NOTE:

Department intervened in suit alleging Negroes not afforded equal legal representation thereby denying them equal protection of laws. As a result of the Department's intervention in suit they requested the interviewing of 48 attorneys to determine numerous items including their personal background, the extent of their law practice and the attorneys' willingness to represent Negroes in civil rights and constitutional issues. Investigation was ordered.

Department now requests that an attorney in Chicago be interviewed as it is alleged that he had sever! times unsuccessfully applied for admission to the Louisiana Bar during the 1940's.

AT NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA. Will interview in line with request of Civil Rights Division, U. S. Department of Justice.

ADMINISTRATIVE:

All persons contacted were advised that investigation was being conducted at the specific request of Assistant Attorney General JOHN DOAR, Civil Rights Division, U. S. Department of Justice, Washington, D. C.

In some instances interview was conducted by only one Special Agent since only one Special Agent was available at the time of interview.

On December 18, 1967, OWEN FISS, Special Agent, Civil Rights Division, New Orleans, La., telephonically contacted the New Orleans Division and requested the results of contacts made to date of call be submitted and other remaining interviews be submitted at a later date.

Department has confirmed request of their Attorney Hugh W. Fleischer at New Orleans to have Bureau Agents available at the Office of the Louisiana State Bar Association, New Orleans, at 9:00 a.m., January 16, 1968, for the purpose of photographing documents. Department attorney will be present during the photographing. These photographs will be introduced into evidence in a trial beginning January 22, 1968.

Department is requesting three copies of these photographs in order that one copy may be provided to the Louisiana State Bar Association. Department has advised that the Louisiana State Bar Association has intervened in this case in behalf of the defendants, and in preface to the photographing of the documents of the Association, the Department agreed to furnish a copy of all photographs taken of the Bar Association records to them.

You should insure that all steps were taken to produce quality photographs in accordance with established procedures.

NOTE:

Richard B. Sobol of Washington, D. C., who is not licensed as an attorney in Louisiana, has in the past represented Negroes and civil rights workers in that state. Because of this, Plaquemines Parish authorities arrested Sobol, charging him with the unauthorized practices of law. Sobol, by action in Federal court, is challenging this prosecution by Perez and Louisiana authorities.

The Department has intervened contending that the purpose of the prosecution by local authorities was to deter Sobol and other out-of-town attorneys from representing Negroes in Plaquemines Parish in cases involving constitutional and civil rights. Since Negroes are less able to secure adequate representation in such cases the Department contends this amounts to a denial of equal protection of the law guaranteed by the 14th Amendment.

The Department has requested investigation concerning attorneys licensed to practice in Plaquemines Parish, including their personal backgrounds and their willingness to represent Negroes. Recently, the Department made arrangments with the Louisiana Bar Association for the photographing of records concerning disbarment proceedings. These records are to be reviewed by the Department in preparing its case concerning discrimination against Negro attorneys preparing its case concerning discrimination against Negro attorneys those willing to assist in the defense of Negroes and others on civil rights issues.

This matter discussed with Departmental Attorney Robert Moore on 1/16/68 and he advised the necessity of furnishing a copy to the Bar Association which was a result of an agreement between the Department and Bar Association representatives. Mr. Moore stated that the only way the Bar Association would permit the photographing of the records was a stipulation that they be provided with a copy and this would obviate a stipulation that they be provided with a copy and this would obviate the necessity of a court order. Time would not permit the obtaining of a court order according to Mr. Moore. Mr. Moore further advised that approximately 200 frames are involved in this photographing and this does not appear to be any reason for not furnishing an extra copy to the Department.

Two New Orleans lawyers have testified in federal court that there is a need for outof-state attorneys to handle Louisiana civil rights cases.

This was the testimony yesterday of Benjamin E. Smith and John Nelson, white at-torneys who added that they have been harassed in connection with their handing of civil rights cases.

THE TWO were test trying in the case of Richard Sobol, a Washington, D. C., allorney tive in civil rights work here for the past year and a half. Sobol has been staff counsel for the Lawyers Constitutional Defense Committee, a civil rights group.

Sobol is attacking on constitutional grounds the Louisiana law governing legal practice, and is suing Plaquemines Parish officials to prevent being prosecuted on a charge of practicing without a license.

A SPECIAL three-judge court, composed of Judge Robert A. Ainsworth Jr. of the United States Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals and District Judges Frederick J. R. Heebe and Fred Cassibry, is hearing the case.

Plaquemines officials had arrested Sobol last January as he left the parish courthouse. The attorney had been conferring with Judge Eugene Leon of the 25th Judicial Distric about an appeal for Gary Dun can, a Negro convicted of simple battery.

SMITH TOLD the court yesterday that he and his family have been harassed by hate letfers and crank phone calls. He rights are generally unable to obtain competent legal aid in rural communities.

He testified that many Negroes distrust white lawyers, identifying them with law enforcement and management interests.

SMITH SAID that he has handled civil rights cases since 1954 in Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi, adding that he is not licensed to practice in Alabama or Mississippi.

Nelson concurred with Smith's remarks and both of the men said that there is a need for Sobol's work in Louisiana.

The court recessed yesterday and will resume Monday. The case is expected to continue through next week:

He added that it would 'be about the end" of civil rights work.

Sobol's attorney is seeking to show that there are an inadequate number of Louisiana attorneys willing to do civil rights work and his opponents claim that Negroes are adequately represented by attorneys licensed to practice here

Duncan, a resident of Boothville, described the incident which led to his arrest, claiming that he went to the assistance of his two nephews who were being harassed by four white youths.

SOBON'S ASSISTANCE

He said that Sobol's assistance was obtained by his mother and father and that he never intended to get a lawyer from Plaquemines Parish "because all he would have done is to get me to plead guilty."

Duncan's conviction is now on appeal before the United States Supreme Court.

During his morning testimony Nelson told of his efforts to organize a Southern Lawyers Legal Defense Fund which he said would have allowed attorneys in the South to act independently without influence from any organization.

He asserted, on questioning by Bronstein, that it was his idea to develop a board to subsidize those attorneys who wanted to handle civil rights cases without interference from outside

Nelson said that these efforts met with little success but later at a meeting of a local bar group he asked that the organization develop a symposium for attorneys to discuss "direct action and passive resistance" which he termed civil rights action.

DROPPED FROM GROUP He said that this meeting was in December of 1963, and on the following how he was notified membership in the organization for being with his dues.

Relating other efforts along these lines, the attorney asserted that after the 1964 Civil Rights Act was passed he went to Leon Sarpy, a former president of the Louisiana State Bar Association, to discuss a program for the bar to volunteer attorneys for civil rights work but heard nothing more about his suggestion. He added that he then made no further efforts to involve Louisiana lawyers in civil rights matters. "I realize that no lawyer has to handle a case, but I thought that the profession in Louisiana did not fulfill what I thought to be a responsibility to create an environment for a lawyer who wanted to take one of these cases without the fantastic pressures brought on him, particularly the white lawyer,"

Nelson asserted. In answer to further questioning by Bronstein, Nelson voiced the opinion, based on what he said were discussions with Negroes and civil rights workers, that the average Negro in the state has no confidence in the merits of his cause and as a result the Negroes stay away from white lawyers when civil rights issues are involved.

He also expressed the opinion that Sobol's arrest in Plaquemines Parish would deter other white attorneys from handling similar cases in that parish and would also deter Negroes from seeking white attorneys.

Questioned under cross examination by Provensal, the attorney admitted that he has been treated cordially when he practices in Plaquemines and that white attorneys in the New Orleans area will raise all constitutional questions in defense of Negro clients.

He also admitted that he has never submitted to the House of Delegates of the Louisiana State Bar Association any proposal for an organization such as the type he described on his direct examination.

He added that in one instance he proposed that the bar set up a legal aid office in the Ninth Ward after Hibricane Betsy. Nelson claimed that the LSBA has refused to cooperate in the operation of the New Orleans Legal Assistance Corporation, an organization set up under auspices of the Office of Economic Opportunity, and added "the bar generally in Louisiana has abdicated any leadership in any way it affected the Negro's quest for equality."

He told the court that in his opinion the state bar has not actively opposed NOLAC but is not cooperating.

SIX LAYMEN ON BOARD Asked by Sessions if this is not because the organization is under lay control, Nelson replied that as a matter of fact the organization is not under lay control, having six laymen out of 21 members on the board of directors.

Nelson charged that the idea of lay people on the board is "a cloak" the LSBA is using.

Sessions sought to show that in his evaluation Nelson has But he added, "I do not know not taken into consideration any that they will raise issues of of the legal limitations on the state action as it regards the LSBA's ability to do certain things.

Claims Rights

The presence of out-of-state attorneys has helped prevent prosecution of civil rights workers in Louisiana, a Washington, D. C. lawyer tertiled today. A Richard B. Sobol, a civil rights attorney, took the stand today in his federal district court suit to enjoin Plaquemines Parish authorities from prosecuting him for practicing law without a license.

HE WAS questioned by Cicero Sessions, attorney for the Louisiana Bar Association, which has intervened on behalf of the defense. Sbol said "those persons who might prosecute a civil rights worker are less likely to do so if they know those individuals will have adequate representation."

Sobol said under questioning he sent telegrams to television stations asking equal time to answer Gov. John J. McKeithen's criticism of civil rights marchers in Bogalusa last year.

SESSIONS ALSO delved into the matter of the funding of Lawyers Constitutional Defense Committee, which has sent lawyers into the South since 1964. Sobol said he knew of foundations, including the Ford and the Field foundations, which had contributed but that he had no access to lists of all donors.

Alvin J. Bronstein, Sobol's attorney, objected to the question being pursued into the list of individual donors because if rience in trying criminal cases. Louisiana contributors appeared there might be reprisal against them in the state.

Rights Deposition Shows Perez

By Jack Nelson

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 28
— Hollywood could hardly come up with two more appropriate adversaries — Alvin J. Bronstein, 39, handsome, dark-haired civil rights attorney from New York, and Judge Leander H. Perez Sr., 76, of Plaquemines
Parish, La., a distinguishedlooking, gray-haired political boss and old school segregationist.

They faced each other across a conference table, Bronstein with a legal pad loaded with questions, Perez puffing on a cigar and peering through light-rimmed glasses. From their encounter emerged a story of one man's iron-fisted domination of a parish (county) government for more than 40 years -a story of his influence on Louisiana politics and his unyielding opposition to the Federal Government in the civil rights movement.

Bronstein was taking a deposition from Perez for use in a Federal court suit challenging the right of Plaquemines and the State officials to prohibit out-of-state lawyers from representing Negroes and civil rights workers in Louisiana courts. The trial of the case before a three-judge court resumes here Monday.

resumes here Monday.

After the taking of the deposition, another civil rights attorney commented. "You have to disagree with Perez almost completely, but you can grudgingly admire his blunt talk. He's honeat about his bigotry."

Bronstein, formerly chief counsel of the Lawyers 10. Constitutional Defense Committee and now a fellow at the Institute of Politics at Harvard University Kennedy School of Government, began the questioning of Perez by introducing himself and the plainties in the Sobol is a young civil rights attorney from Washington and New York who had been arrested in Plaquemines Parish for "unauthorized practice of law." "Soboloff and Bronstein," Perez snorted, "it sounds like Russian to me."

Perez not only acknowledged but boasted of his political powers. He was elected Plaquemines' first judge in 1920 and later became district attorney, and president of the Parish Council—posts now held by his sons.

Perez, a millionaire and perhaps the parish's wealth-iest landowner, declared he had set up the parish's fiscal policy and Plaquemines had the lowest tax rate in the State. He has made the parish's law, interpreted it and enforced it.

For two decades he has directed the Plaquemines Democratic Executive Committee and he often has had control or strong influence over the state committee. He says he has "written hundreds of bills for the Legislature" and calls himself the legislators' "unofficial adviser."

As Parish Council president, Perez pushed through an order prohibiting demonstrations of more than 14 people without a permit. He proudly noted that no one has applied for a permit "and we have not had any such demonstrations."

Bronstein asked Perez about the Council's purchase of an old fort (Ft. St. Phillip) on the Mississippi River for use as a stockade to imprison any civil rights workers who might venture into Plaquemines.

"Yes, of course," was the reply, "because we felt that our jails were not large enough to accommodate the large number of demonstrators... that visited other places. So we prepared for them.

To reach Pointe a la Hache, the parish seat, by one route it is necessary to cross the Mississippi by ferry. Bronstein asked Perez if had once told someone, "If Martin Luther King comes in, we'll guarantee his transportation across the river—part way that is."

"Possibly," Perez said.
"Hey, are you defending Martin Luther King? Is he
one of your idols?"

At another point, Bronstein asked about the adoption of a parish ordinance requiring that itinerant workers be fingerprinted.

"There was an influx of many hundreds . . . thousands of itinerant laborers. There were a number of undesirable characters and criminals who drifted into the parish as a result, especially one incident where a young woman was raped and attempted murder was committed . . ."

Bronstein asked if Perez

belives the council "has the power to enact an ordinance requiring the fingerprinting and mugging or registering of lawyers who come into the parish."

"That's entirely different," Perez said. If we found a lawyer with a criminal record we would handle him, sir, just as we handle itinerant workers

"So, if you are a member, for instance, of the American Civil Liberties Union or any Communist organization, regardless of whether the Federal Government attempts to protect you, we would make it very inconvenient for you in the Parish of Plaquemines."

Bronstein: "Suppose I told you that . . Mr. Sobol is an out-of-state lawyer and is affiliated with the American Civil Liberties Union?"

Perez: "My answer would be that he belongs to an atheistic, Communistic organization, and in my community he would not be a good American, but just a rat," Perez said.

Suppose Sobol made a civil rights talk to a Negro audience in Plaquemines Parish, Bronstein asked.

Perrish, Bronstein asked.

Perrez: "If I saw him agitating unthinking Negroes to disturb the peace I'd handle him personally, as a man. Yes, I'd stop him. Try and see, Mr. Sobol . . ."

Bronstein inquired about Perez's confirmation with two Negro attorneys from New Orleans who went to Plaquemines to represent several Negroes arrested there. Perez replied that he told the attorneys they could represent the Negroes, "but I said if they came down to start any trouble, I'd take care of it."

"Didn't you in fact suggest they get out of town?" asked Bronstein.

"I told them to use their, own judgment," Person acplied and went on to explain their judgment was to leave town. (According to an attorney's testimony during the Sobol case trial, the two attorneys found, upon arriving in Plaquemines Parish, that their clients had already been tried, convicted and sentenced).

Had not perez once urged Plaquemines citizens to refuse to cooperate with the FBI, which was investigating civil rights violations?

"Yes," he retorted. "At one time the secret police were knocking on doors, and I told the people... to tell them to go to hell. It was none of their business. Yes, we resent the Federal interference in our local government. Absolutely. It's un-American. It's unlawful. It's dictatorial. It's oppressive."

Did Perez believe civil rights legislation was part of the Communist conpiracy?

"That is correct, no doub

They wined and dined and gave presents to the judges of the Supreme Court, strictly improper. "

Perez finally declared that Bronstein had strayed far afield in his questions and said, "With a mind as pigmented as yours, as limited, and with the ideologies that undoubtedly you have, I'm impressed that it's not the proper legal principles."

when Bronstein thanked him for the deposition and said goodbye, Perez replied: "Don't thank me. I'm not thanking you."
