliens and that some of these aliens in turn had smuggled substantial quantities of heroin into the United States as payment for being brought into the country.

"Investigation further developed the information that among those interested in the smuggling of these aliens was a representative of the Santo Sorge Trading Company, 196 First Avenue, New York City. This company is operated by SANTO SORGE, an intimate associate of SALVATORE LUCANIA, and it will be recalled that immediately prior to his apprehension at the Apalachin JOSEPH BONANNO was observed at Palermo, Sicily, in the company of SANTO SORGE."

[redacted] furnished information that it was concluded the investigation of the anonymous complaint regarding the "SS Panormus", they had disclosed a flagrant and cynical regard for the Customs and Landing Laws by the Master and operators of the Panormus, which is an American Liberty vessel given to Italy for the rehabilitation of her merchant marine. It appeared good grounds existed for penalizing the ship on the basis of the several stoways discovered. Insofar as the allegations regarding the smuggling of narcotics are concerned, it was concluded that it was possible that this was done before the anonymous warning was received. The sum of money carried by [redacted] the Palermo background of the individuals involved the connection with the Bensonhurst-Bath Beach Section of Brooklyn, where previous drug smuggling ventures have stemmed from, [redacted] apparent connection with known narcotic figures all lend credence to the theory that narcotics were involved in this affair. Immigration officers believe that a thriving traffic in aliens centered in and around the Panormus which appears to have been a prime carrier on the underground railway from Palermo.

entitled "A 'Burke's Peerage' of Dress Racketeers" sub captioned "Empires in Industry are Found Built by Intermarriages, Partnerships and Alliances". This article by DON HOGAN and PETER BRAESTRUP among other things, alleged the following:

"Racketeers build empires by intermarriage, partnerships and alliances. The unfolding and sifting of these relationships will require a Burke's Peerage of Crime. When the unraveling is done one thing is clear—all roads lead through the garment industry.

"The five men with the most unsavory reputations in the New York end of the garment business are Abraham Chait, Thomas ("Three Finger Brown") Luchese, Benjamin ("Boom Boom") Levine, Harry ("Big Nig Rosen") Stromberg, and James ("Jimmy Doyle") Plumeri.

"These men can all be tied together; they belong to the same blood even though the Italians among them have their own association which is often called the Mafia. There is no question, however, that members of this association play footsie with their opposite numbers. In the garment industry they got married.

"From the "Big Five" in the garment business a web of connections can be spun to every major racketeer in the country. In other fields, e.g. the water front, the racketeers have mostly been rooted out. In the garment business they are still treated with respect.

"Another example of involved relationships among the top racketeers comes through Carlo Gambino, a labor consultant of Schiller and Saltzstein, 141 East 44th Street. Gambino a former associate of Charles ("Lucky") Luciano was among the underworld people at Apalachin.

"Carlo Gambino's son, Thomas, who was graduated
