most of the U.S. air strength for attacks on Communist targets in Laos, Cambodia. The Herald Tribune Vietnam is based at four airfields in Thailand and on Navy carriers off the Indochina coast.

High-level Defense Department officials say there are no current plans to cut any of these forces, barring some major "break-through" in settling the war by negotiations.

The only U.S. air-strength reductions expected will probably involve one of three squadrons of F-4 Phantoms still in South Vietnam.

In Definite Role?

While U.S. air power throughout Southeast Asia has been cut back substantially from its peak of 1,200 attack planes in 1968, it appears to be approaching a level which will be maintained indefinitely.

Although Saigon's air force has

8 Cities in U.S. Get $160 Million In Anti-Crime Aid

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (WP).—Eight cities will be granted $160 million over the next 24 months in a new program designed to drastically reduce street crimes and burglaries, Vice-President Spiro T. Agnew announced yesterday.

Called the High Impact Anti-Crime Program, the new federal-state-city plan is designed to reduce these highly visible crimes by 5 percent in two years and "as much as 20 percent in five years in each of the cities," Mr. Agnew said.

Newark, Baltimore, Atlanta, Cleveland, Dallas, Denver, St. Louis and Portland, Ore., will receive an average of $20 million each. The grants will include $5 million each before the end of this fiscal year, $10 million next year and $5 million during fiscal 1974.

The program was seen by some Justice Department officials as a vehicle to offset criticism by the Urban League and other groups that the department has not been earmarking enough money to fight urban crime.

U.S. Farm Population Dropped Less in 1971

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP).—The U.S. farm population declined by 300,000 last year to an estimated 9.4 million persons, according to a preliminary estimate by the Agriculture Department. The drop was only about half the one reported the previous year.

Hughes Firm Sues to Block Publication of Irving's Book

By Douglas Robinson

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (NYT).—A suit seeking to halt the publication of the purported autobiography of Howard R. Hughes was filed in State Supreme Court in Manhattan yesterday on behalf of the billionaire industrialist.

Justice Samuel H. Gold, after reading the complaint, ordered those named in the complaint to appear in court Wednesday to argue why they should not be enjoined from publishing the Hughes material.

Named in the order were McGraw-Hill, Inc., which plans to publish a book on the alleged autobiographical material; Time, Inc., which has scheduled excerpts for Life magazine; the Dell Publishing Co., which has paperback rights to the material, and Clifford Irving, the 41-year-old novelist who says he personally obtained the material from Mr. Hughes.

The suit, which asks for a permanent injunction, was signed by Chester Davis, general counsel of the Hughes Tool Co. For the purposes of the suit, Mr. Davis identified himself as general counsel of Rosemont Enterprises, Inc., in whose name the suit was brought.

Rosemont Enterprises, a Nevada corporation, was formed in 1965, presumably at Mr. Hughes's direction, to act as a repository for all the autobiographical material about the industrialist. The company says it owns worldwide rights to exploit commercially the name, life story, likeness or personality of Mr. Hughes.

Hashish Cache Seized in Oregon

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (UPI).—The Customs Commission today reported the seizure of 1,330 pounds of hashish at Portland, Ore., in a truck shipped from Karachi, Pakistan.

The hashish was valued at $2 million if sold on the black market. Three California men were arrested—Thomas Blake Bidwell, 26, of Garden Grove; David Mark Reddy, 23, of Laguna Miquel, and Brian Kendall McAdams, 25, of Laguna Beach.

2 More Shot Dead In Dominican Clashes

SAN DOMINGO, Jan. 14

The filing set the stage for what may be a protracted legal battle over the authenticity of the autobiography and may conceivably result in the court appearance of Mr. Hughes. He has been a virtual recluse for more than a decade and now resides amid tight security in a hotel on Paradise Island in the Bahamas.

Mr. Hughes, in a long-distance telephone interview with seven newsmen last week, denied that the autobiographical material was authentic and said he had never met with or talked to Mr. Irving.

For its part, McGraw-Hill has shown newsmen a number of documents, allegedly signed by Mr. Hughes, including photostats of the backs of two checks bearing the endorsement of "H. R. Hughes." The checks were said to have been deposited in a Swiss bank as payment to the industrialist for the material.

In response to the suit, McGraw-Hill and Time, Inc. issued a joint statement saying that "we have not received any papers, but we have complete confidence that our legal position is unsailable."

Army Secretary Warns Saigon On U.S. Pullout

SAIGON, Jan. 14 (UPI).—The U.S. Secretary of the Army Robert Froehke, told South Vietnamese officials today that the United States "can carry on a war in a foreign land for just so long... and obviously [that time] is close to elapsing."

The secretary, completing a six-day tour of South Vietnam before going to Thailand, also said he thinks the enemy would like to launch some military moves short-

He declined comment on Nixon's new withdrawal announcements, saying he had not been advised exactly what figures would be before Washington a week ago.

At a news conference, Mr. Froehke said he "Vietnamization is working, the Vietnamese like it, and the Americans—especially those who spend a significant amount of time working with Vietnamese forces—destroyed by American on Wednesday, another missile fired at a U.S. Army observation plane the same day. The plane evaded it.

Disclosure of the missile near the DMZ—from which can strike 30 miles or more in South Vietnam—came in a site just above the DMZ farthest south the Command have moved an anti-aircraft since 1968.

Increase in Attacks

The stepped-up attack against American air coincided with a general increase in Communist attacks in Indochina, leading up to Army Secretary Robert Froehke here on a visit, predicted, be a "spectacular" one shortly. He did not elaborate. Other military officials predicted a major offensive coincide with President Nixon's visit to Peking late next year.

The Communists, who overrun much of Laos, have edged away today at the defenses of the former CIA base Long Cheng in Laos, with artillery and, in South Vietnam, carried out a series of attacks along the central Central Highlands and Mekong Delta. Only in Cambodia was there complete quiet.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman told news "Long Ching has been under tense intermittent fire but base is operational and is being back."

He said the base was "obviously an important stronghold north central Laos, but even for psychological impact, its would not have a major mental effect on the government in Laos."

Two men said a general discussion of mutual interests. Novsky left London and returned at the end of December.

Four Hughes Theories

I WRITE this from — where else? — Las Vegas, having stopped here to watch some friends in a tournament, but also to get the proper setting (flamboyant, arid, improbable) for a piece on the Howard Hughes case.

I shall be eager to read those deathless autobiographical outpourings of his when the Clifford Irving book appears — and doubtless it will appear, despite all the bother about the Hughes interview. On whether the book is authentic my vote is yes or at least I hope so. I have a tilt toward believing Irving, whose only quirk seems to be four marriages, but who has never on the record deliberately crossed up, backtracked, mystified and obfuscated his doings and identity, while Hughes has.

We will all pounce on the book for some light on the puzzle of the Hughes personality — although God knows why, since all he has done has been to make a pile of money, act as a spoiled delinquent and hole up wretchedly in a series of hideouts surrounded by enough security guards to protect Golda Meir in Cairo.

Most interesting men invent themselves. Hughes did it not by the quality of mind or taste, but by cultivating distance and mystery on the sound principles that those qualities fascinate us.

Who is Howard Hughes? He has so completely mystified everyone that this isn't an absurd question. I have heard one theory that Hughes is dead, and that the man Irving has seen, or the man with the disembodied voice, is a puppet or impostor. Aside from that I see three possibilities. One is that there are two men, the first the real Hughes, the second a dead-ringer for the first, like the fellow who is a look-alike for Richard Nixon. The second is that there is one Hughes, with a split personality (as in the classic case histories) and that he commutes between his two halves, now playing one role, now the other. The third is that there is indeed only one Hughes, who talked unwarily to Irving, revealed too much, and now wants to extricate himself by denying everything.

I incline toward the last, which has the advantage of economy and fits what we know of Hughes in the past. But the real question is less about Hughes than about us. Why do we make quite so much fuss over him?

He is an original, an eccentric. The British have produced more eccentrics than we have, possibly because the British aristocracy felt secure enough to nourish them. In the United States it is mostly the very rich who have that feeling of security, because their wealth gives them the right to be a bit kooky as well as very arbitrary and very rude.

I enjoy originals and eccentrics, but I prefer them when (like Nubar Gulbenkian, the Armenian oil millionaire who just died) they have a good time in life, rather than a bleak time, like Hughes. Some of my sentimental friends make a virtue of his silences. But if silence alone is valued to a man the future would belong to the catatonics. No, the stuff of the Hughes legend is that he made all those billions, and yet lived the emptiest and most barren kind of life, immured in a hotel suite, touched with the world only through a palace guard of male secretaries.

What a contrast to someone like Gulbenkian, who also invented a personality but who enjoyed every pound and penny of his fortune, and embraced life in a full-bodied way. I like every individual orchestration of life that makes something unique out of the raw material given to us all. In that sense I value the bizarre imprint that Hughes has given to his life.

But it isn't enough to have shown the knack for making money, or to be obsessed with secretiveness and withdrawal. Someone like Ezra Pound has also withdrawn from life, almost totally. Yet in Pound's earlier life, there was the gift of creativeness, with poems to leave behind, which show that someone caught glimpses of beauty and complexity that can be handed on. What has Hughes created, other than a plane that was a flop and some movies that stank?

A Most Significant

THE RULING by U.S. District Judge Robert R. Merhige Jr. that the schools of Richmond, Va., which are 70 per cent black, must be merged with those of two adjacent counties, which are 91 per cent white, and the whole must be regarded as a unit for the purposes of integration means throughout the United States the federal government brush aside what has known as "de facto" segregation and impose a substitute.

The theory behind the decision, just rendered — which course, has yet to be sustained by the Supreme Court of the United States — is that the states have approved a kind of discrimination when they allowed districts with predominantly white schools to grow up alongside of districts where school enrollment is almost entirely black.

If this were a natural development, as it is claimed to be in many northern states, then "de facto" segregation still can be justified. If the states with the districts in which the population is mostly black — "de jure" segregation — which has been a violation of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution.

The big question is whether the states were involved in the

House Passes Bill to Limit Political Campaign Spending

By Richard L. Lyons

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (WP).
—The House overwhelmingly passed and sent to President Nixon today a major bill to hold down campaign costs and fully disclose the source and use of political money. The vote was 334 to 19.

The measure, which was moved to the brink of passage last session, is the first important reform in federal campaign spending law since 1925. President Nixon has said he will sign it.

The bill repeals the existing law, with its unrealistic and generally ignored spending ceilings.
The new legislation imposes no overall limit on campaign spending, but does set a ceiling on money spent on television and other costly advertising media.

Candidates for federal office would also be limited in the amount of their own money they could spend on their campaigns.
Every contribution of more than $100 would have to be reported.

Limits on Spending

The amounts that could be spent by candidates for President and Congress on broadcasting, newspapers, magazines, billboards
and mass telephone appeals would be limited to 10 cents per voting-age person. No more than 60 percent of this could be spent on broadcasting.

The effect would be to limit presidential candidates this year to spending $3.4 million on television. In 1968, $12.6 million was spent on television in support of Mr. Nixon's candidacy. Democrats spent half that amount.

The bill takes effect 60 days after it is signed into law. This means that money spent on the March primaries in New Hampshire and Florida would be exempt, as would fund-raising events held during that time.

In another congressional development, Rep. Roman C.
Pucinski, D., Ill., proposed that taxpayers be allowed to subtract from their federal taxes half the cost of tuition for children attending private grade and high schools.

Rep. Pucinski said his bill, which he introduced today, would help pave the way for passage of a general aid program for public schools, which he proposed in a bill last year.

N.Y. Court Bars
Sale of a Hughes
Book This Week

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (NYT).—
A book publisher was temporarily
enjoined yesterday in the State Supreme Court from distributing a purported autobiography of Howard R. Hughes pending a hearing Friday.

The order directed Hippocrene Books, Inc., to show cause on Friday as to why it should not be permanently enjoined from selling the book, entitled "My Life and Opinions," by Mr. Hughes, and edited by Robert P. Eaton.

The complaint was brought by Rosemont Enterprises, Inc., a
Nevada corporation set up by Mr.
Hughes to act as a repository
for all his autobiographical material. Attorneys for Rosemont have charged that the Eaton material is "fraudulent."

George Blagowidow, president of Best Books Press, a division of Hippocrene, said that the disputed book was already "in circulation." Earlier in the day, a spokesman for the book company said the book would be out tomorrow and in "selected book stores" by Friday.

arise only in time to show up
for their first class or work detail.

Weekend Passes

Furthermore, recruits will continue to receive weekend passes during the final month of their training. Drill sergeants, however, may withhold the passes of men who do not train properly
during the week.

The tightening up of the basic training program is scheduled to go into full effect on Feb. 14. At that time, the Army also intends to lengthen the training program by three days, in addition to adding courses in weaponry, communications, escape and evasion and character guidance. The amount of classroom lecturing will be reduced in favor of more
"hands-on," performance-oriented training.

Chicago Indicts
AWOL Soldier
In Bomb Planting

CHICAGO, Jan. 19 (AP).—
Ronald Kaufman, an AWOL soldier with a doctorate in psychology, was indicted here yesterday by a grand jury in attempts to bomb three Chicago banks.

Three of the 16 counts in the indictment concerned the planting of time bombs in safety deposit boxes in the Chicago banks. Similar bombs were found in banks in New York and San Francisco.

U.S. Attorney James R. Thompson said the other counts charged Mr. Kaufman with possession of unregistered firearms—the explosive devices placed in the three banks—with the construction of illegal explosive devices and with the sending of threats to damage and destroy property.

The FBI said that fingerprints taken from the bombs identified Mr. Kaufman as the man who placed them in safe deposit boxes in a plot to free what were described as political prisoners.

Mr. Carr would only say that his object was to find out personally the position of the two sides, still wide apart on the miners' demand for wage increases of up to 47 percent and the board's offer 7.9 percent. But it is believed Mr. Carr hopes to find ground on which to bring the two sides together.

Truck Attacked

At Ipswich, northeast of London, two miners and a student from Essex University were arrested during violent clashes between police, miners and students today as the pickets tried to stop a truck carrying imported coal from the local docks. The truck's windshield was smashed and its coal dumped on the road.

The 200 miners involved in the picketing of Ipswich and Colchester docks have traveled several hundred miles from their homes in Yorkshire and are staying on the campus of the university at the invitation of the students. A miners' representative said another 1,000 miners were being sent to join the pickets.

Students at Kent University also are cooperating with the miners and taking part in picketing at docks in Dover.

Life, McGraw-Hill Decide to Delay On Hughes Book

Life, McGraw-Hill Decide to Delay On Hughes Book

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (Reuters).—McGraw-Hill Book Co. and Life magazine said they are holding up publication of the Howard Hughes "autobiography" pending completion of a thorough investigation.

In a joint statement they said that this investigation has developed questions concerning the identity of the holder of the bank account at the Swiss Credit Bank in Zurich in which checks made out to "H. R. Hughes" were endorsed and deposited.

They also said they had filed an action with the appropriate Swiss authorities in an effort to obtain full details.

The companies said they believed that the material in their possession contains the "authentic language and words" of Howard Hughes. But, they added, the questions concerning the bank account must be fully resolved before publication.

Life and McGraw-Hill said their attorneys have informed Judge Gerald P. Culklin of the New York State Supreme Court of the questions that have arisen and of the steps they have taken in Zurich.

Greek Defendant Alleges Torture As Trial Opens

ATHENS, Jan. 20 (Reuters).—Ioannis Kyriazis, 29, a house painter standing trial before a military tribunal, has alleged he was tortured during interrogation.

Mr. Kyriazis and seven other young defendants are accused of making time bombs and planting them in central Athens. The trial opened today.

They are alleged to belong to the Pan-Hellenic Liberation Movement (PAK), founded in exile by Andreas Papandreou. The indictment says that two of the group established a bomb-making workshop in Stockholm and smuggled the bombs into Greece by car.

Mr. Kyriazis's allegation was submitted to the court in a written statement. It was not read out in court, but defense lawyers said Mr. Kyriazis claimed security officers tortured him during interrogation.

All the defendants denied they had any connection with the outlawed Greek Communist party.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (WP).—The House overwhelmingly passed and sent to President Nixon today a major bill to hold down campaign costs and fully disclose the source and use of political money. The vote was 334 to 19.

The measure, which was moved to the brink of passage last session, is the first important reform in federal campaign spending law since 1925. President Nixon has said he will sign it.

The bill repeals the existing law, with its unrealistic and generally ignored spending ceilings. The new legislation imposes no overall limit on campaign spending, but does set a ceiling on money spent on television and other costly advertising media.

Candidates for federal office would also be limited in the amount of their own money they could spend on their campaigns. Every contribution of more than $100 would have to be reported.

The amounts that could be spent by candidates for President and Congress on broadcasting, newspapers, magazines, billboards and mass telephone appeals would be limited to 10 cents per voting-age person. No more than 60 percent of this could be spent on broadcasting.

The effect would be to limit presidential candidates this year to spending $8.4 million on television. In 1968, $12.6 million was spent on television in support of Mr. Nixon's candidacy. Democrats spent half that amount.

The bill takes effect 60 days after it is signed into law. This means that money spent on the March primaries in New Hampshire and Florida would be exempt, as would fund-raising events held during that time.

prise only in time to show up for their first class or work detail.

Weekend Passes

Furthermore, recruits will continue to receive weekend passes during the final month of their training. Drill sergeants, however, may withhold the passes of men who do not train properly during the week.

The tightening up of the basic training program is scheduled to go into full effect on Feb. 14. At that time, the Army also intends to lengthen the training program by three days, in addition to adding courses in weaponry, communications, escape and evasion and character guidance. The amount of classroom lecturing will be reduced in favor of more "hands-on," performance-oriented training.

Chicago Indicts AWOL Soldier In Bomb Planting

CHICAGO, Jan. 19 (AP)—Ronald Kaufman, an AWOL soldier with a doctorate in psychology, was indicted here yesterday by a grand jury in attempts to bomb three Chicago banks.

Three of the 16 counts in the indictment concerned the planting of time bombs in safety deposit boxes in the Chicago banks. Similar bombs were found in banks in New York and San Francisco.

U.S. Attorney James R. Thompson said the other counts charged Mr. Kaufman with possession of unregistered firearms—the explosive devices placed in the three banks—with the construction of illegal explosive devices and with the sending of threats to damage and destroy property.

The FBI said that fingerprints taken from the bombs identified Mr. Kaufman as the man who placed them in safe deposit boxes in a plot to free what were

N.Y. Court Bars Sale of a Hughes Book This Week

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (NYT).—A book publisher was temporarily enjoined yesterday in the State Supreme Court from distributing a purported autobiography of Howard R. Hughes pending a hearing Friday.

The order directed Hippocrene Books, Inc., to show cause on Friday as to why it should not be permanently enjoined from selling the book, entitled "My Life and Opinions," by Mr. Hughes, and edited by Robert P. Eaton.

The complaint was brought by Rosemont Enterprises, Inc., a Nevada corporation set up by Mr. Hughes to act as a repository for all his autobiographical material. Attorneys for Rosemont have charged that the Eaton material is "fraudulent."

George Blagowidow, president of Best Books Press, a division of Hippocrene, said that the disputed book was already "in circulation." Earlier in the day, a spokesman for the book company said the book would be out tomorrow and in "selected book stores" by Friday.

Publishers Defer Hughes Story Until Check Recipient Identified

NEW YORK (UPI) — McGraw-Hill Books and Life magazine will delay publication of billionaire recluse Howard Hughes' purported autobiography until they have obtained "information that is completely satisfactory" as to who actually received the money they paid for publication rights, it was announced Thursday.

In a surprise joint statement, McGraw-Hill and Life said they had informed the State Supreme Court, in which publication of the autobiography is in litigation, of "the questions that have arisen" about a Swiss bank account in which two payment checks to Hughes were deposited. (Related story, Page 5.)

Hughes' attorneys and a disembodied voice identified as Hughes' in a telephone interview have denied Hughes wrote the autobiography or received the checks. Furthermore, veteran Hughes aides said he always signed his name Howard Hughes or Howard R. Hughes, and never H.R.

Hughes as the checks were endorsed.

"McGraw-Hill and Life have been conducting a thorough and continuing investigation of all aspects of the Howard Hughes manuscript," the statement said. "This investigation has just developed questions concerning the identity of the holder of the bank account at the Swiss credit bank in Zurich in which checks made out to Hughes were endorsed and deposited.

"We have therefore filed an action with the appropriate Swiss regulatory authorities in an effort to obtain full details. Until we have obtained information that is completely satisfactory to us both McGraw-Hill and Life are holding in abeyance action on the publication of the Howard Hughes manuscript."

It has been reported Hughes, 66, received about $600,000 for the publication rights, $250,000 of it from Time Inc. for a three-part serialization which was to have begun in Life magazine Feb. 11. McGraw-Hill had scheduled publication of the book in hardcover March 10.

Publication has been opposed by Chester Davis, chief counsel for the Hughes Tool Co., the umbrella for Hughes' industrial holdings, and by Rosemont Enterprises, a Nevada corporation allegedly formed by Hughes in 1965 as a repository for all material concerning his life story. State Supreme Court Justice Gerald P. Culkin has taken under advisement their application for a temporary injunction against publication.

A spokesman for the Hughes Tool Co. in Los Angeles said, "We'd like to point out that within 24 hours after Chester Davis was given access to copies of the checks deposited in a Swiss bank, Hughes representatives were able to establish that the 'H. R. Hughes' involved is not the Howard Hughes who is owner of the Hughes Tool Co., Houston, Tex."

The spokesman said Davis had sought access to the checks for the past six weeks. It added pointedly that it was "worth noticing that the publishers' handwriting expert is on record with his opinion that the signatures and the letters to the publishers (authorizing publication), supposedly from Howard Hughes, were written by the same person."

The autobiography is purported to have its origin in taped interviews with Hughes by novelist Clifford Irving. According to affidavits submitted to Culkin, Irving interviewed Hughes over a nine-month hearing in Beverly Hills and Palm Springs, Calif., Pompano Beach, Fla., San Juan, P.R., Oaxaca, Mexico, and Nassau in the Bahamas, where Hughes is believed to live in a closely guarded hotel penthouse.

Irving has deposed that in a last meeting near Miami, Fla., Hughes was ill and gasping from some serious respiratory ailment.
