Dear General Yeager:

Since early 1979, Judge William Webster has invited distinguished representatives from all areas of business, the Armed Services, and Government to come to FBI Headquarters to speak to our current executives and supervisory Special Agents on topics of interest and concern. In particular, our supervisors constitute the future leadership of the Bureau, and this program is an excellent forum for them to meet some of our great Americans who can share valuable insights and experiences with them. Our program has been quite successful, featuring notable speakers such as General Omar Bradley, former Attorney General Griffin Bell, Congressman Jack Kemp, Messrs. Ben Bradlee, Jack Valenti, David Brinkley, and Associate Supreme Court Justice Sandra Day O'Connor, among others.

As you may have surmised by now, my purpose in writing is to inquire about an invitation to you to speak in 1986 or 1987. I understand that your schedule is very full; however, we could easily work around it and even arrange a lecture on last-minute notice, if such an opportunity developed. If it is possible for you to fit us in, our lectures usually begin at approximately 11:30 a.m. and last anywhere from 15 to 30 minutes. A question-and-answer period usually follows as well, and Judge Webster would host a luncheon for you with his senior executives. However, this time period could be adjusted to fit your schedule.

Dear General Yeager:

Judge Webster and I were disappointed when we read the letter from your Business Manager, Glennis Yeager, advising that you will not be able to accept the invitation to participate in our 1986 Distinguished Lecturer Series. We certainly understand your busy schedule and hope you will keep us in mind for our 1987 series.

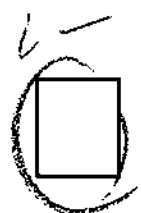

Thank you for your prompt response and if we can ever be of assistance to you, please feel free to contact either Deputy Assistant Director Milt Ahlerich or myself at telephone number (202) 324-5352.

Sincerely,

William M. Baker

Synopsis: Request opening of 196D case.

Enclosure(s): FD-71 Complaint Form with summary information, package of information supplied by complainant via facsimile transmittal.

Details: Noted aviator Brigadier General Chuck Yeager, USAF Retired, [redacted] were referred to the FBI by the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice (see enclosed correspondence).

The Yeagers allege that the subject had numerous historical aviators sign aviation art prints for an event known as the "Gathering of Eagles" which was held at Maxwell Air Force Base, Montgomery, Alabama for several years. The aviators were told by the subject that the signed artwork would be sold and the money would used to promote the USAF Air Command and Staff College at Maxwell AFB or used to promote the Gathering of Eagles event. The Yeagers advised that the unsold inventory was taken by [redacted] to [redacted] and is being sold via the internet. [redacted] allegedly has said the proceeds are being used for charitable causes such as African Orphanages, which the Yeagers find doubtful. The Yeagers believe the aviators who signed the artwork were defrauded and that the subject is using the aviator's names to enrich himself.

advised that he would support prosecution of the subject if intentional false pledges were made to the aviators in order to engage in a fraud scheme.

Yeager has advised that many other aviators who also signed the art prints are upset about [redacted] activities to include former Flying Tiger Squadron Leader General Tex Hill, USAF, retired. A check of the internet site aviationautographs.com by SA [redacted] confirmed that numerous Gathering of Eagles art prints are offered for general sale ranging from $300-$5,000 each. The prints are from the 1983-2002 Gathering of Eagles events. This site is allegedly ran by an associate of [redacted] named [redacted]. The site advises that hundreds of prints are offered for sale which were accumulated by a single collector [redacted] over 20 years. The site also claims that "our personal friendship" with aviation heroes like Chuck Yeager, Bud Anderson and Tex Hill... "gives us a unique opportunity for us to bring them closer to you".

Facts of Complaint

Complainants allege that they were defrauded by subject over the course of several years having to with an organization known as the "Gathering of Eagles" (See attached documents for details). Subject allegedly induced Former Fighter Ace and test pilot Brig. Gen. Chuck Yeager and other famous aviators to sign special edition art prints for several years, which they believed would be used to promote the Gathering of Eagles Program or the programs of the USAF Air Command and Staff College located at Maxwell AFB, Montgomery, Alabama. Following the subject's retirement from the USAF, he allegedly took possession of hundreds of signed art prints. The art prints are now being sold on the internet from a group that the subject has affiliated himself with in [Redacted]

Thank you for your e-mail dated June 29, 2006 to the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice regarding the possible fraudulent sale of autographed lithographs.

Based on the information you have provided, you should contact directly the nearest office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) with any evidence you have collected. The FBI is the investigative arm of the Department of Justice and we rely on it to do the initial fact-finding for federal criminal cases. The FBI will determine whether a federal investigation is warranted and if appropriate, may refer the matter to a United States Attorney for a final determination regarding legal action. The FBI Sacramento Field Office has a satellite office, Sacramento Resident Agency Chico, that services your area located at 95 Declaration #5, Chico, CA 95927-1183. Please contact them directly at 530-893-0655 or visit their website at Sacramento.fbi.gov/chico. You may also want to contact the FBI Field Office in Mobile, AL which services the Montgomery area at 251-438-3674 or at their website, mobile.fbi.gov.

Thank you for seeking our assistance.

b6
b7C

Dear Sir/Ma'am

We were told that the Department of Justice should handle this.

[REDACTED] defrauded General Chuck Yeager along with probably upwards of 100 Eagles over 20 years.

b6
b7C

[REDACTED] while a member of the Air Force, started a program called the Gathering of the Eagles at Maxwell AFB's Air Command and Staff College (ACSC) in Montgomery, AL. He would have various Eagles (such as Gen Chuck Yeager, Gen Tex Hill, a Flying Tiger, General Gunther Rall, 3rd highest scoring Ace in Germany in World War II, and many others) come for a long weekend and talk to the students at the ACSC.

[REDACTED] financed this by having a painting made each year with the planes and/or faces of the Eagles of each particular year. Then he would have lithographs made, have the Eagles sign them, and the students would sell them. Each is worth from $175-5000+.

The Eagles signed these without charge based on the information from [REDACTED] and confirmed by the Air Force and the ACSC students, teachers, and personnel, that ALL monies from these lithographs would go SOLELY into the Gathering of the Eagles program OR for programs for the ACSC.

He started this in approximately 1980. In the mid 80's, he separated from the Air Force but continued to run the program. He ran it thru a business name of Air Command and Staff College Foundation until 1993. Then he ran it through a business name of International Association of Eagles, Inc.

When the Air Force looked at the coffers re this program in 1999, they found the account was empty. [REDACTED] ran off with the monies and the product. While he still lives in [REDACTED] [REDACTED] and he crossed State lines with the product and last we knew it is with the [REDACTED] are selling it on their website, aviationautographs.com [REDACTED] helps them.

b7C

The value of what they crossed State lines with? $5 million - 10 million and rising as these Eagles die off.

There are no records for Air Command and Staff College Foundation with the IRS non-profits or with Alabama Secretary of State - either on the website or in their office.

The Record FOUND with Alabama Secretary of State for the International Eagles Foundation is at the end of this email. NO record of the International Eagles Foundation is found listed with the IRS as a CHARITABLE non-profit in Alabama.

The General Chuck Yeager Foundation requested an investigation. Maxwell AFB's Commander (General Lorenz) had an investigation whereby the team asked [REDACTED] if he had the product. He said no and he had no idea where it was and there was no accounting or paperwork. General Lorenz wrote to [REDACTED] to say there was no malfeasance.

[REDACTED] wrote and asked what was the extent of their investigation. Upon receipt, February 27, 2006, the Maxwell JAG office, Col [REDACTED] and Col [REDACTED] called three times. [REDACTED] told Col [REDACTED] JAG needed to do a proper investigation and interview the Eagles, including General Yeager and that [REDACTED] lied – he knew the product was in the hands of [REDACTED] because he gave it to them.

On April 6, 2006 JAG sent a letter which stated they questioned [REDACTED] again and (this time) he said that the products were his and he was using them for African orphanages and the Eagles knew about this. [REDACTED] was an Eagle and she would support him because she is making money off of agreeing with him).

[REDACTED] called Col [REDACTED] three times within three weeks and has yet to receive a return phone call.

Alternatively [REDACTED] has said the monies are for Kosovo orphanages.

b6
b7C

The Maxwell AFB JAG, [REDACTED] (after much pressure) said [REDACTED] should go to the DOJ because [REDACTED] was no longer a member of the Air Force. [REDACTED] couldn't understand why the Air Force wouldn't correct the situation - [REDACTED] when he started the program was with the Air Force AND he feathered his nest for when he got out which is also unlawful.

The Mission statement, as you see below, does not include using the funds for this.

And while orphanages are a worthy cause (if in fact most of it is going to help those kids and not into the personal pockets of [REDACTED] the Eagles would never have signed these lithographs gratis for anything but the ACSC.

b6
b7C

[REDACTED] when they were no longer a part of the Gathering of the Eagles weekend, called some Eagles and told them they would be continuing the program in [REDACTED] in October 2003. They said the money was going to a Foundation for aviation. Solely for this reason, General Yeager and none of the Eagles charged appearance fees or for signing those lithographs.

They lied. They had more lithographs than they said. They did not give the money to any 501 (c) 3.

The above information we have been gathering over the past couple of months.

We then went to the DOD IG, [redacted] who sent us to [redacted] who reviewed all this, said their hands were tied. When I said so we should sue the Air Force, no one said no. The DOD IG said that office would help us. [redacted] sent a letter with pertinent information.

b6
b7C

The DOD is concerned we (and other Eagles) will sue the DOD and the Air Force but apparently hopes the DOJ will go after [redacted]

Then we were told the Department of Justice is the place to go.

So will the DOJ help General Yeager and the rest of the Eagles, many of whom are Americans who have served their country so nobly?

Thank you,

HELP US FIND THIS BOY

On 14 April 1999 near Gjakove, US warplanes accidently attacked a convoy of refugees. The Serbs bussed in reporters from Belgrade to see the results. In the middle of the carnage sat a 14-year boy with straw-colored hair on a cart pulled by a donkey. This picture can be seen at the following locations on the internet at:

level degree at the Air Command and Staff College, we bring 20 history-making aviators from around the world to pass on their stories to the class.

We also have a special program for "YOUNG EAGLES." Fifty children from about age 10 to 16 are invited to fly in Beech T-34 and North American T-6 aircraft. For the last five years, Brigadier General "Chuck" Yeager, the first man to fly supersonic, has piloted the aircraft for about 15 "young eagles" and others have flown with astronauts and fighter "aces."

Next June 10th, we hope to fly this boy and another from the village of Junik. We are currently working with the OSCE (Office for Security and Cooperation in Europe) in Gjakove to find the boy. We believe he is still in Kosova, but, he may be with a relative in Brussels (?) as we believe that his parents were killed.

Please take a look at the picture on BBC or on the other site and help us find him. We plan to go beyond just giving him a flight and try to establish a fund to help him complete an education and establish a good life.

ACSC (Air Command and Staff College) Foundation

NO listing in Alabama has having ever existed. So not a non-profit.

Maxwell AFB will not turn over any Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) between ACSC Foundation and Maxwell and between IEF and Maxwell AFB. An MOU is required for the activities such as the Gathering of the Eagles program for the College.

In [REDACTED] letter of June 5, 2006, re the transfer of assets from ACSC Foundation to IEF, we have no documentation re the legality of this. Foundations and non-profits have certain procedures they are to follow, as you know.

We have received the complaint you filed with the Air Force Inspector General (SAF/IGQ) on 16 Aug 05 as indicated in SAF/IGQs' memorandum to you dated 19 Oct 05. We have conducted a review of the issues you presented for consideration to determine what further action is required. Our analysis parallels that contained in the SAF/IGQ memorandum and we have determined your complaint should be formally referred to Major General Stephen R. Lorenz, Commander, Air University (AU/CC), as it deals with command matters not under IG jurisdiction. Specifically, Air Command and Staff College who are associated with the Gathering of Eagles Program are under the command of the AU/CC.

Therefore, in accordance with AFI 90-301, Inspector General Complaints Resolution, Table 2.11, Rule 2, I have forwarded your concerns to the AU/CC for final disposition. I have asked that he respond directly to you with the results of their efforts to address the issues you have presented. If you do not hear from him after a reasonable period, feel free to contact me so we can determine the status of the action for you.

While we have not directly addressed your concerns, we are confident they have been placed in the correct channel for proper resolution. If you have any questions, again please contact myself or my action officer, Lt Col [redacted]

Dear [REDACTED]

You recently expressed concerns about the management and sale of lithographs associated with the annual Gathering of Eagles event. You were concerned that the funds from the sale of the lithographs were not being used for the benefit of the Air Command and Staff College or the Gathering of Eagles event itself. As a result, I appointed an officer to conduct an inquiry into the management and sale of the lithographs associated with the Gathering of Eagles event.

As a result of this inquiry, it was confirmed that the artwork related to the Gathering of Eagles events, and the lithographs produced from that artwork, were actually commissioned and paid for by a private organization, not the Air Force or Air Command and Staff College. The private organization used the funds from the sale of the lithographs to cover the cost of the original artwork and certain unofficial activities it conducted in connection with the official Gathering of Eagles events. We have also confirmed that there are no legal restrictions placed on the sale of the lithographs, either by the private organization or by those who purchased the lithographs. We found no legal impediment to resale by the original purchaser or to the sale of the remaining lithographs from previous events by the private organization that produced them.

Based upon the inquiry conducted, I did not find impropriety in the manner in which the lithographs were procured or sold, or in the use of the funds generated by the lithograph sales. I appreciate your concern for the mission of Air Command and Staff College and the impact of the Gathering of Eagles events on its educational mission.

Sincerely,

Dear General Lorenz,

Thank you for your letter.

However, it would appear that you have not gotten all the facts and so your conclusion is incorrect.

Please give us a call so we can fill you in. Honestly, we don't understand why you haven't returned our multiple phone calls for 8 months.

Please tell us whom you interviewed, what accounting you received, and what back-up; e.g. checks or copies thereof that have been checked for conformity by an investigator.

Please return our call so we can discuss the facts you don't have and see where the investigation has been and where we go from here.

If we do not hear from you within the next two weeks, we will assume you either have not been getting our messages and have not gotten this letter and we will take it to the next legal investigative step.

Thank you.

Dear [redacted]

- 1. Story was different than [redacted] told them he had no lithographs, no paperwork.
- 2. [redacted] WAS in the AF when he started Gathering of the Eagles program.
- 3.

b6
b7C

As you recall, on 27 February 2006, we talked by phone regarding your concerns that lithographs from prior Gathering of Eagles events were being sold at the Cedar Ridge Airport in Georgia, in violation of what you believe was an oral agreement with those who provided signatures. I relayed that we would look further into the matter.

b6
b7C

We have spoken with [redacted] of the International Association of Eagles (IAE), a registered not-for-profit private organization that sponsored the Gathering of Eagles events until 1999. He confirmed there are lithographs from past gatherings being sold on behalf of the IAE on a consignment basis at the airport. His position is that they are being sold in strict accordance with what the IAE told those who signed the lithographs. That is, the money goes into the organization's general funds account to offset costs of sponsoring the Gathering of Eagles events and to offset the costs of the organization's charitable work (The IAE is apparently building orphanages in Africa, among other things). He further stated the IAE has no intention of ceasing the sale of the lithographs in response to your concerns.

b7C

I also checked into the status of [redacted] He retired from the Air Force in the 1980s and since that time has had no official affiliation with the Air Force. At all times he was involved with Gathering of Eagles he was acting as an official of the IAE or its predecessor organization, and not the Air Force, and he says he made that clear to all attendees.

b6
b7C

I hope this information answers your concerns. If not, I recommend you contact [redacted] directly or seek legal counsel. went to GOE program ONLY.

Can you imagine General Yeager & Hill spending hours signing to raise money for an African orphanage? NOT.

AF told Eagles because AF believed all proceeds would go to GOE.

Dear [redacted]

This is in response to your facsimile dated May 25, 2006, to [redacted] the Assistant Principal Deputy Inspector General, Department of Defense, where you forwarded copies of three letters between you and the Air University, Maxwell Air Force Base (AFB), Alabama.

b6
b7C

The matters at issue concern [redacted] Brigadier General (Brig Gen) Charles E. "Chuck" Yeager, U.S. Air Force (retired), and his 21 year participation in the Gathering of the Eagles program at Maxwell AFB's Air Command and Staff College (ACSC). During his association with the program Brig Gen Yeager (along with other aviation pioneers), voluntarily signed lithographs. You maintain that Air Force officials informed Brig Gen Yeager and the other aviators that each of the lithographs they signed "was solely for the Gathering of the Eagles program at Maxwell Air Force Base's Air Command and Staff College." You advised that a commercial enterprise is currently selling the signed lithographs, on an Internet website, on behalf of [redacted] [redacted] of the International Association of Eagles (IAE), who is also a retired U.S. Air Force Lieutenant Colonel.

b6
b7C

b6
b7C

The responses you received from the Air University reflect the following: (1) the artwork relating to the Gathering of Eagles events, and the lithographs produced from that artwork, were commissioned and paid for by the IAE, which has used the sale of the lithographs to cover costs and unofficial activities conducted in connection with the Gathering of Eagles events; (2) there were no legal impediments to resale by the original lithograph purchasers or the sale of the remaining lithographs from previous events by the IAE; (3) [redacted] of the IAE maintains that lithographs are being sold in strict accordance with what was told to the lithographs signers; and (4) [redacted] of the IAE has been retired since the 1980's and at all times since has made clear to Gathering of Eagles attendees that he was acting as an official of the IAE or its predecessor organization, not the Air Force.

False information

b7C

Your correspondence was referred to the Defense Hotline for appropriate action, and the matter was assigned Defense Hotline case number [redacted] We referred your correspondence to the Air Force Inspector General, who in turn, requested that the matter be reviewed by the Headquarters U.S. Air Force, Office of the Judge Advocate General (OJAG), Administrative Law Division. The OJAG review determined the following:

- The first private organization to be associated with the Gathering of Eagles was the ACSC Foundation, which operated on Maxwell AFB from 1982 to 1994.¹
- In 1994, the ACSC Foundation was disbanded and its assets, including any unsold lithographs, were transferred to the IAE, its successor organization. The IAE operated as a private organization on Maxwell AFB from 1994 through 1999. - never existed
- In 2000, the Air Force ended their affiliation with IAE and revoked their permission to operate on Maxwell AFB. Since 2000, a private organization known as the Gathering of Eagles Private Organization has been associated with the event.
- All lithographs, including signed copies, are the property of the private organization involved at the time they were produced. The Air Force has no control over the sale or resale of those lithographs.

(The Air Force lied to the Eagles re all this).
Accordingly, if you believe that past/present officials from the ACSC Foundation or IAE made intentional misrepresentations to Brig Gen Yeager and the other aviation pioneers who signed the lithographs, you should pursue those matters through appropriate civilian legal channels as they do not involve the Department of Defense.

Sincerely,

Director

Dear [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] in our conversation last Thursday said that we have quite a case against the Air Force and the individuals involved and that the Air Force IG would help us at all times, if we sued the Air Force.

b6
b7C

In the letter received this week, some of his facts are incorrect. Most importantly: Paragraph 2: Gen Yeager signed the lithographs BECAUSE [REDACTED] (who was in the Air Force and then worked for the Air Force) AND the Air Force told Gen Yeager and all the Eagles that the monies for the sale of the lithographs would ALL go to Maxwell AFB Air Command and Staff College. Period. Gen Yeager would NOT have signed them otherwise.

Paragraph 3: #3 is quite incorrect and #4 is quite incorrect.

We believe that the Air Force was duped by [REDACTED] and should be getting an injunction against [REDACTED] selling these lithographs and then damages on behalf of the Air Force and the Eagles. We would be willing to be Co-Plaintiffs and the monies and product done for the ACSC that we get from these actions will go back to the Air Command and Staff College after legal expenses. It is worth $5-10 million.

b7C

The letter states as fact several items that were not known at the time and may not be facts today. [REDACTED] continues to tell different, opposing stories which the Air Force repeats as fact.

b6
b7C

The Air Force continues to make the mistake of confusing (and thus one could say defrauding) people by allowing Foundations to use the Air Force names. This practice should be stopped. We have another distinct issue with the Air Force Flight Test Center Foundation. Most people, as we did, think this is governed by the Air Force. And while it isn't, the Air Force does have a Memorandum of Understanding but refuses to enforce or require that the Foundations act ethically.

What agreements did the Air Force have with [REDACTED]? When did he separate from the Air Force?

b6
b7C

Further, we wonder if the non-profits re Maxwell really exist.

The Air Force should not treat its "Eagles" who have repeatedly risked their lives for the United States and the good of mankind, so badly and allow them and the Air Force to be defrauded.

Thanks for your help in this.

pioneers such as YEAGER and Brigadier General DAVID LEE "TEX" HILL, USAF Retired, and allegedly sold for the purpose of promoting the Gathering of Eagles (GOE) symposium which was held at the U.S. Air Force Air Command and Staff College (ACSC) at Maxwell Air Force Base Alabama for many years. The artwork is now being stored and sold through a website controlled by noted aviators [REDACTED]

b6

[REDACTED] who are active airshow participants.

While attached to the ACSC, Lt. Col. [REDACTED] helped arrange the GOE event for several years and interviewed numerous famous aviators. He later formed the non-profit International Association of Eagles (IAE) in an effort to enlist more corporate sponsorship for the GOE event. He is now allegedly selling the left-over prints for profit. It is unclear as to the exact arrangement between the signers of the prints and the GOE and/or IAE as to the ultimate use of the money gained from the sale of the prints. The GOE, as a private entity, apparently commissioned the artists to render the artwork and then recruited aviators to sign hundreds of prints at the annual symposium held at Maxwell Air Force Base. The prints being offered for sale range from 1983-2004. The aviation autographs website even uses a link to "Air Command and Staff" which is apparently not an official link to the USAF Air Command and Staff College. It is unclear what the aviators who signed the lithographs were told by [REDACTED] or other GOE/IAE as to the purpose of the prints and arrangements for the future sale of the artwork. There was no signed contract or document dealing with this issue located so far.

By way of background, [REDACTED] is retired from the USAF in 1989 and helped start the GOE in the early 1980s as an event purportedly to raise money to bring world famous flyers to the ACSC for lectures and camaraderie. Over the years dozens of noted aviators from all over the world have attended the event and signed artwork commissioned by the GOE. Sometime later the IAE was decoupled from the GOE. Following complaints received regarding the questionable disposition of GOE funds, the ACSC and the "official" GOE apparently severed it's relationship with [REDACTED] and the IAE in 1999. It found that clear financial records regarding the GOE/IAE had not been maintained. The IAE has continued the GOE event at other locales such as Dayton, Ohio since then.

The YEAGERS had voiced their complaints about [REDACTED] to the USAF who conducted an inquiry into [REDACTED] and the GOE prints situation. The Air Force inquiry found that oversight of [REDACTED] activities while associated with the ACSC was not adequate. Unable to produce requested financial records, the IAE no longer is chartered to operate from Maxwell AFB. Subsequent investigation reveals that [redacted] may be spending some of the funds received from the signed prints for personal expenses. [redacted] told USAF investigators that he now uses the funds gained from the sale of the signed prints to support overseas orphanages and support causes he chooses.

b7C

[redacted] has advised that there are numerous other aviation signers besides [redacted] who were induced into signing prints after being told false information by [redacted]. It would be beneficial to ascertain their names and contact information for possible future interview.

Introduction by Ray Fowler Web designer and fellow aviation enthusiast...

When Ed and Connie Bowlin invited me to help them catalogue over twenty years of aviation collectibles, I jumped at the chance. Stored for up to 2 decades, I knew that this collection would be impressive, but I was not prepared for the treasures I would find! Almost like finding buried treasure (but more valuable!), their new hangar is lined with rows of autographed books, signed aviation prints, models, and other unique items that can be found nowhere else. I was left speechless! What amazed me even more is that Ed and Connie are making every single piece in this collection available to aviation enthusiasts like you and me -- to add to our own personal collections!

Two P-51 Mustangs sit ready for a combat mission in the Aviation Autograph hangar in Griffin Georgia.

I was even more impressed when I learned how these items were obtained over the years. The collection exists now primarily because of the efforts of one man, Lt. Col. Dave McFarland (USAF, Retired). As former Chief of the History Department at the Air Command and Staff College (Maxwell AFB, Montgomery, AL), Lt. Col. McFarland has traveled all over the world in his quest to personally meet air and space legends, men and women who have significantly contributed to the advancement of aviation. Then, in 1982, Dave founded the annual "Gathering of Eagles," bringing together the most distinguished aviators from the world over. Since that time, 287 of the most accomplished people from the fields of aviation, space, and engineering have been honored from 25 different nations. Each year, a Gathering of Eagles aviation print was commissioned and contains the original signatures of these aviation heroes. This website is the only source in the world for the 19 prints in the Eagle's unique print series and there are less than 20 private collectors known to have the entire series. It is through Dave's personal friendships that he amassed one of the largest collections of autographed aviation artifacts in the world. It's as if you're holding a living piece of history -- their signature somehow adds a personal connection, making this collection not only incredible, but invaluable.

Which leads me to the introduction of the two aviation "superstars" who are responsible for creating Aviationautographs.com ... Ed and Connie Bowlin. Being modest, Ed & Connie asked that I not list their background and accomplishments in aviation, however being in control of web content has its privileges! Being two of most accomplished aviators I know, I am excited to have an opportunity to introduce the individuals who you will meet in your dealings with Aviation Autographs.

With over 30,000 flying hours, Ed Bowlin is one of the most experienced, and certainly the smoothest pilot I have had the pleasure to fly with. For years, I have watched Ed perform airshows with flawless precision. Everything from WWII fighters to early vintage jet aircraft and marveled at his piloting skill. Ed's sensational military, airline and civilian background has allowed him to fly hundreds of different performance aircraft and his experience and accomplishments in aviation are practically unrivaled... well, except by wife Connie!

Connie has over 17,000 flight hours in over 70 types of aircraft. Currently the only woman flying the B-17, she holds various type ratings and is authorized to fly a wide range of high-performance single and multi-engine aircraft (including the P-51 Mustang, Republic P-47 Thunderbolt, North American T-28 Trojan, Lockheed T-33, and British Aerospace Jet Provost, just to name a few!) She recently retired from Delta Air Lines as a 757/767 Captain. Thankful for the opportunity to have a great career and take advantage of early retirement... In her spare time she writes aviation articles and has been published in several well-known aviation magazines. It is always fun to see the faces of spectators when she climbs out of a P-51 at airshows! She was honored as an Eagle in 1998 at the "Gathering of Eagles" and is truly an inspiration to female aviators.

Having flown aircraft that most of us only dream about, this husband and wife team are well known by aviation's elite, and are both part of that club as well. When planning to attend my Air Force pilot graduation, they arranged for one of my heroes to speak at the ceremony, triplicate Col. C.E. "Bud" Anderson. When Col. Anderson came down with the flu just a week before the event, they said, "No problem". They simply picked up the phone, and General "Tex" Hill of the Flying Tigers fame agreed to come on short notice. They are best of friends with aviation legend Gen. Chuck Yeager and are selling items from his personal collection. These are the types of friendships that Ed & Connie have with the most accomplished heroes in aviation. Ed and Connie are not only two of the best pilots, but are two of the finest people I know. I feel honored to call them my friends.

I hope that you find Aviation Autographs to be an invaluable resource to finding aviation artifacts. We have tried to include the supporting information for the items and include excellent photo scans. However, we spend much of our time flying and may have omitted information that you would like regarding a certain item. Please bring any problems to our attention and we will send you any additional supporting information that you request.

Good luck on finding the treasures that lie within!

Ray Fowler

Charles E. Yeager, a.k.a. Chuck Yeager, Date of Birth: 02/13/1923, P.O. Box 1507, Penn Valley, CA, was interviewed regarding the International Association of Eagles. Also present during the interview, was [redacted] Date of Birth: [redacted] After being advised of the official identify of the interviewing agent and the official nature of the interview, Yeager provided the following information:

The "Gathering of Eagles" at the International Association of Eagles, initially known as the Air Force Air Command Staff College Foundation, has been going on since about 1983 at Maxwell Air Force Air Command and Staff College in Montgomery, Alabama. Lt Colonel [redacted] organized a fund raiser for a gathering of aviation greats who would annually visit Maxwell Air Force Base to lecture to the officers there. [redacted] commissioned an artist to paint a group of varied aircraft and the faces of their noteworthy pilots, or "Eagles". From that painting, a lithograph would be made (one for each year), and then the famous pilots would autograph those lithographs. The lithographs would be sold, funding the trips of those pilots who would visit the base to lecture. The autographers of the lithographs would be given one or two for themselves. As Yeager was a famous test pilot, he anchored the list of notable autographers of the lithographs.

Since the very beginning of this fund raiser, [redacted] would telephone Yeager in California and consult him about which aviators were noteworthy and warranted inclusion on the lithograph. [redacted] told Yeager that the sale of the lithographs was a fund raiser for the Gathering of Eagles event. Yeager would not have signed them over the years had he believed a private vendor was going to profit by the lithographs' sale.

Yeager also came to know a couple named [redacted] who are both [redacted] They used to own [redacted] They allowed Yeager to fly it on occasion. They are good friends with [redacted] and at one point [redacted] gave them the surplus lithographs from the sales at Maxwell Air Force base. Based on the estimated number of remaining lithographs, these lithographs may now be worth from $5-10 million dollars. Yeager saw the lithographs when he visited [redacted] in [redacted] He was at their home in [redacted] where he flew their [redacted] Yeager feels [redacted] may not have given an accurate count of the lithographs there.

[redacted] advised that she remembers when [redacted] [redacted] attended a convention in Reno, Nevada around March, 2001 and thereafter visited the Yeagers at their home in Penn Valley, CA. She remembers the Yeagers [redacted] discussing the lithographs and the Gathering of Eagles event. [redacted] have attended the event since the mid 1990's. At one time [redacted] was one of the "Eagles" pictured on one year's lithograph. Based on the conversation held at the house, [redacted] feels certain that [redacted] knew that the lithographs were the fund raiser for the event. In fact, almost anyone who attended the Gathering of Eagles could attest to the fact that the sale of the lithographs were a fund raiser for the Gathering of Eagles and not for the profit of a small number of individuals.
