Chief DOERRIE requested FBI involvement due to the fact that the calls originated from FL and that Mr. BROOKS is involved in supplying the government with protective (body armor) vests. Chief DOERRIE also stated that Mr. BROOKS is involved in governmental security issues deemed "sensitive."

On 5/5/94, writer contacted DAVID H. BROOKS, Chairman, BROOKS INDUSTRIES, 20 Red Ground Road, Old Westbury, NY 11568, telephone numbers (516) 626-0360 and (516) 626-1877, regarding captioned matter. Mr. BROOKS reiterated the fact that due to the sensitive nature of some of his governmental contracts in dealing with protective apparel products, he feels somewhat vulnerable and would like to have the person or persons prosecuted.

Mr. BROOKS advised he was in contact with the Old Westbury Police Department, furnished statements and expended $1,000.00 of his personal money in order to assist the Old Westbury Police Department in their investigation.

Mr. BROOKS stated for peace of mind sake, as well as any safety precautions he may now have to employ, he considers

Mr. BROOKS was advised of the Federal violation, Title 18, Section 875 (Interstate Communications) and the facts, as known, would be presented to the US Attorney's Office, EDNY, Garden City, NY for a prosecutorial opinion.

Federal Bureau of Investigation

Melville, N. Y. 11747

Dear [redacted]:

This letter is a follow-up to our telephone conversation of today. Mr. David Brooks, 20 Red Ground Road, Old Westbury, is the owner of P.A.C.A. (bullet proof vests). According to Mr. Brooks, his company supplies vests to various federal agencies (Navy, Army, F.B.I., A.T.F., etc.) under government contract.

On March 29, 1994 at 1918 hours, Mr. Brooks' [redacted] received a telephone call from an unknown male threatening to [redacted]. One minute later she received another call from the same individual with a similar threat.

On March 30, 1994 at 0242 hours, a male caller called David Brooks and stated [redacted].

This Department initiated an investigation based on aggravated harassment 2nd, PL 240.30. David Brooks voluntarily paid $1000 for a [redacted] which were obtained through a subpoena issued by A.D.A. [redacted] Nassau County District Attorney's Complaint Bureau.

The [redacted]

[redacted] Another subpoena was issued [redacted]

[redacted] A third subpoena was issued [redacted]

[redacted] A fourth subpoena was issued [redacted]

All three calls were made from telephone number 305/648-6699, which is owned by Majory S.R.L. Inc., 100 W. Cypress Creek Road, Suite 1040, Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, telephone number 305/776-3444.

A subsequent call to Mr. George Lefcourt, an officer of the company, resulted in a phone call from his attorney, [redacted] in Forest Hills, telephone number [redacted] [redacted] pleads attorney client privilege and refuses to give the name of the caller, who apparently is an employee of Majory.

b7C

Mr. Brooks feels that there is a possibility that the threats may be connected to his business dealings with the government through P.A.C.A.

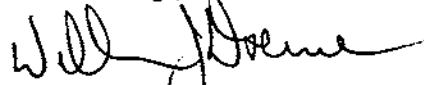

We could obtain another subpoena for a list of employees of Majory. However, they probably would not comply with a New York subpoena based on a misdemeanor. This is not an extraditable offense.

We are requesting FBI involvement due to the fact that the calls originated from Florida and Mr. Brooks is involved in supplying the government with vests. He also states that he is involved in some security sensitive issues with the government.

A list of employees of Majory S.R.L., Inc. should put this case to rest. I understand that it is a small company with only five employees. Brooks will probably recognize one of the names.

Thanking you in advance for your assistance in this matter.

Sincerely,

William J. Doerrie

Title: PARTIAL ZYLON BALLISTIC PROTECTIVE
UNDERGARMENT REPLACEMENT (BPU)
POLICY AND PROCEDURE

Synopsis: To set forth the policy and procedures for the replacement of partial Zylon BPUs.

Enclosure(s): List of BPU replacement recipients.

Details: During FY 2003 and FY 2004 the Bureau purchased [REDACTED] BPUs from Point Blank Body Armor Incorporated (PBBAI) and issued these BPUs to New Agent Trainees, Special Agents and Support Employees. These BPUs, model number [REDACTED] were manufactured using a blend of fibers, including the fiber Zylon. Zylon is a synthetic manmade fiber, manufactured by Toyobo Company (TC) of Japan. In 1998 and 2001 TC advised the American BPU industry of serious potential problems with the Zylon fibers. TC warned that Zylon fibers tend to weaken quickly under certain conditions. TC stated that exposure to "visible light", heat and humidity can potentially cause the fiber to lose up to 65 percent of it's strength. In November of 2003, Attorney General John Ashcroft requested the National Institute of Justice (NIJ) to immediately initiate a review of the existing certification process of Zylon based BPUs. Subsequent testing conducted by NIJ on BPUs manufactured with Zylon fibers issued and worn in the field by officers of 37 Law Enforcement Agencies in 19 states, found that there was an unexpected decrease in Zylon fiber strength after the BPUs had been shot during testing.

In November of 2004, NFPU's Ballistic Research Facility conducted similar tests on twenty five BPU's brought in from various Field Offices (FOs). These BPUs were from different climactic regions. During this testing, five of the twenty BPUs failed. A BPU is considered to have failed if the projectile that is fired defeats the ballistic material by penetrating completely through it. The documented loss in strength of the Zylon fibers has potentially contributed to death of one police officer, numerous civil actions and industry recalls of BPUs manufactured with Zylon fibers. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

It is incumbent upon the FBI to provide it's personnel with BPUs that when exposed to normal working conditions, to include normal handgun projectile impacts, do not degrade in strength or quality. The documented history of the Zylon fiber has proven it does not perform the function it was originally designed for, which is to defeat specific handgun rounds fired into a BPU worn by law enforcement personnel. Therefore, the Firearms Training Unit and the National Firearms Program Unit (NFPU) have determined the BPUs purchased from PBBAI during FY 2003 and FY 2004 must be replaced as quickly as possible with a BPU that has been manufactured without Zylon fibers.

The current purchase order, [REDACTED] is with PBBAI and has funds available to replace [REDACTED] BPUs of the [REDACTED] originally purchased. The remaining [REDACTED] BPUs will be purchased from Custom Armor Technologies (CAT), this will be funded with a combination of NFPU and FTU budget monies. The Field Office Principal Firearms Instructor (PFI) will handle receiving the replacement BPUs, distribution and the return shipment of the partial Zylon BPUs back to PBBAI.

b7E

No BPUs should be shipped to NFPU at Quantico without prior approval from Body Armor Program Manager, [REDACTED]

b6
b7C

The procedure for the BPU exchange with PBBAI will be executed as follows:

PBBAI has manufactured BPUs based on the original anatomical measurements for the FBI personnel on the enclosed list, the replacement BPUs, model [REDACTED] will be shipped by PBBAI to the FO PFI. The PFI will exchange the replacement BPUs for the partial Zylon BPUs. When all BPUs have been exchanged, the PFI

b7E

To: All Divisions From: Training and Development Division
Re: 66F-HQ-A1355287-ARMOR, 06/23/2005

will document the serial numbers of the partial Zylon ballistic panels being returned in a memo and ship the BPUs to Point Blank Body Armor Inc., 2102 S.W. 2nd Street, Pompano Beach, FL 33069, ATTN: [REDACTED] RA #FBI100 (shipping office). Example: RA#FBI100 (New York). Also, the exterior of the box should be marked as to it's number and the total number of boxes in the shipment. Example: Box 1 of 4. A copy of the memo should also be forwarded to [REDACTED] at NFPU.

The procedure for the BPU exchange with CAT will be executed as follows:

CAT will manufacture BPUs based on the sizing sheets provided. The PFI will measure those personnel on the enclosed CAT BPU replacement list. The PFI will retain the sizing sheets until all personnel in the FO have been measured. Once all personnel have been measured, the sizing forms are to be returned to [REDACTED] at the NFPU. When the replacement BPU arrive (45 to 60 days) at the FO, the PFI will exchange the replacement BPUs for the partial Zylon BPUs. When all BPUs have been exchanged, the PFI will document the serial numbers of the partial Zylon ballistic panels being returned in a memo and ship the BPUs to Point Blank Body Armor Inc., 2102 S.W. 2nd Street, Pompano Beach, FL 33069, ATTN: [REDACTED] RA #FBI100 (shipping office). Example: RA#FBI100 (New York). Also, the exterior of the box should be marked as to it's number and the total number of boxes in the shipment. Example: Box 1 of 4. A copy of the memo should also be forwarded to [REDACTED] at NFPU.

Additionally, PFIs will need to identify any PBBAI BPUs purchased by any Units or Squads within their respective FO to determine if the BPU is the partial Zylon model number [REDACTED]. If any additional BPUs are located, they should be replaced with current FO inventory until the original purchasing Unit can make arrangements to replace the BPU.

SSA [redacted] met with [redacted] to turn over to him a list of [redacted] names of individuals who need to have new body armor manufactured for them. This new body armor will replace Zylon blend body armor the FTU has determined does not meet current FBI test protocols for body armor.

b6
b7C
b7E

As previously discussed and agreed to with Point Blank, the new body armor will be manufactured and shipped directly to the field division of the recipient. The body armor being replaced will be returned to Point Blank for destruction/disposal.

Additionally, SSA [redacted] turned over to [redacted] [redacted] sets of body armor initially issued to individuals who did not complete training. Point Blank will credit the FBI for these [redacted] sets. SSA [redacted] advised [redacted] he would ship him [redacted] additional sets of body armor Point Blank manufactured for [redacted] individuals in New Agent Class 05-02. SSA [redacted] determined these [redacted] sets of body armor did not fit properly and needed to be replaced. Point Blank will credit the FBI for these [redacted] sets of body armor as well.

b6
b7C
b7E

As a result of crediting the FBI for [redacted] sets of body armor, Point Blank will manufacture a total of [redacted] sets of body armor. The FBI will be billed for only [redacted] sets.

b7E

[redacted] also confirmed the FBI had received Point Blank's bid for the cost of disposing of old, unserviceable body armor. SSA [redacted] advised he was in receipt of the bid.

b6

Negotiating the return and credit for the above mentioned [redacted] sets of body armor represents a savings of [redacted] dollars to the Government. Additionally, SSA [redacted] has negotiated with the current provider of body armor, Custom Armor Technologies, to credit the FBI for [redacted] sets of body armor returned to the company. This credit represents a savings of [redacted] to the Government.

On January 30, 2005, Supervisory Special Agent (SSA) [REDACTED] met with [REDACTED] DHB Industries, Inc. (parent company of Point Blank body armor) and [REDACTED] Government Program Manager for Point Blank, at the Excalibur Hotel, Las Vegas, Nevada. Point Blank is a manufacturer of Ballistic Protective Undergarments (BPUs) from whom the FBI purchases BPUs. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss several issues concerning the future purchase of BPUs to replace Zylon blend BPUs currently in use by the FBI and to discuss the disposal/destruction of old, unserviceable BPUs.

b7C

[REDACTED] telephonically contacted SSA [REDACTED] to request this meeting as a result of an unproductive meeting with Point Blank representatives at the SHOT Show held at the Las Vegas, Nevada Convention Center.

b6

SSA [REDACTED] advised [REDACTED] the FBI has an existing purchase order with [REDACTED] BPUs remaining on it. These BPUs will be purchased to replace Zylon blend BPUs currently in use by FBI Agents. SSA [REDACTED] further advised the FBI would provide the names of Agents requiring a replacement BPU and Point Blank would manufacture the BPU using size information on file. Point Blank would ship the BPUs directly to the field and the partial Zylon BPUs would be shipped, at FBI expense, to Point Blank for destruction and disposal at no cost to the Government. [REDACTED] agreed to this arrangement.

b7E

SSA [REDACTED] inquired as to whether Point Blank has the capability to destroy/dispose of old, unserviceable BPUs, and if so would the company entertain submitting a contract bid for this service. [REDACTED] advised Point Blank has this capability and will submit a bid when asked to do so by the FBI.

Marines recall thousands of combat vests Report stirs concerns over whether they'll stop bullets

The Marine Corps is recalling more than 5,000 combat vests issued to troops in Iraq, Afghanistan and Djibouti after a published report raised concerns that the vests failed a test to determine whether they could stop a bullet.

THE MARINES SAID in a statement they are recalling the 5,277 vests to alleviate any doubts caused by a Marine Corps Times article published Monday, but service officials insisted they do not believe the vests are faulty.

A company spokesman for Point Blank Body Armor of Pompano Beach, Fla., which makes the vests, told NBC News, "We stand by our product. ... We do not know of any casualties or injuries related to the vest."

The armor in question is called the Outer Tactical Vest and is part of the Interceptor body armor package issued to troops in combat zones. The vest, when combined with protective plates, is designed to stop a rifle round.

Without the plates, the vest should still provide some protection against 9 mm pistol rounds and fragments from an explosion. But several vests manufactured by Point Blank Body Armor fell short of the Marines' standards during testing in 2004, according to Capt. Jeff Landis, a Marine spokesman.

The Marine statement described an urgent need for the vests as Marines prepared to deploy.

Major offensive kills scores of Iraqi insurgents.

Most Point Blank vests passed the tests, but the Marine liaison to Point Blank recommended the service reject the production lots of those that failed — numbering thousands of vests in total, according to memos, dated in mid-2004, obtained by the Marine Corps Times and reproduced on the Internet. The Marines then tested vests from those lots again at another test range, and they passed, Landis said. Marine officials issued waivers allowing the vests to go to the troops, but decided to recall the vests from the field when they learned of the imminent article.

Overall, about 181,000 Kevlar vests have been issued to Marines

Overall, about 101,000 kevlar vests have been issued to Marines. Each costs $525, Landis said.

In one memo obtained by the Times, James MacKiewicz, a Marine technical adviser, complained of "major performance and quality assurance problems" with Point Blank's products.

However, Landis said the Marines are satisfied with the company's performance and its vests.

Company backs its vests

"Point Blank stands by its products," said Ish Burks, a spokesman for Point Blank's parent company, DHB Industries. "The vests are performing in the only test that matters — live combat. There have been no reported failures in the field."

Landis said the recall was going out to commanders in the field. Troops will have to check tags on their vests to see if they are from the recalled lots. Then they can exchange their vests for new ones.

But NBC News Pentagon correspondent Jim Miklaszewski said that may be harder than it sounds. "The problem is that it may be difficult to trace each individual vest from the suspected lot, and therefore impossible to tell which Marines are wearing what government experts believe are potentially defective vests," he reported Monday on "Nightly News."

The Associated Press and NBC News Pentagon correspondent Jim Miklaszewski contributed to this report.

[redacted] General Counsel, Union of Needletrades, Industrial, and Textile Employees (UNITE), 1710 Broadway, New York, New York, was interviewed at his place of employment. Also present during the interview was [redacted] of the Research and Corporate Affairs Department at UNITE, and [redacted] from the SECURITIES and EXCHANGE COMMISSION (SEC).

b7C

After being advised of the identity of the interviewing agent and the nature of the interview, [redacted] and [redacted] provided the following information:

b6
b7C

UNITE is very active in the representation and unionization of textile employees in Southern Florida. UNITE is active in unionizing textile employees who are primarily new immigrants from Haiti and the Caribbean, and who are working in sub par conditions at factories.

Index
08/06/03
[redacted]

b6
b7C

UNITE was contacted about a year ago by textile employees who worked for POINT BLANK. POINT BLANK is located in Oakland, Florida, and is a division of the Long Island company DHB. POINT BLANK manufactures ballistic protective garments, such as bullet proof vests.

The workforce at POINT BLANK wanted to unionize because they felt that they were subject to unfair pay and working conditions. Representatives from UNITE went to the POINT BLANK plant and met with the employees. UNITE provided the employees with cards for the employees to fill out that would authorize UNITE to represent them if the majority of the workers supported unionization. The majority of the POINT BLANK workers voted to have UNITE represent them in an attempt to unionize.

UNITE met with the management of POINT BLANK to explain that the workers at the plant wanted to unionize. At this meeting was DAVID BROOKS, CEO of DHB, and [redacted] the [redacted] of POINT BLANK. BROOKS and [redacted] did not take well to the idea of the workers at POINT BLANK unionizing, and fired a female POINT BLANK worker who was leading the efforts to unionize.

After the firing of the worker, the POINT BLANK employees continued to try to organize a union. POINT BLANK then fired additional employees involved in the unionization efforts. The workers at POINT BLANK then voted to strike, and were on the pickets lines from summer of 2002 to February of 2003.

UNITE filed charges with the labor relations board charging POINT BLANK, and its parent company DHB with unfair labor practices. POINT BLANK continued to function due to the hiring of scab employees and nonunionized workers.

In February of 2003, the labor board went to Federal Court in Florida to get an injunction against DHB. The Federal Court in Florida ordered all of the striking workers to return to work while the court was reviewing the case facts.

In July of 2003, a Federal judge in South Florida ruled that DHB and POINT BLANK had engaged in unfair labor practices in the firing the employees who wanted to unionize. The Federal judge ordered DHB to rehire all of the fired employees and to pay them approximately $300,000 in back wages. The fired employees are awaiting re-hiring by POINT BLANK. DHB has stated that they will appeal the order by the judge.

In February of 2003, at the same time that the striking workers returned to POINT BLANK, DHB opened up another textile plant for POINT BLANK in South Florida. DHB hired all new employees who were non union supporters.

During the time period of January or February of 2003, DHB had received a major contract with the United States military to supply them with Interceptor vests. DHB shifted all of the work on this vest from the Oakland plant to the new factory. Presently only police type vests are made at the old factory.

In an attempt to put pressure on DHB to allow unionization in the Oakland plant, UNITE performed extensive due diligence on DHB. UNITE discovered that DAVID BROOKS and [REDACTED] had a past history of insider trading during the time period in which they ran another company.

b7C

UNITE began to investigate irregular trading in DHB stock which occurred the day before the announcement was made regarding the opening of the new facility in Florida. [REDACTED] stated that there was a high level of trading of DHB stock the day before the announcement and the stock prices rose on the following day when DHB also announced that they had been awarded a large government contract for Interceptor vests.

UNITE also discovered that DHB failed to notify the SEC of the resignation of one of its board members or the inter-relationships between BROOKS and the other members of the DHB board.

UNITE also alleged that DHB did not advise the SEC of the relationship it had with the rental company of its facility in Tennessee. DHB was renting a huge warehouse from a company owned by [REDACTED] DAVID BROOKS for another DHB subsidiary called PACA. UNITE discovered that the rent being charged by [REDACTED] company was over the going market rate for space in that area in Tennessee. UNITE estimated an overpayment by DHB to [REDACTED] rental company of approximately $628,000 over a two year rental period, based on other comparable market rates for rent.

b7C

DHB ultimately made an SEC disclosure regarding the rental company owned by [REDACTED] and stated that they thought that they were paying the market rate to her company.

b6
b7C

[REDACTED] pointed out that this was an example of DAVID BROOKS putting more DHB money into his and his family's pocket. In February of 2003, UNITE made a formal complaint to the SEC regarding the above allegations.

b6
b7C

[REDACTED] stated that DHB was not a widely held company, and that only 30-40 percent of the company's stock was owned by outsiders, with the rest of the stock held by BROOKS and his family.

b6
b7C

DHB disclosed in the 2001, 10K report that DAVID BROOKS was paid $10,000 dollars in non-salary compensation. However, DHB did not disclose the nature of the compensation.

In April of 2003, UNITE made a second complaint to the SEC about DHB. These complaints involved irregular trading of DHB stock on February 25, 2003. On that day the DHB stock value went up 6 percent and there were 50,000 shares sold that day. The following day DHB announced in an 8K that they had received an extension on a revolving line of credit.

196C-NY-285785

Continuation of FD-302 of [REDACTED]

, On 8/1/03

b6

In addition, UNITE complained that DHB failed to notify the SEC of an inquiry by the Pentagon into the quality of the Interceptor vests. The Pentagon was looking into allegations that DHB had used low quality kevlar in the vests, in addition to allegations of switching the size tags on the vest to meet specific order demands.

In June of 2003, UNITE made a third complaint with the SEC regarding DHB. This complaint alleged that DHB failed to disclose the existence of Tactical Armor Products (TAP), a company [REDACTED] TAP transacted over $7.6 million dollars of business with DHB as a manufacturer of armor plates for vests. TAP was also located in the same production facility of another DHB subsidiary called PACA. These companies were located in the warehouse in Tennessee rented by the company [REDACTED].

Synopsis: Provide Economic Crime Unit with summary of captioned case.

Details: For information of FBIHQ, DHB INDUSTRIES (DHB) is a publicly held company based in Carle Place, New York. DHB manufactures and supplies body armor to the United States military, and other government entities, to include the FBI. Many of the vests are produced under the DHB brand name POINT BLANK BODY ARMOR.

In June of 2003, an investigation was initiated by the FBI predicated on information obtained from the Union of Needletrades, Industrial, and Textile Employees (UNITE), who were engaged in ongoing civil litigation with DHB and POINT BLANK BODY ARMOR, and the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) in Miami, Florida who were investigating several allegations of misrepresentations by DHB on SEC filings.

Since the inception of the Iraqi War in March of 2003, DHB has been granted huge government contracts with the Department of Defense and is the primary supplier of body armor to the United States military.

It is alleged that DHB did not disclose to its shareholders through SEC filings, and the Department of Defense, the existence of the related company TACTICAL ARMOR PRODUCTS (TAP). TAP [REDACTED] DAVID BROOKS, the CEO of DHB. All corporate functions of TAP, as well as the books and records, are maintained out of the offices of DHB in Carle Place, New York.

TAP is the supplier of the ceramic plates used in the "Interceptor" vests manufactured by DHB. The Interceptor vests are the protective body armor utilized by the Department of Defense for combat forces in Iraq and elsewhere.

New York Division, Long Island RA, is currently investigating allegations that DHB used the entity of TAP and their bank accounts to divert funds and funnel money for the personal expenditures of the BROOKS family, to the detriment of shareholders. These personal expenditures include the purchase of luxury items, and the expenses of running several horse racing businesses.

On February 10, 2005, a meeting was held with agents from the Defense Criminal Investigative Service (DCIS), New York Division, who will be working jointly in this matter investigating allegations of contract fraud with the United States Military.

DCIS, Florida Division, performed an initial investigation targeting any quality issues concerning the Interceptor vests. To date, there have been no known quality deficiencies with the body armor. However, DCIS will continue to investigate any allegations of defective or nonconforming vests supplied to the military.

A thorough analysis of the bank, corporate, and financial documents of DHB, as well as all of the BROOKS related companies is being conducted jointly by the FBI and the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) to determine the extent of any corporate or government fraud associated with the diversion of funds through the DHB related entities.
