Case Summary: In June 2011, William and Lorraine Currier went missing from their home in Essex, Vermont, under suspicious circumstances. In April 2012, the Anchorage Division was investigating a separate kidnapping/murder investigation. During an interview of Anchorage's subject, the subject confessed to murdering the Curriers. Information provided by the subject led investigators to an abandoned farmhouse in

Re: 306-AN-15642, 07/16/2012

Essex, Vermont, where the subject claimed to have left the Curriers' bodies. Investigators determined that the abandoned farmhouse was torn down in October, 2011, and the contents of the farmhouse was tracked to having been sent to the Coventry Landfill, in Newport, Vermont.

Since May 7, 2012, ERT team members from numerous divisions across the FBI, along with members of the Vermont State Police and the Essex, Vermont Police Department, have been searching the Coventry Landfill for the remains of William and Lorraine Currier. The search is being conducted with consent of the landfill owner, New England Waste Services.

On 07/16/2012, a long bone fragment was found by the ERT searchers. The long bone fragment is being forwarded to the Trace Evidence Unit's Forensic Anthropology Program for analysis, specifically to determine if the long bone fragment is human.

If the long bone fragment is human, it is requested that the Laboratory conduct appropriate DNA examinations to develop a DNA profile for comparison to known DNA profiles of Bill and Lorraine Currier. DNA profiles were developed, by the Vermont Forensic Laboratory (VFL), from alternate reference samples for Bill and Lorraine Currier, during the Essex Police Department's Missing Persons investigation. These profiles are available for comparisons. All VFL reports for their DNA examinations are available for review, if needed. (NOTE: The victim DNA profiles available for comparison were discussed between Albany/Burlington RA's SA [REDACTED] of the FBI Laboratory, in mid-June 2012.)

Synopsis: (U) Anchorage is requesting the assistance of the Seattle Division Evidence Response Team (ERT) to search a boat belonging to subject Israel Keyes.

Details:

For background, Samantha Koenig was kidnapped from her place of employment by Israel Keyes on 02/01/2012. Keyes confessed to the kidnapping and murder of Koenig and has since been charged federally with kidnapping which resulted in the death of Koenig. Koenig's remains were recovered in Matanuska Lake, Alaska.

On 03/13/2012, Israel Keyes was arrested in Lufkin, TX after using an ATM card associated with Samantha Koenig. Since being transported back to Anchorage Keyes has been cooperating with law enforcement, providing additional information about other crimes including kidnapping and murder. Keyes confessed to the kidnap and murder of William and Lorraine Currier in Essex, VT on 06/08/2011. Currently the FBI and Vermont authorities are conducting a search of a landfill in Coventry, NY where the Currier bodies are believed to be.

In subsequent interviews, Keyes indicated he was responsible for two homicides in the state of Washington. Keyes told agents about a fishing boat he owned that was used in the crime and that it may still have blood/DNA evidence on it. Keyes owned and used this boat in 2005 and 2006. Keyes gave agents permission to seize the boat. Immediately after that interview, Anchorage agents talked with SA [redacted] from the Poulsbo RA and he seized the boat which is currently maintained in indoor storage in Seattle.

During several follow-up emails and telephone calls, SA [redacted] advised ERT Senior Team Leader [redacted] of the pending search. Information was provided about the areas of the boat that Keyes believed there was likely to be blood evidence. Keyes also provided information about other pieces of evidence that may be in the boat and of interest to law enforcement.

The search of the boat will occur via consent from Keyes. The Anchorage Division intends to adhere to State of Washington law as it applies to consent searches in the event these homicides are prosecuted by the state. Subsequently, Keyes will be at the Anchorage Division for the entirety of the consent search of the boat. Keyes will be advised of the search and provided the opportunity to limit the scope of the search and withdraw his consent at any time during the duration of the search.

Anchorage is requesting Seattle ERT conduct a search of Keyes' boat. A number of items to search for have been discussed with SA [redacted] to include blood, bone fragments, knives, tools, cement blocks, and ropes.

Methods:

The determination of whether skeletal remains are human or non-human in origin is typically based on examination of gross bone morphology, looking for features or landmarks that are consistent with human or non-human species. In some cases, additional techniques such as quantitative assessment (measurement), microscopic examination, or comparison to published literature or exemplars may be employed.

In this case, the item was examined visually.

Results of Examinations:

Item Q9 is a bone (rib) of non-human origin. No further anthropological examinations were conducted.

Limitations

The conclusions that can be reached regarding human or non-human origin are dependent on the condition and completeness of the skeletal material. Results based on fragmentary or poorly preserved material may be inconclusive.

Remarks:

This report concludes the anthropological examinations conducted by the FBI Laboratory. The item will be returned under separate cover at the completion of the laboratory examinations. Details:

On 4/16/2012 and 4/17/2012, the writer made contact with employees of Casella Waste Services, Inc. for the purpose of determining the current location of demolition waste removed from 32 Upper Main Street, Essex, Vermont. This demolition waste was brought to All Cycle Waste, Inc., a waste transfer station, at 220 Avenue B, Williston, Vermont (owned by Casella), on the dates of 10/25-27/2011.

The demolition waste is believed to have included the bodies of William and Lorraine Currier. According to information developed to date, the Curriers were murdered at 32 Upper Main Street and their [REDACTED] in the basement of the house.

On 4/16/2012, the writer spoke to [REDACTED] a Casella Customer Service representative, at the All Cycle transfer station. [REDACTED] advised that the transfer station intakes waste that is then shipped in tractor trailer loads to a landfill located in Coventry, VT. Incoming waste haulers are first weighed on a scale and then dump their waste on a floor at the station. The waste is then loaded from the floor with a back hoe into a tractor trailer. Tractor trailers loaded with waste are then brought to Casella's landfill located in Coventry, Vermont.

According to [redacted] on 10/25/2011, 13 tractor trailer loads (395 tons) of trash were filled; on 10/26/2011, 13 tractor trailer loads (400 tons) were filled; on 10/27/2011, 13 tractor trailer loads (356 tons) were filled.

[redacted] referenced "Tickets" in Casella's database which showed [redacted] haul truck (i.e., the hauler used to haul waste from the demolition of 32 Upper Main Street) bringing loads to the transfer station. [redacted] truck was identified by its plate number (BEK509). [redacted] account is a cash account in Casella's system (distinguishing it from belonging to a customer that has a billed account).

[redacted] review of the transfer station's records for [redacted] haul truck showed 10 incoming trash hauls on Tuesday, 10/25/11 (this was later determined to be 9 trips upon further examination of Casella records by the writer); 8 on Wednesday, 10/26/11 and 2 on Thursday, 10/27/2011 (this was later determined to be 4 trips in total upon further examination of Casella records by the writer).

On the same date, the writer made contact at the Scale House of New England Waste Services of Vermont, Inc., 21 Landfill Lane, Coventry, Vermont (aka the Coventry, VT landfill owned by Casella) and met with Scale House employee [redacted] the landfill Operations Manager. The writer was advised that waste that came to the landfill at the end of October 2011 would be at the top of a cell that was closed at the end of October 2011. Nothing was put on top of that cell after it was closed. A cell is about 3x5 acres at its base and about 80-100 feet deep.

The area of the landfill related to the date range in question is approximately 10-12 feet deep, 300 feet long and about 150 feet wide. A new cell was started at the beginning of November 2011.

The Coventry landfill takes in approximately 1400-1600 tons of waste per day. Waste is delivered from many other areas of Vermont besides the All Cycle transfer station in Williston, VT, to include waste from Bennington, Manchester, Sunderland, Highgate, Middlebury, Hyde Park, Bethel, and Stowe. Waste is also brought in from Goblins, NH.

When a shipment of waste arrives at the landfill, it is weighed on scales and the truck and the trailer numbers are written down. The trailer's contents are then tipped into the landfill. A bulldozer pushes in the pile in levels 2-3 feet deep. Sewage/sludge is put over the waste which is then rolled into the waste with a Caterpillar. A compactor with a blade (a 121,000 lb. vehicle with 6 inch spikes on its wheels) levels and compacts the waste. Batcheleer or another landfill operator is on watch during this process. The writer was advised that it is unlikely that the landfill employees would not have seen human remains going into the landfill since they are always alert for items that should not go into the landfill, such as tires.

During this meeting, the writer was contacted by [REDACTED] Associate General Counsel for Casella, who advised that he wished to be present during any contact with Casella employees regarding this matter. A meeting was scheduled at the Coventry landfill for the following morning.

On 4/17/2011, the writer met with [REDACTED] Casella Regional Safety Manager, and [REDACTED] the Coventry landfill manager. The following information was obtained during this meeting:

The landfill is open Monday through Friday, 6:30 am to 4:00 pm, and Saturdays 6:30 to 11:30 (though most Saturdays the landfill is not open). The landfill is closed on Sundays. If waste leaves the All Cycle transfer station after 1:30 pm, it likely will not be tipped into the landfill until the next day.

The landfill has two different "tipping fees." Municipal Solid Waste (MSW) is less than Construction and Demolition waste (C&D). If the waste comes separated as such, it will be charged accordingly.

Re: 306-AN-15642, 07/17/2012

During the period in question, no pure C&D loads were taken in the landfill. Pure C&D loads are dumped separately and used to build roads. It would be extremely difficult to pin down the location of anything that came in with a pure C&D load.

Once a year a new cell is built. Tipping in the new cell began around November 1, 2011.

Once a year, a fly-over of the landfill is conducted by an aerial mapping company. The landfill then gets a plan with topographical detail based on the date the fly-over photos were taken. This helps the landfill with data regarding tonnage and airspace being used. The yearly fly-over was conducted on 10/28/2011.

The State of Vermont Agency of Natural Resources is the regulatory agency overseeing the landfill. [REDACTED] are points of contact at this agency.

The writer was provided with a topographical map of the landfill showing a rough estimate of the area in question: an area 100 x 400 feet and 12 feet deep (40,000 square feet; 18,000 cubic yards/Areas shown on the map as 2A or 2B - Area 2C was the new cell started in November 2011). During the dates of 10/25 - 10/27/2011, waste was being dumped in the same area.

On the same date, the writer, along with Casella employees [REDACTED] [REDACTED] met at the All Cycle transfer station in Williston, Vermont. At this location, a meeting was held which also included [REDACTED] an Environmental Compliance Manager for Casella. [REDACTED] also stepped into the meeting to provided information at times.

The writer learned that MSW and C&D waste are not separated at the All Cycle transfer station. Both types of waste are mixed together in the same tractor trailer loads that are then shipped to the Coventry landfill.

Re: 306-AN-15642, 07/17/2012

C&D material suitable for recycling, such as clean wood and metal, is removed from the waste at the All Cycle transfer station and is shipped separately to a C&D recycling plant in Epping, NH by the name or Errco. It is highly unlikely human remains (or bags containing them) would go to Errco.

Certain materials that should not go into the landfill, such as hazardous materials, are pulled out of the waste at All Cycle, if they are seen.

truck delivered 55 tons of waste to All Cycle during the date in question, at $119.00 a ton, for a total cost of $6,545.

C&D waste can stay overnight on the floor of the transfer station. All MSW must be off the floor. The last tractor trailer load leaves the transfer station around 1 - 2 pm. A tractor trailer load may leave the transfer station and be brought to the landfill after the landfill is closed. Under such circumstances the load will be left there and tipped into the landfill the following day. A tractor trailer load can also be filled and stay overnight at the transfer station.

The writer was taken to the area of the transfer station where the waste is dumped, sorted and loaded for shipment to the Coventry landfill. The writer observed the operations of this facility for approximately 10 minutes while details were explained by the aforementioned Casella employees.

The transfer area is a large covered/partially enclosed structure. The front of the structure is open to allow for the dumping of waste onto the floor of the structure. Facing the structure, a tractor trailer was observed, parked long-wise along on the left side. Piles of waste were observed along the back of the structure. A backhoe was constantly loading the aforementioned tractor trailer from the piles of waste.

Waste was being delivered and dumped onto the floor of the covered area. After a load was dumped, a small group of workers hand-picked clean C&D recyclable material from the load and placed these materials into a pile in the back on the far right side of the covered area.

This material was suitable for shipment to Errco, the C&D recycling plant in NH. After being picked, the dumped waste was then pushed back into the back piles by a small bulldozer. MSW material went into one pile and C&D material went into a separate pile. As previously noted, the Errco material went into a pile on the far right.

As a tractor trailer is being filled, MSW waste goes in first and C&D waste is put on top. Waste is not necessarily first in/first out in terms of being loaded into the tractor trailer after it arrives. Since the tractor trailers are first loaded with MSW, followed by C&D waste, the transfer station may wait until it has enough of one or the other type of waste to balance the tractor trailer load.

The writer observed a group of items set to the side that had been removed by All Cycle workers because they were prohibited from going into the landfill.

The writer was advised that waste that had a particularly strong odor would not draw attention since the workers are accustomed to the strong odors of waste.

The writer observed a load of C&D material brought into the transfer station and dumped on the floor. The load contained filled plastic garbage bags among other waste material. The plastic bags were not opened or examined. The workers quickly sorted through the material for clean recycling for Errco and then the load, including the bags, was pushed to the back.

Based on the writers observations and discussions with Casella employees, the demolition debris brought to All Cycle from 32 Upper Main Street most likely would have all been tipped into the Coventry landfill by 10/28/2011. [REDACTED] advised that the possibility remains that the waste did not get there until 10/31/2011.

Here is a map of the landfill site. It was prepared by the landfill's engineers to show where they were dumping on the relevant dates: Oct. 25, 26, 27 and 28. I'm heading off to the USAO to see if they can print it out in the correct dimensions.

I know [redacted] will talk to you more about Tuesday, but just as a heads up - the landfill is arranging for you to meet with [redacted] the landfill manager, at the landfill on Tues. for your site survey.

Call me if you have any questions in the meantime.

Here is [redacted] cell number: [redacted]

Casella is collecting the data regarding All Cycle. I will have it Monday and will make sure you have it by Tuesday.

[redacted] called the excavator, this is what he told her about what he observed:

- Two mattresses (full/queen and a twin) and an older three-seater couch (doesn't remember color).
  - Walls were not sheet rock – he used the word “stucco.” He may have meant plaster - I came across a lot of horse-hair plaster during the first search.
- He did remember much more.

Good Morning [redacted]

Attached are the inbound tons for All Cycle Transfer for the period requested. I can give you the tons by customer, but unfortunately, we don't have by town for Chittenden County. All the towns in Chittenden County are in district towns, so there isn't a need to track by town. I did the pivot table by customer and origin as far as which district it is for. Let me know if you have any questions or need anything else.

Thanks.

On Thursday, July 19, 2012, [redacted] date of birth (DOB) [redacted] SSAN [redacted] residence at [redacted] Edmonds, Washington, cellular telephone number [redacted] was interviewed at a coffee shop located in Edmonds, Washington. After being advised of the identity of the interviewing Agents and the nature of the interview, [redacted] provided the following information:

[redacted] currently works for the Lynnwood Waste Water Treatment Plant and has been working there since January 2008. Prior to this position, [redacted] worked for the Makah Tribe at their Waste Water Treatment plant in Neah Bay, Washington from February 2002 until he departed Neah Bay for his current position.

Davisson met Israel Keyes on his first day of work for the Makah Tribe. [redacted] recalled that both he and Keyes were sitting together in the Tribe's Administrative building, waiting to meet with [redacted] their new supervisor. [redacted] advised that they held different positions but were both supervised by [redacted] noted that [redacted] was the Supervisor of the Waste Water Treatment plant for some time.

[redacted] advised that his position was one where he had a lot of down time if things at the treatment plant were running smoothly. During those times, [redacted] would assist Keyes, noting that Keyes spent his first two years on the job "building stuff." [redacted] also advised that their work desks were positioned next to each other so they saw each other almost every day.

[redacted] recalled that Keyes was in a relationship with [redacted] when they first met. [redacted] thought they were a "good couple" until [redacted] identified himself and [redacted] as Keyes' closest friends. Keyes enjoyed boating, camping, and even went zip-lining in Belize one time.

[redacted]

After his relationship with [REDACTED] fell apart, Keyes dated a few different women before settling into a relationship with [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] identified one of those in-between girlfriends as [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] recalled that when Keyes began dating [REDACTED] he "broke-up" with the other women and was devoted to [REDACTED].

[REDACTED] stated that when Keyes and [REDACTED] first moved to the reservation, [REDACTED]. After [REDACTED] was in a vehicle accident and their relationship broke down, Keyes rented a home located just down the road from the Tribal Police Department.

[REDACTED]

Keyes did not talk about his Army "buddies" specifically by name but sometimes shared stories about them. [REDACTED] recalled that Keyes had talked about the Ranger "flunkies" who would be assigned to his unit and how they were not very good soldiers. Keyes appeared to like the Army and only intended to serve for four (4) years.

[REDACTED] was asked about what he knew about Keyes' brands. [REDACTED] recalled that during a barbeque, there was some banter between Keyes and [REDACTED] about Keyes' brands. Keyes was teasing [REDACTED] that he was going to get him drunk and brand him. In the end, Keyes got drunk and branded himself. [REDACTED] believed that this was the smiley face brand on Keyes' arm. Keyes used a coat hanger to make the branding iron. [REDACTED] understood that some of Keyes' other brands were obtained when he was in the Army.

When asked about what he knew about Keyes' family life and upbringing, [REDACTED] advised that Keyes was born "off the grid" noting that Keyes did not have a social security number when he was child and that his parents were "Pilgrims" who bounced from one extreme religious sect to another, eventually settling down in an Amish community in Maine.

[REDACTED] advised that Keyes' father passed away some years ago and recalled that Keyes' seemed to be emotionally upset and took some time off from work to cope with the loss. Keyes would tell stories about his father and upbringing but did not seem to show any emotional attachment to them. [REDACTED] did not know Keyes to have been abused by his parents but did know that they were reportedly "strict discipliners."

When asked about other emotional or physical stress or trauma that Keyes may have experienced, [REDACTED] pointed out that Keyes' Army Unit served a tour in Egypt. [REDACTED] an Army veteran himself, pointed out the high mental stress that a deployment in a country like Egypt would have on an individual.

Keyes purchased his boat in the Spring of 2005. During this time he was dating [REDACTED] recalled that Keyes had to do some work on the boat initially but did not recall it being a big project. [REDACTED] recalled that Keyes did some tubing on Lake Ozette and Beaver Lake. [REDACTED] speculated that Keyes could have visited Lake Crescent as well, but had no first hand knowledge of this.

In regards to vacations, [REDACTED] recalled that Keyes had gone on some wine tours in Central Washington. [REDACTED] did not recall Keyes making visits to the East side of Washington and did not believe that Keyes had any family or land there. [REDACTED] did recall that Keyes had some land in the State of New York.

Keyes came from a large family but only seemed close to his two younger sisters. [REDACTED] recalled that one of them wanted to run away and Keyes told her "No", and indicated that he would come and get her if it came to that. [REDACTED] did not recall any of Keyes' family ever coming to Neah Bay to visit.

[REDACTED] did not recall Keyes ever displaying or discussing any deviant or criminal behavior and stated that he was not aware of Keyes' arrest and indictment in Alaska.

[REDACTED] last spoke with Keyes in June of 2008 when he bumped into Keyes on the Kingston/Edmonds ferry. [REDACTED] checked his cell phone and provided the following telephone number as the last number that he had for Keyes: 907-301-3412. [REDACTED] stated that after Agents initially reached out to him, he tried to call Keyes at this number but advised that the number had been changed.

[REDACTED] stated that Keyes did not have a personal cellular phone when he worked in Neah Bay but noted that they both had Tribe issued cellular phones which they would make personal phone calls from.

[REDACTED] described Keyes as a "fun" drunk which he noted was why he liked to hang out with him. In light of his upbringing [REDACTED] commented that Keyes seemed "well adjusted for everything going on in his life" and seemed to handle stress well.

[REDACTED] did recall a domestic violence incident between Keyes and [REDACTED] did not know any of the details and advised that he had heard about it from [REDACTED] who had overheard Keyes' and [REDACTED] names on the police scanner. [REDACTED] noted that [REDACTED] currently works in Port Angeles, Washington.

[REDACTED] recalled that Keyes use to be a hunter growing up, recalling that Keyes once told him that fifty percent of his family's meat came from wild game. However, [REDACTED] did not know Keyes to be a hunter in recent years. [REDACTED] recalled that Keyes had a few firearms, recalling a Ruger 10/22 rifle, a "nice" air rifle, and a .32 caliber Iver Johnson handgun, which he further described as a "Saturday night special." [REDACTED] stated that when Keyes moved to Alaska, he left the .32 caliber handgun with [REDACTED] because could not travel through Canada with handguns. [REDACTED] is around [REDACTED] years old and is [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] further described Keyes as a very good butcher, noting that Keyes would help him slaughter lambs which [REDACTED] use to raise on the Reservation.

Date of entry 07/17/2012

On Friday, July 6, 2012, [redacted] date of birth [redacted] [redacted] cellular telephone number [redacted] was interviewed at the Makah Tribal Center Administrative Building in Neah Bay, Washington. After being advised of the identity of the interviewing Agent and the nature of the interview, [redacted] provided the following information:

[redacted] was asked about historical time and attendance records for Israel Keyes. [redacted] was not sure if those records still existed, but advised that time sheets would have been kept by the tribe's accounting office. [redacted] was asked if he recalled specific vacations which Keyes took while working for the tribe. [redacted] recalled that Keyes went "back east" at least once, noting that Keyes reportedly owned land in New York State.

During a discussion of Keyes' work history with the tribe, [redacted] advised that after working for the Tribe's Parks and Recreation department, Keyes worked for the Tribe's Business Enterprise department. [redacted] advised that Keyes' personal file would have further information regarding his employment with that particular department.

[redacted] was asked about Keyes' visit to Neah Bay on a return trip from California. [redacted] recalled two trips to California. In July 2010, Keyes stopped in Neah Bay on his way back from California. It was during this visit that Keyes' retrieved a handgun which [redacted] had been keeping for him.

On another trip, Keyes stayed at the Best Western which was located South of SeaTac. [redacted] understood that Keyes had been on a wildlife and winery tour in California. [redacted] recalled that [redacted] was with him during this visit. [redacted] believed that [redacted] was also with Keyes also, but [redacted] was not completely sure.

[redacted] clarified that [redacted] had rented a house in Sequim, Washington, then left for Alaska, and that Keyes followed her up to Alaska approximately one year later.

In Neah Bay, Keyes and his [redacted] rented a house from [redacted] currently lives in this same house which is located just down [REDACTED] did not recall Keyes having ever owned a mountain bike.

[REDACTED] further identified [REDACTED] as [REDACTED] cellular telephone number [REDACTED] was asked if he had spoken with [REDACTED] since learning of Keyes' involvement with the kidnapping of the Alaska barista earlier this Spring. [REDACTED] stated that he had not been in contact with [REDACTED] but saw an online news article where a [REDACTED] [REDACTED] had posted comments to a story about the case. [REDACTED] would not say what [REDACTED] comments entailed, but indicated his disapproval of what [REDACTED] had written.

[REDACTED] was asked about some photographs that he had mentioned during a prior interview. [REDACTED] stated that he did not have the photographs, but indicated that [REDACTED] had taken them. These photographs were taken during a boating trip with Keyes.

[REDACTED] was not familiar with Keyes' Army buddies and did not know Keyes to have kept in contact with them.

[REDACTED] stated that he thought he had seen [REDACTED] walking downtown yesterday. [REDACTED] has not had any recent contact with her.

[REDACTED] stated that when they would visit Lake Ozette, Keyes would usually use the boat launch which was located next to the Tribe's fish counter and the Park Office. Keyes would sometimes camp in the park and would set up a tent or rent one of the cabins. The only other lake that [REDACTED] knew Keyes to have been on was Beaver Lake, which is located off of Highway 113 on the way back to Forks or Port Angeles, Washington. [REDACTED] recalled that once, while fishing Beaver Lake, he saw Keyes [REDACTED] fishing the lake from their boat.

[REDACTED] was asked if, knowing what he knows now, if he recalled any comments or actions by Keyes which may have been indications of odd behavior or criminal activity. [REDACTED] joked that they were all a bit "odd" but did not recall anything in particular.

Details:

For background, Samantha Koenig was kidnapped from her place of employment in Anchorage, Alaska by Israel Keyes on 02/01/2012. Keyes confessed to the kidnapping and murder of Koenig and has since been charged federally with kidnapping which resulted in the death of Koenig. Koenig's remains were recovered in Matanuska Lake, Alaska.

On 03/13/2012, Israel Keyes was arrested in Lufkin, TX after using an ATM card associated with Samantha Koenig. Since being transported back to Anchorage Keyes has been cooperating with law enforcement, providing additional information about other crimes including kidnapping and murder. Keyes confessed to the kidnap and murder of William and Lorraine Carrier in Essex, VT on 06/08/2011.

In subsequent interviews, Keyes indicated he was responsible for additional homicides in multiple states. The Anchorage Division is currently attempting to identify additional victims and locate their remains.

Keyes reported the first violent sexual assault he committed occurred in approximately 1996 or 1997. Keyes was 18 or 19 years old at the time. Keyes was doing construction on a house his parents purchased in Maupin, Oregon. The home was near the Deschutes River and he spent a significant amount of time at the river. Keyes staked out a remote area on the Deschutes River in Wasco County that served as a stop over or rest area for people tubing down the river. The area had a permanent outhouse structure a short distance from the river. Keyes stated he sexually assaulted a female who was between [redacted] years old in the outhouse. The female was part of a small group of girls tubing and Keyes grabbed her after the other girls in her group went around a bend in the river. The sexual assault took approximately one hour. Afterwards, he put the victim on her tube and sent her down river. Keyes thought the victims first name was [redacted] He did not know if the incident was ever reported to law enforcement.

Anchorage is requesting assistance in contacting the local authorities in this area to determine if the sexual assault was reported and the identity of the victim. Anchorage is requesting discretion when contacting the local authorities and that agents not disclose the identity of Israel Keyes at this time. Anchorage is also requesting the assigned agent contact SA [redacted] cell [redacted] prior to making contact with local authorities for additional information/updates.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date of entry 07/12/2012

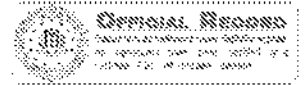

On 5-16-2012, ISRAEL KEYES, date of birth (DOB) 1-7-1978, was interviewed at the FBI Building 101 E. 6th Ave, Anchorage, Alaska. Present were Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) Task Force Officer (TFO) [redacted] Assistant United States Attorney (AUSA) [redacted] and AUSA [redacted] KEYES provided the following information:

AUSA's [redacted] present KEYES with a "plan" to keep moving forward with receiving information from KEYES. KEYES expresses concern about the media attention that could be attached to the information he provides law enforcement about "other" things and jurisdictions he provides. KEYES told law enforcement that the scale of search that may be required to find others could be larger than that occurring in Vermont.

KEYES tells law enforcement that he is responsible for a bank robbery in Tupper Lake, New York on April 10th, 2009 and that he buried another body in the state of New York. KEYES tells law enforcement the weapons cache he had in Vermont was also somehow involved in the earlier "trip" as well. KEYES tells law enforcement that remains "should be" able to be found. KEYES first mentions he owned a boat in Washington, KEYES mentions that Washington State may be a good "back up" plan for him to get what he wants. KEYES does not identify the victim buried in New York.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date of entry 07/12/2012

On 4-17-2012, ISRAEL KEYES, date of birth (DOB) 1-7-1978, was interviewed at U.S. Attorney's Office, 222 W. 7th Ave, Anchorage, Alaska. Present were Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) Task Force Officer (TFO) [redacted] FBI Special Agent [redacted] Assistant United States Attorney (AUSA) [redacted] and AUSA [redacted] KEYES provided the following information:

KEYES told law enforcement about an arson and bank robbery he committed in Texas. KEYES burglarized and burned a home in Aledo, Texas the morning of February 16th. Keyes told law enforcement that after searching through the home for several hours he took some jewelry and other items before setting it on fire. Keyes had been in Aledo looking for a bank to rob, after the fire he decided to rob a bank in another town several miles away. Keyes then conducted a takeover armed robbery of a bank in Azle, Texas where he got away with almost $10,000 which he described as not all that much money for a robbery. KEYES described himself as being "out of control" for several days in Texas.

Keyes also told law enforcement more details about his "plan" in Vermont with the Curriers. Keyes told law enforcement that he originally planned on car jacking someone, someone with a decent vehicle so he could rob several banks the next day. Keyes described a male who he had almost taken that had pulled in to an apartment building near-by driving a yellow Volkswagon bug. Keyes told law enforcement that he was actually looking for a male to take this trip. Keyes gave more details of the Currier abduction and the time leading up to his entry in to their home.

Keyes provided law enforcement the names of several people he served in the Army with who law enforcement may eventually want to talk to. Keyes also told law enforcement about a cat he shot when he was a teenager, he realized at that time he was somewhat different then others. Captioned interview was audio recorded.

KEYES was informed by law enforcement the location where he left the Curriers bodies on Route 15 in Vermont was demolished and investigators planned to search the site. Keyes provides law enforcement with a detailed description about where in the home he left the bodies.

KEYES told law enforcement where the weapons cache is buried in New York which contains the weapon used to kill Mr. Currier. Using Google Maps, KEYES directed law enforcement to the reservoir where he disposed of the barrel of the murder weapon and the gun stolen from the Currier home.

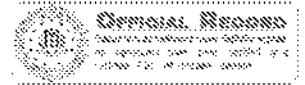

Keyes told law enforcement that Bill Currier died as a result of gun shots, Keyes did not disclose how he killed Lorraine Currier. Keyes told law enforcement that he burned a suit case full of items he took from the Curriers home in a campground in New Hampshire. Keyes described cell phones, identification cards, credit cards and some jewelry as some of the items that may have been inside the suit case.

Keyes discussed in detail his buried caches and how he prepares them so that his weapons remain operable while buried. The captioned interview was audio recorded.

The search was conducted over a span of three business days. Additionally, an inventory was conducted of the remaining items in the shed. At the end of each day's search, the shed was locked and secured.

SA [redacted] served as evidence custodian and took custody of all evidence items at the conclusion of the search. The shed was locked and secured. The search concluded at approximately 2:58 pm on 7/23/2012. Administrative note: the photograph sequencing on the camera displayed #1-126. Due to an unknown reason, after downloading the photographs from the compact flash card onto a DVD, the photograph sequencing is displayed as #4-129. The original CD was placed in a 1A and submitted to the case file.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date of entry 07/23/2012

On July 18, 2012, Special Agent (SA) [redacted] and SA [redacted] placed a bilge pump (Item 17, 1B225) and a bag of rope (Item 18, 1B226) in the drying cabinet in the temporary evidence storage room within the Evidence Response Team's (ERT) off site facility. These items were collected from a 1982 Bayliner boat which Seattle ERT searched on July 18, 2012.

The plastic bag containing the rope was unopened, in its original sealed condition, but tears in the bag allowed the rope inside to become saturated with water. SA [redacted] opened the bag and spread the rope out on a shelf in the drying cabinet to expedite its drying. The room containing the drying cabinet was locked at approximately 4:36 p.m. A room entry log was placed on the door.

On July 19, 2012 at approximately 1:40 p.m., SA [redacted] and Field Photographer [redacted] opened the drying cabinet. The bilge pump and the bag of rope were placed in individually labeled bags. The drying cabinet filters and the butcher paper placed on its floor to capture trace evidence were placed in a new bag (Item 1, 1B228 - the first and only item collected on July 19, 2012).

SA [redacted] delivered these three items to the Evidence Control Center in the Federal Bureau of Investigation Seattle office. The room entry log was enclosed in a FD-340 envelope.

Synopsis: (U) To request receiving divisions' assistance in locating and interviewing individuals who served in the military with Keyes.

[Redacted]

b7E

Details:

For background, Samantha Koenig was kidnapped from her place of employment in Anchorage, Alaska by Israel Keyes on 02/01/2012. Keyes confessed to the kidnapping and murder of Koenig and has since been charged federally with kidnapping which resulted in the death of Koenig. Koenig's remains were recovered in Matanuska Lake, Alaska.

On 03/13/2012, Israel Keyes was arrested in Lufkin, TX after using an ATM card associated with Samantha Koenig. Since being transported back to Anchorage Keyes has been cooperating with law enforcement, providing additional information about other crimes including kidnapping and murder. Keyes confessed to the kidnap and murder of William and Lorraine Carrier in Essex, VT on 06/08/2011.

In subsequent interviews, Keyes indicated he was responsible for additional homicides in multiple states. The Anchorage Division is currently attempting to identify additional victims and locate their remains.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date of entry 08/06/2012

On August 2, 2012, a search of the Woodside Natural Area, Essex, Vermont, a public natural area which is part of the Winooski Valley Park District, was conducted by FBI Albany Division personnel and Essex Police Department Detectives. The search was conducted to locate a shovel and a wooden box left in the area by Israel Keyes.

The area where these items were left was described by Keyes in an interview conducted by law enforcement in Alaska. The details, to include GPS coordinates (Latitude 44.501900; Longitude -73.137951) were provided in an e-mail messages sent from SA [redacted] of the Anchorage Division to SA [redacted] of the Albany Division/Rutland, Vermont Resident Agency.

The e-mail, dated July 20, 2012, stated that Keyes "parked on Woodside Valley Drive and walked down a trail to Winooski [phonetic spelling corrected in this FD-302] Park. The shovel is above ground by lying on an indentation because that is where he pulled his cache from. The box that the cache was in might also be there. He wasn't happy with it because it wasn't as water proof as he wanted it to be."

Prior to the August 2, 2012 search, a site survey of the Woodside Natural Area was conducted by SAs [redacted] on July 31, 2012, based on the above information. During the site survey, SAs [redacted] located the general search area with a Google Maps satellite image of the GPS points.

Following the site-survey, SA [redacted] requested SA [redacted] provide any additional details regarding the location of these item. In an e-mail message, dated July 31, 2012, from SA [redacted] to SA [redacted] additional details were forwarded, to include:

"As you drive on Winooski Road towards the detention center on the right hand side there is a gated road that goes to the river/boat launch. But you can't park there. Walk down that road and take first walking trail on the left. Straight ahead "the trail turns to that junction." There will be several 90's (degree turns?) Lots of leafy trees. Hole where the box was. Metal detector should find the shovel."

Continuation of FD-302 of Search of Woodside Natural Area . On 08/02/2012 . Page 2 of 3

Utilizing the information from the aforementioned e-mail messages, the August 2, 2012 search was conducted.

The search team met, at approximately 8:30 a.m., on Woodside Drive at the gated entrance to the river/boat launch access road of the Woodside Natural Area.

The search team included the following personnel/roles:

SA [REDACTED] (FBI Albany) - Team Leader/Search

SA [REDACTED] (FBI Albany) - Photographer/Search

Intern [REDACTED] (FBI Albany) - Search

Detective [REDACTED] (Essex PD) - Search

Detective [REDACTED] (Essex PD) - Search

At 8:37 a.m., the search team entered the park from the gated entrance and walked in a southeast direction down the river/boat launch road. The team turned left in a northwest direction onto a marked trail called Woodside Loop. Woodside Loop is wooded trail that is about 1 mile in length. The trail was followed for approximately 15 minutes at which point the trail curved south and was covered by wooden planks. The wooden planked trail led south to a junction (i.e. a "T" intersection), where 90 degree turns, either to the east or west, were observed.

Followed west, the trail eventually leads back to the aforementioned marked entrance (i.e., completing the loop). The western direction was clear and well-maintained, whereas the eastern direction was less distinct and not clearly maintained. However, a trail map of the the Woodside Natural Area, located online, shows the trail leading both east and west from this junction. Just south of the junction is a slope that leads to the Winooksi River.

In the area of the junction a handheld GPS device was used by SA Emmons, which showed the location as having a match to the coordinates identified by Keyes. Photos of this location were taken from all perspectives, turning 360 degrees. Additional photographs of the general vicinity were taken to show the general condition of the immediate area, which had numerous downed trees and piles of natural debris, possibly the result of Hurricane Irene, which struck Vermont in late August 2011.

The search team conducted a line search starting from the wooden planks and heading from west to east across a level area and then up an incline to a slightly higher elevation. The search team then searched the general area of the GPS points. No shovel or box was located nor was an obvious indentation located which fitted the description provided by Keyes.

Detective [ ] used a metal detector during the search which alerted on several areas. Many of these areas were ruled out as nails or remnants of wire fencing. In one particular area, just west of the trail junction, the metal detector indicated that a metal object might be underground.

This area was not fully examined since the search team did not have a shovel. However, this spot was near the base of a tree which would have made digging difficult, and the spot was relatively close to the trail (hence, easily observable from the trail).

The search team also searched an area west of the junction based on an observation that the Google map satellite image appeared to place the location slightly more west. The area searched was in the vicinity of latitude 44.50094 and -73.13649 longitude. Photographs were taken of this location (Photos 28-37). Neither the shovel or box were located in this area nor where any obvious indentations or 90 degree angles in the trail located.

Following the search of the above two areas, a series of photographs were taken (Photos 38 - 58) to show the path of the trail leading to the junction and west beyond the junction. The series begins at the point in which Woodside Loop trail curves to the south (where a sign is posted to the left of the trail stating, "Park Ends Here.") Photos were taken along the southern direction of the trail, along the wooden boards to the junction, and then along the western path of the trail to the point where Fern Loop trail splits off Woodside Loop trail (as indicated on a posted sign).

At the conclusion of the search, photos were taken of the entrance to Woodside Loop trail, of the trailhead/gate area and of a posted map of the trail.

The search was concluded at 11:07 a.m.

Hi [Redacted]

We went through all of the notes from the May 22nd interview and this is what we came up with other than the coordinates. I hope this makes more sense to you guys than it does to us. We also double checked and the coordinates that I sent you were what we had written down in notes.

As you drive on Winooski Road towards the detention center on the right hand side there is a gated road that goes to the river/boat launch. But you can't park there. Walk down that road and take first walking trail on the left. Straight ahead "the trail turns to that junction". There will be several 90's (degree turns?). Lots of leafy trees. Hole where the box was. Metal detector should find the shovel.

Good luck!

Thanks [redacted] I will work on getting the shovel thing going sometime next week. Do you recall which interview it was that he spoke about the shovel?

By the way, re Curriers stuff:

1. I have the hairs from the Currier car in my possession. From the packaging, they don't appear to have been sent to the Vermont lab for any purpose, but I want to verify that before we send them down to the FBI lab. I will work on following up on that early next week as well. (NOTE: Vermont ian does not do any trace analysis but it is possible they looked at the hairs for DNA purposes.)
2. I also have, in my possession, video surveillance (previously obtained by the Essex PD during the missing persons case last summer) for Loews (it was a Loews not Home Depot) and Rite Aid (the pharmacy Keyes mentions). It appears the surveillance videos cover the full day of 6/9/11. The fun part now is for me to see if I can get the video recordings to work on a computer in the RA so that I can view them.

I hope you are doing well. Hang in there and don't forget to take care of yourself. ☺
Have a great weekend,

Keyes said he parked on Woodside Valley Drive and walked down a trail to Woonoski (sorry probably spelled wrong) Park. The shovel is above ground by lying on an indentation because that is where he pulled his cache from. The box that the cache was in might also be there. He wasn't happy with it because it wasn't as water proof as he wanted it to be.

I hope this helps.

Thanks

On Thursday, August 2, 2012, [redacted] date of birth (DOB) [redacted] [redacted] cellular telephone number [redacted] was interviewed at the Makah Administration building in Neah Bay, Washington. After being advised of the identity of the interviewing Agents and the nature of the interview, [redacted] provided the following information:

[redacted] was asked if he would like Israel Keyes' Bayliner boat returned to him if Keyes approved. [redacted] indicated that he would.

[redacted] stated that he did not recall Keyes ever using the boat in saltwater, stating that he was only aware of freshwater use.

[redacted] did not have specific memories of Keyes constructing a number of cement style anchors for the boat. When asked where Keyes would have most likely acquired the cement for such a project, [redacted] stated that Keyes probably used some left over cement from the various Parks and Recreation projects.

[redacted] was asked about Home Depot purchases by employees of the Parks and Recreation Department. [redacted] stated that some purchases are conducted through the Tribal office while others are conducted on an employee's personal credit/debit card which are later reimbursed to the employee. [redacted] acknowledged that the latter method was often practiced and was easier in many ways.

[redacted] had no information concerning any re-carpeting projects on Keyes' boat. [redacted] did not believe that Keyes had done much to fix up the boat after initially purchasing it.

Details:

For background, Samantha Koenig was kidnapped from her place of employment in Anchorage, Alaska by Israel Keyes on 02/01/2012. Keyes confessed to the kidnapping and murder of Koenig and has since been charged federally with kidnapping which resulted in the death of Koenig. Koenig's remains were recovered in Matanuska Lake, Alaska.

On 03/13/2012, Israel Keyes was arrested in Lufkin, TX after using an ATM card associated with Samantha Koenig. Since being transported back to Anchorage Keyes has been cooperating with law enforcement, providing additional information about other crimes including kidnapping and murder. Keyes confessed to the kidnap and murder of William and Lorraine Currier in Essex, VT on 06/08/2011.

In subsequent interviews, Keyes indicated he was responsible for additional homicides in multiple states. The Anchorage Division is currently attempting to identify additional victims and locate their remains.

Keyes provided details about the murder of Bill and Lorraine Currier in Burlington, Vermont. The information provided by Keyes has generated additional investigative leads. Keyes stated he took a number of items from the Currier residence including cellphones, identification cards, jewelry and clothing. Many of these items he burned at a campground in New Hampshire and others he disposed of in a dumpster near his hotel in Burlington. After the murder of the Currier's, Keyes drove the Currier's car to a Lowe's or Rite Aid parking lot near his hotel. He parked the car there while he went to the hotel to clean up. He then returned to the car, attempted to drive it north out of Burlington before deciding to turn around and abandon the car in an apartment complex parking lot. Keyes also described a shovel he used to dig up a cache of guns in Burlington. The shovel was also used in the disposal of another victim in New York. Keyes left the shovel at the cache location in Winooski Park. Keyes used Google Maps to identify the location of the shovel and the GPS coordinates and description of the location were provided to SA [REDACTED]. Anchorage is requesting assistance from the Albany Division in looking for the above mentioned shovel and reviewing the security video at Lowe's and Rite Aid to determine if Keyes story can be corroborated.

A search warrant was obtained to seize hairs from Keyes for comparison with hairs found in the Currier's vehicle. Anchorage is requesting assistance with obtaining the hairs seized from the Currier's vehicle which are in the possession of the Essex Police Department. Once these hairs are obtained, they can be sent to the FBI Laboratory at the same time Anchorage sends the known hairs seized from Keyes pursuant to the search warrant.

Anchorage appreciates the assistance the Albany Division has provided in captioned case to date. Please direct questions to SA [REDACTED] (cell).

On Monday, July 30, 2012, [redacted] DOB [redacted] cellular telephone number [redacted] self-employed IT consultant, was interviewed at the Olympia Resident Agency of the FBI. After being advised of the identity of the interviewing agents and the nature of the interview, [redacted] provided the following information:

[redacted] served in the U.S. Army from July 11, 1988 through July 3, 2001. [redacted] was stationed at Ft. Lewis, Washington from 1998 until he was discharged, and has lived in Olympia since that time. [redacted] resides at [redacted] Olympia, WA, 98512. His business, [redacted] has an office space located at [redacted] Olympia, WA 98502, telephone [redacted]

ISRAEL KEYES (KEYES) was under [redacted] command from some time in 1999 through April of 2000. At that time, [redacted] was the Mortar Section Leader for A company, 1st Battalion, 5th Infantry, and was the Headquarters Platoon Sergeant. KEYES was an 11 Charlie 10, which meant that he was an Infantry Mortar-man, skill level 1. KEYES was an excellent soldier. Of the approximately 30 underlings in [redacted] command, KEYES was the only soldier who could be counted on to do his job. At the time [redacted] left the Army, KEYES' rank was an E-4.

During the time KEYES was under [redacted] command, their platoon served 6 months overseas near the resort town of Sharm el-Sheikh, Egypt as part of MFO-OP39, a group of Multinational Force Observers. After the first 3 months of their deployment, [redacted] was medevaced out of Egypt due to a serious illness, and he was later moved to another command. [redacted] has not seen or heard from KEYES since he [redacted] discharged out of the Army.

KEYES did not have a car and spent most of his free time in the barracks playing video games with his fellow soldiers, most of whom also did not have cars. KEYES was not an introvert, nor an extrovert, but was well liked, and [redacted] has fond memories of working with him. [redacted] did not know KEYES to be a homosexual. KEYES may have had a girlfriend, but [redacted] never saw her. To [redacted] knowledge, KEYES did not use drugs, but he drank heavily and he and the other soldiers sometimes got "hammered."

[REDACTED] remembered KEYES talking about his parents whom he (KEYES) referred to as "nomadic hippies," who moved from "cult to cult to cult." [REDACTED] recalled that, at the time, KEYES' parents were living in Idaho as Amish. KEYES did not like this lifestyle, and left as soon as he was old enough to join the Army. KEYES did not dislike his parents, but did not care for their beliefs. KEYES was close to his younger sisters and was trying to save money to get them out of the lifestyle too. It was never spoken, but [REDACTED] impression was that KEYES or his sisters were abused by their father.

When asked if he knew KEYES' religious beliefs, [REDACTED] noted that KEYES did not go to church, but he thought that he was non-denominational, maybe Protestant, not agnostic or atheist.

The other soldiers KEYES was closest to were [REDACTED] (later identified as [REDACTED] SSAN [REDACTED] aka [REDACTED] (later identified as [REDACTED] SSAN [REDACTED] and First Name Unknown (FNU) [REDACTED] (later identified as [REDACTED] SSAN [REDACTED]). [REDACTED] regularly conducted health and welfare checks on his men, and KEYES never raised any flags.

When asked, [REDACTED] did not recall a soldier named [REDACTED] as being in his platoon. [REDACTED] was not aware of KEYES having any personally owned guns, nor had he ever known KEYES to commit any crimes. [REDACTED] was not aware of KEYES having any brands on his body, but noted the Army would have had a record because all soldiers were searched and photographed for tattoos and body markings.

Until the interview, [REDACTED] was unaware of KEYES' arrest or incarceration for the kidnapping and murder of a barista in Alaska. He thought he was being interviewed as part of a background check so that KEYES could get a clearance to work for the government.

During the interview, [REDACTED] informed the interviewing agents that he had retained a copy of the roster of all of the soldiers from Alpha Company.

On 7-26-2012, ISRAEL KEYES, date of birth (DOB) 1-7-1978, was interviewed at the FBI Building 101 E. 6th Ave, Anchorage, Alaska. Present were Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) Task Force Officer (TFO) [REDACTED], FBI Special Agent [REDACTED] Assistant United States Attorney (AUSA) [REDACTED] KEYES provided the following information:

Law enforcement showed KEYES a list of evidence that was seized from his boat in Washington state. KEYES expressed that he was not happy about how things played out in Vermont. He was upset that the "locals" got involved with the investigation. KEYES told law enforcement that he didn't want all the details of his crimes to go public, however, he understood that the jury would have to hear them. KEYES mentioned that he was getting "bored" with the whole process. KEYES told law enforcement that he didn't want to be charged with the Currier's murder multiple times and felt no pressure to continue to give us information. KEYES told law enforcement that he wants to talk to us about "everything" and knows he has to have his lawyer present for that. Agents offered to call [REDACTED] KEYES lawyer, and Keyes agreed so the interview was stopped. AUSA [REDACTED] contacted [REDACTED] and advised him of the situation.

Law enforcement returned to resume interviewing KEYES with [REDACTED] his attorney is present. KEYES immediately asked about the status of the Koenig case. KEYES stated that he is concerned about the details he gave regarding the Koenig crime getting out to the media. KEYES, [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] discussed a number of legal issues regarding control and dissemination of information in an agreement. KEYES stated he did not want his attorney's to appear on his behalf at the mitigation hearing with Capital Crimes Unit. KEYES signed the letter from the U.S. Attorney's office regarding negating the original agreement made for the Koenig case. [REDACTED] told law enforcement that he would be discussing the "Global Settlement" option with KEYES.

Captioned interview was audio recorded.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

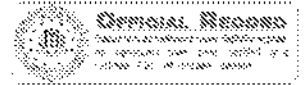

Date of entry 08/03/2012

On 8-01-2012, ISRAEL KEYES, date of birth (DOB) 1-7-1978, was contacted at the Anchorage Jail, Anchorage, Alaska. Present were Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) Task Force Officer (TFO) [redacted] and FBI Special Agent [redacted]. This contact with KEYES provided the following information:

Law enforcement contacted KEYES at the Anchorage Jail to enquire if he wanted to come to the FBI for an interview. KEYES appeared to be very agitated. TFO [redacted] told KEYES that law enforcement was aware that he had been having a difficult time over the past few days in jail and offered to bring him to the FBI to talk about it. KEYES responded very negatively, telling law enforcement to "fuck off, I know what you guys are trying to do!" KEYES mumbled "I told you guys early on that I had nothing but time, now I have three attorney's and nothing but time". TFO [redacted] could see that KEYES was very upset and just left KEYES telling him we would check back with him later.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date of entry 07/27/2012

On 7-20-2012, ISRAEL KEYES, date of birth (DOB) 1-7-1978, was interviewed at the FBI Building 101 E. 6th Ave, Anchorage, Alaska. Present were Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) Task Force Officer (TFO) [redacted] [redacted] FBI Special Agent [redacted] Assistant United States Attorney (AUSA) [redacted]. KEYES provided the following information:

Law enforcement provided KEYES with a copy of the press release from Vermont. KEYES was also told that it was very likely the media in Vermont was going to run a story identifying him as the suspect. KEYES was provided a letter drafted by AUSA [redacted] outlining the "global" type agreement where law enforcement would get the names and locations of the other victims he has murdered. KEYES told law enforcement that he was going to take the letter and research it and agreed that he would meet with law enforcement again early the following week. Captioned interview was audio recorded.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date of entry 08/09/2012

On 06/21/2012, the property located at 8 Colbert Street, Essex, Vermont, further described as a white, single-family residence, was searched, via written consent obtained from [redacted] the court-appointed guardian of the property. 8 Colbert Street, Essex, Vermont is the residence of WILLIAM and LORRAINE CURRIER. [redacted] provided her consent by signing the Essex Police Department's Consent Search Form on 06/20/2012. The purpose of the search was to seize evidence that could be used to corroborate and/or refute statements made by ISAIAH KEYES regarding the abduction and murders of WILLIAM and LORRAINE CURRIER.

It is important to note that this was not the first search conducted of the CURRIER residence. During the Essex Police Department's (EPD) investigation into the disappearance of the CURRIERS, a number of searches were conducted of the residence. However, this was the first and only search conducted of the residence since statements were made by KEYES. It should also be noted that the CURRIER residence remained locked and under the control of the EPD, since 06/09/2011. EPD has escorted CURRIER family members who have needed access to the CURRIER residence, since June 2011, on a few occasions.

Individuals participating in the search were:

1. SA [redacted] FBI
2. SA [redacted] FBI
3. Detective Lieutenant [redacted] EPD
4. Detective [redacted] EPD

At approximately 10:40 AM, the individuals mentioned above, along with Deputy States Attorney (DSA) [redacted] of the Chittenden County States

Attorneys Office, located in Burlington, Vermont, arrived outside of 8 Colbert Street, Essex, Vermont. Upon arrival, Detective [ ] with the assistance of SA [ ] began taking photographs of the neighborhood and the outside of the Currier residence.

At approximately 10:49 AM, entry was made into the residence, via the rear door to the garage, using a key. Only three individuals, DET. [ ] DSA [ ] and SA [ ] entered the residence for the sole purpose of allowing DSA [ ] an opportunity to walk through the garage and residence of the CURRIERS. It is important to note that DSA [ ] was escorted at all times by DET [ ] and SA [ ] and did not touch or disturb anything while conducting her walk through of the residence and garage.

At approximately 10:59 AM, all three individuals, DET. [ ] DSA [ ] and SA [ ] exited the CURRIER residence via the rear door to the garage. After exiting the residence. DSA [ ] left the location to return to her office in Burlington, Vermont.

At approximately 11:00 AM, DET [ ] DET [ ] SA [ ] and SA [ ] entered the garage via the rear door to the garage. After searching the garage, entry was made into the residence, via the door between the garage and the kitchen, at approximately 11:13 AM. The residence area was then searched.

While in the residence, DET [ ] was timed to see how long it would take a person walking in a hurried, "blitz attack" manner, from the door between the garage and kitchen, to the door to the Master bedroom. DET [ ] timed [ ] using the watch on his wrist, which revealed it took approximately 6 seconds.

Miscellaneous information noted while inside the residence include the following:

1. An older prescription bottle for one of the CURRIERS identified another pharmacy used by the CURRIERS not previously known by investigators: BROOKS PHARMACY, located on Main Street, in Winooski, Vermont.

2. Female shoes, believed to be LORRAINE's, were observed on the floor of the Master bedroom. The shoes were size 6-1/2. Also, the right shoe in each of two different pairs of female shoes had been modified with some sort of lift.

At approximately 12:07 PM, all search personnel exited the residence via the rear door to the garage and the search concluded. The rear door to the garage was locked by DET. [REDACTED] DET. [REDACTED] advised that he would return the key, as well as turn over the custody and control of the CURRIER residence to [REDACTED]

b7c

The following items were seized during the search of the residence and were, subsequently, entered into evidence:

1. Latch from storm door
2. (Eye) Glasses - from kitchen counter
3. (Eye) Glasses - from Living room/coffee table
4. (Eye) Glasses - from computer room
5. Military patch
6. Fist military booklet
7. Cookie tin of military items
8. (Eye) Glasses - from bathroom
9. Crowbar

The following items are located in a 1A envelope in the file: (1) Notes/log for the search; (2) Original Evidence Recovery Log; (3) Original FD-597 (Receipt For Property Seized); (4) A copy of the Essex Police Department's Consent Search Form which was signed by [REDACTED] on 06/20/2012; (5) Original Photo log; and (6) one CD-R of the photographs taken during the search.

Methods:

The determination of whether skeletal remains are human or non-human in origin is typically based on examination of gross bone morphology, looking for features or landmarks that are consistent with human or non-human species. In some cases, additional techniques such as quantitative assessment (measurement), microscopic examination, or comparison to published literature or exemplars may be employed.

In this case, the item was examined visually and microscopically/histologically.

Results of Examinations:

Item Q10 is a bone (tibia) of non-human origin. No further anthropological examinations were conducted.

Limitations

The conclusions that can be reached regarding human or non-human origin are dependent on the condition and completeness of the skeletal material. Results based on fragmentary or poorly preserved material may be inconclusive.

Details:

For background, Samantha Koenig was kidnapped from her place of employment in Anchorage, Alaska by Israel Keyes on 02/01/2012. Keyes confessed to the kidnapping and murder of Koenig and has since been charged federally with kidnapping which resulted in the death of Koenig. Koenig's remains were recovered in Matanuska Lake, Alaska.

On 03/13/2012, Israel Keyes was arrested in Lufkin, TX after using an ATM card associated with Samantha Koenig. Since being transported back to Anchorage Keyes has been cooperating with law enforcement, providing additional information about other crimes including kidnapping and murder. Keyes confessed to the kidnap and murder of William and Lorraine Currier in Essex, VT on 06/08/2011.

In subsequent interviews, Keyes indicated he was responsible for additional homicides in multiple states. The Anchorage Division is currently attempting to identify additional victims and locate their remains.

Re: 306-AN-15642, 08/13/2012

Keyes served in the U.S. Army and identified the following individual he served with both in the U.S. and in Egypt. Keyes acknowledged his homicidal acts began around the time he joined the military. Agents have also learned that a pentagram was branded on Keyes chest by someone serving with him in Egypt. Anchorage is requesting receiving office to interview the below individual regarding their knowledge of Keyes while he was in the military. The following is the name of one of the individuals Keyes reported serving with:

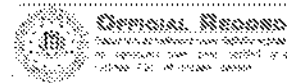

- [redacted] born [redacted] SSAN [redacted] Last known address: [redacted] A second possible address is [redacted]

Re: 306-AN-15642, 08/14/2012

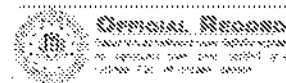

Keyes traveled to New Hampshire on 4/7/2009 and remained on the east coast until 4/17/2009. Keyes admitted to committing a murder during this time frame. Further investigation and review of his financial records, telephone records, etc. suggest the homicide likely occurred within the first few days he was in the area. Anchorage has been working with VICAP to identify all missing persons reported during this time frame. [REDACTED] was reported missing on 4/8/2009. Public source information indicated her body has not been recovered and no one has been arrested in connection with her disappearance. Public source records also list the local police contact as Detective [REDACTED] with the Hackensack Police Department. A review of Keyes computer revealed a search for [REDACTED] with a slight misspelling of her name.

Anchorage is requesting assistance in contacting the Hackensack Police Department to learn more about the [REDACTED] case. Information that would be helpful includes details about her disappearance, where she disappeared from, suspects, cellphone/GPS information, and any other facts that may be helpful in connecting her with Keyes or a specific location that Keyes was known to be in. Anchorage is requesting discretion when contacting the local authorities and that agents not disclose the identity of Israel Keyes or an Alaskan interest at this time. Keyes is currently cooperative with the FBI and his continued cooperation is dependent on his name not being connected to other cases in the media. Anchorage is also requesting the assigned agent contact SA [REDACTED] cell [REDACTED] prior to making contact with local authorities for additional information/updates.

CRIME SCENE SEARCH TEAM – MEMBER’S REPORT

CSST Member: Detective Sergeant [REDACTED]

b6
b7C

Case Number: 7A-AN-15642

Location: 32 Upper Main Street Essex, Vermont

Narrative: On April 12, 2012 at approximately 0830hrs I arrived at Williston barracks for a briefing. The Vermont State Police Crime Scene Search Team (CSST) had been assigned to assist Essex Police Department (and FBI) in an ongoing investigation into the suspicious disappearance of a husband and wife (Bill and Lorraine Currier) from their home in Essex last year. To date, the Curriers have not been located.

During the briefing we were advised that we would be going to 32 Upper Main Street in Essex where a basement was going to be excavated. Investigation revealed that evidence of the Curriers remains may be located in this basement. Since it was reported the Curriers may be there the house had been torn down and the basement filled in. Our assignment was to document the excavation and search for any possible evidence.

Upon arrival (approximately 0930hrs) I was assigned to maintain our photographic log. Detective [REDACTED] was assigned to take photographs. On this date 108 photographs of the excavation process were obtained. While not maintaining the photographic log I sifted through debris using a screen looking for any potential evidence. I did not locate anything remarkable.

On April 13, 2012 we returned to 32 Upper Main Street. Again, I maintained the photographic log and sifted through debris. 41 photographs were obtained this day and were continued from the previous day's card. I located two small bones while sifting that were identified as rodent bones.

On April 17, 2012 I prepared this report and a finished photographic log. This ends my involvement.

So, handler of dog was not sure whether or not dog would/could hit at leveled lot. Dog seemed to show interest, but did not hit.

Two other abandoned farm properties nearby were physically searched and ruled out.

The leveled lot is only possibility at this point, so there is no other option than to excavate depending on what guy who did demo tells us. We are not able to interview demo guy til Monday am.

If we excavate, I am seeking approval for our ERT's expertise, to work alongside VSP. There is a meeting at Essex pd at 11am on mon. Vsp will be there. They have asked for [redacted] to attend. I told them I wasn't sure he was available.

I am done up here and headed home.

Good morning,

Fyi...essex pd confirmed subject stayed at hotel as per subjects statement on dates that coincide with Curriers disappearance. This ups likelihood of finding the Curriers. The cadaver dog is/ was scheduled for 10:30. There is another possible property to check out. I will be heading up there shortly. Should be there early afternoon. Will keep you updated.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date of entry 08/16/2012

In preparation for, and during the search conducted at the Coventry Landfill, located at 21 Landfill Lane, Newport, Vermont, SA [redacted] telephonically contacted [redacted] a white male, DOB 12/09/1967, cellular phone number [redacted] home phone number [redacted] residing at [redacted] Milton, Vermont, on three different occasions. [redacted] ORMOND BUSHEY & SON, INC., located at 2 Bushey Lane, Essex Junction, Vermont. [redacted] did the demolition of the farmhouse located at 32 Upper Main Street (Route 15), Essex, Vermont, in October 2011. [redacted] who was already familiar with the identity of the interviewing agent, provided the following information on the following dates of contacts:

On 05/04/2012, [redacted] was contacted and asked if he recalled anything in particular about the aforementioned farmhouse that would assist investigators in identifying the farmhouse debris during a search of the landfill. [redacted] advised that, at the time of demolition, there was one full-size couch, with three seats, further described as "not a modern couch," of unknown color or pattern, inside the farmhouse. Also inside the farmhouse at the time of demolition were two sets of mattresses. [redacted] thought that one of the mattresses was a full or queen size and the other may have been a twin size. [redacted] recalled seeing "a lot of weird wall paper" in the farmhouse. Also, [redacted] recalled that the walls were not made of sheet rock. The walls were some sort of cement board, like stucco or plaster.

On 05/11/2012, [redacted] was contacted and asked about the roofing of the main part of the farmhouse and of the outbuildings on the property. [redacted] advised that the main farmhouse had tin or steel roofing. The metal roofing did not go to the transfer station in Williston, Vermont, but went to a scrap metal place instead. [redacted] thought there were shingles on the outbuildings. [redacted] also advised that he was unable to get all of the stones from the stone walls of the farmhouse separated from the demolition debris taken to the transfer station. [redacted] thought that the demolition debris from the farmhouse would contain some of those stones. [redacted] advised that he would call [redacted] the caretaker of properties owned by [redacted] who owns the property where the farmhouse was located, to see if [redacted] recalled the various types of roofing of the farmhouse and it's outbuildings. [redacted] then called the interviewing agent back and advised that [redacted] recalled that the main part of the farmhouse had a tin roof which was very rusted. According to [redacted] thought the additions to the farmhouse, including the outbuildings, had shingles of unknown color.

On 05/14/2012, [redacted] was contacted and asked what he recalled about the wiring inside the farmhouse. [redacted] advised that [redacted] took most of the electrical wiring, along with the electrical panel, which means it would not have been in the demolition debris of the farmhouse. [redacted] recalled that the farmhouse's electrical wiring was white household regular 12-2 gauge wiring.

Hi [REDACTED]

I tried to get additional intel for Route 15 location. Per [REDACTED] (demo guys) roofing over main part of house was tin roofing which was NOT brought to transfer station but went to a metal place. HOWEVER, both recall that there were shingles on out buildings but of unknown color. [REDACTED] also thought there may be rocks/stone from house mixed in with the house debris as he would not have been able to separate them out during demo. Not certain that would help. I think the plaster walls is only possible helpful info. If you have any other questions you want me to ask, please let me know.

Specimens received July 18, 2012:

Q211-Q213            Images depicting bone (QB81)

The results of the anthropological examinations are contained in this report.

Methods:

The determination of whether skeletal material is human or non-human in origin is typically based on examination of gross bone morphology, looking for features or landmarks that are consistent with human or non-human species. In some cases, additional techniques such as quantitative assessment (measurement), microscopic examination, or comparison to published literature or exemplars may be employed.

In this case, the items were examined visually.

UNCLASSIFIED

Results of Examinations:

Items Q178-Q213 are images depicting bones. In some cases a single image depicts multiple bones, and in some cases multiple images depict the same bone or bones. In some cases, the images include apparent soft tissue or other debris adhering to the bones.

The bones pictured in the images Q178-Q181, Q191-Q200, Q204-Q205 and Q208-Q213 are non-human in origin. No further anthropological examinations were conducted.

The origin of the bones pictured in images Q182-Q190, Q201-Q203 and Q206-Q207 is undetermined based on examination of the images. Direct examination of these bones is recommended to possibly determine human or non-human origin.

Limitations

The conclusions that can be reached regarding human or non-human origin are dependent on the condition and completeness of the skeletal material. Results based on fragmentary or poorly preserved material may be inconclusive.

The conclusions that can be reached based on the examination of images are dependent on the condition and completeness of the skeletal material as well as the quality of the images. Results may be limited or inconclusive.

Remarks:

This report concludes the anthropological examinations conducted by the FBI Laboratory. The supporting records for the opinions and interpretations expressed in this report are retained in the FBI files. The images are being retained in the FBI Laboratory. ## Narrative

INFORMATION:

On 6-28-12 I was requested to assist the FBI in serving a search warrant upon the person of ISRAEL KEYS. This was to obtain known reference samples from KEYS's person consistent with that collected in Sexual Assault Kits. On 6-29-12 at about 1200hrs I was advised by OFC [Redacted] And SGT [Redacted] that the Federal Search Warrant had been obtained and I then met with OFC [Redacted] (SAFE STREETS TASK FORCE) at the FBI building. We then went to CIPT where KEYS's is currently housed.

OFC [Redacted] and the FBI spoke with KEYS and advised KEYS's of this search. KEYS's was reportedly "OK" with this search. DOC personnel then placed us into a video monitored contact room, and I collected the needed known hair sample and pubic hair sample from KEYS.

I advised KEYS's of how we would do the collection of hairs, and he confirmed he had no questions and KEYES was cooperative to the process. For the head hairs I noted that when combed no loose hairs fell from KEYS's head and I then pulled the required amount. I also pulled the required sample of pubic hairs. While collecting the pubic hair sample I noted that KEYS had a reddened area in his right groin, at the scrotum-thigh juncture area, but I could not tell if this was due to some skin condition or a birth mark or other skin anomaly.

After sealing the evidence I provided it to OFC [Redacted] and the FBI for their evidence in this case. I requested them to send me a copy of the Search Warrant for inclusion with this supplement.

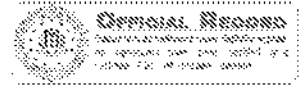

A copy of the video from the room where this collection process was done was also requested for the FBI file in this case, and was to be provided by DOC.

Details:

Case Background

Samantha Koenig was kidnapped from her place of employment by Israel Keyes on February 1, 2012. Keyes confessed to kidnapping and murdering her. He was charged federally with kidnapping which resulted in her death. Koenig's dismembered remains were recovered in Matanuska Lake, Alaska.

On March 13, 2012, Keyes was arrested in Lufkin, TX after using an ATM card associated with Koenig. Since his return to Anchorage, Keyes is cooperating with law enforcement, providing additional information about other crimes, including kidnapping and murder. He indicated he was responsible for two homicides in the state of Washington.

Title: (U) Lab Request
Re: 306-AN-15642, 07/30/2012

Keyes allowed Seattle agents to seize a fishing boat he used in the murders. He owned and used this boat in 2005 and 2006 but said it may still have the victim's blood/DNA on it. Although Keyes indicated he killed two people, dismembered their bodies in this boat, and then dumped the remains in a body of water in Washington State, he did not identify the victims. The gender, age and ethnicity of the victims is unknown. The boat was stored outside for years and was full of water when it was seized. Keyes used this boat for fishing so any blood or bones found may be from fish.

Boat Search

Seattle ERT searched the boat on July 18, 2012. Keyes identified where items of evidentiary interest might be found in the boat, including where blood may be found. The items sought included blood, bone fragments, knives, tools, cement blocks, and rope. Seattle ERT inventoried the boat, examined it with an alternate light source, conducted Phenolphthalein tests, and employed Blue Star blood detection reagent.

Requested Exams

A variety of items, including unknown material, were collected since they fluoresced under an alternate light source, tested positive with Phenolphthalein, or were otherwise thought to potentially be or contain organic material (1B-209, 210, 211, 212, 213, 218, 219, 220, 221, 222, 223, 224, 225). It is requested these items be tested for DNA and trace evidence which may identify the victims.

Keyes specifically noted the rope from within the glove box (1B215) is important, although he did not say why. It is therefore requested this item also be tested for DNA and trace evidence.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date of entry 07/23/2012

Pursuant to written consent provided to Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) Special Agent (SA) [redacted] from Israel Keyes on July 10, 2012, members of the FBI Seattle Division Evidence Response Team (ERT) searched a boat registered to Keyes. The boat was a 1982 Bayliner, model POGPR15, bearing WA registration WN7470G. The boat was delivered to and secured in the ERT off site facility by SA [redacted] and SA [redacted] on May 23, 2012 at 5:10 p.m. The details of the boat's seizure and transport were noted in a separate report by SA [redacted]. The ERT facility remained secured and the boat was not touched since May 23, 2012. The following ERT members participated in the search:

b6
b7c

- SA [redacted]
- SA [redacted]
- SA [redacted]
- SA [redacted]
- Field Photographer (FP) [redacted]
- Evidence Control Technician (ECT) [redacted]

SA [redacted] arrived at approximately 11:00 a.m. and observed the remainder of the search. The boat was on a trailer bearing Washington license plate 3408-MU. The trailer registration expired in April 2012. The trailer was very rusty. The boat license, WN7470GB, expired in June 2007. Per conversations with SA [redacted] and SA [redacted] ERT was asked to photograph the boat, inventory its contents, and look for evidence of kidnapping and murder, including blood, bone fragments, weapons, ligatures (ropes, zip/cable ties, etc.), human hair, carpet samples, weights/anchors, tools (saws, box knives, etc.), anything with a date on it (receipts, etc.), any identification items (driver licenses, etc.), maps and global positioning satellite devices.

SA [redacted] was the team leader. ECT [redacted] was the photographer. SA [redacted] completed a photo log. FP [redacted] completed a sketch. SA [redacted] was the Anchorage case agent but SA [redacted] and SA [redacted] were essentially the local case agents, familiar with the investigation. SA [redacted] and SA [redacted] were searchers/collectors.

At approximately 8:35 a.m., SA [ ] called SA [ ] and advised she was with Keyes at the FBI Field Office in Anchorage, Alaska. To comply with Washington State law regarding consent searches, SA [ ] remained with Keyes while the search was underway, providing him updates and enabling him to stop the search or limit its scope at any time. Keyes' permission was sought before the team disassembled the boat or did something that might damage the boat. At the request of SA [ ] SA [ ] took some photographs with his Blackberry cell phone throughout the search and emailed them to SA [ ]. She planned to show them to Keyes in the hopes they would help his memory and enable him to help ERT focus its search on important areas or items. The photos SA [ ] took will be saved to a compact disc and included with this search paperwork.

After donning Tyvek suits, team members entered the boat and methodically removed all unattached items from the boat to inventory its contents. Items from logical areas of the boat were segregated on butcher paper on the floor outside the boat. Entry photographs captured the location of the items prior to removal. Interior photographs were also taken after items were removed and of the items on the butcher paper.

The open bow had three seat cushions. Under each cushion was a storage compartment. There was a storage compartment, described as a pocket in the search documentation, on the starboard and port sides. The driver and passenger seats each had a forward and rear-facing seat. There was a stern corner seat on both the starboard and port side. A storage compartment was underneath each seat in the boat. A long compartment was in the deck of the boat. Each compartment was assigned an alpha designator, noted on the sketch.

The outboard motor was found disassembled when the boat was seized. Pieces of it were located throughout the boat. Other items removed from the boat included, but were not limited to, two waterskis, a portable seat cushion, two "water noodle" flotation devices, rope/line, a ladder, two plastic oars, two homemade anchors (one gallon plastic milk-style jugs filled with cement), three plastic water/soda bottles, a blue plastic 45-gallon Sterilite wheeled container (containing water, a life vest and a recreational inner tube), two plastic 6-gallon gasoline containers, eight empty beer bottles and zip/cable ties.

A Humminbird LCR 400ID depth/fish finder was mounted on the dash before the front passenger seat beside the driver seat. SA [ ] researched the Internet and located what appeared to be the instruction manual for this device. SA [ ] reviewed the manual and it did not appear this device has global positioning satellite or memory storage capabilities. Therefore the device was not collected.

Continuation of FD-302 of Search of Bayliner . On 07/18/2012 . Page 3 of 4

The glove box on the dashboard before the front passenger seat, beside the driver seat, was locked. Via SA [ ] Keyes' consent was sought and obtained to force entry into the glove box. SA [ ] forced entry into the glove box without causing damage. It contained a plastic Safeway grocery bag, a cell phone charger, a bungee cord, a box of fuses, a floating key chain, vessel registration and a rope. SA [ ] told SA [ ] that Keyes said the rope from the glove box (Item 7, 1B215) is important.

b7c

Four metal poles were found in the middle of the deck. Two of the poles had lights on the end of them. The other two appeared to be supports for the boat's cover. A dark hair, approximately six inches long, was on one of the cover support poles. The hair was collected (Item 13, 1B221).

An alternate light source (ALS) was used to examine the entire interior of the boat. Multiple tiny items of unknown material fluoresced under the ALS so were collected since they may be organic (Item 1, 1B209; Item 2, 1B210; Item 3, 1B211; and Item 4, 1B212). Item 5 (1B213) included what appeared to be a bone fragment.

Multiple stains were located on the carpet throughout the boat. After conducting a control test which indicated the Phenolphthalein presumptive blood test was working, FP Read used Phenolphthalein on samples collected from the stains. Every test was negative.

SA [ ] sprayed Blue Star blood detection reagent throughout the interior of the boat. Multiple areas fluoresced so were swabbed and tested with Phenolphthalein. These Phenolphthalein tests were negative. All the padding inside the boat was then unscrewed and removed. Blue Star was reapplied inside the boat and on the removed padding. Areas which fluoresced were swabbed and tested with Phenolphthalein. Only two areas tested positive with Phenolphthalein: the top of the starboard side seat cushion in the bow and a screw from the floor between the gunnel and compartment H. The screw (Item 11, 1B219) and a swab of the cushion (Item 10, 1B218) were collected. Additionally, four screws located near the screw which tested positive with Phenolphthalein were also collected due to their location (Item 12, 1B220). These screws were not tested with Phenolphthalein prior to their collection.

An area of the gunnel frame, underneath a carpeted wood trim piece which was removed, faintly fluoresced after BlueStar was applied. The area was then tested with Phenolphthalein, with a weak positive result. Thus, two swabs were collected from this area of the gunnel (Item 14, 1B222).

The carpeted wood trim piece which covered this area was also collected (Item 16, 1B224).

Continuation of FD-302 of Search of Bayliner . On 07/18/2012 . Page 4 of 4

Several documents were found of potential investigative interest. They were photographed and SA [ ] photocopied them. The first document was a Wilderness Camping Permit, number 84145, from the Olympic National Park, dated May 27, 2006, for visitor [ ] of Neah Bay, Washington. It was for one night at the Garden Island campsite at Lake Ozette. The second document was the State of Washington Department of Licensing Vessel Registration Certificate for the boat. It was registered to Keyes but expired in June 2007. Also photocopied were Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife Recreational Licenses for [ ] and Keyes, issued on June 4, 2005 and March 10, 2005, respectively.

b7c

All the padding was reapplied to the boat after the search was completed. The search was complete at approximately 5:15 p.m. SA [ ] accepted initial custody of every item collected. Collected items 17 (bilge pump; 1B225) and 18 (bag of rope; 1B226) were wet so were stored overnight in a drying cabinet in the temporary evidence storage room in the ERT facility. SA [ ] transported the remainder of the items directly to the Seattle Field Office Evidence Control Center.

The following items were scanned and attached to this electronic document (excepting the CD of photos) and physically enclosed in a FD-340 envelope:

- ERT Casebook, including the Administrative Worksheet and Evidence Recovery Log
- Photo log
- Sketch
- Consent to Search form
- CD of photos taken by SA [ ] on his Blackberry phone.
- Receipt for Property Seized form
- Photocopies of the documentation from the boat.

Wilderness Protection Checklist

- Pets, weapons, bicycles and vehicles are prohibited on park trails and beaches.
- All food (including canned and dehydrated food), garbage and scented items must be secured from bears and other wildlife 24 hours a day by storing them in park approved bear canisters or suspended at least 12 feet high and 10 out from the nearest tree trunk. On the Coast, hard-sided food containers such as bear canisters are required for all food storage.
- Campfires are prohibited above 3,500 feet. Stoves only! Wood fires are also prohibited in the coastal area from the headland at Wedding Rocks to the headland north of Yellow Banks, 1/4 mile north of Elk Lake (Hoh River Trail), and all areas within 1 mile of Three Lakes (Big Creek Trail). In other areas, use existing fire rings. On the coast, please burn only driftwood for campfires. Never cut live trees for any purpose. This can help prevent campfire closures.
- Within quota areas (Grand Valley, Royal Basin, Sol Duc/7 Lakes Basin, Hoh Lake, Flapjack Lakes, Lake Constance, and the Ozette Coast) changes to your itinerary are not allowed unless you check with a ranger. Each camping area has a limited amount of space. If you are not following your itinerary, you may be occupying someone else's site.
- Please do not approach marine wildlife, especially marine mammal babies. They are not abandoned. Look but don't touch or pickup tide pool life.
- Group size is limited to 12 individuals for overnight trips. Larger groups are not permitted. Groups larger than 12 people must split up into distinct groups and must camp and travel at least 1 mile apart. Parties may not come together in groups larger than 12 at any time.
- Use pit toilets when available. Otherwise, bury human waste 6"-8" deep at least 200 feet from campsites or water sources. Consider packing out toilet paper in a ziplock bag.

On 02/01/2012, the victim, Samantha Koenig, was abducted from her place of employment, Common Grounds coffee stand in Anchorage, Alaska. On 03/13/2012, the subject, Israel Keyes (dob 1/07/1978), was arrested in Lufkin, Texas. Keyes has been interviewed on multiple occasions and has admitted to killing Koenig and provided details about the abduction and homicide. In addition, Keyes admitted to killing Bill and Loraine Currier in Burlington, Vermont in June 2009. Keyes transported the Curriers in their vehicle to the location where he murdered them. He then drove their vehicle after the murder and abandoned it in an apartment complex parking lot. The Albany Division assisted with the

After being advised of the identity of the interviewing agent and the nature of the interview, [redacted] provided the following information:

b7C

[redacted] was asked if ISRAEL KEYES ever used any props or scarves when they were intimate or during sexual intercourse. [redacted] recalled that KEYES used a scarf to tie her up by her wrists on one or two occasions during sex. She recalled the scarf as being a red, purple or burgundy hue, and surmised that he must have had two scarves, given he tied both of her wrists. He never used rope. They never discussed doing this ahead of time, KEYES just surprised her with it. They also never discussed it afterwards, and [redacted] never questioned him as to where he got the scarves or anything about it. [redacted] was not fearful during the experience and KEYES never threatened her in any way.

[redacted] did not recall KEYES ever discussing any sexual fantasies with her. They engaged in role playing during sex on a couple of occasions, but [redacted] initiated it, not KEYES.

between secure facilities, to mitigate the danger the subject posed to the public and investigating personnel, as well as, to minimize the potential for the successful execution of the death threat(s) that were made against the subject, following his identification and apprehension. The value of these SWAT transport operations was highlighted by the subject's failed attempt to escape from federal court in the middle of a crowded status hearing in late May 2012, in captioned matter. Multiple members of the Anchorage SWAT Team assisted the U.S. Marshals Service (USMS) in preventing the subject's escape.

SWAT personnel conducted these operations after this crime had garnered extensive public and media attention, and the subject was aware of the FBI presence, location and/or activities. SWAT personnel performed all of these activities without injury to anyone, and provided a measured force protection presence, in support of FBI and other agency (i.e. U.S. Attorney's Office) personnel. Due to the joint nature of captioned investigation, Anchorage FBI SWAT personnel performed the aforementioned duties cooperatively with a senior member of the Anchorage Police Department (APD) SWAT Team, who is also one of the co-case agents on captioned matter.

Details:

As per referenced EC, Seattle Poulsbo RA was requested to locate and interview [Redacted] to discuss their military service with Israel Keyes. On Thursday, July 19, 2012, Seattle contacted and interviewed [Redacted] date of birth (DOB) [Redacted], SSAN [Redacted] but it was determined during the interview that [Redacted] did not know Keyes.

[redacted] was located and interviewed on 7/30/2012, and a report was documented to the file (serial 291). Following the interview, [redacted] provided a roster of all of the soldiers from Alpha Company and was able to provide the true name of [redacted] as [redacted] SSAN [redacted]. Thereafter, Anchorage (AN) located [redacted] in another field division and sent a lead.

Poulsbo RA has followed-up with several local departments on missing person cases identified through public source data base searches and others identified by VICAP as they may relate to Keyes. Most notable to date are the following:

On 6/18/2012, SA [redacted] sent Anchorage a list of missing persons from Washington state compiled during an Internet search of open source information. That document is attached to the file. One individual on that list who seemed to be a potential victim of Keyes was [redacted] [redacted] DOB [redacted] last seen on [redacted]. On 6/21/2012, SA's [redacted] participated in a conference call with Lewis County Sheriff's Office Detective [redacted] regarding their [redacted] case (# [redacted]) [redacted] provided a summary of their investigation which included information that [redacted] told friends he intended to travel to Tillamook, Oregon that weekend, but that follow-up investigation verified through video surveillance footage showed that [redacted] was last seen north of his home in Onalaska, WA along I-5 purchasing fuel. (If [redacted] had been heading to Tillamook, OR, he should have traveled southbound on I-5.) [redacted] further advised that [redacted] vehicle was later located by Park Rangers 2.7 miles into Jefferson County on the [redacted].

On Tuesday, July 24 and Friday, July 27, 2012, reports were received from the Jefferson County Sheriff's office Deputy [redacted] related to their portion of the investigation of [redacted] disappearance. Searches found it odd that [redacted] car was located 1/4 mile from the nearest trail head. Tire tracks and shoe prints were photographed.

Re: 306-AN-15642, 08/24/2012

line of Keyes' whereabouts has been created which make the [redacted] disappearance difficult to attribute to Keyes at this time. Keyes' cell tower records seem to indicate that he was heading east on the evening of March 4th and not south. Those same records suggest that Keyes may have been seeing a female companion that weekend in Sequim, WA. It is still possible for Keyes to have been involved in [redacted] disappearance, however, he would have had a very narrow window to kidnap, murder and dispose of the body as well as to transport his vehicle to the location it was found. If this case is later attributed to Keyes, it should be noted that a Dr. Pepper can with a latent print was located in [redacted] vehicle.

On approximately Monday, 6/25/2012, SA [redacted] contacted SPD regarding missing person [redacted] missing since [redacted] Whatcom County transferred the case to Seattle Police because [redacted] was reported to be living in Seattle most of the time and was an IV drug user and prostitute. There was a rumor she was killed by her boyfriend. If this case is later related to Keyes, and a body is located, DNA for the victim is available from [redacted]

Seattle, Poulsbo RA is continuing to look at these and other missing persons to determine if Keyes could be involved. Seattle considered the above lead covered and will follow up with any further developments in a separate communication.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date of entry 08/21/2012

On Tuesday, August 21, 2012, [redacted] date of birth (DOB) [redacted] SSAN [redacted] residence at [redacted] Kent, Washington, telephone number [redacted] was interviewed at the Tacoma Resident Agency. After being advised of the identity of the interviewing Agents and the nature of the interview, [redacted] provided the following information:

ISRAEL KEYES was stationed in the same Army unit as [redacted] [redacted] was in the Army from approximately 1997 to September 2000. [redacted] and KEYES both traveled to Panama to attend the one month training at the Jungle Operations Training Center (JOTC). They also completed a six month tour in Egypt from approximately January to June 2000.

[redacted] stated that he was outside the "clicky nature" of his Army squad and was not friends with KEYES. [redacted] stated that some of the guys in his squad, including KEYES, drank heavily and used marijuana and possibly harder drugs. [redacted] remembered KEYES to be a heavy drinker and suspects that he also used marijuana although he could not recall any specific incidents. [redacted] described KEYES as a "happy" drunk but also recalled that KEYES had a few violent outbursts but clarified that this was not that unusual with the guys who drank heavily.

When asked to identify the guys in the squad who were closest to KEYES, [redacted] identified [redacted] (last name, phonetic); [redacted]; [redacted] Later in the interview, [redacted] identified [redacted] as the person who probably knew KEYES best.

[redacted] was asked about their tour in Egypt and whether he knew of any incidents (drinking, prostitutes etc.) involving KEYES. [redacted] stated that he was not aware of anything.

[redacted] recalled that KEYES' family was Amish and described him as an "oddball" pointing to the fact that most Amish do not join the Armed Services. [redacted] recalled that KEYES' father was not happy about KEYES joining the Army. [redacted] recalled that KEYES had some siblings but had no further information.

KEYES lived in the barracks at Fort Lewis and did not have a vehicle. [REDACTED] recalled that [REDACTED] owned a vehicle. When asked about hobbies, [REDACTED] recalled that KEYES seemed to be interested in hunting and gun magazines. [REDACTED] was not aware if KEYES owned any personal firearms when he was in the Army.

[REDACTED] did not know if KEYES had any girlfriends but may have had someone over (at the barracks) once or twice.

[REDACTED] had no information regarding KEYES interest in books, movies, music, or pornography.

[REDACTED] recalled something about KEYES and a branding but had no further information and believed it was just guys being stupid. [REDACTED] described KEYES as a "follower" and someone who could be "goaded" into doing something.

[REDACTED] believed that KEYES had some religious affiliation in him when he was in the Army but was clearly not a practicing Amish. [REDACTED] did not remember KEYES being hostile toward religion but stated that religion was not a commonly discussed topic in the squad.

[REDACTED] stated that there were some women who hung around the barracks who were nicknamed "Barrack Rats." These women hung around with the guys and had sex with them. [REDACTED] could not recall any of the names of these women and whether or not KEYES had slept with any of them.

KEYES was described as a good soldier and hard worker. KEYES was supervised by Staff Sergeant [REDACTED] and Corporal [REDACTED] (phonetic).

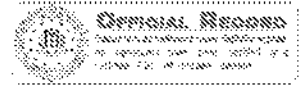

[REDACTED] stated that prior to meeting with Agents, he googled KEYES and saw the news articles about KEYES' arrest in the Anchorage kidnapping case. When asked about what he thought after seeing the news articles, [REDACTED] stated the allegations against KEYES "shock me."

SERIAL KILLINGS - VIOLENT CRIMINAL THREAT

Date specimens received: August 22, 2012

The following specimens were received in the Trace Evidence Unit (Hair and Fiber):

Q214 Debris from driver side seat back (1B239, E4824690; Essex PD Item 7560-125)

Q215 Debris from trunk ceiling (1B240, E4824691; Essex PD Item 7560-179)

K3 Head hair sample from ISRAEL KEYES (1B260, E5123826)

K4 Pubic hair sample from ISRAEL KEYES (1B261, E5123827)

The results of the trace evidence examinations (hair and fiber) are included in this report.

Methods:

Microscopic examination of hairs is accomplished by using stereomicroscopy and comparison microscopy. The presence or absence, appearance, arrangement and distribution of the characteristics within the cuticle, cortex, and medulla of the hairs are examined and may be compared during a hair examination.

Microscopic examination of fibers is accomplished by using one or more analytical techniques including stereomicroscopy, comparison microscopy, polarized light microscopy, fluorescence microscopy, and instrumentally using microspectrophotometry and Fourier transform-infrared spectroscopy. The microscopic characteristics and optical properties determined by these techniques are used for the examination and comparison of fibers.

Results of Examinations:

Several artificially treated Caucasian head hairs and a head hair portion were found in specimen Q214. One (1) Caucasian head hair was found in specimen Q215. These hairs are microscopically dissimilar to the K3 known head hair sample from ISRAEL KEYES. Accordingly, ISRAEL KEYES cannot be included as a possible source of these hairs. It should be noted that hairs can change over time; approximately three (3) years elapsed between the incident and the collection of the known head hair sample.

Blue manufactured textile fibers were found in specimen Q214. No fibers were found in specimen Q215.

No examinations were performed on specimen K4.

The submitted specimens were examined using stereomicroscopy and comparison microscopy.

Interpretation:

Characteristics of hairs can be used to determine whether the hair is human or non-human, body area, racial characteristics, artificial treatment and whether a hair has been forcibly removed or naturally shed. The characteristics exhibited in the hair(s) are used as the comparison criteria. When the presence or absence, appearance, arrangement, and distribution of macroscopic and microscopic characteristics exhibited in a recovered hair(s) are the same as in a potential source, the possibility that the compared hair(s) originated from the same source cannot be excluded. Consequently, the source of the known sample can be included as a possible source of the recovered hair(s), although the association of hairs using macroscopic and microscopic characteristics does not constitute a basis for absolute personal identification.

Fibers can differ as to type (e.g., rayon, cotton), color, shape, size, microscopic features (e.g. presence of delustering agents, voids) and optical properties (e.g., refractive index, sign of elongation). These are characteristics that may associate fibers with a group of items, but never to a single item to the exclusion of all others. However, even fibers with many similar properties may be excluded as originating from the same source by using the identified analytical methods.

The characteristics present in the fibers are used as comparison criteria. When all of the characteristics present in a recovered fiber are the same as in a potential source, the possibility that the compared fibers originated from the same source cannot be excluded. Consequently, the recovered fibers are consistent with originating from the known source, or from another source comprised of fibers that exhibit the same microscopic characteristics and optical properties.

The inability to associate specimens through a microscopic hair/fiber examination does not preclude that the persons/items of interest had contact with each other. A number of factors can produce this result, including: 1) Hair/fiber evidence may not have transferred. 2) Hairs/fibers that did transfer may have been lost prior to submission to the laboratory. 3) The hairs/fibers transferred or the known comparison specimen submitted may not be representative of the source. 4) The hairs/fibers may be from a different source.

Results of Examinations:

A Caucasian head hair was found on specimen Q222. This hair is microscopically dissimilar to the K3 known head hair sample (FBI Laboratory number 120822003 PF ABE) identified as coming from ISRAEL KEYES; accordingly, ISRAEL KEYES cannot be included as a possible source of this hair. It should be noted that hairs can change over time.

Numerous dog hairs were found on specimens Q221 and Q222.

No other hairs suitable for significant comparison purposes and microscopically dissimilar to the K3 known head hair sample (FBI Laboratory number 120822003 PF ABE) were found on or in the submitted specimens.

Textile fibers of various types and colors were found on or in specimens Q221 through Q223 and Q225 through Q233. No fibers were found in specimen Q224.

Examinations were conducted using microscopy including stereomicroscopy and comparison microscopy.

The characteristics present in the fibers are used as comparison criteria. When all of the characteristics present in a recovered fiber are the same as in a potential source, the possibility that the compared fibers originated from the same source cannot be excluded. Consequently, the recovered fibers are consistent with originating from the known source, or from another source comprised of fibers that exhibit the same microscopic characteristics and optical properties.

The inability to associate specimens through a microscopic hair/fiber examination does not preclude that the persons/items of interest had contact with each other. A number of factors can produce this result, including: 1) Hair/fiber evidence may not have transferred. 2) Hairs/fibers that did transfer may have been lost prior to submission to the laboratory.

3) The hairs/fibers transferred or the known comparison specimen submitted may not be representative of the source. 4) The hairs/fibers may be from a different source.

On September 4, 2012 at approximately 1:30 p.m., [redacted] [redacted] date of birth (DOB) [redacted] social security number 056-66-7932, telephone number [redacted] was interviewed at his home of [redacted] New York. Also present at the interview was Special Agent (SA) [redacted] SA [redacted] attorney, [redacted] telephone number [redacted] Veterans Affairs Advocate [redacted] After being advised of the identity of the interviewing Agents and the nature of the interview, [redacted] provided the following information about ISRAEL KEYES:

[redacted] served in the United States Army with KEYES from 1998 until the time that [redacted] was discharged from the military in January 2002. They were stationed together in Fort Lewis Washington and both were 11C, the Military Occupational Speciality (MOS) number for indirect fire infantrymen, commonly referred to as mortar men. They were also deployed together on two separate occasions, once to Panama in 1999 and the other was to the Saudi Arabia/Israel border in 2000 through 2001. Their mission while in Saudi Arabia/Israel was to ensure no army crossed the border and avoid the possible war that would follow.

The last time that [redacted] and KEYES spoke or had any type of contact with one another was when [redacted] was discharged from the Army. [redacted] has tried to look for KEYES and other members of his platoon on Facebook but was not able to locate any of them, except for [redacted] [redacted] described KEYES as a good soldier, someone who was "squared away". KEYES was a large individual who had broad shoulders and a big nose. He was someone who was very quiet when he first checked into the platoon. KEYES kept to himself a lot of the time and did not begin to really drink until KEYES was assigned a roommate, First Name Unknown (FNU) [redacted] KEYES and [redacted] were always together. They would not go out of the local area to drink, but instead stayed around base, would go to the Non-Commissioned Officer (NCO) club on base or would just get a lot of beer and drink at the barracks.

KEYES claimed to be Amish but never spoke about his religion, family or upbringing. The only thing about KEYES' family that [REDACTED] remembered is that [REDACTED] thinks KEYES has one brother and one sister, but [REDACTED] does not remember any other details besides that. KEYES did not have any pictures at his boot camp graduation or any other significant event with his family displayed in his barracks room.

KEYES talked about going hunting on occasion, but [REDACTED] is not sure if KEYES ever actually went hunting. KEYES had a few hunting magazines that he subscribed to. KEYES was familiar with animals but [REDACTED] attributed that knowledge to KEYES having an Amish upbringing. KEYES had a severe dislike for all animals. While most people who do not like animals would try to avoid them, KEYES would approach animals for the purpose of hurting them. KEYES told a story of the best way to kill a goat was to hit it in the head with a baseball bat. The events that would happen after someone "brained" the goat was the brains would come out of the goats nose. The goat would be dead but still standing up. There was a time when KEYES tied a cat to a tree and then shot the cat in the stomach area with a .22 caliber bullet. The cat would try to run away, but would only go in circles around the tree it was tied to. While in the middle east, KEYES would put two scorpions into an ammo can so that one would kill the other. This would happen from time to time with a large group of people around but KEYES did this on occasion by himself. Most of the time when KEYES would tell stories about doing these things to animals, KEYES would tell the stories in a proud and humorous way.

[REDACTED] does not know about any tattoos or markings that KEYES has besides the branding that [REDACTED] gave to KEYES at KEYES' request while they were deployed in the middle east. [REDACTED] said that KEYES wanted a pentagram branded into his arm. Despite thinking it was a stupid idea, [REDACTED] heated up a cloths hanger and made a single brand on the left arm of KEYES, above the elbow. At this point KEYES decided that he would not go through with the rest of the pentagram due to the pain of the single line branded into him by [REDACTED] was actually the person who suggested the idea of branding a pentagram into KEYES' arm. Many other members of the platoon were present while this was happening, and while [REDACTED] said they all thought it was a dumb idea, they all cheered it.

KEYES closest friend in the military was without a doubt [REDACTED]. They were roommates and did just about everything together. More than anything else, they lifted weights together but they did other things together also. Some of those other things included drink alcohol, they tried Acid together once and scheduled a trip to Idaho for a weekend to attend a White Supremacist meeting. [REDACTED] is not sure if KEYES and [REDACTED] actually went to this meeting, but does remember the desire to go expressed by both KEYES and [REDACTED] was artistic and when he heard a story from KEYES about how KEYES liked to chase squirrels and try to kill them with a chainsaw, [REDACTED] showed interest in making a cartoon drawing of the event.

KEYES never had, nor did he display any desire to have a girlfriend but [REDACTED] does not think the KEYES was homosexual, despite making jokes about KEYES and [REDACTED] being in a homosexual relationship.

KEYES was never seen by [REDACTED] committing a crime nor did KEYES talk about any crime he had committed.

KEYES did not have a vehicle and never spent any of his money on anything besides military gear. When KEYES would spend some of his money, it would be at the "TACTICAL TAYLOR" near the base to improve his vest. KEYES also made gear of his own, possibly a skill he learned while growing up. The most elaborate thing that KEYES made for himself was his own "guile" suit.

KEYES was typically even keeled, and often spoke in a monotone voice, but on two separate occasions that [REDACTED] could remember, KEYES got very angry. One time was after a 15 mile "ruck march" lead by the Company Executive Officer, the second in command of the company. KEYES, being one of the largest soldiers in the company, was one of the men who were assigned to carry the mortar tube and plate. The mortar tube and plate probably weighted approximately 60 pounds or more. Including the rest of KEYES' equipment, his total weight load was probably over 110 lbs for he entire 15 miles march. Upon returning to the barracks, KEYES threw the mortar tube and plate across his barracks room at the television, breaking it. The other time where KEYES lost his temper in the presence of [REDACTED] was during a "payback" operation. This is when a soldier has the opportunity to address any problems that he or she might have with another soldier. Both soldiers would be in the middle of a circle made up of other soldiers with boxing gloves. The soldiers in the middle would box and the problem that did exist was then resolved, and a paper trail was never started. Some soldier, that [REDACTED] does not remember, had a problem with KEYES so they both entered the circle. This other soldier punched KEYES in the nose pretty hard while they were boxing and this is what angered KEYES. KEYES lost his temper at this point and beat this other soldier to the point where [REDACTED] and some other soldiers had to intervene to pull KEYES off of the soldier being beaten up.

In retrospect, some of the things that [REDACTED] found strange about KEYES was the animal cruelty, the lack of family connection and the lack of interest in women. KEYES also did not have any ambitions for when he would eventually leave the Army. KEYES did not mention going to school or a particular job he wanted, all KEYES spoke of was going back to the home that KEYES had built when he was a teenager. This home in New York or Pennsylvania also apparently had approximately 9,000 Black Talon pistol rounds buried throughout the property grounds. When KEYES went on leave, he would go back to his home in New York or Pennsylvania, but never had any stories about his family when KEYES returned from leave.

Details:

The Laboratory is requested to conduct appropriate examinations on evidence items as described below.

Case Summary: On 02/01/2012, victim Samantha Koenig was abducted from her place of employment, Common Grounds coffee stand in Anchorage, Alaska. The subject, Israel Keyes, has been interviewed on multiple occasions and has admitted to killing Koenig, providing details about the abduction and homicide. In addition, Keyes admitted to abducting and killing two other individuals, William and Lorraine Currier, in Vermont, the previous year (June 2011).

During interviews with Keyes, Keyes has advised agents that he has weapons caches in various parts of the United States, including the state of New York. Keyes also claimed to have used one of the weapons from the New York cache during the murders of the Curriers. Keyes claimed to have tossed the bolt and barrel of the gun into a nearby reservoir, after murdering the Curriers. The Albany Division recovered the New York weapons cache at the location provided by Keyes. The bolt and barrel were recovered from the reservoir by an FBI USERT team.

Keyes has also eluded to his involvement in other homicides over the past fourteen years. Investigators believe these weapons were likely used in other homicides. At this time, it is unknown if evidence from other unsolved homicides has been recovered and possibly entered into NIBIN.

DET [redacted] advised KEYES of his Miranda Rights. KEYES indicated that he understood these rights and agreed to waive them. DET [redacted] advised KEYES that law enforcement would be following-up on the information that he recently provided regarding SAMANTHA KOENIG (DOB 08/30/1993), but DET [redacted] did not ask any questions regarding KOENIG, and explained that interviews regarding KOENIG could not be conducted without the presence of KEYES' defense attorney. KEYES acknowledged this information, and generally advised that he was willing to continue to cooperate with law enforcement in this matter, and may represent himself on other matters that he chose to discuss with law enforcement, because this case "is not the end," and there are other "serious issues" that he will discuss with someone. KEYES will have "terms" that will have to be met, to obtain his continued cooperation, and repeatedly indicated that he wanted to expedite these matters. Recipient(s) are referred to the audio recording(s) and/or transcript(s) for additional details regarding this contact with KEYES.

DNA examinations: Information provided by subject Keyes regarding the murders of the Curriers in Vermont led investigators to a basement of an abandoned farmhouse in Essex, Vermont, where the subject claimed to have left the Curriers' bodies. Investigators determined that the abandoned farmhouse was torn down, in October 2011, and the contents of the farmhouse was tracked to having been sent to the Coventry Landfill, in Newport, Vermont. In April 2012, with consent from the property owner, the basement of the farmhouse was excavated and searched in hopes of finding the remains of William and Lorraine Currier, with negative results. From early May 2012 until late July 2012, the Coventry Landfill was searched for the remains of William and Lorraine Currier, with negative results. Although the searches did not lead to the recovery of the Curriers' remains, a few pieces of cloth, found in the debris during the excavation of the farmhouse, were collected as evidence due to cadaver dogs showing "interest" in the cloth items. After clearing out the debris from the farmhouse basement, a blood reagent (Tinks) and alternative light sources were utilized to illuminate potential areas of biological evidence on the floor and walls of the basement. An area of interest was located and swabbed samples were taken. A tape lift was also taken from a basement wall of an area that illuminated under the alternative light source. Also, eye glasses, similar in appearance to eye glasses seen being worn by victim William Currier in a photograph, were found on the ground near the area of the property that was excavated.

The following items are being sent to the Laboratory for appropriate DNA examinations:

[REDACTED] spoke with KEYES one time when he [REDACTED] was out of the service. This would have been either in late 2001 or early 2002. [REDACTED] recalled he was still living with his parents in [REDACTED] Wisconsin at that time. When [REDACTED] spoke with KEYES, he (KEYES) was living in Washington State. KEYES said he was still with his girlfriend [REDACTED] That was the last time [REDACTED] had spoken with KEYES.

[REDACTED] stated that he and KEYES were in the same squad together. KEYES was also in the Infantry/Mortars. [REDACTED] said KEYES was not a mean guy, ever. He described him as a good guy. [REDACTED] had paid KEYES to polish his boots, and to iron and sew some of his military clothing. KEYES was very intelligent and was like a "jack of all trades." When [REDACTED] first met KEYES, [REDACTED] did not think KEYES had ever consumed alcohol before or had been with a woman before. KEYES began to drink when he was in the Army. KEYES was also cited for a DUI when he was in the Army. However, it would be rare that KEYES was drunk and irresponsible. He was not an alcoholic or a drunk. KEYES was a quiet guy who would just have a few beers. [REDACTED] described KEYES as a responsible person.

[REDACTED] said that KEYES did tell some stories about killing and torturing cats when he was a kid. The guys in the unit used to razz him about that. [REDACTED] said KEYES was not a violent guy then at all. [REDACTED] recalled an incident where one guy in their unit had punched KEYES in the nose one time. [REDACTED] thought the soldier had broken KEYES' nose. However, KEYES did not retaliate.

[REDACTED] stated that as far as he knew, KEYES did not use drugs when he was in the Army. The only woman KEYES dated was a black woman whom he met at a bar. [REDACTED] did not remember much about her, other than the woman was more heavysset. [REDACTED] had the impression that the woman KEYES was living with in Washington state was the same woman he met in the bar. KEYES lived on Post the whole time he was at Fort Lewis. For a period of time closer to his last year at Fort Lewis, [REDACTED] lived off Post, then moved back on Post.

[REDACTED] said he did not recall KEYES being involved with prostitutes while he was at Fort Lewis. He did not recall KEYES being into pornography. KEYES really did not have many interests and there was not that much to do at Fort Lewis, besides drinking. KEYES worked out a lot. Another soldier by the name of [REDACTED] and KEYES worked out quite a bit together. Usually, when [REDACTED] hung out with KEYES, they would have a few beers in KEYES' room and watch TV. KEYES liked to watch BILL O'REILLY. [REDACTED] said the picture that he had in his head of KEYES growing up was like "Little House On The Prairie."

[REDACTED] stated when he last spoke with KEYES, he just asked him if he had kept in touch with any of the other guys. KEYES said he was working on an Indian Reservation, doing some kind of maintenance work. [REDACTED] thought KEYES mentioned something about [REDACTED] said he had called KEYES, but he did not recall how he obtained KEYES' telephone number, or if it was a cell phone or land line. He only spoke with KEYES that one time. [REDACTED] did not think KEYES kept in touch with the other guys in their unit. [REDACTED] never had an e-mail address for KEYES.

[REDACTED] said that KEYES did not talk to him about any of his sexual exploits. However, there was one occasion when they were deployed in Egypt where KEYES became involved with a prostitute. [REDACTED] stated they were on "R and R" in Israel. The bus had dropped them off at a hotel. [REDACTED] could not recall how it came about, but they ended up renting a suite on the 6th floor of this hotel. A man by the name of [REDACTED] (phonetic), who was an Israeli guy, had approached them and said he owned the 6th floor of the building. The 6th floor consisted of all suites. [REDACTED] said he, KEYES, [REDACTED] were staying in one suite together. [REDACTED] was drinking with them and he talked about sending up a girl to the room. The girl was a prostitute. As [REDACTED] recalled, the girl went into one of the rooms in the suite with KEYES. They were in the room together for maybe a half hour and then the woman came out of the room. It was like the woman was storming out of the room. She was trying to leave the suite and close the door behind her. KEYES was trying to keep the door open and [REDACTED] thought that he was trying to pay the woman. The woman kicked at KEYES and he let go of the door. The woman then left. All of the guys asked KEYES what had happened to make her leave without taking any money. KEYES would not say anything about it or he said nothing happened. KEYES never talked about any sexual exploits.

[REDACTED] said KEYES was raised as a religious person and he could quote the Bible, but as far as [REDACTED] knew, KEYES was an atheist. He did not recall KEYES going to church when they were in the Army. KEYES was friendly and shy, and more soft spoken. [REDACTED] thought KEYES had hunted and fished in the past, but he did not remember him doing that while they were stationed at Fort Lewis. [REDACTED] did not do those things at Fort Lewis either.

[REDACTED] did not recall any road trips taken with KEYES. However, they did go into Seattle a few times together. One time, they went to a concert at the Key Arena in Seattle. They saw the "Stone Temple Pilots" and the "Red-Hot Chili Peppers." [REDACTED] thought it was his idea to go to the concert. [REDACTED] said KEYES had not listened to modern music while he was growing up, so KEYES liked what [REDACTED] liked. [REDACTED] said he was also a fan of the Minnesota Vikings football team. KEYES was really not a fan of anything before the military, but the two of them watched the Vikings together and KEYES became a Vikings fan. At times, they would go out to a sports bar to watch the Viking games. [REDACTED] said he went to Seattle with KEYES once or twice. They went there to stay at a hotel, drink in some bars and would then go back to Fort Lewis. It was more or less just a change of scenery for them. [REDACTED] said KEYES was not much for picking up women. He was kind of "an awkward dude."

[REDACTED] said KEYES did not have any tattoos on his body as far as he knew. However, [REDACTED] had burned a pentagram on KEYES' neck while they were in Egypt. [REDACTED] said they were all really drunk and he thought it was KEYES' idea to have the pentagram burned onto his body. [REDACTED] said he thought someone else had wanted a cross burned on their body and so to go the opposite way, KEYES wanted a pentagram burned on the back of his neck. As [REDACTED] recalled, [REDACTED] used a pop can for the circle and used a wire for the star. [REDACTED] said the pentagram that was burned on KEYES' neck looked bad the next day and for the few following days. The pentagram brand was just the result of being drunk. There was no ritual associated with it.

[REDACTED] stated KEYES did not talk about his childhood. Aside from torturing and killing cats, KEYES childhood consisted more of what he didn't do. [REDACTED] could not recall if KEYES' parents were Amish before he was born or converted after his birth. Regarding the things KEYES had not done, [REDACTED] said he really didn't watch much TV or listen to music. [REDACTED] could not recall if KEYES said he had attended a public school or if he was home-schooled. KEYES did know how to drive when he came into the military. KEYES had a computer when he was on the base at Fort Lewis. [REDACTED] did not recall KEYES going to any pornography sites at all. [REDACTED] said although KEYES grew up Amish, once he was in the military, he did not believe in God. [REDACTED] thought KEYES had some animosity towards the Bible. KEYES thought that the Bible was ridiculous and he said so. KEYES would debate others who did believe in God. He would take the position against religion.

[REDACTED] said KEYES was a smart guy who could figure things out. He bought a truck while he was at Fort Lewis and he could fix the truck when it needed fixing. [REDACTED] said he [REDACTED] was the type of guy who could barely change oil.

[REDACTED] stated he did not know if KEYES had any fully formed political views. KEYES listened to BILL O'REILLY and thought O'REILLY made sense. Based upon that, [REDACTED] concluded that KEYES may have been politically to the right.

[REDACTED] said the closest person to KEYES in the Army was [REDACTED]. When everyone else would go out, KEYES and [REDACTED] would stay behind.

Continuation of FD-302 of Interview of [REDACTED] . On 09/07/2012 . Page 5 of 6

b6

However, [REDACTED] said he was close to KEYES as well.

[REDACTED] stated KEYES was heterosexual. [REDACTED] did not recall KEYES having a lot of girlfriends or anything like that. [REDACTED] thought he recalled KEYES showing him a picture of a girl he was interested in. [REDACTED] thought the girl was from KEYES' home town. The girl was Amish, but [REDACTED] did not recall anything about her. [REDACTED] could not recall what KEYES said about the girl. The Amish girl may have been his girlfriend when they were younger or it was a girl in whom KEYES had an interest. [REDACTED] thought KEYES called the girl on the phone once or twice while they were at Fort Lewis. [REDACTED] did not recall KEYES talking about any of the male friends he had while he was growing up.

As far as crimes were concerned, [REDACTED] said he thought he was with KEYES when KEYES was cited for DUI on the Post. That was the only crime KEYES had committed of which [REDACTED] was aware. [REDACTED] said KEYES was not an aggressive person. They used to box on the base and KEYES was not even aggressive then. He was kind of clumsy and lumbering. Other than his talk of torturing and killing cats when he was young, KEYES did not talk about other crimes.

[REDACTED] said he was not in touch with the guys in his unit anymore. He had been in touch with [REDACTED] on Facebook, but that was about 4 or 5 years ago.

[REDACTED] said he thought KEYES had a couple of sisters. He did not think KEYES had a brother. As [REDACTED] recalled, one sister's name may have been [REDACTED] thought KEYES was kind of shunned by his family for having joined the military. He did not think KEYES kept in touch with his family that much.

[REDACTED] stated KEYES had a pickup truck when he was at Fort Lewis. He bought it while he was there. It was a small pickup truck that was like and 1980s model. It was blue. KEYES took care of it while he was there. [REDACTED] was sure KEYES had registered the vehicle.

[REDACTED] said KEYES was helpful to him and was a good guy. [REDACTED] stated KEYES was an awesome soldier and he was hard-working. [REDACTED] described him as a "super-soldier." However, KEYES just had no empathy. KEYES did not care if something bad happened someone else. When asked for an example of what he meant, [REDACTED] recalled a time when a guy that they had served with named [REDACTED] had gotten into a motorcycle accident just days after getting out of the Army. As a result of the motorcycle accident, [REDACTED] had broken his neck. When they learned about it, KEYES just did not care. However, [REDACTED] said that [REDACTED] was kind of an "asshole" and no one really liked him.

AUSAs [redacted] explained a federal court order that was recently issued, which determined that the government could discuss crimes unrelated to SAMANTHA KOENIG with KEYES. During the ensuing discussion, KEYES indicated that he did not want an attorney present during these discussions, and that one of the conditions of his cooperation was that he receive an execution date within a year. After some discussion about the aforementioned order and KEYES situation/conditions for his continued cooperation with the government, KEYES agreed to cooperate with the government in the investigation of other crimes.

KEYES then provided substantial information regarding his kidnapping, assault and murder of the CURRIERS (subsequently identified as WILLIAM and LORRAINE CURRIER) in Burlington, Vermont in June 2011. These details included describing the victims, identifying a photograph of them, describing the area where he abducted them and the area he transported them to, as well as, the weapons he used during the commission of this crime. Investigators used Google maps, at KEYES direction, to identify the coordinates of these scenes/crimes. Recipient(s) are referred to the audio recording(s) and/or transcript(s) for additional details regarding this contact with KEYES.

During interviews with Keyes, Keyes advised agents that, during the kidnapping/murders of the Curriers, Keyes took the Curriers' gun from their residence and later disposed of it in a reservoir in New York. The Curriers' gun (a revolver) was recovered from the reservoir by an FBI USERT team. (NOTE: The gun was rendered safe prior to being placed into evidence storage in Albany.)

The Laboratory is requested to examine the revolver (submitted evidence item 1B195, barcode E4824586) for latent prints for the purpose of determining if Keyes' prints are on the weapon.

Methods:

The determination of whether skeletal material is human or non-human in origin is typically based on examination of gross bone morphology, looking for features or landmarks that are consistent with human or non-human species. In some cases, additional techniques such as quantitative assessment (measurement), microscopic examination, or comparison to published literature or exemplars may be employed.

In this case, the items were examined visually and using elemental analysis (x-ray fluorescence spectrometry).

Results of Examinations:

Items Q219-Q219.1 and Q220-Q220.3 consist of material that is non-skeletal in origin. No further anthropological examinations were conducted.

Limitations

The conclusions that can be reached from anthropological examination of skeletal (or potentially skeletal) material are dependent on the completeness and condition of the material. Results based on fragmentary or poorly preserved material may be inconclusive.

Remarks:

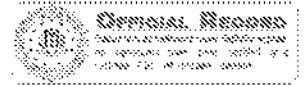

This report concludes the anthropological examinations conducted by the FBI Laboratory. The items will be returned under separate cover at the completion of the laboratory examinations. Details:

On 02/01/2012, victim Samantha Koenig was abducted from her place of employment, Common Grounds coffee stand in Anchorage, Alaska. The subject, Israel Keyes, has been interviewed on multiple occasions and has admitted to killing Koenig, providing details about the abduction and homicide. In addition, Keyes admitted to abducting and killing two other individuals, William and Lorraine Currier, in Vermont, the previous year (June 2011).

In addition to Koenig and the Currier's, Keyes indicated he committed other homicides over the past fourteen years. In some cases, Keyes provided general information about the location of the homicide. Keyes incorporated these homicides into his travel across the United States. He often flew into a city, rented a car, and drove through several states before reaching his final destination. It was during these trips that Keyes committed the homicides. Keyes resided in Neah

Bay, Washington from 2001 to 2006, at which point he moved to Alaska. Keyes admitted to committing homicides while living in Washington also. While living in Neah Bay, he worked for the Makah Tribe and was in a relationship with an Native American woman. As a result, Keyes is very comfortable on reservations and familiar with life on a reservation.

The Anchorage Division has reviewed thousands of missing person reports found in NCIC, NameUs, and other online databases in an attempt to connect someone that is missing to a location that Keyes was in. Anchorage recently learned that many tribal police agencies or organizations do not report missing people to NCIC or other government databases. As a result, Anchorage is requesting that receiving offices/RA's query contacts on the reservations in their territory to obtain the names of missing people during the time frames noted below. It would be very helpful to have other information about the missing person to include the circumstances of his/her disappearance, location at time of disappearance, suspects in the case, etc. Anchorage is requesting queries about all missing people - male and female, adults and children.

Due to the nature of the case, Anchorage is requesting that receiving offices not mention Keyes or Alaska when contacting tribal police/organizations. Anchorage is currently in plea negotiations with Keyes and any information that gets out to the public about his past homicides could impede the negotiations.

Captioned case is restricted. All of the known SSA/SSRA's receiving this lead will be added as case participants to facilitate assignment of the lead. Anchorage is requesting the assigned agent contact SA [redacted] to facilitate their access to the case.

Please contact SA [redacted] if you have questions via e-mail or cell at [redacted]

Law enforcement went to the jail to see if Keyes had had an opportunity to review the documents presented to him by AUSA [redacted] on 07/20/2012. When law enforcement last met with KEYES on 07/20/2012 he advised he would be ready to discuss the agreement at this time. KEYES told TFO [redacted] that he had a meeting planned with his stand-by council for today and said that they (his council) would be in touch with AUSA [redacted] as early as 07/24/2012 to discuss further the agreement. KEYES advise TFO [redacted] that "you guys won't be happy". TFO [redacted] told KEYES that law enforcement looked forward to a meeting with him and his stand-by council. Law enforcement then left the jail and KEYES was returned to his cell.

Q229-Q232	Four screws (1B220, E5098233, Item 12)
Q233	Screw (1B219, E5098232, Item 11)

The results of the trace evidence examinations (hair and fiber) are included in this report.

Methods:

Microscopic examination of hairs is accomplished by using stereomicroscopy and comparison microscopy. The presence or absence, appearance, arrangement and distribution of the characteristics within the cuticle, cortex, and medulla of the hairs are examined and may be compared during a hair examination.

Microscopic examination of fibers is accomplished by using one or more analytical techniques including stereomicroscopy, comparison microscopy, polarized light microscopy, fluorescence microscopy, and instrumentally using microspectrophotometry and Fourier transform-infrared spectroscopy. The microscopic characteristics and optical properties determined by these techniques are used for the examination and comparison of fibers.

Results of Examinations:

A Caucasian head hair was found on specimen Q222. This hair is microscopically dissimilar to the K3 known head hair sample (FBI Laboratory number 120822003 PF ABE) identified as coming from ISRAEL KEYES; accordingly, ISRAEL KEYES cannot be included as a possible source of this hair. It should be noted that hairs can change over time.

Numerous dog hairs were found on specimens Q221 and Q222.

No other hairs suitable for significant comparison purposes and microscopically dissimilar to the K3 known head hair sample (FBI Laboratory number 120822003 PF ABE) were found on or in the submitted specimens.

Textile fibers of various types and colors were found on or in specimens Q221 through Q223 and Q225 through Q233. No fibers were found in specimen Q224.

Examinations were conducted using microscopy including stereomicroscopy and comparison microscopy.

Interpretation:

UNCLASSIFIED

Characteristics of hairs can be used to determine whether the hair is human or non-human, body area, racial characteristics, artificial treatment and whether a hair has been forcibly removed or naturally shed. The characteristics exhibited in the hair(s) are used as the comparison criteria. When the presence or absence, appearance, arrangement, and distribution of macroscopic and microscopic characteristics exhibited in a recovered hair(s) are the same as in a potential source, the possibility that the compared hair(s) originated from the same source cannot be excluded. Consequently, the source of the known sample can be included as a possible source of the recovered hair(s), although the association of hairs using macroscopic and microscopic characteristics does not constitute a basis for absolute personal identification.

Fibers can differ as to type (e.g., rayon, cotton), color, shape, size, microscopic features (e.g. presence of delustering agents, voids) and optical properties (e.g., refractive index, sign of elongation). These are characteristics that may associate fibers with a group of items, but never to a single item to the exclusion of all others. However, even fibers with many similar properties may be excluded as originating from the same source by using the identified analytical methods.

The characteristics present in the fibers are used as comparison criteria. When all of the characteristics present in a recovered fiber are the same as in a potential source, the possibility that the compared fibers originated from the same source cannot be excluded. Consequently, the recovered fibers are consistent with originating from the known source, or from another source comprised of fibers that exhibit the same microscopic characteristics and optical properties.

The inability to associate specimens through a microscopic hair/fiber examination does not preclude that the persons/items of interest had contact with each other. A number of factors can produce this result, including: 1) Hair/fiber evidence may not have transferred. 2) Hairs/fibers that did transfer may have been lost prior to submission to the laboratory. 3) The hairs/fibers transferred or the known comparison specimen submitted may not be representative of the source. 4) The hairs/fibers may be from a different source.

Date of entry 09/21/2012

[redacted] white male, born [redacted] Social Security Account Number [redacted] residing at [redacted] Tulsa, Oklahoma 74114, cellular telephone number [redacted] employed as [redacted]

Tulsa, Oklahoma, was interviewed at the office of the FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION, 8023 East 63rd Place, Suite 400, Tulsa, Oklahoma. After being advised of the identities of the interviewing Agents and the nature of the interview, [redacted] provided the following information:

[redacted] advised that since learning of the nature of the interview he had researched ISRAEL KEYES on the Internet to see what kind of trouble KEYES was in. [redacted] informed the interviewing agents he [redacted] was aware of what people were alleging against KEYES regarding the kidnapping and killing of "some people" in Vermont. [redacted] considered himself a close friend of KEYES. [redacted] had not spoken with KEYES for approximately eight years. [redacted] recalled an occasion, within the past eight years, when KEYES called late at night and [redacted] girlfriend answered the telephone. KEYES was extremely intoxicated and [redacted] girlfriend hung up on KEYES.

[redacted] served with KEYES in the UNITED STATES ARMY while stationed in Egypt and at Fort Lewis, Washington. [redacted] and KEYES were on the same Infantry Squad and lived in the same barracks while serving in the Army. [redacted] and KEYES were very close friends during their service in the Army. [redacted] and KEYES were stationed at Fort Lewis for approximately three years. Their Squad spent approximately nine months in Egypt on a multi-national peacekeeping mission. [redacted] advised he had several photographs of himself and KEYES while they served in the Army together.

While serving in Egypt, [redacted] and KEYES would frequently cross the border into Israel. [redacted] did not believe KEYES had any prejudices against anyone of race, religion, nationality or sexual orientation. While in Egypt, KEYES asked [redacted] to brand a pentagram on the back of his (KEYES') neck. [redacted] used a heated coat hanger to brand KEYES neck. Since [redacted] could not bend the hanger into a pentagram with straight lines, he used a single straight strand of the hanger and branded KEYES several times to create the pentagram. [redacted] believed the pentagram was KEYES' way of revolting against his (KEYES') family.

[REDACTED] recalled an occasion while off duty in Seattle when he and KEYES accidentally went into a gay bar. Once KEYES recognized they were in a gay bar, KEYES wanted to immediately leave and said he hated homosexuals. [REDACTED] believed KEYES was heterosexual and had no reason or observations to believe otherwise.

[REDACTED] believed KEYES was married and had a child. KEYES married a [REDACTED] did not know the woman's name, but believed they lived on an Indian reservation together in Washington. [REDACTED] believed KEYES may have worked as a forest ranger on the reservation. [REDACTED] was unaware of any other relationships or girlfriends that KEYES may have had. KEYES was not the type to date lots of women.

To [REDACTED] knowledge, KEYES was not a criminal. KEYES had discussed a few burglaries he had committed before he entered the military. KEYES' family became "ultra religious" after KEYES joined the military. [REDACTED] believed KEYES' family was either an extreme Amish group or part of a religious cult. KEYES' family disowned him for joining the military and having a relationship [REDACTED] with a non-white person.

[REDACTED] and KEYES had "normal Army talk" about crime and "good ways to make money." KEYES had a plan to rob several banks along a rural stretch of highway. KEYES believed he could get away with the bank robberies if he struck at the right time and place. KEYES also talked about his plans to kidnap people and hold them for ransom on a mass scale. KEYES told [REDACTED] he would have to ask for a "reasonable" amount of money that people could actually come up with. KEYES advised [REDACTED] that he could never give the kidnap victims back to their families because they would recognize him and be able to tie him to the crime. [REDACTED] assumed KEYES meant he would have to kill them and/or dispose of them when he said "he could never give them back."

When asked if he was surprised KEYES was arrested for kidnapping and murder, [REDACTED] advised, "I'm surprised he went through with the murders and got caught...he was smarter than that."

KEYES and all the soldiers on the Squad drank frequently as soldiers do to pass time. [REDACTED] described KEYES as, "a mean drunk." [REDACTED] knew KEYES to occasionally use cocaine while serving in the Army. PERKINS was not worried about KEYES' use of cocaine because "everyone in the Infantry used a little cocaine now and then." [REDACTED] never saw KEYES use any other illegal drugs.

According to [REDACTED] KEYES was an avid outdoorsman that enjoyed hunting, fishing, backpacking, hiking and camping. KEYES loved the state of Washington and would have done these activities at any forest areas near Fort Lewis. [REDACTED] was unaware of other locations KEYES may have enjoyed his outdoor activities. KEYES loved video games, particularly military games and games of violence such as Call of Duty.

[REDACTED] advised [REDACTED] [REDACTED] (phonetic) and [REDACTED] were the other members of his and KEYES' Army Infantry Squad. [REDACTED] believed [REDACTED] resided in Wisconsin, [REDACTED] was married and worked for the United States Postal Service, [REDACTED] resided in Florida, [REDACTED] resided in Seattle, Washington and [REDACTED] whom was of [REDACTED] dissent, resided in New York. Although the entire Squad was very close, [REDACTED] was probably the closest to KEYES. [REDACTED] felt [REDACTED] was also close to KEYES.

At the conclusion of the interview, [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] informed the interviewing agents he was available for follow-up interviews as needed.

Re: 306-AN-15642, 09/25/2012

09/25/2012, writer telephonically contacted Lieutenant [redacted] of the Nooksack Tribal Police Department (NTPD) to determine if any missing persons investigations conducted between 2001 and the present date remained unresolved. Lt. [redacted] stated that the NTPD does not have any unresolved missing persons cases.

b6

On the same date, writer telephonically contacted Lummi Nation Tribal Police Department (LNPD) Detective Sergeant [redacted] to determine if any missing persons investigations conducted between 2001 and the present date remain unresolved. Sergeant [redacted] responded that the only unresolved missing persons case at LNPD is that of [redacted] [redacted] who was reported missing in November of 2011. Although it was not discussed in this telephone call, writer is aware that [redacted] was wanted by police when he disappeared, and that several witnesses have reported seeing him in recent months.

Although not specifically addressed in the referenced lead, writer would like to bring two unsolved homicide investigations to the attention of Agents investigating Israel Keyes:

Information pertinent to the first case is contained in file number 198A-SE-94754. The victim, Shannon Paulene Lathrop, date of birth 09/25/1977, SSAN 538-78-3694, was a 5'7" tall female with dark brown or black hair who weighed approximately 150-180 pounds. Lathrop was allegedly a prostitute, and she had a history of mental illness. She died on an unknown date in June or July 2000, and her partially decomposed body was found on 07/24/2000 on the Lummi Indian Reservation in Bellingham, WA. The manner of her death is currently unknown.

Information pertinent to the second case is contained in file number [redacted] The victim, Leah Toby Roberts, date of birth 07/23/1976, was a 5'5" tall female who weighed approximately 130 pounds. Roberts was last seen in Bellingham, WA on 03/13/2000, and her vehicle was found off the side of a road in the Mt. Baker National Forest on 03/18/2000. Roberts is presumed dead, but her body has not been found.

Details:

On 02/01/2012, victim Samantha Koenig was abducted from her place of employment, Common Grounds coffee stand in Anchorage, Alaska. The subject, Israel Keyes, has been interviewed on multiple occasions and has admitted to killing Koenig, providing details about the abduction and homicide. In addition, Keyes admitted to abducting and killing two other individuals, William and Lorraine Currier, in Vermont, the previous year (June 2011).

In addition to Koenig and the Currier's, Keyes indicated he committed other homicides over the past fourteen years. In some cases, Keyes provided general information about the location of the homicide. Keyes incorporated these homicides into his travel across the United States. He often flew into a city, rented a car, and drove through several states before reaching his final destination. It was during these trips that Keyes committed the homicides. Keyes resided in Neah

Bay, Washington from 2001 to 2006, at which point he moved to Alaska. Keyes admitted to committing homicides while living in Washington also. While living in Neah Bay, he worked for the Makah Tribe and was in a relationship with an Native American woman. As a result, Keyes is very comfortable on reservations and familiar with life on a reservation.

The Anchorage Division has reviewed thousands of missing person reports found in NCIC, NameUs, and other online databases in an attempt to connect someone that is missing to a location that Keyes was in. Anchorage recently learned that many tribal police agencies or organizations do not report missing people to NCIC or other government databases. As a result, Anchorage is requesting that receiving offices/RA's query contacts on the reservations in their territory to obtain the names of missing people during the time frames noted below. It would be very helpful to have other information about the missing person to include the circumstances of his/her disappearance, location at time of disappearance, suspects in the case, etc. Anchorage is requesting queries about all missing people - male and female, adults and children.

Due to the nature of the case, Anchorage is requesting that receiving offices not mention Keyes or Alaska when contacting tribal police/organizations. Anchorage is currently in plea negotiations with Keyes and any information that gets out to the public about his past homicides could impede the negotiations.

Captioned case is restricted. Anchorage is requesting the assigned agent contact SA  to facilitate their access to the case.

b7c

Below are dates that Keyes was known to be in or near Albuquerque Divisions AOR. Anchorage is requesting assigned agent query IC contacts on the relevant dates. However, it may easier for the IC authorities to provide a comprehensive list of all missing people from 2001 to 2012. If so, Anchorage will review and pull out the relevant dates.

Keyes traveled in Albuquerque territory:
