Judge Stanley;

I am writing in regards to several problems I would like to discuss with you at this time.

My name is [redacted] b6 b7C
And I'm charged with writing threatening letters to the President of the United States and I appeared in front of you several times.

On February 27th 1975 I was found to be competent to stand trial by the medical staff here at Springfield, Missouri. And I will be returned to the U.S. Penit. at Leavenworth, Kansas, in a week or two.

I think it would be in the light of justice ~~to~~ if you would dismiss the charges that are pending on me.

I have a family who needs me very much. If you remember back to the Watergate days, when Mr. Nixon and his buddies were all given pardons, because their families were suffering. Well what about my family. Do you think they are any different than the families of the Watergate Burch. My family has money also, and we can put that money to use.

Mr. Stanley it would be in your Best interest if you would dismiss the Charges now pending Against me.

It could be arranged that a large sum of money be placed in your Bank account once a year for a ten year period, and you would have no more money worries again. You will be contacted by a [redacted]

- "Attorney at Law" - who will discuss the details with you at that time. [redacted] is a well respected man and is well known nationally. He and [redacted] went to Law School together, and [redacted] has worked in Washington, D.C.

So Please think of what it could be Worth to you to Dismiss the Charges against me.

Yours truly;
