More Bundy Photos Asked by FBI Agent

DENVER (UPI) — A special agent for the FBI said Monday he had requested nationwide circulation of Ted Bundy's photograph and background in an effort to find the escaped murder suspect.

Bundy, 31, escaped Dec. 30 from the Garfield County Jail at Glenwood Springs, Colo., where he was awaiting trial on a first-degree murder charge.

Ted Rosack, special agent in charge of the Denver FBI office, said he was requesting circulation of the photographs and background. But he said that adding Bundy to the FBI's list of the nation's most wanted fugitives would be up to FBI headquarters in Washington, D.C. and that no decision had been made.

Bundy was charged in the slaying of Caryn Sue Campbell, a nurse from Dearborn, Mich., who disappeared from a ski resort in Aspen, Colo. Her frozen body was found January 1975 in a snowdrift outside the ski resort.

Bundy, who was scheduled to begin trial this Monday, escaped from his cell by squeezing through a hole in the ceiling where a light fixture had been removed. He inched through a crawlspace and came down in the adjoining, unoccupied apartment of the jailer. Bundy then left through the front door.

It was his second escape. Bundy jumped from a second-story window of the Pitkin County Courthouse in Aspen June 7 during a recess in a pretrial hearing. He was recaptured in the area six days later.

Seeks public's helpFBI may put Bundy on most wanted list

Combined AP, UPI

DENVER — The FBI may place accused killer Theodore Bundy on its list of 10 most wanted criminals, seeking more publicity and public help in the search for the escaped inmate.

Bundy, awaiting trial for first degree murder in the 1975 slaying of Caryn Sue Campbell, a nurse from Dearborn, Mich., escaped from the Garfield County Jail in Glenwood Springs, Colo., the night of Dec. 30.

The FBI announcement was made Friday as Mesa County authorities screened airport passengers in Grand Junction, acting on an anonymous tip that a man fitting Bundy's description was seen trying to hire a car to take him to the airport.

The alert went out Friday morning when the Garfield County Sheriff's Office in Glenwood Springs received a phone call that a man matching Bundy's description had walked into a bar at New Castle, offering to pay anyone $50 to drive him to the Grand Junction airport "to catch an airplane for a flight to Nevada."

Officers then kept watch on the highways for a car that may have given the man a ride, and five officers screened people at the airport, but Bundy was not seen.

In Denver, a spokesman for Ted

Rosack, special agent in charge of the Denver FBI office, said wanted posters on Bundy probably would begin appearing in law enforcement offices and post offices throughout the country by early next week.

The spokesman said the next step would be placing Bundy on its list of 10 most wanted criminals.

"There are a couple of vacancies on the 10 most wanted, and we could use the publicity," he said. "The last guy put on the list was picked up in two days."

Bundy, 31, was scheduled to go on trial Monday in Colorado Springs, charged with the murder of Miss Campbell while she was on a sifting vacation in Aspen, Colo., with her fiancée. Her nude body was found under a snowbank outside Aspen several weeks after her disappearance.

Bundy, a former University of Utah law student, was granted a change of venue for his trial because of publicity stemming from his first escape last summer from the Pitkin County Jail in Aspen. He was recaptured within a week.

Special prosecutor Robert Russel charged Garfield County jailers with "absolute negligence" in allowing Bundy to escape a second time.

Bundy Poster Mulled by FBI Officials

DENVER (AP) — The FBI's Denver field division may ask its national headquarters to authorize distribution of wanted posters for Theodore Bundy, who is accused of murdering a Michigan nurse in 1975, an FBI spokesman said Saturday.

Bundy, 31, escaped from the Garfield County Jail at Glenwood Springs Dec. 30 while he was awaiting trial in the slaying of Caryn Sue Campbell, a nurse from Dearborn, Mich.

Miss Campbell was murdered while she was on a skiing vacation in Aspen.

Bundy has escaped once before, last summer, from the Pitkin County jail at Aspen, but was captured within a week.

FBI Agent Simon Tullai said investigators have been chasing numerous leads into the Bundy disappearance the past week, "but still have no hard information as to his whereabouts."

Tullai said the special agent in charge of the Denver office, Ted Rosack, has considered recommending that an "identification order" be put out on Bundy. That step could be preliminary to putting the Tacoma, Wash., man on the FBI's list of 10 most wanted fugitives, he said.

But Tullai said the decision to distribute identification orders, or wanted posters, or to put Bundy on the top 10 wanted list would have to come from the agency's headquarters in Washington, D.C.

to the hot springs pool in Glenwood Springs, Colo., but the scent vanished at the site.

Hart said Bundy apparently planned the escape shortly after arriving at the jail in April because he began losing weight. Hart said Bundy's weight had dropped from 170 pounds to 140.

"It is possible that he was losing weight for the escape," said Hart. "He had lost a lot of weight. And in the last few days he was here he claimed he was feeling poorly and didn't eat breakfast."

Bundy had been transferred from the Aspen jail because of an escape last summer. He leaped from a second-story courtroom window during a hearing recess, but was recaptured in six days.

Bundy, charged with first-degree murder in the death of Caryn Campbell of Dearborn, Mich., was scheduled to go on trial next Monday in Colorado Springs, Colo. He was granted a change of venue because of pre-trial publicity.

Inmates Heard Bundy 'Preparing' Escape?

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Officials have confirmed that prisoners in the Garfield County Jail reported to sheriff's deputies early last week that Theodore Bundy was crawling around in the space above the ceiling of his cell.

That was the route Bundy, who was to have gone to trial next week for the murder of a Michigan nurse, used to escape from the jail sometime last Friday night or early Saturday morning.

Police in Colorado, Utah and Washington have since received reports that Bundy had been seen, but he remains at large.

In response to the prisoners' report last week, the sheriff's department called a local welder to come in to put metal bars across the ceiling light fixture which Bundy removed to get into the crawl space above his cell. Undersheriff Robert Hart said Tuesday.

The welder, however, never made it to the jail before Bundy's escape, Hart said. He was there Tuesday, however, welding on bars to secure the light fixture to the ceiling.

'You Lock the Barn'

"You know the old cliché," said Hart. "After the horse is stolen, you lock the barn."

The sheriff's department had reported that Bundy escaped by removing the light fixture in his cell, sliding through the 12-inch hole it left, crawling across the ceiling, dropping into the jailer's apartment and walking from the jail.

Bundy, 30, has been charged with first-degree murder in the January 1975 slaying of Caryn Campbell of Dearborn, Mich., who disappeared during a ski vacation at Aspen. Her nude and frozen body was found two months later near a remote mountain road.

Bundy was extradited from Utah to stand trial here. He had been convicted of kidnapping a Salt Lake City girl and was serving a sentence in the Utah State Prison.

Police Continue Search

Bundy was to have gone on trial next Monday in Colorado Springs and would have been transferred to the El Paso County Jail sometime this week.

Instead, police in several western states were searching for him. The FBI formally entered the search for Bundy on Tuesday, when a federal fugitive warrant was obtained in Denver.

Utah Hitchhiker Link to Bundy?

Tribune Wire Services

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. — Two doctors told Grand Junction police Sunday they picked up a hitchhiker Saturday generally meeting the description of Theodore Bundy.

Bundy escaped from jail Friday night or Saturday morning while awaiting trial in Colorado on first-degree murder charges.

Dr. Dorr Burns, Grand Junction, said the man he and a companion picked up was hitchhiking about two miles east of Thompson, Utah, heading west. They said they picked him up at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Something Suspicious?

Dr. Burns said they took the hitchhiker into town to get some gas and back to his car, a 1970 maroon Oldsmobile Cutlass.

Dr. Burns, who said he hadn't heard about Bundy's escape until he returned to Grand Junction from Salt Lake City, said he couldn't give a description of the hitchhiker. But he said there was something about the man's age, size and where they found him which "seemed suspicious" to him.

Utah Highway Patrol officers were told to be on the lookout for the car. Searchers in Colorado combed the area around Glenwood Springs, trying to find some trace of Bundy.

Meanwhile, ground units, helicopters and dogs Sunday joined search efforts for Bundy, scheduled to go on trial Jan. 9 for murder, who escaped from his Garfield County Jail cell.

Bundy, charged in the 1975 slaying of a Michigan nurse near Aspen, Colo., escaped from his 9-by-4-foot jail cell during the weekend by crawling down a 30 foot passageway to a jailer's apartment.

"A hole was cut to put in a light fixture and he pushed out the light fixture, and climbed through the crawlspace to the jailer's apartment," said Undersheriff Robert Hart. "It's a solid steel cell except for that foot-square hole."

Second Escape

The escape is the second for the former Utah law student who leaped from a second-story window of the Pitkin County Courthouse in Aspen last summer during a hearing recess. Authorities recaptured Bundy within a week.

The time of Bundy's departure was unclear because he was last seen at 7 p.m. Friday night. A breakfast tray slipped into the cell Saturday at 7 a.m. was untouched. Bundy had stuffed books and blankets into his bed to fool officials.

Slay Suspect Bundy Escapes Again, Crawls Through Hole in Jail Cell

Tribune Wire Services

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo. — Theodore Bundy, awaiting trial for the murder of a Michigan nurse, escaped Saturday from the Garfield County Jail by crawling through a hole in the roof of his cell, officials said.

It was Bundy's second escape in six months.

Undersheriff Robert A. Hart said Bundy was discovered missing from his cell shortly after noon Saturday. Bundy was last seen in his cell at 7 p.m. Friday.

Hart said Bundy apparently crawled through a hole where a light fixture had been and into the jailer's apartment, then walked out the door.

"He had to walk out the front door," said Hart. "There's no other way he could have gotten out."

Hart said the light fixture had been broken in Bundy's cell, but he would not comment on how long the hole had been in the ceiling, or if Bundy had widened it to crawl through.

"I'm not going to comment at this time," he said.

Roadblocks were up throughout the area, and deputies were reported searching for the fugitive.

Law enforcement officials began an immediate search.

Bundy is charged with first-degree murder in the death two years ago of Caryn Campbell, a Dearborn, Mich., nurse who was vacationing in Aspen.

Miss Campbell disappeared in January 1975, and her nude, frozen body was found a month later beside a rural road.

During a pre-trial hearing last June, Bundy escaped from an empty Pitkin County courtroom through an open window and leaped two stories to the ground. He was the object of an intensive manhunt for almost six days before he was recaptured.

Officials said Bundy was scheduled to be transferred to Colorado Springs, where his trial had been moved on a change of venue. Bundy is scheduled to go on trial Jan. 9.

Legal Action

District Judge George Lohr in Aspen had granted Bundy's request for a change of venue. Bundy had contended he could not get a fair trial in Aspen because of pre-trial publicity.

Lohr said he chose Colorado Springs for the trial site because it is the home of El Paso District Attorney Bob Russel, who is prosecuting the Bundy case along with his assistant Milton Blakey.

Lohr had also granted a defense motion to prevent the death penalty from applying in the Bundy case. Lohr ruled the Colorado death penalty was unconstitutional and constitutes cruel and unusual punishment. Russel has appealed the decision to the Colorado Supreme Court.

Hart said Bundy, 30, left blankets rolled up in his bed to make it look as though he were sleeping.

Bundy had been extradited to Colorado from Utah, where he was serving a 1-to-15-year sentence for kidnapping a Salt Lake City girl in 1974. Officials said he was disciplined for planning an escape while an inmate in the Utah State Prison.

Colorado Sets Up Bundy Roadblock

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) — Mesa County authorities set up a rolling roadblock on I-70 and five officers screened airport passengers Friday after receiving a phone tip that escaped murder suspect Theodore Bundy had hired a car to drive him to the Grand Junction airport.

Bundy failed to show, officers said.

Mesa County Undersheriff Hod Hutchison would not term the anonymous phone call a prank. He said such calls are common and that Friday's action was a routine law enforcement practice "in a case with a man like this Bundy."

Bundy escaped from the Garfield County jail at Glenwood Springs Dec. 30. He is charged with murder in the death of a Michigan nurse who was vacationing in Aspen early in 1975.

The alert went out Friday morning when the Garfield County Sheriff's Office at Glenwood Springs received a phone call that a man matching Bundy's description had walked into a bar at New Castle and offered to pay anyone $50 to drive him to the Grand Junction airport, about 80 miles east of here.

Garfield County Undersheriff Robert Hart quoted the anonymous caller as saying the man fitting Bundy's description at the New Castle bar "had to go to Grand Junction to catch an airplane for a flight to Nevada."

Hutchison said, "Hart called us, gave us a vague description of the car. So we watched the highway (I-70) for about three hours and nothin' came by" matching Bundy's description from 11 a.m. to about 2 p.m.

Hutchison said five officers checked traffic on outgoing airplanes from Walker Field all day "but didn't see anybody matching the description".

Probe the Bundy escape

It's difficult to believe the cavalier attitude Colorado authorities are taking toward escaped murder suspect Theodore Bundy.

Not only were jailers negligent in allowing Bundy to escape through a foot-square hole in the ceiling of his cell, but now Colorado authorities have called off the manhunt after only four days. That certainly is taking the matter lightly for a man awaiting trial on a savage murder charge, a suspect in several other murders, a convicted kidnapper and a two-time escapee from Colorado jails.

Such lackadaisical police and jailer conduct ought to be punished at least by reprimand, or even outright suspension.

That action might at least shake up other careless jailers.

The escape raises several questions: Why wasn't Bundy's cell checked more frequently, which might have prevented a long lead time for his escape before officials were alerted? Why was the jail designed so that Bundy's cell was connected by a crawlspace with a jailer's apartment? Why wasn't the ceiling repaired so that no possible escape route was left open?

Bundy not only is clever, he is desperate. Yet those factors seem insufficiently impressed upon the minds of at least two Colorado jailers and others charged with prisoner custody. A shakeup is needed.

Agent wants Bundy posters

DENVER (UPD) — A special agent for the FBI said Monday he had requested nationwide circulation of Ted Bundy's photograph and background in an effort to find the escaped murder suspect.

Bundy, 31, escaped Dec. 30 from the Garfield County Jail at Glenwood Springs, Colo., where he was awaiting trial on a first-degree murder charge.

Ted Rosack, special agent in charge of the Denver FBI office, said he is requesting circulation of the photographs and background. But he said adding Bundy to the FBI's list of the nation's most wanted fugitives would be up to FBI headquarters in Washington, D.C. He said no decision has been made.

Bundy was charged in the slaying of Caryn Sue Campbell, a nurse from Dearborn, Mich., who disappeared from a ski resort in Aspen, Colo. Her frozen body was found January 1975 in a snowdrift outside the ski resort.

Bundy, who was scheduled to begin trial Monday, escaped from his cell by squeezing through a hole in his cell's ceiling where a light fixture had been removed. He inched through a crawl space and came down in the adjoining, unoccupied apartment of the jailer. Bundy then left through the front door.

It was his second escape. Bundy jumped from a second-story window of the Pitkin County Courthouse in Aspen June 7 during a recess in a pretrial hearing. He was recaptured in the area six days later.

Lawmen Check on Leads in Bundy

The search for Theodore Bundy continued Thursday with law enforcement officers checking leads that he may have attempted to abduct a woman in Long Beach and the FBI releasing information on his background.

Bundy, convicted of kidnapping and accused of murder, escaped from a Glenwood Springs, Colo., jail Dec. 31. He was being held in Colorado for the murder of a Michigan woman.

Captain N. D. Hayward, Salt Lake County Sheriff's Office, said a man claiming to be a law officer early Thursday attempted to abduct a woman on the Pacific Coast Highway in Long Beach. The woman flagged down a passing motorist and frightened the attacker away.

Capt. Hayward said his office is interested in the California attack because it closely resembles the Nov. 8, 1974 kidnapping of Carol DaRonch from a Murray shopping center for which Bundy was convicted.

"We can't overlook the possibility that it might be Bundy," Capt. Hayward said. He said the Long Beach police have promised to contact him if any suspects are apprehended.

The Los Angeles police are also watching the Long Beach attack because the notorious hillside strangler is thought to have handcuffed some of his victims before killing them.

Bundy was in jail while the Los Angeles stranglings were taking place.

Bundy a Suspect

Sgt. Robert Lummis, Long Beach police, said Bundy "is a suspect in the case, but he is not the prime suspect at this point. We are taking another direction, but if that doesn't click out, we will be looking more closely at Bundy."

The FBI, hoping for help in the widening search for Bundy, Thursday released details about his background and characteristics.

Special Agent Simon Tullai said in an Associated Press interview from Denver that Bundy, 31, was born in Burlington, Vt. He took the surname of his Tacoma stepfather, John Bundy.

Put on List?

FBI headquarters in Washington, D.C. has been asked by the Denver field office to place Bundy, a former University of Puget Sound law student, on its "Ten Most Wanted" list, or at least to

The FBI issues this description of Bundy:

"He is 5-feet-11, 145 to 155 pounds, dark brown wavy hair, normally parted on the right side, with a slender, athletic build.

"He is known to wear glasses as a disguise. He had a thick mustache at one time, and wore a beard on another occasion. issue an "identification order" placing Bundy's picture in every post office.

Tullai said no reply has been received yet from Washington, and agents are at a loss as to what to do next.

"Our last two leads led up blind alleys," Tullai said. "We have very little to work on now."

Bundy is accused of murdering Caryn Campbell, a Michigan nurse, who was vacationing in Aspen, Colo., in 1975. He was scheduled to go on trial last week, but escaped at Glenwood Springs, Dec. 31.

Warrant Issued

A federal warrant accusing Bundy of flight to avoid prosecution for murder was issued in Denver Dec. 31, bringing the FBI into a nationwide search.

occasion.

"He may be armed and is believed to be dangerous. Bundy's occupations include student, office worker, salesman, dishwasher, bus boy, cook's helper, security guard and laborer. He could revert to one of these jobs.

Psychology Degree

"He has a bachelor of science degree in psychology from the University of Washington.

"Bundy is a very clever, intelligent individual. He can imitate a British accent skillfully. He occasionally stammers when upset. He gets bags under his eyes when tired.

"A cunning individual, Bundy successfully escaped from law enforcement authorities on two occasions.

"He is left handed."

LOS ANGELES — Long Beach, Calif., police said Thursday they are investigating the possibility that escaped murder suspect Theodore Bundy was the man who handcuffed a woman and tried to force her into his car before she struggled free.

Officers said the the method of operation in the case is so similar to Bundy's when he kidnapped a Murray teen-ager that he is considered a suspect.

Bundy, convicted of the Utah kidnapping, remains free after escaping two weeks ago from the Garfield County Jail in Glenwood Springs, Colo., where he was awaiting trial on a first-degree murder charge.

Salt Lake County Sheriff's Detective Capt. N.D. Hayward said he is awaiting word from Long Beach on whethert they consider Bundy a prime suspect, in which case he will send a copy of his file on the former University of Utah law student.

Bundy, a native of Tacoma, Wash., has been investigated in connection with several rape-killings or disappearances of young women in at least three western states. His description nearly matches that of the man in the Long Beach abduction attempt.

Ginger Russell, 28, told police she was walking along the pacific Coast Highway about 2:30 a.m. Thursday when a car with spot lights mounted on either side blocked her path, and a man who said he was a policeman asked for identification and then tried to handcuff her. She said she struggled free and flagged down a passing motorist.

Police Sgt. Robert Lummis said the man also roughly matched a composite drawing of one of two suspects in the so-called Hillside strangulation sex-killings of 11 young women and girls in Los Angeles during the past three months.

The strangler or stranglers have never struck before in Long Beach. However, Lummis said the Hillside Strangler task force had been notified because of similarities in the case.

Bundy, of course, is not a suspect in those crimes because he was in jail in Colorado when they were committed, Hayward said.

Meanwhile, the FBI headquarters in Washington, D.C., has been asked by the Denver field office to place Bundy's name on the "Ten Most Wanted" list.

Special Agent Simon Tullai said Thursday in a telephone interview from Denver that at the least his office wants the Washington office to issue an "identification order" placing Bundy's picture in every post office.

Tullai said he has yet to receive a reply from Washington, and agents are at a loss as to what to do next.

"Our last two leads led up blind alleys," Tullai said. "We have very little to work on now."

Bundy is accused of murdering Caryn Campbell, a Michigan nurse who was vacationing in Aspen, Colo., in 1975. He was scheduled to go on trial last week but escaped Dec. 30.

The FBI said Bundy is 5 feet 11 inches tall, 145 to 155 pounds, dark brown wavy hair, normally parted on the right side, and his a slender, athletic build.

Bundy 'Not the Man' California Suspects in 3 Assault Cases

ROSEMEAD, Calif. (AP) — California police Friday had discounted possibility that Theodore Bundy is the man posing as a police officer in connection with rape and assault cases.

They had believed Bundy might be the man since that was his method of operation in a Utah kidnapping. He had been a Utah State Prison inmate on that offense and was due to be tried in Colorado for a murder charge. He escaped Dec. 31 from the Glenwood Springs, Colo., jail where he was being held pending trial.

Third Case

Friday, however, in the third such case in as many days, sheriff's deputies here reported an assault by a man posing as a police officer.

A 25-year-old woman was driving her car early Thursday morning when she was pulled over by a man who flashed a spotlight at her, deputies said. The man, who wore a pistol in a shoulder holster, reportedly asked for her driver license, examined it and told her it had expired.

Attacked in Apartment

He then grabbed the woman and raped her, deputies said. The woman put up a struggle and told deputies she thought she scratched her assailant's face.

Earlier this week, a Hollywood freelance writer said he was assaulted in his apartment by a man claiming to be a police officer searching for a prostitute.
