Clegg's memorandum to Mr. Tolson dated September 9, 1949, recommending that the Secret Service and the Bureau of Narcotics be furnished information concerning the meeting of the International Criminal Police Commission at Berne, Switzerland, October 10 to 15, 1949. This memorandum was received for handling in the Correlation-Liaison Section October 4, 1949.

For your information the Bureau has requested the State Department to authorize its certifying officer to draw a draft for three thousand dollars against the Bureau and to deposit the equivalent sum in Swiss francs to the account of the International Criminal Police Commission in the Credit Lyonnais, Geneva, Switzerland. This draft is to be charged against the Bureau's appropriation for 1910 and will defray the Bureau's fees for membership in the International Criminal Police Commission.

October 3, 1949

Honorable Dean G. Acheson
Secretary of State
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Secretary:

The International Commission of Criminal Police, of which the Federal Bureau of Investigation is a member, made a decision whereby it was decided that it would be more desirable that subscription for membership be deposited in Swiss francs in a banking account, No. [REDACTED] in the Credit Lyonnais, Geneva, Switzerland.

In accordance with this decision, it is requested that your certifying officer, who has been designated a certifying officer of the Department of Justice, outside the United States, its territories and possessions, be authorized to pay a draft in the amount of $3,000 drawn against the Federal Bureau of Investigation. This draft should be charged against appropriation 1500000.00, Salaries and Expenses, Federal Bureau of Investigation, 1949, and deposited in Swiss francs in account No. [REDACTED] in the Credit Lyonnais, Geneva, Switzerland.

Sincerely yours,
J. Edgar Hoover

I wish to thank you for the very interesting article which you sent me for the International Revue on the police training schools of the F.B.I.

This article is very opportune since it will follow a study by Mr. MARABUTO on French police schools, and I hope that it will encourage other correspondents to send me articles of the same nature on the police schools of their country.

I take this opportunity, dear Mr. Hoover, to express my most cordial regards,

Yours very truly,

BACKGROUND:

It will be recalled that for some time the International Criminal Police Commission of which the Bureau is a member, has advocated that all member agencies use the cable address "INTERPOL", followed by the locality. The Bureau has to date taken no action in this regard and the only registered cable address is "USINVEST" which address was apparently registered with the cable companies during the early days of the Bureau's development.

FACTS:

The Legal Attache in Paris has advised that the International Criminal Police Commission headquarters has requested him to inquire of the Bureau regarding the possibility of the Bureau's registering the code word "INTERPOL" as its cable address for the sake of economy and efficiency.

It is not believed that the adoption of the cable address "INTERPOL WASHINGTON" would effect great economies on the part of the ICPC headquarters or member agencies which might communicate with the Bureau by cablegram. It is believed, however, that the adoption of that cable address would work for efficiency and uniformity within the ICPC setup. The majority of the member agencies have adopted this system, and due to its widespread use, it is believed that the Bureau, as an indication of its desire to work together with other members of the organization, might do well to register the code name "INTERPOL" as its cablegram address, in addition to the address USINVEST which it has maintained for so long a time..

Mr. L. R. McCoy of the Communications Section has advised that the registration of a new cable address can be made by advising Western Union of the address. Western Union will in turn advise the other cable companies. The fee for registration is $2.50 a year and it is believed that this amount is a reasonable sum to pay in order to cooperate with the ICPC in obtaining uniformity among the member agencies and to avoid the confusion which might occur when other member agencies which were not aware of the Bureau's USINVEST address endeavor to contact the Bureau by cablegram.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that in order to promote the Bureau's interests in the International Police Commission, the cable address "INTERPOL" be registered with the Western Union company. If this recommendation is approved, it is

BRINGING POLICE TRAINING TO LOCAL LAW ENFORCEMENT: THE FBI'S FIELD
POLICE TRAINING SCHOOLS

by
John Edgar Hoover, Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
United States Department of Justice

The effectiveness of law enforcement is dependent, to a large degree, on the quality of training of the peace officer. The trained officer, the man familiar with the latest advances in crime detection work, can protect the community more adequately against the depredations of the criminal.

Recent years have witnessed great strides in the training of law enforcement officers. I can remember, not too long ago, when the rookie policeman, upon reporting for duty, was given a badge, a gun, and a night stick and assigned to immediate duty. His training: the rough and tumble school of experience. The concept that peace officers, in order to effectively perform their functions, must be adequately trained, was virtually non-existent.

The community, for permitting untrained officers to become members of law enforcement agencies, paid a bitter price in inefficiency, lack of service, and maladministration. Moreover, the individual officers themselves frequently paid drastic penalties - penalties of grievous wounds, and even death itself - casualties which, had the officers known the correct fundamentals of making arrests or handling firearms, might have been avoided.

The FBI, for many years, has worked hand in hand with local law enforcement in improving training facilities for peace officers throughout the United States. In 1935, the FBI National Academy was founded - founded for the express purpose of promoting adequate training and professional standards among law enforcement agencies. The Academy, which now has over 2,000 graduates, provides instruction to selected police officers in a variety of fields, including firearms, fingerprints, laboratory facilities, juvenile delinquency, and techniques of arrests. These men, in turn, after graduation, conduct schools for their fellow officers. We estimate that the training given the Academy graduates has been made available to more than 100,000 police officers.

Unfortunately, the National Academy can accommodate only a very small percentage of the men engaged today in law enforcement work. For this reason, the FBI, through Field Police Training Schools, offers instruction in crime detection methods to officers in their own localities — the training is brought directly to them. In the 1949 fiscal year, ending June 30, 1949, for example, the FBI, at the request of local agencies, participated in 1,510 local police training schools with an estimated attendance of 75,500 officers.

These schools, conducted in each of our 51 field divisions, have been highly successful. They have given law enforcement officers — officers from very small departments or officers who are unable to attend the National Academy — the benefit of instruction in crime detection problems. These men have been highly appreciative — they enthusiastically join in the discussion and ask many questions. These officers are on the front line of crime — when they return home in the evening they may run into a dangerous murderer or be called upon to stop a high powered automobile and make an arrest. They know that an item of knowledge gained in these Field Police Training Schools may that night, tomorrow, or the next day save their lives.

Instruction in these schools, which may last one, two, or three days, or perhaps a week, is normally given by FBI Agents and National Academy graduates. The school may consist only of members of a single police department, if in a large city, or may be a regional school, that is, officers coming from a number of police departments, sheriff's offices, etc., in the surrounding area. In some instances, officers drive many miles to be in attendance.

The FBI conducts the schools only upon the specific request of the local law enforcement agencies. We are happy to provide the instruction, but at no time do we seek to impose or force ourselves upon the local agencies. Attendance, of course, is voluntary. The FBI provides the instruction free of charge. The entire purpose of the Field Police Training Schools is to equip the individual officer so he can better protect society against the evildoer.

The curriculum of those schools is flexible and dependant on the needs and wishes of the local law enforcement agencies. Special Agents of the FBI, as a general rule, discuss the school with appropriate local officials, and in these meetings decide what topics should be given. For example, the community might recently have been plagued with a series of burglaries. In this instance, the instruction would be pointed to techniques of locating and apprehending burglars. The schools are purposive and practical - they are designed to assist officers, now, in their basic problems.

The schools deal with all phases of law enforcement: firearms, laboratory problems, techniques of arrest, crime scene searches, report writing, testifying in court, traffic control. In many instances, over-all programs of instruction are worked out between the FBI and local officers. In the spring, for example, certain topics will be discussed. At a later school, in the autumn, other subjects will be given. In this way, through a series of police schools, the attending officers can benefit from a well-rounded, integrated training program.

The instruction imparted in the Field Police Training Schools is paying dividends to the nation. The participating local officers are putting the knowledge acquired at those schools into practical operation. A sheriff in a western state, for example, credits the training he received in those schools for saving his life. The sheriff received a call that a gasoline plant was being burglarized.

An immediate and comprehensive crime scene search disclosed a fresh tire tread mark in the snow. He traced the tire treads and later located a car on the highway, resembling the description of the thief's vehicle, as given by witnesses. After trailing the car, waiting a favorable opportunity to effect an arrest, the Sheriff maneuvered the criminal car, which contained two occupants, into a traffic box and forced it off the highway. He turned his own car behind the other vehicle, as he had learned in the FBI school, keeping at all times the bandit car in his own headlight beams. In issuing his surrender commands the sheriff led the pair to believe that he was accompanied by fellow officers. He ordered them to come out of the car, hands up, and then handcuffed and searched them before they realized that he was alone. A search of the criminals' car disclosed a loaded .22 rifle in the front seat, together with a long sharp knife and hammer.

This Sheriff demonstrated his high opinion of the FBI police training by handling the administration of his office alone in order to give his deputy the opportunity to attend daily sessions of a two weeks' school sponsored in that locality by the FBI. In addition to permitting his deputy to attend the school, involving a drive of 150 miles each day, the Sheriff recruited other officers from nearby towns to attend.

On another occasion, a police training school, itself, went into action and solved a case. The day a school in a northern state opened, a hit-and-run driver in a truck knocked over 14 roadside mailboxes. The school was given this case as a practical problem. All officers went to the crime scene to search for evidence.

They located broken parts from the truck, and found paint on the mailbox forms. In addition, they took plaster-of-Paris casts of tire treads. Investigation

The FBI's Field Police Training Schools are making local law enforcement more effective. Those schools bring the latest techniques of crime detection, so to speak, to the very front door of the local peace officer. These men are benefiting from this training, and through them society at large is sharing in the dividends by better, more efficient law enforcement.

Re: INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL POLICE COMMISSION
WANTED NOTICES

Dear Sir:

The substance of Bureau letter dated June 15, 1949, has been discussed with the I.C.P.C., and the Bureau's policy regarding the placing of wanted Notices with the Identification Division has been explained.

The Commission points out that the fingerprints they receive from the various member countries, in many cases, are not properly taken, and often leave much to be desired. They are making every effort to have the contributors submit clearer and better fingerprints. However, in the meantime they are, of course, unable to reproduce on their circulars any better prints than they receive. In most cases they receive only one copy of these fingerprints and it is, therefore, not possible to furnish the Bureau an original copy or a photographic reproduction. Incidentally, comparison made personally by the writer between the originals and the copies reproduced on the circulars, shows very little difference.

Regarding the specific request by letter for each placing of a Wanted Notice, the Commission regrets that their limited personnel at the present time makes it impossible to comply with this requirement.

With respect to the prompt notification of the withdrawal of Wanted Notices, the Bureau's attention is called to regular cancellation notices which are sent out periodically along with the Wanted Notices, as well as the cancellation notices which appear on the last page of each issue of the International Criminal Police Review.

The I.C.P.C. desires that only ~~of~~ the circulars bearing the red tab, that is cases in which judicial process is outstanding, should be placed as a Wanted Notice in the ~~of~~ Identification Files. Since these are comparatively few, unless the Bureau advises to the contrary, this office will henceforth request, on behalf of the I.C.P.C. by letter, that Wanted Notices be placed. I shall likewise advise the Bureau by letter when the Notice should be withdrawn.

3 b

In those cases in which the fingerprint pattern is unclear, incomplete or otherwise incapable of being properly classified, no effort will be made to secure a better reproduction, and in these cases no Wanted Notices will be filed.

Re: COMMERCIAL CABLES
INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL POLICE COMMISSION

Dear Sir:

I refer to Bureau letter of June 29, 1949, on the above subject matter.

On numerous occasions since the Bureau discontinued radio communication with the I.C.P.C. network, M. DUCLOUX, Secretary General, as well as M. LOUANGE, President, have made inquiries as to whether the Bureau would be able to re-establish radio communications with the I.C.P.C. Commission.

During my recent trip to Brussels with Assistant Attorney General MORISON, Mr. LOUANGE again broached the subject, and requested me to again urge the Bureau to consider rejoining the I.C.P.C. radio network, and if possible to do so prior to the General Assembly meetings to be held in Bern, Switzerland, next October.

I have been advised that although there is now comparatively little commercial cable traffic between I.C.P.C. headquarters and the Bureau, they have had to resort to air mail for economy reasons, and have also pointed out that the Bureau is now missing out on daily general broadcasts to all members of the radio network. They feel that the number of communications that would be exchanged with the Bureau if facilities were made available, would well justify itself.

In connection with the use of commercial cables, the I.C.P.C. has also requested for the sake of economy and efficiency, that the Bureau register the code word "INTERPOL" as the telegraphic address of the Bureau.

Please advise: "tt" "cc"

For economy purposes, the Bureau desires on certain occasions to transmit reply cables in Bureau code to you for eventual decoding and transmission to the proper officials of the International Criminal Police Commission. It has been found that a considerable financial saving can be accomplished by handling some of the cablegrams in this manner.

There will be instances, however, in which the Bureau will wish to communicate directly with officials of the ICPC. In such instances, and where it is not a matter of confidence requiring the use of a code, the Bureau will continue to employ the open message which will be directed to ICPC officers.

It is appreciated there will be instances when officers of the ICPC will request you to transmit their messages to Washington by use of the Bureau code. As a matter of cooperation, it is believed that you should accommodate such officers when the request seems reasonable and urgent. It is not desired that this privilege be abused. The use of the Bureau's code facilities, when such requests are made, will be a matter of good judgment and discretion on your part.

Attached is the following material:

1. A memorandum from Marian E. Tysse to Mr. McCoy, dated 6/22/49. ✓✓✓
2. A letter from the Bureau to the Legal Attaché at Paris, dated 6/28/49.
3. A memorandum from Mr. L. R. McCoy to Mr. Nichols, dated 6/27/49. ✓

Mr. Tolson attached a routing slip inquiring if the suggestions contained in the attached material are okay.

This matter has been studied by Mr. K. R. McIntire and Mr. Nathan L. Ferris of the Security Division, who is in charge of the Foreign Service Desk which handles substantially all of the cablegrams which are transmitted to the International Criminal Police Commission in Paris, France. Messrs. Ferris and McIntire are opposed to the suggestion that all Bureau cablegrams to the ICPC in Paris be encoded and transmitted to the Legal Attaché for decoding and personal transmission to the appropriate officials of the ICPC.

This opposition is based upon the following:

1. There will be instances in the future when Mr. Hoover will wish to communicate directly with the officials of ICPC in Paris without going through an intermediary, such as our Legal Attaché.
2. There have been in the past, and undoubtedly will be in the future, instances involving criminal matters in which time is of the essence. In the past the Bureau has received inquiries for criminal data concerning international criminals and has found it highly advisable to send a cablegram directly to the ICPC via open message by commercial facilities. Had we utilized the code and the services of the Legal Attaché, there would have been a loss in time which would have shown an improper appreciation of the importance of the criminal matter in which the ICPC was interested. It is the feeling of Messrs. Ferris and McIntire that we should not be bound by any inflexible rules in our cablegram correspondence with ICPC.

Furthermore, we would not wish to restrict Mr. Horton Telford, our Legal Attaché, to any rule which would prohibit him from sending confidential messages of the ICPC to the Bureau in the Bureau's code. There are instances when, as a matter of cooperation, he would desire to honor such requests by the proper officials of the ICPC.

We have no intention that Mr. Telford would abuse the privilege of utilizing the Bureau's code system in transmitting innumerable messages to Washington on behalf of the ICPC. Accordingly, an injunction against such an abuse is contained in the attached suggested letter to be transmitted to Mr. Telford.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. That the Bureau's code and the Legal Attaché in Paris be utilized at the discretion of the supervisor and the division preparing the cablegram.
2. That, where it appears desirable, messages may be sent openly rather than in code and directly to I.C.P.C.
3. That Mr. Telford be permitted a reasonable use of the Bureau's coding facilities to transmit to Washington occasional messages of the ICPC.

You will recall that as part of the police cooperation program the Bureau has occasion to send urgent cables to the International Criminal Police Commission in Paris, France in answer to inquiries from that organization. Previously, such wires were handled by the special TIC radio circuit which has since been discontinued. At present it is the practice of the Bureau to send such wires to the above police organization by commercial cable in open text when an expedite answer by cable is requested by the ICPC. If cable reply is not specifically requested, such inquiries are answered by air mail.

All cables to foreign countries are sent directly to the police commissions in clear text in foreign countries where the Bureau does not have a Legal Attaché assigned. In other countries, with the exception of France, all police liaison matters are handled through the Legal Attaché. However, cables to the police commission in Paris are sent directly in an open text and are charged at full rate by the commercial companies.

For example: Reference is made to Bureau cable to INTERPOL, PARIS dated May 28, 1949, transmitting information regarding one OBERLANDER. Cable charges for the above wire were $40.50 (143 words at approximately 28¢ per word). It has been estimated by the writer that if this same wire had been put into Bureau Code and sent to the Legal Attaché, Paris at the code rate, charges on this same cable would have been no more than $20.00 (12¢ per word).

It is realized by the writer that there are two factors which should be given full consideration in the weighing of this suggestion: (1) Coding of such wires would entail extra work on the part of the Legal Attaché in Paris and at the Bureau; and (2) The possibility exists that the ICPC would use the same method of sending their inquiries to the Bureau through the Legal Attaché, in which case the Bureau would be paying for cable service both ways. With reference to the first consideration, it has been noted that an average of only three to four cables are transmitted to INTERPOL, PARIS each month, and it is not believed that the extra work involved would place a burden on either the Bureau or the Legal Attaché's office.

It is suggested, therefore, that cables for INTERPOL, PARIS be transmitted to the Legal Attaché's office in Paris, France in Bureau code. The Legal Attaché would then decode and forward such cables to the International Criminal Police Commission in Paris.

RECORDED - 110 94-1-3161-

It is believed by the writer that the cost of transmitting such cables would be cut approximately in half, and it is estimated that monthly savings to the Bureau would amount to approximately $25.00.

Attached is a memorandum from Miss Marian E. Tyese, Coding Unit Supervisor, suggesting that the Bureau consider the feasibility of sending commercial cables to the Police Commission in Paris in coded form through the Bureau's Legal Attaché instead of directly to the Police Commission in clear text as at present.

With the suggested procedure a cable could be sent under the code rate (12¢ per word) rather than at full rate (23¢ per word) or an estimated monthly savings of approximately $25.00 on police traffic to Paris.

An appropriate letter to the Legal Attaché in Paris is attached with instructions to the Legal Attaché to not accept the cost for incoming traffic from the Police Commission in Paris.

RECOMMENDATION: Upon approval it is recommended that the attached letter be forwarded to the Legal Attaché in Paris and that an appropriate letter be directed to Miss Tyese thanking her for the suggestion. (attached)

PARIS,
The Secretary General of the International Criminal Police Commission, to The Chiefs of the National Central Bureaus.

Subject : Re : the telegraphic address "INTERPOL".

When the 16th General Meeting was held in PARIS, in 1947 the International Criminal Police Commission adopted a Resolution recommending "all the National Central Bureaus to use the telegraphic address : "INTERPOL", followed by the name of the locality".

Many of them, belonging or not to the Police radio network, have put the Resolution into practice, resulting in the considerable facility of international transmissions.

Certain Bureaus, however, are only using this call-sign for the stations on the international Police network and have not had this address registered with the Postal Authorities.

The following serious inconvenience has resulted :

When the I.C.P.C. radio network station has a breakdown or is closed, the telegram is sent through the ordinary postal service and is returned to the sender endorsed : "Address unknown".

So as to enable the Resolution adopted to attain maximum efficiency, I should be grateful if you would kindly take the necessary steps, as soon as possible, if this is not already done, to have the address "INTERPOL" (followed by the name of the locality) registered with the Postal Authorities of your Country, as the official telegraphic address of your Central Bureau.

U.S. 522

I consider that the application of this Resolution is of the greatest importance in order to facilitate international relations and I have no doubt that you will do everything possible to follow up my suggestion.

IMPORTANT

Le Secrétaire Général de la Commission Internationale de Police Criminelle, à Messieurs les Chefs des Bureaux Centraux Nationaux.

Objet : Au sujet de l'adresse télégraphique "INTERPOL".

Lors de la 16ème Assemblée Générale à PARIS en 1947, la C.I.P.C. a adopté une Résolution recommandant "à tous les Bureaux Centraux Nationaux, d'adopter l'adresse télégraphique "INTERPOL" suivie du nom de la localité".

Plusieurs d'entre eux appartenant ou non au réseau radio-électrique de police ont mis en pratique cette résolution, et il en est résulté les plus grandes facilités dans les transmissions internationales.

Certains bureaux n'ont cependant utilisé cet indicatif que pour les stations du réseau international de police, et n'ont pas fait enregistrer cette adresse auprès de l'Administration des Postes.

Il en résulte le grave inconvénient suivant :

En cas de panne ou de fermeture de la station du réseau radio-électrique de la C.I.P.C., le télégramme est acheminé par la voie postale ordinaire et est retourné à l'expéditeur avec mention "Adresse inconnue".

Afin de donner à la résolution adoptée toute son officialité, je vous serais reconnaissant de vouloir bien intervenir, le plus rapidement qu'il vous sera possible, si ce n'est déjà fait, pour faire enregistrer auprès de l'Administration des Postes de votre Pays l'adresse "INTERPOL" (suivie du nom de la localité) comme l'adresse officielle télégraphique de votre Bureau Central.

Je considère que l'application de cette Résolution est de la plus haute importance pour faciliter les rapports internationaux, et je ne doute pas que vous ferez tout ce qui est en votre pouvoir pour suivre ma suggestion.

When the original information was received regarding that conference, this Bureau transmitted to you a request from the International Criminal Police Commission for specimens to be included in the "International Museum of Forgeries." On your advice, it was suggested to the ICPC that such requests for specimens might be transmitted directly to Mr. Guy Spaman, the Treasury representative, U. S. Embassy, Paris, France.

Office Memorandum • UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO : MR. TRACY

DATE: March 16, 1949

FROM : W. W. Promwell

SUBJECT: INTERNATIONAL COMMISSION OF CRIMINAL POLICE - WANTED NOTICES

On March 11, 1949, the Executive Conference took up the question of procedure in the handling of inquiries from the International Commission of Criminal Police, Paris, France. At that time, it was decided that requests for wanted notices received from the International Commission of Criminal Police shall be referred to the Foreign Liaison Desk of the Securities Division for a decision as to whether or not the wanted notice shall be placed. There has come to mind several points involving the handling of wanted notices from foreign countries and I feel they should be brought to the Bureau's attention.

In order for a wanted notice to be effective for other than showing the location of a subject that is wanted, the crime for which the subject is wanted must be one on which a treaty exists between the United States and the foreign country covering extradition. Otherwise, the subject could not be extradited, even if located. I believe that if a treaty does exist which pertains to the crime in question, that the Bureau would have jurisdiction to investigate with a view of locating the subject in this country with the possible exception of narcotic, and counterfeiting violations. With this in mind, the Bureau should decide upon a policy as to whether or not it desires to investigate such cases where we have a legal right to do so. This legal right, of course, would depend upon the type of crime involved, and whether or not a treaty exists. This question could be submitted to the Criminal Division of the Department for a ruling.

If it is decided that in cases where we have jurisdiction, the Bureau will investigate, I would recommend that correspondence be had with the foreign government requiring them to follow the necessary steps and through the prescribed channels in order to receive Bureau assistance. This would usually be done by having a copy of the warrant submitted through the foreign government's consul to its representative in Washington, D. C. If, on the other hand, the Bureau decides that it does not desire to investigate cases even where we have jurisdiction, I believe such communication should be set up advising the foreign government that only "location desired" notices will be placed in our fingerprint files, and that they will be advised by letter of any arrest or information coming to the Bureau's attention, and that the law enforcement agency submitting the information as to the location of the subject will be informed of the foreign government's interest.

Dear Monsieur Ducloux:

I wish to acknowledge receipt of your kind letter of June 2, 1949, which you forwarded through Mr. Norton Telford, inviting me to attend the 18th General Assembly of the International Criminal Police Commission, which will be held in Bern, Switzerland, from October 10 to 15, 1949.

I fully appreciate the important work which is to be done by the 18th General Assembly, and I wish that I could personally participate in those meetings. I regret very much that the pressure of my work here and the commitments which I have already made for the month of October will prevent my attending. I have designated Mr. Telford, however, to attend those meetings in my stead.

With kindest regards and best wishes for the success of the 18th General Assembly, I am,

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I am enclosing a letter just received from M. Ducloux, Secretary General of the International Criminal Police Commission, which translates as follows:

"Dear Mr. Vice President,

By this letter I wish to call to your attention that our 18th General Assembly will be held at Bern, Switzerland from October 10 to 15, 1949. I have the honor to cordially invite you to take part in these meetings, or, in case it will be impossible for you to attend personally, to send a representative.

I am well aware of the heavy responsibilities which are yours, but want you to know how pleased we shall be if you find it possible to participate personally in our work.

An official invitation extended to your Government by the Swiss authorities will reach you soon by diplomatic channels. I have no doubt that you will see fit to reserve a favorable reply to this invitation.

attend the meetings at Bern. They consider our country the most important member of the Commission and sincerely feel that your presence would be the greatest event in the history of the International Criminal Police Commission since its reorganization in 1946.

Apart from the General Assembly meetings in Bern, which would give you an opportunity to meet European and other high police officials, and to observe at first hand the work of the International Criminal Police Commission, I am sure that you would enjoy a visit of some of the other European capitals. I should be only too pleased to organize a tour for you to visit, for example, London, Brussels, The Hague, Paris, and Rome, besides Bern, which could easily be done by plane within two weeks time, allowing one to three days in each place. This trip, I am sure, you would find most interesting and profitable.

In addition to yourself, it has been suggested by M. Ducoux that Mr. Belmont of the New York Office participate in the Bern meetings as a member of the American delegation, in connection with his liaison work for the International Criminal Police Commission at the United Nations.

Sincerely yours,

NORTON R. TELFORD

Re: INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL POLICE COMMISSION

Dear Sir:

I am in receipt of the attached letter from M. Ducloix,
Secretary General of the I.C.P.C. which translates as follows:

"My dear Mr. Vice President,

By this same mail, I have addressed to you an invitation to participate in our next General Assembly.

At this time, I should like to call to your attention the extraordinary position with which the Commission finds itself confronted with respect to the Secret Service on the one hand, and the Narcotics Bureau on the other.

These two police services, independent but both under the Treasury Department, have occasion, not infrequently, to refer to our Commission, and, although you are the only official representative of the United States to our organization, I have thought of proposing to Mr.
Baughman, Chief of the Secret Service, and to Mr. Anslinger, Commissioner of the Narcotics Bureau, that they send observers to our next meetings in Bern.

These observers, if sent, could collaborate especially with the Sub-Commissions specializing in counterfeiting and narcotics.

Not wishing to do anything whatsoever about this matter without your complete accord and consent, I should be most grateful if you could give me, as soon as possible, your reaction to this suggestion.

Believe me, my dear Vice President, in the assurance of my best wishes.

Very truly yours,
M. Ducloix
Secretary General

Director, FBI

Re: I.C.P.C.

With regard to the work of the I.C.P.C. Sub-Commission on Counterfeiting and Forgeries, the vast majority of their cases involve U. S. currencies due to its great value and ready sale. As the Bureau is aware, the Secret Service now has an agent assigned to the Embassy in Paris. He is Guy Spaman, formerly assigned to their office in Detroit, and was also on the White House detail during part of the tenure of President Roosevelt. He knows a number of Bureau agents, has cooperated fully with the writer on matters of mutual interest, and is very friendly to the Bureau.

There is no Bureau of Narcotics representative regularly assigned here, although they come to Paris occasionally on special cases.

As stated in the above quoted letter, the purpose of inviting representatives of these two services to the Bern meetings as observers is to enable them to consult with the members of the Sub-Commission on counterfeiting and Narcotics, as direct representatives of their services, which the Bureau is not able to do.

Very truly yours,

HORTON R. TELFORD
Legal Attaché

Mon Cher Vice-Président,

Par ce même courrier, je vous adresse une invitation pour p ticiper à notre prochaine Assemblée Générale.

A cette occasion, je voudrais vous signaler la situation pa culière dans laquelle se trouve à regard de la Commission, le Se cret Service d'une part, et le Bureau of Narcotic d'autre part.

Ces deux Services indépendants et rattachés au Treasury De partment ont l'occasion d'avoir assez fréquemment recours à notre Commission et, bien que vous soyez le seul représentant officiel c U.S.A. au sein de notre Organisation, j'avais envisagé de proposer à Monsieur le Chef du Secret Service BAUGHMAN et à M. le Commissio of Narcotic ANSLINGER d'envoyer des observateurs à notre prochaine réunion.

Ces observateurs pourraient en particulier travailler dans les sous-Commissions spécialisées de faux monnayage d'une part, et de stupéfiants d'autre part.

Ne désirant rien faire en ce sens sans avoir votre accord plet, je vous serais reconnaissant de vouloir bien me donner, le j rapidement possible, votre avis sur cette suggestion.

Veuillez croire, mon Cher Vice-Président, à l'assurance de mes sentiments les plus amicaux.

SUBJECT : Préparations pour une Conférence des National Central Offices pour la suppression de la contrefaçon et "International Museum of Counterfeits and Forgeries".

Gentlemen,

It gives me pleasure to refer to a letter which was sent to you in the course of March 1949, which I recalled the provisions of Article 15 of the GENEVA Convention of 20th April 1929 concerning the Conferences of the National Central Offices. In this correspondence, I requested you to be good enough to forward to this Office the information and documents which are necessary for the preparation of such a Meeting and the setting up of an International Museum of Counterfeits and Forgeries.

In the same letter, it was specified that the Conference provided for by the International Conventions could take place in THE HAGUE on the 9th, 10th and 11th June 1949.

Unfortunately, the agreement which was to be concluded between the Authorities entrusted with the task of organizing this Conference and the U.N.O. could not be reached within the required time, so the Executive Committee of the I.C.P.C. deemed it advisable to postpone the Conference of the National Central Offices for the suppression of the counterfeiting of currency to a later date, instead of convening such a large meeting on such an important question, without having made sufficient preparation for its success.

This being so, I beg to inform you that the Conference which was to be held from 9th to 11th June 1949, in THE HAGUE in connection with the counterfeiting of currency will, in principle, hold its meetings in the course of the year 1950, at a date which will be communicated to you later on.

I should, however, be grateful to you if you would be good enough to continue to send me to this Office the documents which I asked for in my preceding letter and which are most indispensable to OBJET : Préparation d'une Conférence des Offices Centraux Nationaux pour la répression du faux monnayage et "Musée International des faux".

Messieurs,

Par une lettre qui vous a été adressée dans le courant du mois de Mars 1949, j'ai eu l'honneur vous rappeler les dispositions de l'article 15 de la Convention de GENEVE du 20 Avril 1929, au sujet Conférences des Offices Centraux Nationaux, et je vous demandais de vouloir bien me faire parvenir documents nécessaires à la préparation d'une telle Conférence ainsi qu'à la mise en place d'un Musée International des faux.

Dans cette même lettre, il était envisagé que la Conférence prévue par les Conventions Internationales pourrait se réunir les 9, 10, 11 Juin 1949 à LA HAYE.

L'accord à intervenir entre les Autorités chargées d'organiser cette Conférence et l'O.N.U. n'a heureusement pas pu intervenir dans les délais escomptés et le Comité Exécutif de la C.I.P.C. a pré reporté la Conférence des Offices Centraux Nationaux pour la répression du faux monnayage à une date ultérieure plus tard que d'engager, dans des conditions de préparations insuffisantes, une réunion aussi importante sur un sujet aussi important.

Dans ces conditions, j'ai l'honneur de vous faire connaître que la Conférence prévue pour les 9, 10, 11 Juin 1949 à LA HAYE sur le faux monnayage se tiendra en principe dans le courant de l'année 1950 une date qui vous sera précisée ultérieurement.

Je vous serais, cependant, reconnaissant de vouloir bien continuer à m'adresser la documentation demandée par ma précédente lettre, documentation qui demeure indispensable.

Veuillez agréger, Messieurs, l'assurance de ma considération distinguée.

Mr. Secretary:

The International Commission of Criminal Police, at the time of its last Congress at Prague in 1948, decided to hold its General Assembly at Berne during the period of October 10 to 15, 1949.

By order of my Government, I have the honor to invite the Government of the United States to be represented at this meeting.

I take the liberty of calling your attention to the fact that the International Commission of Criminal Police would like to see appointed first of all, as official delegates, those persons who already participated in either the Paris Congress in 1947 or the one at Prague in 1948. There is attached herewith the name of the American representative at these meetings.

The final agenda of the General Assembly of the International Commission of Criminal Police will be transmitted later to the delegates who are appointed.

At the Seventeenth Session, of the International Criminal Police Commission September 6 to 10, 1948, in Prague, Czechoslovakia, among others a resolution was presented relative to International Extradition. It was recommended that the delegates present such resolution to their respective governments in the interest of adopting a new and revised system of extradition. No Bureau Representative attended the Session but the Legal Attache in Paris was furnished with the convention proceedings.

The resolution on extradition was presented to the Attorney General for review and comment and in reply Mr. Peyton Ford, the Assistant to the Attorney General exhibited a memorandum suggesting that no consideration be given to the adoption of the proposed plan at this time. It also pointed out that the resolution presents many radical departures from our present laws and made reference to several of such.

Attached hereto is a memorandum briefly summarizing the resolution and setting out such observations as were made in the Department's reply. Attached also is a letter to the SECRETARY-GENERAL OF THE INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL POLICE COMMISSION submitting several general observations made by the Department.

During the above general assembly of the International Criminal Police Commission, Resolution #6 was adopted relating to Extradition. The purpose behind this resolution was to unify the rules and to suggest a new procedure in International Extradition. The plan itself was partly the result of studies given to the subject of extradition by State International bodies, organizations and commissions. Upon receipt of an English translation of the resolution covering the planned procedure the same was submitted to the Department for its review and comment. The Department pointed out in its answer that the ICPC plan presented very many radical departures from our present extradition laws and treaties and made reference to several of such. There will be set out hereafter a summarization of the ICPC plan, together with the Departmental comment. In the summarization, the words "requesting state" will be used to designate the country where the criminal is wanted. The words, "requested state" will be used to designate the country of asylum.

The preface of the plan points out that the diversity of national legislation often constitutes an obstacle to mutual aid in the war against crime. There is then recited a history of the plan for an agreement concerning extradition, about which no comment will be made herein. There is then reviewed the subject of individuals liable to extradition, offenses punishable by extradition, procedure of extradition, and sundry matters.

Memorandum for Mr. Ladd

In connection with the foregoing part of the plan entitled "Conditions of Extradition", the Department has commented that the proposed plan does not contain an enumerated list of extraditable offenses as do our present treaties. The basing of extraditable offenses on the sentence imposed or imposable will greatly widen the field of extraditable offenses because the present treaties, for the most part, cover only major crimes or the more serious offenses.

The general policy under present treaties is that no country shall be bound to surrender its own citizens. In connection with Article 16 that if a national is not surrendered by his country, the requested state must prosecute him at the demand of the requesting state. The Department points out that while there may be no jurisdictional obstacle this government should be permitted to make its own determination with respect to prosecutions to be brought against its nationals who commit offenses abroad. The second section of the plan, "B. Extradition Procedure", provides in Article 20 that the request for extradition is to be sent by the Minister of Justice of the requesting state to the Minister of Justice of the state of asylum, and by common consent there may be substituted a superior administrative authority. This does away with diplomatic intervention.

In connection with this section of the plan, the Department has commented that what action is to be taken after the accused's arrest and what the procedure is are not entirely clear.

A later article provides that the arrest should be carried out in accordance with the principles of the requested country, and a further article contains the indefinite statement that, except where the treaty ordains otherwise, rules of procedure as to extradition are subject to the prerogative of the requested state.

Under present procedure, the Extradition Statute, Title 18, U. S. Code, Section 3184, provides that a complaint shall be filed for the warrant of arrest, and if the fugitive is arrested, he shall be brought before the magistrate issuing the warrant. If he is held, the magistrate so certifies to the Secretary of State who has a Presidential warrant issued for the fugitive's surrender to the demanding country. This is not contemplated in the ICPC plan as its purpose is to avoid diplomatic channels and act through the respective Ministries of Justice.

The present procedure of handling extradition through diplomatic channels is of long standing and is recognized in all our extradition treaties. The Department further commented relative to preventative arrest that it is not necessary under the present procedure that the original request for extradition be made through the State Department as provisional arrest can now be accomplished on telegraphic request. A foreign government may direct a consular officer to apply for an arrest warrant. The Department adds that the proposed plan would appear to place too much power in the International Police and their representatives to pass on the arrest and extradition of a fugitive without sufficient check by a magistrate and the State Department. The proposed plan would render our present extradition treaties inoperative and require a change in our laws. In this regard, the Department suggests that it probably would be more practicable to amend such of the present treaties as may be deemed inadequate. The Department suggests that no consideration be given to the adoption of the proposed plan at this time, and before such a radical change is made, it would appear that the matter should be given further study by a more representative convention composed of delegates from the principal countries concerned.

No Bureau representative attended the general assembly because it was held in a Russian satellite nation. The resolution covering the agreement recommended to the delegates present that they inform their respective Governments of the draft of the plan of agreement.

Memorandum for Mr. Ladd

RECOMMENDATION

Attached hereto is a letter to the Legal Attaché, Paris, France setting out only several of the comments made by the Department which seem pertinent at this time to this matter.

Your attention is called to the contents of circular "Extra/200" of the 11th of March 1949 relative to the Project of the General Convention on Extradition, the draft of which was accepted by the General Assembly at PRAGUE (September 1948).

It was pointed out in this circular that the I.C.P.C. attached great importance to the reception that was given by the judicial authorities of your country to the use of the wanted bulletins or diffusions originating from the International Bureau as documents which could be considered as official notice of arrest and notice of the procedure of preventative arrest that is implied.

According to the information that has reached this office, certain countries have already responded favorably to our proposition and have taken certain steps in order to facilitate the accomplishment of the proposed procedure.

In order to prepare a general report on this question, I should greatly appreciate having your reply as soon as it is convenient for you to send it.

Subject: SEVENTEENTH SESSION
INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL POLICE COMMISSION
HELD AT PRAGUE September 6 to 10, 1948
EXTRADITION

You will recall that at the Seventeenth Session of the International Criminal Police Commission, September 6 to 10, 1948, in Prague, Czechoslovakia, among others, a resolution was presented relative to International Extradition. It was recommended that such resolution be presented by the delegates present to their Governments in the interest of adopting a new and revised system of extradition. The resolution, as furnished by you, was presented to the Attorney General for review and comment, and in reply it was pointed out that the resolution presents many radical departures from our present laws, reference being made to several of such. In concluding the Department suggested that no consideration be given to the adoption of the proposed plan at this time.

The proposed plan will greatly widen the field of extraditable offenses, because the present treaties, for the most part, cover only major crimes or the more serious offenses. The general policy under present treaties is that no country shall be bound to surrender its own citizens. Article 4 of the Plan provides that the contracting states will not extradite their own nationals, unless they are considered "a danger to the social community". If a national is not surrendered the requested state must, if possible, according to its own laws, prosecute and sentence him at the demand of the requesting state. This Government should be permitted to make its own determination with respect to prosecutions to be brought against its nationals who commit offenses abroad. What action is to be taken after the accused's arrest and what the procedure is are not entirely clear. Articles 27 and 31 state that when a wanted person is found in another country he shall be interrogated to determine if he is the person sought for arrest and extradition. Article 22 provides that the arrest shall be carried out in accordance with the principles of the requested country, and Article 32
