REFLECTIONS ON ISLAM AND PEACE

Prepared by the Mohammed Said Farsi Chair of Islamic Peace

ISLAM: Lexical & Conceptual

But what of Islam itself—the religious faith of approximately one fifth of humanity today? Etymologically, the name islam derives from the triliteral verbal root "salima" 'to be safe, secure, free from any evil or affliction'. We see this root meaning displayed in the taslim or exchange of Salutations of Peace (salamun `alaykum 'May safety & peace abide with you') by which Muslims greet one another. This greeting may also be rendered "I will not do to thee anything disliked or evil;" it is an assurance of security and of freedom from all harm.

The noun salaam in essence connotes 'safety, immunity, freedom from faults & defects'; while also embracing 'self-resignation & submission'. Al-Salaam is one of God's Most Beautiful Names (see Q 59:23): 'The Author of Safety*Security', or according to another popular interpretation He is so denominated because of His safety and freedom from all imperfections.

The verbal noun silm (or salm) denotes 'Peace, Reconciliation', in the sense of becoming at peace & reconciled with others (synonym = musalaha). Salm may also refer to a person who makes peace, or is at peace with others (see Q 39:30 And a man who is at peace with respect to another). Thus the third verbal form saalama-hu 'he became at peace/reconciled with him' indicates the process of mutual reconciliation.

These meanings are crowded together into the name of the Faith of Islam: 'The Faith of Peace & Reconciliation. By a linguistic process peculiar to Arabic (= tadmim or 'implosion of meaning') these significations melt together forming a single concept. The fourth verbal form aslama 'he resigned, submitted (himself)' denotes one's entering into a state of resignation & submission, of acknowledging the truth & justice of something and conceding its truth with sincerity.

Interestingly, the verb aslama also denotes 'to pay in advance'; this may be relevant to the lexical formation of its verbal noun namely: "al-islam" —literally, the taking upon oneself to conform & manifesting humility and submission. It is as though one makes a down payment through the surrender of the egotist self-will to the Higher Power of one's Maker, thereby securing genuine inner peace, becoming reconciled to the imperatives of truth, and achieving immunity and freedom from vices and evils.

The active participle from the fourth verbal form is muslim. The "muslim" is the 'self-resigned one', without any hypocrisy; he or she is salim 'secure/free from evils of any kind' (eg. qalb salim 'a heart free from defect'); and merits the 'Abode of everlasting Peace & Security' (Dar as-Salaam) or Paradise.

Four Islamic Notions

Let us look briefly at four essential notions at the heart of Islamic teachings on Peace and Reconciliation, given in seed form in the Qur'an and expanded throughout centuries of tradition, unceasingly seized upon by the brightest minds and deepest hearts of Islam. These are the ideas of 1. Man's inner nature or fitrah; 2. that of Reasonable Persuasion; 3. of the calling for Forgiveness ('Afw) as a higher response to injustice; and 4. the warnings against Dissension or Civil Discord (fitnah) and against "committing excesses on earth". These notions represent the fabric of a deeply embedded discourse in the life of Muslims individually and collectively, both in the past and in the present.

1. Islam adopts a positive view of human nature, insisting that the original human constitution (fitrah) is innately good, and described as being "muslim" in nature. There is no conception of 'original sin' in Islam, rather a positive and hopeful portrait of human potential. In the second chapter of the Qur'an called The Cow (al-Baqarah 2:30--31), God consults with the angels upon creating the First Human Adam :

And when thy Lord said to the angels, 'i am about to place a deputy (khalifah) in the earth,' they said, 'Wilt Thou place therein such as will cause disorder in it, and shed blood? -- and we glorify Thee with Thy praise and extol Thy holiness.' He answered, 'I know what you know not.'

And He taught Adam all the names, then He put the objects of these names before the angels and said, 'Tell Me the names of these, if you are right.'

The verses go on (2:32-35) to describe the angels admitting their inability to name, whereupon God asks Adam to inform them of the names of all things in creation. The angels are then ordered to prostrate to Adam in recognition of his superiority. All obey, except for Iblis, the Devil (from the Greek diabolos), who refused to bow to Adam and is consequently expelled from heaven (+ cf. Q 7:11-12; 38:71-85).

Muslim exegesis of this event stresses that the angels were mortified at their ignorance leading them into error; they never conceived that God would create a being more surpassing than themselves (pure spiritual intelligences innately formed to serve God). The angels felt they were better suited by nature to rule in the earth. The angels were already aware of man's future conduct on earth: fomenting bloody dissension and aggression. In fact, we know the first human pair Adam & Eve themselves erred and were banished from paradise to earth.

Yet God knew something the angels were unaware of—that humans include spiritual-minded beings (prophets) who shall guide to the Truth and so purify the earth of corruption, thus deserving rulership in the earth. Islamic teachings therefore justify the high position awarded humanity in the divine plan: Man as God's khalifah or deputy on earth. In this view, man is an unfinished being—somewhere between the beasts and the angels, capable of descending below the level of beasts, and of ascending above that of angels. In view of the history of our century, this explanation may leave us somewhat uneasy—perhaps the angels had a valid point after all?

From within the Islamic tradition, this concentration on the ultimate value of the Human Person finds expression in one of the most profound theosophical doctrines known to any religious tradition east or west: the teaching on the Perfect Man (al-Insan al-Kamil) elaborated in Sufi esoteric thought, where "MAN" forms the beginning and end of creation, the real purpose of the cosmos, and the gleaming point of consciousness wherever one turns.

2. Persuasion: A striking feature of Qur'anic discourse is the emphasis on people's use of their innate intelligence in comprehending the revealed guidance. Time and again the Qur'an exhorts its hearers to ponder, reflect, think, and to understand (eg. the refrains a-fa-la ta`qiluna / ... yatafakkiruna). Religion is armed with arguments designed to persuade through force of logic, of emotional appeal, of appeals to universal cosmic order and Divine providential purpose; and failing these—to promises of eschatological rewards or punishments.

Above all, it is recognized that people cannot be dissuaded from pursuing the wrong course in life through force or violence: "There is no compulsion in Faith!" asserts the Qur'an. Beyond this reasonable tone in the Qur'anic discourse of 'Suasion', there is displayed a remarkable Tolerance towards those who insist on following previous dispensations, and a recognition that revealed Truth is not a unique event nor does it have a copyright peculiar to a particular ethnic group or time. This is an ideal which was not always upheld over the temporal extent of Islamic polities.

3. Forgiveness (al-'Afw) is consistently held out as the preferred option for humanity when it is a matter of requiting a clear injustice or crime. "The recompense of an injury is an injury the like thereof; but whoever forgives and thereby brings about a re-establishment of harmony, his reward is with God; and God loves not the wrongdoers" (Q al-Shura 42:40).

Yes: Islam clearly provides for a scheme of retributive justice of the type known in the ancient Near East (an eye for an eye); one finds these rules detailed in the early juristic disciplines of qisas and diyat. But the higher ideal of Forgiveness and reconciliation is promoted as the superior good for creating harmonious relations between individuals and groups, requiring long-suffering and great determination. "And he who is patient and forgives—that, surely, is a matter of high resolve" (Q 42:44).

Neither naive pardon, nor a mechanical retribution, is urged; what is sought is a reformation or moral good accomplished by sincere forgiveness. Islam, with its realism and its joining the material and spiritual domains of existence into a unity, seeks to lead people to ever higher observance and understanding by degrees, according to the measure or capacity of each individual person. As the potential for human achievement is boundless, and the arena for growth and ascent unlimited, the Islamic view of human perfection is one of vast horizons.

4. Warnings Against Fitnah: The Qur'an frequently cautions people against going to excess when attempting to pursue rights or correct injustice. Of course, this attitude itself is only an extension of the Islamic precept of adopting the middle way in all activities, of Moderation and evenhandedness. Muslims are enjoined to be a "Middle Nation", and we have already pointed to the realism which marks Islam's joining the sacred and profane into a unity. "Be in the world, not of the world," goes a famous utterance of the Prophet.

This emphasis on avoiding extremes when asserting one's rights, or repelling injustice, is highlighted in many ways. In the temporal political history of Muslims, it is a commonplace feature for the sage or spiritual personality to urge neutrality when confronted with internal dissension, and the worst onus is placed on those who contribute to Civil Discord (fitnah).

The Qur'an asserts that fitnah is more grievous than killing (Q 2:190-193). Utter condemnation is heaped on those who, by selfishly pursuing their own limited goals, bring destruction and violence down upon the rest of their fellows, "committing excesses on earth" (Q 5:33). Islam also holds that greater harm is done to the world by indifference and unconcern, than by active deliberate mischief—by the failure of good persons to rally in support of true causes.

Is this portrait of Islam a familiar one? Or does it appear unfamiliar and strange? Perhaps it is a measure of the estrangement from the roots of their own tradition that Westerners often find Islam to be both strangely familiar yet "other".

In conclusion, we may invoke the primary doctrine of Islam, Tawhid Unity -- of God, of Humanity, of the Universe and of Truth itself. The realism of Islam declares that the material and the spiritual are in reality one, that no one can claim to be spiritual if they are unable to make a good thing of this life. Conversely, one cannot truly make a good thing of this life unless they are able to order their spiritual life properly.

Tawhid is a conception whose reality enters into human life at many levels. Beyond the doctrinal and ideological planes where the Oneness of Humanity is stressed, tawhid mediates the direct personal relation to the Absolute, and the maintenance of harmony with the universe. It may be approached as an Ecology of the Spirit that reconciles the apparent multiplicity of created things within the Unity of Existence. It is what the "Greatest Shaykh" [shaykh al-akbar, = the Latin doctor maximus] Ibn 'Arabi referred to as "The Breath of the Merciful" nafas ar-Rahman; depicting the manifestation of created multiplicity and its re-absorption into Primordial Singularity to be the Divine Being's drawing a breath. More precisely, God comes to self-knowledge in us.

Tawhid expresses the Islamic ideal of the fundamental unity of all humankind and rejects a vision of humanity rooted in exclusiveness. In social terms, exclusiveness implies a distinction between those who are members of the group and those who are not. Such exclusiveness has no place in Islam.

The universalism, tolerance and inclusiveness of Islam is beautifully evoked in the Qur'an (chapter 49, verse 13) with the words: "and we have made you peoples (or "nations") and tribes that you should know one another." At first glance, the revelation contained in this simple but powerful statement may appear somewhat paradoxical: that the reality of ethnicity and cultural diversity is an expression of the Divine Will, while at the same time, humankind is directed to embrace the notion of the unity of humanity through the expression of human solidarity. Upon reflection, it is clear that this simple but powerful revelation is an expression of the universality of the original message of Islam. For at the heart of the message of universalistic Islam is a respect for cultural pluralism that is inextricably linked to a recognition of the fundamental solidarity and connectedness of all human beings.

Active Listening and Sustained Dialogue

Active Listening is a communication skill which we develop as we learn to hear not only words and ideas, but also the emotions, feelings, and experiences behind words and ideas. We try to become a clear mirror for the other person, reflecting back what we have heard and understood. We use empathy as a tool of analysis.

WE ARE LISTENING

- When we give the person speaking our full attention.
- When we honor the speaker's willingness to present what is true for her or him.

WE ARE LISTENING WHEN WE LISTEN WITHOUT

- Responding, even non-verbally (smiling, frowning, nodding)
- Agreeing, disagreeing, evaluating or judging
- Imposing our own attitudes and beliefs
- Rehearsing what we will say when it is our turn
- Talking to another listener during the dialogue
- Leaving the group while another is speaking

WE ARE SPEAKING

- When we present whatever comes up for us – an idea, a concern, an experience
- When we speak clearly, audibly
- When we are open, honest, and direct without hurting anyone
- When we give only as much explanation as needed for others to understand us fully.
- When we know when to stop speaking

WE ARE SPEAKING WHEN WE SPEAK WITHOUT

- Stating agreements or disagreements
- Judging or blaming ourselves or others
- Defending our position or self-image
- Avoiding or skirting the real issue
- Speaking a second time before everyone has had a turn

Sustained Dialogue is not expecting or seeking immediate resolution, but to be open to and accepting the need to fully experience their emotions, the moment, and the act of sharing itself.

Sustained Dialogue is building a relationship of trust by giving one another the safety to speak their truth, to fully honor the vulnerability and openness of sharing, and by demonstrating a resolve to mutual restoration and healing.

Sustained Dialogue represents the transformative power of a long-term commitment to peace, the willingness to engage with one another on their own terms and according to their own needs.

WHAT THEY SAY ABOUT ISLAM

IN THE NAME OF ALMIGHTY GOD THE MERCIFUL, THE COMPASSIONATE

Islam, as revealed to Muhammad (PBUH), is the continuation and culmination of all preceding revealed religions. It is thus the perfect religion for all times and for all peoples. Such a claim is supported by several facts. First, there is no other revealed book that is extant in its original form and content. Second, no other revealed religion has a convincing claim to provide guidance in all walks of human life for all times. Islam, however, addresses humanity at large and offers basic guidance on all human problems. Moreover, it has withstood the test of fourteen hundred years and has the potential to establish once again an ideal society, as it did under the leadership of the Prophet Muhammad (PBUH).

It was a miracle that the Prophet Muhammad could win even his toughest enemies over to the fold of Islam without adequate material resources. Worshipers of idols, blind followers of the ways of their forefathers, promoters of tribal feuds, abusers of human dignity and blood – these were Muhammad's people. By the time of his death, however, he had transformed them into the most disciplined nation under the guidance of Islam and its prophet. Islam opened vistas of spiritual heights and human dignity by declaring righteousness as the sole criterion of merit and honor. Islam shaped its followers social, cultural, moral, and commercial life with those basic laws and principles that are in complete conformity with human nature. As human nature does not change, Islam is applicable in all times and for all peoples.

It is unfortunate that the Christian West, instead of making an honest attempt to understand the phenomenal success of Islam, has always considered it a rival religion. During the Crusades, this opposition gained a great deal of strength and force, which led to the generation of a genre of anti-Islamic polemical literature based on ignorance and hostility and designed to distort the image of Islam. But such hostility has not prevented Islam from unfolding its genuineness to those modern scholars whose bold and objective observations have begun to set the record straight.

Here we furnish some observations on Islam that have been made by acknowledged non-Muslim scholars of our own time. We hope that their comments will contribute to an unbiased and open-minded dialogue between followers of other religions who are interested in gaining a true understanding of Islam.

It (Islam) replaced monkishness by manliness. It gives hope to the slave, brotherhood to mankind, and recognition of the fundamental facts of human nature.

- Canon Taylor
*Paper read before the Church Congress at Walverhamton, Oct. 7, 1887.
Quoted by Arnold in The Preaching of Islam
pp. 71-72.*

[The] sense of justice is one of the most wonderful ideals of Islam, because as I read in the Qur'an I find those dynamic principles of life, not mystic but practical ethics for the daily conduct of life suited to the whole world.

- Sarojini Naidu
*Lectures on "The Ideals of Islam."
Speeches and Writings of Sarojini Naidu
Madras, 1918, p. 167.*

History makes it clear however, that the legend of fanatical Muslims sweeping through the world and forcing Islam at the point of the sword upon conquered races is one of the most fantastically absurd myths that historians have ever repeated.

- De Lacy O'Leary
*Islam at the Crossroads
London, 1923 p. 8.*

The extinction of race consciousness between Muslims is one of the outstanding achievements of Islam and in the contemporary world there is, as it happens, a crying need for the propagation of this Islamic virtue..

A. J. Toynbee
*Civilization on Trial
New York, 1948, p. 205.*

I have always held the religion of Muhammad in high estimation because of its wonderful vitality. It is the only religion which appears to me to possess that assimilating capacity to the changing phase of existence which can make itself appeal to every age. I have studied him – the wonderful man – and in my opinion far from being an anti-Christ, he must be called the Saviour of Humanity. I believe that if a man like him were to assume the dictatorship of the modern world, he would succeed in solving its problems in a way that would bring it the much needed peace and happiness. I have prophesied about the faith of Muhammad that it would be acceptable to the Europe of tomorrow as it is beginning to be acceptable to the Europe of today.

- G. B. Shaw
*The Genuine Islam
Vol. 1, No. 81936.*

I am not a Muslim in the usual sense, though I hope I am a "Muslim" as "one surrendered to God." But I believe that embedded in the Quran and other expressions of the Islamic vision are vast stores of divine truth from which I and other occidentals have still much to learn, and Islam is certainly a strong contender for the supplying of the basic framework of the one religion of the future.

- W. Montgomery Watt
*Islam and Christianity Today
London 1983, p. IX.*

But Islam has a still further service to render to the cause of humanity. It stands after all nearer to the real East than Europe does, and it possesses a magnificent tradition of inter-racial understanding and cooperation. No other society has such a record of success in uniting in an equality of status, of opportunity, and of endeavours so many and so various races of mankind... Islam has still the power to reconcile apparently irreconcilable elements of race and tradition. If ever the opposition of the great societies of East and West is to be replaced by cooperation, the mediation of Islam is an indispensable condition. In its hands lies very largely the solution of the problem with which Europe is faced in its relation with the East. If they unite, the hope of a peaceful issue is immeasurably enhanced. But if Europe, by rejecting the cooperation of Islam, throws it into the arms of its rivals, the issue can only be disastrous for both.

- H. A. R. Gibb
*Whither Islam
London, 1932, p. 379.*

The rise of Islam is perhaps the most amazing event in human history. Springing from a land and a people [which were] previously negligible, Islam spread within a century over half the earth, shattering great empires, overthrowing long-established religions, re-moulding the souls of races, and building up a whole new world—the world of Islam.

The closer we examine this development the more extraordinary does it appear. The other great religions won their way slowly, by painful struggle and finally triumphed with the aid of powerful monarchs converted to the new faith. Christianity had its Constantine, Buddhism its Asoka, and Zoroastrianism its Cyrus, each lending to his chosen cult the mighty force of secular authority. Not so Islam. Arising in a desert land sparsely inhabited by a nomad race previously undistinguished in human annals, Islam sallied forth on its great adventure with the slenderest human backing and against the heaviest material odds. Yet Islam triumphed with seemingly miraculous ease, and a couple of generations saw the fiery Crescent borne victorious from the Pyrenees to the Himalayas and from the desert of Central Asia to the deserts of Central Africa.

- A. M. L. Stoddard
Quoted in Islam: The Religion of All Prophets
Begum Bawani Waqf
Karachi, Pakistan p. 56.

Islam is a religion that is essentially rationalistic in the widest sense of this term considered etymologically and historically. The definition of rationalism as a system that bases religious beliefs on principles furnished by the reason applies to it exactly.. It cannot be denied that many doctrines and systems of theology and also many superstitions, from the worship of saints to the use of rosaries and annulets, have become grafted on the main trunk of the Muslim creed. But in spite of the rich development, in every sense of the term, of the teachings of the Prophet, the Quran has invariably kept its place as the fundamental starting point, and the dogma of unity of God has always been proclaimed therein with a grandeur, a majesty, an invariable purity and with a note of sure conviction, which it is hard to find surpassed outside the pale of Islam. This fidelity to the fundamental dogma of the religion, the elemental simplicity of the formula in which it is enunciated, the proof that it gains from the fervid conviction of the missionaries who propagate it, are so many causes to explain the success of Muhammadan missionary efforts. A creed so precise, so stripped of all theological complexities and consequently so accessible to the ordinary understanding might be expected to possess and does indeed possess a marvellous power of winning its way into the consciences of men.

IN THE NAME OF ALMIGHTY GOD (ALLAH),
THE MERCIFUL, THE COMPASSIONATE

Humanity has received the Divine guidance only through two channels: the word of God (Allah) and the prophets who were chosen by God (Allah) to communicate His will to human-beings. These two things have always been linked together and attempts to know the will of God (Allah) by neglecting either of these two have always been misleading. The Hindus neglected their prophets and paid all attention to their books that proved only word puzzles which they ultimately lost. Similarly the Christians in total disregard to the Book of God (Allah), attached all importance to Christ and thus not only elevated him to Divinity, but also lost the very essence of tawheed (monotheism) contained in the Bible.

As a matter of fact the main scriptures revealed before the Qur'an, i.e., the Old Testament and the Gospel, were written in translated form long after the days of the prophets. This was because the followers of Moses and Jesus made no considerable efforts to preserve these Revelations during the life of their Prophets, rather they were written long after their deaths. Thus, what we now have in the form of the Bible (The Old as well as the New Testament) are translations of individuals' accounts of the original revelations which contain additions and deletions made by the followers of the said Prophets. On the contrary, the last revealed Book, the Qur'an, is extant in its original form. God (Allah) Himself guaranteed its preservation and that is why the whole of the Qur'an was written during the life time of the Prophet Muhammad (pbuh) himself on separate pieces of palm leaves, parchments, bones etc. Moreover, there were tens of thousands of the companions of the Prophet who memorized the whole Qur'an and the Prophet himself used to recite it to the angel Gabriel once a year and twice when he was about to die. Then the first Caliph Abu Bakr entrusted the collection of the whole Qur'an in one volume to the Prophet's scribe, Zaid Ibn Thabit. This volume was with Abu Bakr till his death. Then it was with the second Caliph Omar and after him it came to his daughter Hafsa, the Prophet's wife. It was from this original copy that the third Caliph Othman prepared several other copies and sent them to different Muslim territories.

The Qur'an was so meticulously preserved because it was to be the Book of guidance for humanity for all times to come. That is why it does not address the Arabs alone, however revealed in Arabic.

It speaks to man as a human being:

"O Man! What has seduced you from your Lord."

The practicality of the Qur'anic teachings is established by the examples of Muhammad (pbuh) and the good Muslims throughout the ages. The distinctive approach of the Qur'an is that its instructions are aimed at the general welfare of man and are abased on the possibilities within his reach. In all its dimensions the Qur'anic wisdom is conclusive. It neither condemns nor tortures the flesh nor does it neglect the soul. It does not humanize God (Allah) nor does it deify man. Everything is carefully placed where it belongs in the total scheme of creation.

Actually the scholars who allege that Muhammad (pbuh) was the author of the Qur'an claim something which is humanly impossible. First of all, could any person of the sixth century C.E. utter such scientific truths as the Qur'an contains? Could he describe the evolution of the embryo inside the uterus so accurately as we find it in modern science?

Second, is it logical to believe that Muhammad (pbuh), who, up to the age of forty was marked only for his honesty and integrity, suddenly began the authorship of a book matchless in literary merit and the equivalent of which the whole legion of the most talented Arab poets and orators could not produce? And finally, is it justified to say that Muhammad (pbuh), who was known as al-Ameen (the Trustworthy) in his society and who is still admired by the non-Muslim scholars for his honesty and integrity, came forth with a false claim on which he could train thousands of men in character, integrity and honesty, who were then able to establish the best human society on the surface of the earth?

Surely, any sincere and unbiased searcher of truth will come to believe that the Qur'an is the revealed Book of Allah.

Without necessarily agreeing with all that they said, we furnish here some opinions of some important non-Muslim scholars about the Qur'an. Readers can easily see how the modern world is coming closer to reality regarding the Qur'an. We appeal to all open-minded, indeed all scholars to study the Qur'an in the light of the aforementioned points. We are sure that any such attempts will convince the reader that the Qur'an could never be written by any human being.

However often we turn to it (the Qur'an) at first disgusting us each time afresh, it soon attracts, astounds, and in the end enforces our reverence ... its style, in accordance with its contents and aim in stern, grand, terrible - ever and truly sublime - Thus this book will go on exercising through all ages a most potent influence.

Goethe, Quoted in T. P. Hughes' Dictionary of Islam, p. 526.

The Koran admittedly occupies an important position among the great religious books of the world. Though the youngest of the epoch-making works belonging to this class of literature, it yields to hardly any in the wonderful effect which it has produced on large masses of men. It has created an all but new phase of human thought and a fresh type of character. It first transformed a number of heterogeneous desert tribes of the Arabian peninsula to create the vast politico-religious organizations of the Muhammadan⁽¹⁾ [Muslim] world which are one of the greatest forces with which Europe and the East have to reckon today.

G. Margoliouth, Introduction to J. M. Rodwell's - The Koran, New York: Everyman's Library, 1977, p. VII.

A work, then, which calls forth so powerful and seemingly incompatible emotions even in the distant reader - distant as to time, and still more so as mental development - a work which not only conquers the repugnance which he may begin its perusal, but changes this adverse feeling into astonishment and admiration, such a work must be a wonderful production of the human mind indeed and a problem of the highest interest to every thoughtful observer of the destinies of mankind.

Dr. Steingass, Quoted in T. P. Hughes' Dictionary of Islam, pp. 526-27.

The above observation makes the hypothesis advanced by those who see Muhammad as the author of the Qur'an untenable. How could a man, from being illiterate become the most important author, in terms of literary merits, in the whole of Arabic literature? How could he then pronounce truths of a scientific nature that no other human-being could possibly have developed at that time, and all this without once making the slightest error in his pronouncement on the subject?

Maurice Bucaille, The Bible, the Qur'an and Science, 1978, p. 125.

Here, therefore, its merits as a literary production should perhaps not be measured by some preconceived maxims of subjective and aesthetic taste, but by the effects which it produced in Muhammad's contemporaries and fellow countrymen. If it spoke so powerfully and convincingly to the hearts of his hearers as to weld hitherto centrifugal and antagonistic elements into one compact and well organized body, animated by ideas far beyond those which had until now ruled the Arabian mind, then its eloquence was perfect, simply because it created a civilized nation out of savage tribes, and shot a fresh woof into the old warp of history.

Dr. Steingass, Quoted in Hughes', Dictionary of Islam, p. 528.

In making the present attempt to improve on the performance of my predecessors, and to produce something which might be accepted as echoing however faintly the sublime rhetoric of the Arabic Koran, I have been at pains to study the intricate and richly varied rhythms which - apart from the message itself - constitute the Koran's undeniable claim to rank amongst the greatest literary masterpieces of mankind... This very characteristic feature - 'that inimitable symphony,' as the believing Pichthall described his Holy Book. 'The very sounds of which move men to tears and ecstasy,' - has been almost totally ignored by previous translators ;it is therefore not surprising that what they have wrought sounds dull and flat indeed in comparison with the splendidly decorated original.

Arthur J. Arberry, The Koran Interpreted, London: Oxford University Press, 1964, p. X.

A totally objective examination of it [the Qur'an] in the light of modern knowledge, leads us to recognize the agreement between the two, as has been already noted on repeated occasions. It makes us deem it quite unthinkable for a man of Muhammad's time to have been the author of such statements, on account of the state of knowledge in his day, such considerations are part of which gives the Qur'anic Revelation its unique place, and forces the impartial scientist to admit his inability to provide an explanation which calls solely upon materialistic reasoning.

Maurice Bucaille, The Qur'an and Modern Science, 1981, p. 18.

Aulaqi was observed at Dar Al-Hijra Mosque and departed at [redacted] Aulqi drove east on Leesburg Pike and right onto Glen Carlyn Drive to the Seven/Eleven and entered. Surveillance did not observe any purchase that he may have made. From the Seven/Eleven, Aulaqi drove north on Glen Forest Drive in the direction of his residence. At [redacted] Aulaqi was observed on Glen Forest Drive then east on Leesburg Pike to north on South Jefferson Street and left into the Leesburg Pike Plaza, where he parked near the Giant. As he walked to the pharmacy, Aulaqi was talking on his cellular phone and carrying two pieces of white 3x3 paper. Upon entering the Giant, he discontinued his phone call and walked directly to the pharmacy. Aulaqi gave the female pharmacist information which she wrote on a white bag. After which, he exited the Giant and walked to his vehicle. Aulaqi sat in the vehicle for about 2 minutes before exiting the lot and traveling south on South Jefferson Street and east on Leesburg Pike [redacted]

[redacted] maintaining a distance visual, were not able to see exactly which shops he walked to. They were near 3313-F section of the strip mall. Walked back to his vehicle, entered and exited onto George Mason Drive, north and west on Arlington Boulevard. Aulaqi drove into the Willston Shopping Center via the access road and north on Patrick Henry Drive to the next entrance to the shopping center, then parked at the Subway. Surveillance observed Aulaqi talking on his cellular phone as he entered the Subway [redacted] Aulaqi seemed to have no apparent reason for the stops at the strip mall before driving to the Willston shopping center. There is great possibility that he was killing time while waiting for the prescription at Giant to be filled. He did make a purchase at the Subway.

[TN: The translation of Muslim religious citations in this recording was based on due diligence and contextual meaning, and not based on the generally accepted English translation of Muslim sources such as the Koran and the Hadith. Due diligence translation of Muslim sources is not considered authoritative.]

[Recording begins. The standard Muslim religious salutation followed by Muslim religious chanting is heard. The Arabic text indicates that this speech is given by Anwar bin Nasir Al-Awlaki who is identified as a Muslim cleric and propagator.]

Thanks to Allah, and prayer and peace upon our master Mohammad, and upon his kin folk and companions. The responsibility that Muslim religious scholars and propagators bear is a great one. The Muslim community is in desperate need of guidance in these dire circumstances in which the Muslim community is facing crucial dangers. This statement has been commanded by Allah, and Allah has warned those who suppress the truth, Allah says: "Those who suppress the word of truth and guidance that has been revealed by the book to the people will be themselves cursed by Allah and by others who will curse them. Those who have repented and did good, I will forgive them for I am forgiving and merciful." Allah the almighty says: "Those who suppress the word of Allah as revealed by the book, and give it little credence shall only reap fire in their bellies, and Allah shall not talk to them on judgment day, nor will Allah speak good of them, and a painful torment shall await them. Those who amend their misdeeds with guidance, and torment with repentance, shall endure the fire. The Prophet, Allah's prayer and peace be upon him, says: "Whoever suppress knowledge Allah shall bridle him on judgment day with a bridle of fire." Muslim scholars have said that releasing the statement cannot be delayed when there is a pressing need to do so.

Based on this premise, we will discuss certain matters both to give advice and to fulfill ones moral obligation toward Allah. Those Muslim rulers whether they be kings, emirs or presidents, they are not qualified to lead the Muslim nation, and matter of fact they are not even qualified to lead a flock of sheep let alone lead more than a billion Muslims. They are not qualified to be the head of a company, let alone controlling the fate and the potential of nations held prisoner on this earth. They are not qualified to head a construction company let alone lead a kingdom that stretches from China to Morocco, this kingdom that controls strategic locations and major global trade routes, and controls the most important littoral straits in the world. If the emirs become corrupt, Muslim religious scholars have to assume a greater responsibility in guiding the Muslim community. So I ask Muslim religious scholars, where is the statement that is sorely needed in these circumstances? In Yemen, poverty is getting worse, illiteracy is on the rise, and tribal infighting that is spilling the blood of Muslims is increasing, the spread of Iranian political influence is expanding and Iranians are spreading a deviant dogma that is foreign to Yemen. On top of this is the utter shameful surrender of the [Yemeni] government and its scandalous subservience to America. As for the situation in the southern [of Yemen], injustice and oppression there has been exacerbated by the indifference of the government to the rights of the people.

So what are Muslim religious scholars doing in the midst of this bad situation [?] This situation that portends what the Yemeni president had threatened the Yemeni people with; which is to have Yemenis kill each other from neighborhood to neighborhood and from window to window. As for the [Yemeni] president, he will liquidate what money is left in the country's treasury, and he along with his retinue will leave the country while the country descends in civil war. I had mentioned the rise in poverty, unemployment, and tribal infighting as problems that Muslim religious scholars have to come up with solutions for, but before all of this, and what is more important than what I had mentioned, is that there is an American policy that the Yemeni government is implementing and this policy is being funded with Western money. The purpose of this policy is to undermine the religiosity of the people of this country [Yemen] by using all means such as projects that address women's' issues, the changing of school curriculum, and the building of ties with social figures to it make conducive for these individuals to become U.S. proxies.

We will not forget the vicious campaign launched against the dogma of Jihad by favoring a brand of Islam that is sanitized and answerable to the will of the Americans. This is all happening in front of our eyes and within an ear shot, and this calls for counter campaigns to be lead by Muslim religious scholars who will have explain to the people what is true and what is not and sort things out.

Regarding southern [Yemen], we are asking ourselves why the [Yemeni] government is using Israeli brutality when dealing with those in the southern provinces who are demanding their rights. In Al-Daleh, tanks have shelled houses and the same goes for Aden, Lahj, and Hadhramaut where soldiers fire live bullets at people in the streets like a Jewish-Zionist would do without regard to the sanctity of Muslim blood. So I ask Muslim religious scholars in Yemen what is your position regarding this? What is your position regarding the artillery bombardment of the Aqeel family, the Muthana family, Al-Hadad, and the Hutaiq family in Marib? Whose interest does this bombardment serve? Does it not serve the interest of America? The emirs have lost their way and there is no hope for them as the flaw has spread across the land, and deviancy has reached its epic while denigration has reached its lowest point. Today, this makes the responsibility of Muslim religious scholars a great one. They tell us to keep silent so that we won't lose the gains that we have achieved by our propagation activity. So is protecting a university, or one's position, or a program broadcast by a satellite TV channel more important than the attempt to uphold the truth and protect the greater interests of the Muslim community? Is it more important than protecting the Islamic nation against the American colonialist project?

A woman from Australia found what the truth is and converted to Islam. She then heard that Yemen was once the land of the supporters of the Muslim faith, so she immigrated to Yemen with her sons so that she can live among Muslims and raise her children in a Muslim environment. She came [to Yemen] as an immigrant and did so for the sake of Allah. She left her worldly possessions behind for the sake of Allah. There are many Muslim women who pursue worldly desires and wish for a husband who will take them out of Muslim land to the West where they can live in the fleeting veneer of worldly things. But Um Omar [mother of Omar] left her comfortable life in Australia to go live in Yemen for the sake of her religion. The Australian government submitted a request to the U.S. intelligence service which in turn ordered the Yemeni government to imprison this sister [referring to the Australian women]. The Yemeni government promptly complied with the request and placed the children who are less than six years in age under house arrest. By doing so, the Yemeni government far exceeded what was requested from it by the orders given by the Americans and the Australians. Thus, the Yemeni government became more royalists than the king himself and more Crusading than the Crusaders themselves, and more Jewish than the Jews themselves.

As for this sister, they used to interrogate her for six hours every day while she is standing up in the hope that the Yemenis would piece information that would endear them to their American master. Sister Um Omar told the Yemenis I am a woman, and I had come to you in Yemen as an immigrant for the sake of Allah and you are supposed to be a supporter of the Muslim faith, and the [Yemeni] investigator responded back by telling her: "We are Christians and not supporters." I am addressing Muslim religious scholars in Yemen, and even Muslim religious scholars in the Muslim world, doesn't your daughter Um Omar deserve a word of support? Why are you being silent? The strange thing is that Um Omar had ties to a Yemeni educational institution that is influenced by some of the most prominent Yemeni religious scholars, and among these religious scholars are individuals who are heavily scrutinized by this treacherous government [referring to the Yemeni government].

In spite of this, these Muslim religious scholars did not go through the trouble of using their influence in helping to release their sister who had sought refuge with them. It became a duty for these religious scholars to give their support to this woman, but instead of doing this, they turned their backs to her and let her down. Yesterday, these religious scholars let down the men, and today they are letting down the women. So wear the cloak of religious propagation and stay in your homes since this is better for you than promoting religious education and propagation when it serves your interest to do so. And by the same token, hide underneath the table when the call to propagation demands of you to make a true stand.

O religious scholars of the Muslim community, Islam had commanded that the ruler be obeyed so that the ruler can protect the Muslim faith. But what if the ruler is the person who is fighting the Muslim faith itself? Is it logical that the Muslim faith would command to obey the person who is diligently striving to wage war against the faith itself? Islam has commanded that the ruler be obeyed to protect and defend Muslims. To protect Muslim lives, their honor and monies. But what if the ruler is the person who is fighting on behalf the enemy against his own people? Islam has commanded to obey the ruler to protect the honor of Muslims [contextual meaning of word not understood, meaning incongruity] which the enemy is attempting to uncover. But what if the ruler is the person who is spying on behalf the enemy against Muslims? And what if the ruler is the person who is working as a spy on behalf of America?

Among those rulers are individuals who stole billions of Muslim money in the name of establishing an army. And even when the times come for this army to fulfill its duty by defending the country, the ruler will say that the army is not capable of fulfilling its mission, and that help must be sought from the Americans. So if this ruler is incapable of defending Muslims he should step down so that those who are more capable can rule the country. Those who are more capable of guarding the Islamic nation, protecting and developing it after decades of Western extortion and rule by proxy are the Mujahideen who have been tested and seasoned by the wars and battles that they have engaged in. Our brethren from the Shabab Jihadist movement in Somalia have proven themselves in their ability to run the affairs of the country [Somalia] according to Islamic law. And the Taliban in Afghanistan are teaching the strongest army in the world, which our rulers depend on to defend them, lessons in resistance and in maneuvering. And every time the Americans come up with a plan, the men of the Taliban make the plan fail.

Today, Muslims are at a dangerous cross road and at a critical juncture in our history. Those who are fit to deal with this issue must be trust worthy, courageous, willing to make a sacrifice, have political acumen, and military experience. These characteristics are lacking in those who today are in charge of things whether they be rulers who have violated the trust that was given to them, or the cowards who will not stand up to the West, or those who display courage only against their own people and will be the last to make a sacrifice, or those whose political acumen is limited to the art of proxy and treachery. These individuals lack military experience and they have not fought any battles, rather they are the type of individuals who relish living in palaces and pursuing pleasure. These individuals are leading us astray.

America and Israel control our Islamic nation and soon Iran will enter to grab its share of the cake. No one whether today or tomorrow will confront these colonialist projects except for the truthful Mujahideen who are the sons of the Islamic nation. Iran today is the most advanced country in the region when it comes to military industrialization. Iran today has a scientific output that exceeds the global average by eleven percent. Iran today is on the verge of joining the countries that possess nuclear weapons. It is a known thing that the Iranian leadership is not working toward the Islamic project but is working toward the Persian rejectionist project. [Sunni Muslims use the derogatory term rejectionist to refer to Shi'ite Muslims. Iran is a predominately Shi'ite country.]

The first victims of Iran will be the Sunni [Muslim] people of the [Persian] Gulf. So where are you, you Sunni religious scholars? Yesterday you were warning us about the rejectionists [Shi'ite Muslims]. And now some of you religious scholars are frankly calling on Muslims to obey the rulers even if these rulers happen to be rejectionists [Shi'ite Muslims] such as the rulers of Iraq. You have made the enemy happy. I call on you, you Sunni religious scholars, what is your program to confront the rejectionist expansion, which is sweeping the region from Iran to Yemen. By Allah, are your rulers competent to confront Iran? Iran is spending its oil revenue to build up its army while your rulers are spending their money to protect and guard the American occupier against the strikes of the Mujahideen.

Allah forbid that we call for the shedding of Muslim blood, Allah forbid that we call for sedition and the starting of wars, Allah forbid that we call for killing innocent people. This is the kind of talk that the Americans, their proxies and media engage in. We call for the defense of the Muslim community and its resources, we call for the defense of our rights, and we call for spreading Allah's faith, which is the reason that Allah had created us. [Allah said] I created the Jinn and mankind to worship. We were not created for this earthly world; we were created for the hereafter. And this earthly world is one in which you toil and work. I call on you Muslims to toil and work, worship Allah and be faithful to him, and declare your allegiance to Allah and to the faithful. And disown the enemies of Allah be they the Jews, the Americans, and the hypocrites. Let us live by the creed of Islamic law which was created for good and not to constraint people. Allah wants to make things easy for you and not create hardship for you. Rab'i Ibn-Aamir in his conversation with the Persians about the tolerant nature of Islam said: "Allah had sent us to guide those who worship idols to worship the one and only god, and to free them from the constraint of this earthly life to show them the expanse of the hereafter." To take them from the niche of their religion to the tolerance of Islam. Those who have not known Islam lead constrained lives on this earth but this earth is a wide expanse for a Muslim. The other religions are religions of injustice and oppression. Christianity, Judaism, Hinduism, Buddhism, as well as democracy, a religion that the West is trying to impose on us, all of these are religions of injustice and oppression. With these religions people create injustice for themselves while Islam is a just religion.

Talking only from the pulpit is not enough. The issue here is not merely about recording a tape or printing a book. Mere talk that is not followed by action to provide the society with practical steps to implement change will not suffice at this stage. The issue needs to be explained and require hands-on approach and support. There are a number of issues that have to be addressed:

First: The argument has to be made regarding the legitimacy of rulers in the Muslim world. It must be shown the great treachery that these rulers have committed by violating the trust that was given to them. It is a must to show how they are leading the Islamic nation to the abyss. Also, to show that these rulers don't care about the interest of anyone else but their personal interests and the interest of their American masters, and that these rulers are forcibly dragging us to the swamp of American hegemony. It has to be shown that these rulers are not Muslims but that they are hiding behind the cloak of the Muslim faith.

Second: That there exists an American-Israeli conflict on one hand and a conflict with Iranians on the other hand to control and exert influence over regions populated by Sunni [Muslims]. Our rulers have led us astray until we became a spoil that is coveted by the Romans [reference to the Christian West] or the new Persians [reference to modern day Iran]. There is no other alternative for us except to rally behind a rightly guided leadership.

Third: There must be a revival of the spirit of the Jihad in the Muslim community since the danger posed by the infidels can only be eliminated by Jihad. Allah the almighty says "Fight for the sake of Allah, be only concerned with your individual obligation to fight, stir the faithful to the Jihad, Allah willing he will ensure that the infidels will get their share of misery, for Allah can exact more misery and torture." Throughout history no state could exist without having an army and there was no sovereignty and independence unless there was a capability to defend these concepts. If today the treacherous rulers believe that they can only stay in power if protection is given to them by the American army, Sunni [Muslims] are not that weak nor are they too humiliated and Sunnis are capable of defending themselves provided they are lead by a pious and rightly guided leadership. Allah will defend those who are believers.

Fourth: The Islamic nation must be rightly guided by calling on Muslims to adhere to the basic fundamentals and premises that constitute our priorities today, and by not distracting Muslims with other issues. But before rendering advice to Muslims, infidels must be dealt with. Capital must to be protected before worrying about making a profit. People must be brought together to agree on a consensus before arguing about differences. The American campaign has been vicious. At first some resisted this campaign but when the campaign intensified these individuals put down their weapons and surrendered. Even one of the individuals who were engaged in propagation activity said: "Thanks to Allah, America is pleased with us." No one is left but the Mujahideen, they are the hope, they are the last life line, and if this life line is cut, then the American-Zionist program to occupy the entire Islamic nation would have been completed. This campaign that they are waging, they are not attacking just one country but the entire Islamic nation. Either we support the Mujahideen and win everything or we let them down and lose everything. [Muslim] rulers fell down some time ago, and anyway they were never on the side of the Islamic nation at any time so that we may say that today they fell. They have been traitors from the day they assumed power until now. Many of the Muslim religious scholars that people rush to when there are crisis seems to have opted to play it safe. But the Mujahideen are preoccupied with the pursuit of the true doctrine rather than playing it safe. The Mujahideen have raised the slogan either Shari'ah [Islamic law] or martyrdom.

The situation today is similar to the situation that righteous people experienced during the time of Jesus Christ where despotic Roman rule prevailed that did not allow opposition and suppressed the Jews and their clerics. Jesus Christ, peace be upon him, protested against this situation but no one followed Jesus except for the young people. Today we need to come to a decisive outcome regarding two issues otherwise we will fall. The first issue: Distance yourself from [Muslim] rulers as if you are running away from a leper; don't sit with them, don't negotiate with them, don't hope that anything good will come from them, don't ask them to do good, because they are like the anti-Christ, if you go to see him we will create trouble for you, and if you run from him you will be saved. These rulers don't want good things to happen to the Islamic nation because they themselves are a conspiracy against the Islamic nation and you are not to obey someone created by Allah if this person is disobedient to Allah.

As a consequence of this, we have to diligently strive to overthrow these rulers, and we have to believe that the Islamic nation will be unable to move forward by one span of the hand, will be unable to move by one span of the hand unless these rulers are overthrown. The second issue: Don't consult with anybody regarding the killing of Americans. Fighting the devil does not require a religious edict, it does not require consultation, and it does not require sortilege. The Americans are the devil's party, and fighting them is a duty at this time. We and the Americans have reached a point where it is either us or them. We have become two opposites that cannot be reconciled. The Americans want something that can only be achieved if we are eliminated. It is a make-or-break battle. It is the battle between Moses and Pharaoh; it is a battle between right and injustice.

Finally, the role played by a religious edict is to protect Islam and not the Americans. The role of a religious edict is to protect the fundamentals of Islamic law and not government law. The role of the religious scholar is to freely uphold the truth and not to appease the rulers and find a way out for these rulers every time they are sullied. If a Muslim religious scholar cannot freely uphold the truth because of fear of admonishment, then we call on Muslims to follow religious scholars who are not afraid to uphold the word of Allah. As for those who believe that the rulers can do no wrong and fault the Mujahideen in everything they do, then these religious scholars are the Sultan's religious scholars and you should be weary of them.

We ask Allah to make us steadfast to uphold the truth, show us real truth, endow us accordingly, show us what falsehood is, endow us with avoidance, and prayer and peace on our master Mohammad, and on his kin folk and companion. [End of recording]
