At 3:16 AM, 9/26/62, SA [REDACTED] observed an airplane land at Palm Springs Airport.
PHYLLIS MC GUIRE departed from this plane and was met by three unknown men in a station wagon License XDP 318. Determined to be a 1962 Buick Station Wagon. It is registered to Essex Productions, 9229 Sunset Boulevard, Los Angeles, one of FRANK SINATRA's enterprises. After PHYLLIS MC GUIRE entered this station wagon it proceeded to the vicinity of the Tamarisk Country Club, Cathedral City, California.
This same station wagon was very shortly thereafter observed parked in the carport of the residence of FRANK SINATRA.

Pg. 2

At 4:55 PM 9/26/62, PHYLLIS MC GUIRE arrived at the Palm Springs Airport with two unknown white males and one male Negro who was driving the above described Buick. ....
From the description available to this office

Excerpts from this page under the above captions set forth:

It has been reported that the Villa Venice Supper Club has been an enterprise of GIANCANA since approximately 1960. From April 1960 through the Spring of 1962, the Villa Venice was utilized primarily for private parties, weddings, etc. and was not considered as a money-making proposition. During the summer months and early fall the Villa Venice underwent a remodeling and reopened on November 9, 1962. The featured entertainer for the opening date was EDDIE FISHER. He was followed by SAMMY DAVIS, JR., and then by FRANK SINATRA and DEAN MARTIN.

.... [REDACTED] advised in October 1962, that SAM GIANCANA advised that the Villa Venice will definitely be a "going" proposition and was keeping in close contact with the operation. Advance reservations were made at the Villa Venice for the entire booking of SAMMY DAVIS, Jr., and FRANK SINATRA.

After the agents had left the Armory Lounge ENGLISH approached SA [redacted] who was driving away in an automobile and told him that he had been instructed by GIANCANA to tell the agents that if "KENNEDY" desired to talk to him it would be all right with GIANCANA and that "KENNEDY" should go through the guy he knows about. ENGLISH implied that this individual was FRANK SINATRA, the entertainer, but did not actually say so. ENGLISH advised that this message should be given to "KENNEDY", "off the record or on the record, whatever you want to do." This concluded the contact of ENGLISH

(Reviewer's Note: The above information was obtained in Chicago in the following way as set forth in first part of interview starting on page 9 of above report.)

During the course of an investigation being conducted upon the activities of SAM GIANCANA, SA [redacted] while driving a Bureau car was stopped at a red light at the intersection of Des Plaines Avenue and 22nd Street. While awaiting the signal to change a car chauffeured by an individual known to [redacted] to be CHUCKIE ENGLISH pulled abreast of the Bureau car. While both vehicles were stopped at the intersection ENGLISH opened a conversation with the agent pertaining to his recent dinner at the Czech Lodge and during the conversation extended an invitation to the agent "to join us at our next stop." Agent [redacted] assumed the reference to "us" referred to SAM GIANCANA, ANTHONY TISCI and a female believed to be the wife of ANTHONY TISCI who accompanied ENGLISH in his vehicle.

b7c SA [redacted] contacted SA [redacted] who was the occupant of a second surveillance unit and advised him of the invitation extended by ENGLISH.

SA [redacted] proceeded to the parking lot of the Armory Lounge located on Roosevelt Road in Forest Park, Ill.

b2 b7D [redacted] that top hoodlum leaders of the Chicago criminal organization, upon learning of ENGLISH's interview with FBI agents at the Armory Lounge on the previous Saturday, were extremely upset, and advised that one of these individuals, FRANK FERRARO, planned to see ANTHONY ACCARDO and PAUL RICCA for the purpose of having them talk with GIANCANA regarding his recent activities and more specifically of his association with ENGLISH. It was learned that FERRARO was also going to contact ENGLISH and admonish him as to his contact with FBI agents.

b7D ..... [redacted] particular point that was causing great concern to FERRARO and other hoodlums was their belief that ENGLISH in his discussion with the FBI, had admitted to the FBI agents the association between FRANK SINATRA and SAM GIANCANA. The full details as to the reason for their concern were not given, however, there appeared to be the underlying reason that SINATRA was more closely associated with GIANCANA and the hoodlum element than had been publicly known.

During a subsequent investigation by the Gambling Control Board, it was determined that GIANCANA had in fact been at the Cal-Neva Lodge in the company of PHYLLIS McGUIRE and upon further investigation by the Gaming Control Board Investigators, it was brought out that persons employed at the Cal-Neva Lodge attempted to bribe investigators of this organization. According to newspaper releases on the situation, EDWARD OLSON, Chairman of the Gaming Control Board, advised that SINATRA had used highly insulting language upon OLSON in connection with these hearings.

The Gaming Control Board gave SINATRA and his attorney, HARRY CLAIBORNE until 10/7 in which to present evidence in refutation of the charges made.

On 10/7/63, CLAIBORNE made a press release to the effect that SINATRA was divesting himself of all of his gambling interests in Nevada. The release continued that SINATRA claimed that he had several months previously instructed his attorney to dispose of these interests inasmuch as he intended to take control of the Warner Brothers Studio in Hollywood, California.

SINATRA failed to file any answer to the complaint filed by the Gaming Control Board. In that no answer was filed by midnight of 10/7, the Nevada Gaming Commission automatically revoked SINATRA's license at the Cal-Neva Lodge.

CAL-NEVA LODGE

As the Bureau and some offices were previously advised, the Nevada Gaming Control Board on 9/11/63, filed an action for revocation of license with Nevada Gaming Commission against FRANK SINATRA personally. The complaint for revocation is against SINATRA's license at the Cal-Neva Lodge, Lake Tahoe, as well as against his license at the Sands Hotel, Las Vegas.

the following information is taken:

It is noted that JOSEPH STACHER traveled to Las Vegas, Nevada on August 30, 1963 and remained there through September 1, 1963. An item appeared in the 'Valley
Times', Los Angeles, California, September 5, 1963 edition, under an Associated Press release, which reflect as follows:

"A second gambling figure has drawn the interest of Federal Agents by paying a visit to Nevada casinos.

(Reviewer's Note: the next paragraph refers to JOSEPH STACHER and is not being set forth in this memo.)

"The other noted visitor to Nevada was SAM (MOONEY) GIANCANA of Chicago. GIANCANA, suspected of having dealings with crime
syndicates, visited FRANK SINATRA's Cal-Neva Lodge at Lake Tahoe in July. The visit sparked an investigation by the Gaming Control Board, which has listed GIANCANA as "persona non grata" in Nevada casinos.

"SINATRA Subpoenaed in 'Skimming' Inquiry.

"Singer Ordered to Appear in Las Vegas Next Week by Grand Jury Probing Casinos".

"Singer FRANK SINATRA has been subpoenaed to appear here next week before a federal grand jury investigating alleged 'skimming' of profits from Nevada gambling casinos.

"SINATRA was a part owner and licensee of Cal Neva Lodge at Lake Tahoe and the Sands Hotel here until three years ago.

"He lost his license in late 1963 after he and his partners were accused of giving the red carpet treatment at the Cal Neva Lodge to Momo Salvatore (Sam) Giancana, Chicago underworld kingpin.

"Giancana is listed in Nevada's 'black book' as one of 11 unsavory characters and not welcome in the state's gambling casinos. He is a friend of Phyllis McGuire, one of the singing McGuire sisters who were featured at the lodge when Giancana allegedly visited there.

'It was learned that SINATRA's subpoena originally called for his appearance Jan. 13, but he apparently could not be located. He has since been served with the subpoena, The Times learned.

"Among the witnesses heard Thursday was Henry W. Sanicola, SINATRA's former manager and partner in the Cal Neva Lodge.

"SINATRA's personal attorney, Milton Budin, testified before the grand jury for more than an hour Tuesday night."

b7D
"During the course of the investigation, SA [REDACTED] while driving a Bureau car was stopped at a red light at the intersection of Des Plaines Avenue and 22nd Street. While awaiting the signal to change, a car chauffeured by an individual known to [REDACTED] to be Chuckie English pulled abreast of the Bureau car. While both vehicles were stopped at the intersection English opened a conversation with the agent pertaining to his recent dinner at the Czech Lodge and during the conversation extended an invitation to the agent to join us at our next stop. Agent [REDACTED] assumed the reference to us referred to Sam Giancana.

"SA [REDACTED] proceeded to the parking lot of the Armory Lounge located on Roosevelt Road in Forest Park, Illinois.

"After the agents had left the Armory Lounge English approached SA [REDACTED] who was driving away in an automobile and told him that he had been instructed by Giancana to tell the agents that if 'Kennedy' desired to talk to him it would be all right with Giancana and that 'Kennedy' should go through the guy he knows about. English implied that this individual was FRANK SINATRA, the entertainer, but did not actually say so."

The following information was furnished to this office by former [REDACTED] on 1/9/50. The following information was developed by the informant through various sources:

"James Tarantino, 40 years old, was born in Orange,
New Jersey. He became an habitual gambler and crap shooter and followed all of the local games.

"While Tarantino was associated with fighters in New York he became acquainted with one Billy Van, who published a trade sheet called 'Knock Out' and Tarantino wrote a gossip column. When he arrived in California, Tarantino re-established his contact with Van who had an office in Hollywood on Sunset Blvd.

"One of FRANK SINATRA's musical publishing tie ups had an office in that building and SINATRA used it for a hideaway. SINATRA had an interest in a firm called Barton Music Company which his personal representative, Hank Sanicola, operated for him.

"Informant advised that there were many stories concerning how SINATRA and Sanicola got together with Tarantino.

"In a conversation with the informant, he indicated that he had talked to Florabell Muir of the 'Daily Variety' who had been told by Tarantino that he and SINATRA were friends back in New Jersey. Informant advised that in 1944, Tarantino and Barney Ross, the ex-champion, started a theatrical weekly throw-away called 'Hollywood Night Life'. It quickly got into financial difficulties and Tarantino sought help from Sanicola. Informant advised that SINATRA then transferred $12,000 to Sanicola, who put it into 'Night Life'."

"CASINO BOSS ENDS ARGUMENT"

"SINATRA Bows Out at Sands The Hard Way-Gets Socked"

"FRANK SINATRA's long association with Las Vegas Sands Hotel came to a bleary, rambunctious end early Monday when the casino's manager punched the singer on the jaw.

"The wallop by Carl Cohen, also a Sands Vice Pres. knocked out two of SINATRA's front teeth, according to one report.

"It climaxed an uproarious weekend long tirade by the singer against the hotel's management, employees and security forces, guests said.

"During the time, witnesses added, the 50 year old entertainer wagered for high stakes and appeared to be drinking heavily.

"Cohen, a paunchy 54 year old uncorked his punch after SINATRA, a frequent nightclub battler and one time amateur pugilist, unloosed a stream of abuse at the casino boss in a Sands restaurant, witnesses said.

"The blow staggered the slender singer, knocking him into a chair that broke his fall, guests said. SINATRA reportedly left the hotel immediately.

"SINATRA, once owned a minor interest in the Sands until forced to relinquish it by the State of Nevada for associating with Sam Giancana, Chicago underworld figure.

"After finishing his last show at 1:30 AM Saturday, at the Sands, the singer undertook a reprisal.

"He began skylarking with friends on an electric baggage cart in a swimming pool area.

"SINATRA and his chums grew noisier, the flow of alcohol freer and the language rougher and this was when the singer returned to the gambling arena.

"He was loud and obscene and yelling at the top of his voice, one source said.

"SINATRA, accompanied by his young wife, Mia, and some friends, left the Sands for the airport and was heading apparently for Los Angeles."

"The title of this clipping reads as follows:

"Writer Blames Scripts On Pressure Groups"

"A top TV writer says that he and his fellow craftsmen 'are being painted into a corner by self-censorship due to the cumulative effect of pressure groups.'

"The latest hazard says scriptwriter Norman Jolley is the American Italian-Anti-Defamation League, for which FRANK SINATRA recently became national chairman.

"Businessman object when an executive is portrayed as a villain; the same is true of doctors, Orientals, Indians, teachers, etc.

"The writer charged that a U. S. representative and senator joined the pressure campaign and as a result 'The Executioners' was removed from the summer re-run schedule on ABC."

"CRIMINAL INTELLIGENCE DIGEST"

"The Nevada gambling industry which in 1961 admitted a record gross of $216,269,274 and paid the State of Nevada $10,693,309 in taxes and fees has attracted the interest of organized criminal groups throughout the country as a place where they can obtain a substantial tax free return on their investment.

"Another source has for several years furnished information indicating that the Chicago organization of Sam Giancana owns hidden interests in both the Stardust and Desert Inn. John Drew at the Stardust, Ross Miller at the Riviera and FRANK SINATRA, 36 per cent owner of the Cal-Neva Lodge at Lake Tahoe are all according to this source, 'Giancana's people'. Giancana indicated to this source that his organization has been in Nevada for ten years and had numerous individuals on the payroll in that area."

"THE HOLLYWOOD 10 PLUS TWENTY"

"Albert Maltz, writing films, short stories, novels, and a play all the while pseudonymously in Mexico, subsequently took on the holy Kennedys and the unholy Hearsts. When in the election heat of 1960, JFK's pal FRANK SINATRA, donning his producer's cap, announced that he had hired Maltz to script William Bradford Huie's anti-military novel, The Execution of Private Slovik, the heavens rumbled from Hollywood to D. C. So pilloried was FRANK by the Hearst press that within days he released (some say under pressure from Papa Joe Kennedy)a curious, oblique statement saying he would 'like to comment on the attacks in certain quarters on Sen. John F. Kennedy(for whom FRANK was campaigning vigorously). This type of partisan politics is hitting below the belt.

"But that was not the end of it. Three weeks later, Maltz, who was in Europe researching a novel, read in the newspaper that he had been fired altogether.
He has neither seen or heard from SINATRA since."

SINATRA'S GOP SWITCH HURTS DEMO'S POCKETBOOK

UPI Hollywood Correspondent

Frank Sinatra's announcement of his support for Gov. Ronald Reagan in the November campaign against Assemblyman Jess Unruh is more significant than it sounds.

Sinatra, a lifelong Democrat—whose mother was a party functionary in New Jersey—switched to Republican Reagan last week.

His announcement was greeted by a "so what?" response from Democratic bigwigs, intimating that Sinatra's move was of little or no consequence.

Wrong.

The singer's support of Reagan, whatever his reasons—and there are several themes from which to choose—could hurt Unruh's campaign in its most vital spot, the pocketbook.

Hollywood power has become an ever-growing element in national politics, and especially in California campaigns.

While Sinatra's announcement and subsequent campaigning may not encourage any citizen to switch his vote, his participation in rallies, dinners, television shows and personal appearances will bring out crowds.

The crowds, in turn, will be donating money or buying dinners to support Sinatra's choice of candidate.

Moreover Frank Sinatra has as many friends as anyone in Hollywood. Should he call on them, he could fill any stage with mere celebrities than an Academy Award night.

There is no means of determining how much the singer raised on behalf of the late John F. Kennedy's campaign. But it was substantial enough that he escorted the new President's wife, Jackie, to the Inaugural Ball in 1961.

Assemblyman Unruh has said that he does not have the financial resources of Reagan. His party will trail the GOP in money for campaign newspaper advertising, billboards, television, radio and fund raising events at which small and large contributions are made.

In addition to asking friends to help him campaign, Sinatra's involvement very possibly will still some Hollywood voices that might otherwise have spoken out for Unruh.

No matter how curious or difficult it may be for the layman to comprehend, Frank Sinatra is a powerful man in Hollywood.

He has bailed friends out of financial trouble, renewed careers, hired down-and-outers, given generously to the charities of acquaintances. His appearance at a dinner party or public event ensures success.

Robert K. Dornan Show... May 8, 1972... 11: pm - 12:30 pm...
KTLA, Channel 5, Los Angeles, Calif.

Guests: Robert Vahn and Albert Maltz.

At beginning of program Vahn appeared with Dornan, Dornan showed Vahn's newly published book... "Only Victims" which is about the McCarthy era... specifically dealing with the Hollywood 10... black listing etc.

Vahn has been making appearances on talk shows, radio and TV promoting his book. The discussion began with Dornan asking Vahn if his brief appearances on other shows... networks etc. where he was given only 10 minutes or so to talk about his book... if such brief appearances... could an author really have enough time to discuss a "serious work like this"? Vahn said, "There are so many shows across the country, it's been my experience the past month, that do go into it in considerable depth, at least a half hour in some cases." He seemed pleased, in spite of Dornan's expressions to the contrary, with the success he is having in promoting the book.

The discussion got into what the book was about... testifying before the "House Un-American Activities Committee" (this is what Dornan called the Committee)...

Dornan: Most of the men who WERE admittedly Communists, or whether or not they were they thought it was no-body's business, but their own... that was strictly political... they had joined the Communist Party or had worked with Communist Front groups ONLY to pull the Democrat Party's new deal policies further to the left... it was just a "device"...

Vahn: That is one of many reasons you could join the Communist Party I believe... My interviews with witnesses etc. Some of them joined to meet girls... as I mentioned in the book.

Dornan: Lot of people join the New Hope today to do it..

Vahn: Yes, and other people had very personal reasons, I never found a great deal of Marxist awareness in any of the people I contacted or spoke to and had questionnaires sent to. I would say that probably two or three of the guys that could be considered Marxist scholars of some sort maybe could include Paul Robeson, John Howard Lawson and Roy Huggins (excuse me... who was a student Marxist at UCLA... but most of the people who I read their works and researched... there was not a great influence on their writing of actual Marxist indoctrination at the time.

Dornan: Well I tend... maybe it's because I'm sort of outspoken myself... want to go on a college campus and field any question, let it go in any direction...

Dornan said that he tends to admire anybody... Bernadette Devlin, Black Panthers, anybody to says... "Look... this is what I really believe, I'm not holding back anything".

Dornan: A man who was a Communist at that period... and I've had some of them who have changed since, say to me... one of them is the finest acting coach in this city... 'I feel this to be ---, that a Soviet America was the best thing for this country... and I have never travel to Russia, so I thought that what ever was going on there was probably beautiful... a tremendous social experiment and I wanted to see it take place here so my loyalties were to Russia'. And he admits it.

Vahn: Yes, I found this to be also true, but the loyalties, the loyalties were so naive..in almost all cases..there was such an unawareness of what was happening in Russia on behalf of many Americans espoused the Soviet system as a panacea of governments and they were more idealistic then realistic as far as comparing what they thought would be a better America to what they knew Russia to be.

Dornan: There was also..what Charlie Chaplin was criticized for Russia went through two brutal years without our opening a second front...and there were people criticizing him for that..and Russia was our ally against an OBSERVABLE horrible evil of concentration camps.....

(Tape turned off...picks up at following point:)

Subject under discussion...Algier Hiss...

Dornan:...I am an un-reconstructed New Dealer...(referring to quote from L.A. Times, March 30.

(Commercial)

Dornan: It would be wrong for me to mention a certain persons name the only person where I registered any shock while going through this list in the back (referring to Vahn's book)..this list gathered by House Un-American Activities Committee research files that we went through..and he said well, any person who appeared willingly was one of the friendly witnesses, he must not have cared...his name is Loyd Bridges..(Vahn: yes)...and I said Iloyd Bridges..who...he identified no one but himself, that's interesting...and he finally named..and it just says...self...He had to furnish the Committee with an executive ~~form-statement~~ sworn statement testifying date..that to his former C. Party membership...it has not been made public.

Discussion then went to why didn't more persons do this..tell about themselves.."Alright, I'll tell you about myself, but I'm not going to inform on anybody else." Vahn said many tried to, tried to make some kind of a deal like that Lillian Helms (phonetic..may be wrong) was one that was successful. Committee was not prone to allow people to do this...they wanted names...that is what they were always after.. beginning in 1938...they wanted names, names, names and more names.. although they had these names 10 or 15 times..already identified. Of course their researchers found these names before they were called before the committee. "Once you answered one question before the committee, that is once you said you are a member of the Communist Party..from then on..that obligates to answer further questions before the committee about others."

(Tape turned off)

Dornan: I don't want to be guilty of McCarthy type..guilt by association ..there must be levels or degrees..of guilt or association. The Rosenbergs were put in the electric chair for selling secrets to the Soviet Union and there went our Nuclear etc. etc. ----- The way I read their rationalization is the following... The two countries have it we cancel out..and if a corrupt government ever took it to use it..in our country..How Morton Sobel was convicted along with the...escaped the death penalty and is now lecturing at a high honorarium at college campuses..Algier Hiss...we just quoted from Howard K. Smith used in quote.."The Life of Richard Nixon" out here when Nixon lost the governorship..now we come down to men who can have their lives destroyed because their conviction was..it's none of your damned business..to the House Committee...Then we have other men like Edward Demetrick who goes in of Oct. of '47 refused to answer questions concerning Communist Party membership..~~appears~~ appears again..April 25, 1951, right smack in the middle of the Korean war...it's now three and one-half years later...and he freely ~~testifies~~ talks about his membership and names 25 --- people. You have another man who comes in and says...I definitely was not...was that Robert Rosen? I think he says 'I was not and never have been a Communist!..right...Robert Wilson Rosen ....then he was back again, less than a year later and says alright, I was and I'll answer all questions regarding my former membership.

Vahn: John Garfield did that also, he denied any involvement with the Party and he did not work...the FBI was on him constantly from that original denial before the Committee..he was not able to be employed in either New York or Hollywood..and he started working in the revival of Golden Boy in New York on the stage which required him to fight every night ...box on stage...and as a result of that he had a heart attack and died.

Dornan: When a man sees his mistake..he admits it...turns states evidence so to speak..we have all sorts of people working on Buckley's National Review who have done it..we have ex-Communists running around the country spilling everything and making a career out of it, is that ignoble to you..if you feel you were wrong and jeopardized your country even if you were a traitor and turned states evidence..we'll come back for the answer...

(station break)

Dornan: We've been joined by Mr. Albert Maltz has joined Rober Vahn and me. Mr. Maltz was one of the 10 men..described in the records.. one of the "unfriendly ten"...those who went back before the committee several times some of them..to the House Committee on Un-American Activities..and REFUSED to divulge their background or to inform.. -----, to inform on their friends or acquaintances. And by way of introducing you..thank you for joining us Mr. Maltz...I'd like to read just a very brief few ~~line~~ lines from the statement that you made before, I guess it was your first appearance before the Committee back in Washington D.C. By the way..did you have to pay your own way back or did..

Maltz: No, the government pays your expenses..

Dornan: Right...like walking the last mile in some cases..with this particular thing. You quoted...after discussing some of the films you wrote you were quite proud of..."The Pride of the Marines" on local television here recently with John Garfield.. ( discusses films, naming several)

Dornan: (quoting what Maltz said before the Committee..from Thomas Jefferson).!Opinion and the just maintenance of it shall never be a crime in my view nor bring injury to the individual'...then you go on to discuss why you think it is not only unjust, but dangerous for the committee to be formed and be calling people back..and I think you sum it up best this way..'I claim and I insist, they are not now, nor have my opinions ever been fixed or unchanging, nor are they now fixed or unchangable...but right or wrong, I claim, I insist upon my right to think freely and to speak freely'...~~GAZZA/ZZA/...~~'to join the Republican Party or the Communist Party, the Democratic or the Prohibition Party, to publish whatever I please..to fix my mind or change my mind without direction from anyone..to offer any criticism I think fitting of any public official or policy..to join whatever organizations I please no matter what certain legislators may think of them. Now shortly after this, it's your contention that your name appeared on a black lists and your employment in Hollywood ceased to exist..is that correct?

Maltz; Well it isn't a contention, it's a fact..that is, the ten of us who opposed that committee and it's behavior in American politics were formally by media of the motion picture producers..in New York City and it was stated that we would no longer be employed. I'm particularly interested that you picked out that passage..although it wasn't in my mind when I came here to-night..I would say that if anything over the years has come to seem more and more important to me, it would be that quotation from Jefferson...and that assertion I made in connection with it. My ideas have changed in many respects over the years, and I'm not sure that they won't change further. I expect that as I respond to the living world, they will. The one thing that I believe life has taught me is that you cannot have a society capable of growth in a healthy manner unless you can have an absolutely interchange of opinions..

Dornan: All ends of the spectrum..

Maltz: All ends of the spectrum...and if we want to know what it was like..young people who did not live through the years in the United States in the years between 1947 and 1962 roughly the period that the black list at it's greatest intensity..they want to know what that was like in the United States...they can look at the Soviet Union today and what has happened to a writer like Sozenyetsin (Phonetic) You see here's a man who has been expelled from the writers union... the same thing that happened to us on the Black-list. I couldn't put my name on a film contract from 1947 to 1964.

Dornan: Could you ghost-write..Maltz: I did some..I also did fiction because I'm a novelist and a short story writer..as well as a screen writer.

Dornan: Under your own name?

Maltz: Yes, but my books were not published in the United States.

Dornan: Can I ask you to come back to that part about Sozenyetsin (pho/netic)..because I know to this very day he is unable to receive his Nobel Peace Prize..Maltz: Yeah.

Dornan: ...Because he's suffering today as you suffered..I want to (~~Commercial-break~~) pose a question I want you both to respond to after this break...we left hanging after the last break...Doesn't a man have a right to divulge information he thinks is injurious to his country if he changes his mind..as you say your mind changes occasionally.

After commercial break, Dornan spends some time complimenting Maltz on his career, his life and that he still is in his middle life..as far as he is concerned (Dornan)..Let me get Bob to comment on this question..about a man saying 'hey I'm wrong, I've been working for a party that not only represents a lie, but now I see the whole Stalinist terrorist thing!..maybe he doesn't change his mind until '56 with

Hungary or '68 with Czechoslovakia but he says I think I'd better give States evidence here..now how can we brand him as an evil kind of informer..let me ask you to answer it first.

Vahn: I don't think you can brand him as an evil kind of informer if he is ~~is~~ truly motivated by a sincere desire to be patriotic to his country by reversing his field..so to speak...by 180 degrees. I don't think that was the case with very many people who either were friendly witnessess or who recanted..I'm sorry to say. I would like to think they were highly motivated...-----, they wanted to stay working in the business..it was economic -----.

Dornan: How about someone who became a friendly witness who supposedly ..at least I thought so till I read the book..and that's why I think it's a worth while book...that all of those who became friendly witnessess salvaged their careers...~~Edward~~ Demetrich, Rosen and it goes on and on...but I notice Larry Parks was a friendly witness, but his career became terminated it seemed to me.

Vahn: (Vahn tells about Parks appearance first unfriendly then after Columbia pictures told him he'd better cooperate, he did..he was first actor publically to testify..He testified in executive session when he cooperated, but he still didn't work again...Vahn tried to reach Parks through several channels, but was unable to do so.)

Dornan to Maltz: Could you answer question about informing on friends?

Maltz: Two issues before us, first agree with Vahn..that it's perfectly possible for people to change their minds sincerely on a political matter..but in the actual case of those who came forward in the Hollywood situation..I think it was purely to work, they were not informing the government about any plot for instance..in which they were trying to save the United States..

(Commercial break)

Tape off until subject of Alger Hiss and Whitacker Chambers came up.

Maltz: ...Hiss was innocent and that Chambers was a liar...you mentioned the Rosenbergs before, I believe that they were completely innocent and that Ethel Rosenberg's brother who had been caught trying to steal a few pounds of what you use in atomic energy..ah..(Dornan..platonium)

Maltz: Yeah, something like that..that he named her and her husband in order to get himself off. I believe that they were absolutely innocent and that there are books that have been published that demonstrate that. and I want to add, since it's current...I think Angela Davis is innocent I'm convinced she's innocent..

Dornan: I wish you hadn't said that and I'll tell you why..there's an unwritten law that even though we're a few hundred miles away..

Maltz: Oh, we're not supposed to discuss it..

Dornan: You can, but I can't turn around and respond or ~~ag~~ argue with you without intimidating a possible future juror who might be going to go up there. By that response you might guess how I feel..I don't know enough about the first two things..the other..about Angela Davis, I'll be following with great interest because of what's incredible circumstantial evidence to me. But if you think that the Rosenbergs were innocent..do you think that possibly..I'll try to go along with your logic here...that possibly there was a scape-goat execution here..since they were the only people executed that I know of after the second world war for this kind of crime.

Similar to story Frank Sinatra hired you(Maltz) to write..The execution of Private Slogam(?) only man to be executed for his ~~time-of~~ kind of crim

(discussion of this story followed) Maltz related charges and condition under which this Private was executed...indicating them as proper..which obviously surprised Dornan.

Dornan then asks if Maltz thinks there were words he did not write out of fear after the black listing...from this pressure..also asked about other writers in this same regard.

Maltz: It didn't affect me, but it affected all those who continued to write in the industry..of course...

Maltz: Those who were black listed were in that sense free. We were economically black listed...but we were politically free...

Dornan: Ah-h-h-h

Vahn: Yes

Dornan: Would you have been black listed Rob for speaking out the way you have on the Vietnam war..were there fringe black lists?

Vahn: Now?

Dornan: If you were ten years younger..at that time...

Vahn: I don't think so...I wouldn't have had anything to do with the Communist Party..which is what they, the committee seemed to be trying to get at..ferret them out...get out of the business..by doing that they caught a lot of innocent people who had nothing to do with the Communist Party...and lost their livelihood also...

Maltz: You know I think you would have been black-listed because without any association ~~of~~ with the Communist Party, you have been steadily an opponent of the Vietnam war..in the same atmosphere at that time, I can think of a man who's political hero was Woodrow Wilson..and he was gray listed...which was another term...he just couldn't get work..

Dornan asks about a double black list and a gray list and this is discussed..Maltz stated that some of those who didn't get work was simply because they were not good writers or actors and that their careers would have been over anyway...to which Vahn agreed.

Dornan asks if liberal networks might have the same kind of a black-list against conservatives today...remarking about how there are no conservatives on any network...only one, Bill Buckley..

Vahn said he might be right, that he didn't think there was a list, but it might be a "state of mind" type of blacklisting...

Dornan made some remarks about the networks then noting time had run out, asked both guests if they would return another time..to which they said yes..Dornan said he would like to have a program and have the 10 unfriendly witnesses as guests along with those who testified.. Then again spoke of the greatest drama coach in this city..saying they (guests) would know who he meant..and those who didn't know (viewers) wouldn't matter..Asked if the blacklist was a state of mind....?

Maltz said there was a list, a list of all the people who appeared before the committee and wouldn't cooperate...that the networks today might be in a frame of mind that would make them hire people left of center, but that is different than saying a man cannot work because of his political views or supposed views.

The appendix of the book was discussed and Martin Berkeley, a writer of westerns who named over a hundred people was the target of the closing remarks.
