It stated that the Black Muslim Mosque No. 27, 5606 South Broadway, was being guarded by a private "army" as an outgrowth of the assassination Sunday of former Muslim lieutenant MALCOLM X. Police reported a score of Black Muslims were posted outside the temple in parked cars last night.

Racist Awaited Death, Cut Trip, Author Says

Rome — Malcolm X was due in Rome last Sunday to read the final galley proofs of his autobiography, but the bombing of his Queens home Feb. 14 altered those plans, his collaborator said yesterday.

Instead of coming to Rome, the black nationalist leader was assassinated in a fusillade of gunfire Sunday as he was addressing 500 members of his Afro-American Union at the Audubon Ballroom in Upper Harlem.

Alex Haley, a New York City free-lance writer, was the man Malcolm was coming to see here. He was collaborating with the rebel Black Muslim on his autobiography.

"HE FULLY EXPECTED to die," Haley said. He telephoned me Saturday and asked about the proofs. His voice was so strained that I didn't recognize it."

He said he came to know Malcolm intimately after more than 200 interviews while researching the book. Entitled, "The Autobiography of Malcolm X," it will be published by Doubleday & Co. about May 1.

Haley said Malcolm told him last Saturday, "I do not expect to be living to read the book in its finished form."

The manuscript has been completed, but Haley is writing an epilogue in the wake of the assassination.

HALEY CAME HERE about a year ago to write with the aid of his co-worker and research specialist, George Sims, son of Willie J. Sims who operates a tailor shop at 104 N. George St.

Haley sought the sanctuary of a quiet community and said he intended to remain here at least until next fall.

Haley said he earned more than $40,000 last year with sales of major articles to national magazines, including Reader's Digest, Playboy and Saturday Evening Post.

He anticipates an income of at least $100,000 this year with royalties on the Malcolm X book and advances on his next one "Before This Anger" and a musical play, "The Way."

Bomb Squad Checks Clock At Elijah's Home—Just Gift

The untimely arrival of a grandfather's clock at Elijah Muhammad's heavily-guarded South Side home Wednesday resulted in a quick call for the bomb squad.

The mahogany clock was unpacked from its crate, found to contain no explosives and finally delivered to the 19-room mansion at 4847 S. Woodlawn.

The incident was a bit of comic relief in the tense situation that has prevailed since the assassination last Sunday of Malcolm X, former protégé of Muhammad.

Slain At Meeting

Malcolm, who broke with Muhammad late in 1963 and formed his own fanatical black nationalistic movement, was shot down as he rose to address a meeting in a Manhattan ballroom.

His followers are believed to have earmarked Muhammad for death. Muhammad, 67-year-old "Messenger of Allah" in the Black Muslim movement, has denied that any of his people were responsible for Malcolm's death.

An REA deliver truck brought the crate to Muhammad's home. The uniformed driver explained to Muhammad's karate-trained personal guards that he had a package for their chief. Nothing doing, they said, their suspicions aroused.

Sgt. Edward Neville of the bomb and arson squad went to the scene and gingerly unpacked the clock. After half-hour examination, he pronounced it safe.

Fortunately for the nerves of all concerned, the clock was not ticking because its counterweights had not been set.

The clock, purchased from Wannamaker's department store in Philadelphia, bore a card saying it was a gift to Muhammad from the women of Temple No. 12.

Meanwhile, police delayed making a thorough search of the Coliseum, 1513 S. Wabash, where the Black Muslims will hold their annual national convention for three days starting Friday.

A man who identified himself as John Henderson called police Tuesday night and said a bomb has been concealed in the Coliseum and is set to go off when Muhammad addresses his followers.

Timing Of Search

Robert Lynskey, commander of the task force, said the search will be made just before the convention opens to make sure that no bomb is concealed between now and then.

Lt. Ronald Rae, head of the bomb and arson unit, discounted the report that a time-bomb has already been placed in the 80,000-square-foot hall.

It would take a genius to produce a bomb that would go off several days in the future, he said. The time limit for most delayed-action bombs is 12 hours, he added.

Lynskey said Muhammad will have "as much security as if he were President Johnson" when he appears at the convention. A 45-man detail with reinforcement nearby has been established for the convention.

HEAVY GUARD READY FOR MUSLIM CHIEF

Prepare to Protect Convention

BY THOMAS FITZPATRICK
 Elijah Muhammad will be one of the most closely guarded men in America tomorrow when he makes his first appearance before 8,000 members of his Black Muslim group in the Coliseum.

Chicago policemen and Muhammad's own bodyguards will protect him. There have been threats that followers of Malcolm X will kill Muhammad, 40-year-old ex-convict who has acquired great wealth since taking over the sect.

Guard to Be Tripled

Commander Robert Lynskey of the police task force said he has made arrangements to triple the normal complement of men around the building at 1313 Wabash av. where the convention will be held.

Lynskey indicated there also will be plain clothes men inside the convention hall to make sure no effort is made to shoot Muhammad in the same way that Malcolm X met death last Sunday.

"In addition to this," Lynskey said, "we'll have a sufficient number of men near the Coliseum to take care of any emergency."

Convention Plans Continue

Despite the continued threats of bombs and even of an invasion by as many as 100 followers of Malcolm X from New York City, there is no indication that the Black Muslims have any idea of postponing the convention.

Meanwhile Saturn Airlines chartered a flight which was to bring 150 members of the Black Muslims from New York City to Chicago. Ronald Grillman, regional manager of the charter flight service, said it was feared that the plane might be bombed.

Cassius Clay, heavyweight boxing champion, has apparently taken over as a quasi-official spokesman for the supremacy cult in the last few days.

"Wouldn't that be awful," Clay said yesterday, "for a man with 100,000 or 200,000 followers to be afraid and not show up?"

Clay assured listeners that not only would Elijah Muhammad show up for his scheduled appearances tomorrow and Sunday, but that he might even be accompanied to the speaker's rostrum by Clay.

Clay May Speak

"I'm going to be right up there alongside him," said Clay "and I might have a little talk myself."

Sgt. Allen Michaels of the police bomb and arson squad said that his men would search the Coliseum for bombs before and after each of the three sessions.

Meanwhile, Capt. William Duffy of the police intelligence unit continued to check out all reports of followers of Malcolm X who are reported either in the city or on their way here. Police cars and members of Muhammad's personal guards continued to guard Muhammad's home at 4847 S. Wood-lawn av.

Reveals Malcolm's Role in Elijah Paternity Suits

BY SKYMOOR KORMAN
(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

Los Angeles, Feb. 24—A Los Angeles attorney disclosed today that Malcolm X, the

Mr. Root

Negro nationalist leader slain Sunday in New York, planned to be a witness against Elijah Muhammad, the Black Muslim leader, in two paternity suits pending here.

The lawyer, Mrs. Gladys Towles Root, said that Malcolm X, before he split with Muhammad, was an intermediary for the latter in trying to settle the claims of two women plaintiffs out of court.

Offers to Testify

The women are Miss Evelyn Williams, 24, who alleges that Muhammad is the father of her daughter, Eva Marie, 4, and Miss Lucille Reedy, 22, who charges him with siring her three daughters, Sandra, 4; Lisa, 3, and Ethel, 7 months. Both women previously were secretaries for Muhammad in his Chicago office, Mrs. Root said.

Mrs. Root, whose flamboyant garb drew national attention a year ago when she was one of the defense attorneys in the Frank Sinatra Jr. kidnapping case, said that last Jan. 20 Malcolm X came to her office here and said he would testify for the two women.

"He told me," Mrs. Root said later, "that after the paternity suits were filed July 2, 1964, Muhammad tried to induce me to assume responsibility for the paternity suits. Muhammad could keep his spiritual image on a high plane in the eyes of his followers."

"Malcolm X said he intended to tell all this in court when the cases came to trial. He also said: 'If these cases aren't hurried, I'll never be alive.'"

Afraid of Violence

"Before the Jan. 20 meeting in several conversations with Malcolm X, I reached the conclusion that if the matter of the paternity suits was not settled amicably, blood would be shed."

Since she filed the suits, Mrs. Root said, the two women have moved twice but still reside together. The attorney added there recently was an explosion at a dwelling next to the one the two women now occupy.

Mrs. Root said she has not attempted to get an early trial in the two suits because the women have been getting $100 a month support for each child. She said the money came "from the church" but couldn't define this source more specifically. The paternity actions may have to be transferred to Chicago because that is where Muhammad has property in his own name, Mrs. Root said.

Muhammad's Son Pleads to Rejoin Black Muslims

BY ROBERT JACKSON

The "exiled" son of Black Muslim leader Elijah Muhammad is expected to go before the national gathering of Muslims here this week-end and make a dramatic plea to return to the fold.

CHICAGO'S AMERICAN has learned that Wallace Delaney Muhammad, 31, the fifth-born of Muhammad's 8 sons, was asked to appear at the opening session of the convention Friday in the Coliseum to "ask for forgiveness and to admit how mistaken I was."

Wallace defected from the Muslim movement last July because, he said, his father "betrayed the teachings of Allah." But today, Wallace cast himself in the role of repentant and said he is ready to admit his errors to the nation-wide gathering of Muslim delegates.

Tells of Fears

At the same time, Muhammad's son expressed two fears:

1. That the delegates might refuse to allow his return.

2. That followers of the murdered Malcolm X may now think he had something to do with the assassination.

Wallace said Elijah "has found it in his heart to forgive me" but he said friends have told him other top Muslim officials are still bitter about his defection and are reluctant to accept his return.

Wallace, who said he had "been thinking of a way to get back for a long time," wrote a letter to his father three weeks ago, to talk of his change of heart. Muhammad answered the letter but told Wallace he would have to agree to support the Muslim leader "100 per cent" before they could discuss their disagreements.

WALLACE D. MUHAMMAD
He wants back in

4-Hour Meeting

Wallace pledged that support in a second letter last week and on Saturday met for four hours with Elijah and a brother, Herbert, in Muhammad's stately south side mansion.

Muhammad told Wallace that as his father, he wanted his son back in the Nation of Islam. But as a condition for readmission, he demanded that Wallace appear before the national Muslim assembly to admit his error

"and ask forgiveness of the brotherhood."

"It will be up to them," Wallace said.

Asked why he had decided to return to the Muslim ranks, Wallace said he hoped to help his father "walk all of the nation's Muslims (including those not allied with Muhammad) into one group."

"I Will Take Orders"

He stressed this point: "I will take orders from my father."

During the period Wallace was "exiled" from the Muslims, he attempted to organize his own Afro-Descendant Society for Upliftment but met with small success.

Wallace said the group numbered "only around 30," most of whom left the Muslims when Wallace did. He said he could not convince these fellows that he was "doing the right thing" by coming back, so he was "coming alone." The organization, he said, was disbanded in November.

During the period of estrangement Wallace said he met several times with Malcolm X "to try and heal the split" between Malcolm and Muhammad, but failed on each occasion.

"He Was Shocked"

Wallace said his father and Malcolm were once close friends but had private disagreements.

"My father didn't expect Malcolm to come to this kind of an end. He was shocked," Wallace said.

Wallace said he is convinced that neither his father nor any Muslim official had anything to do with Malcolm's assassination, but he conceded "there are some individuals in the organization capable of doing it."

But he suspects that some racist group "like the Ku Klux Klan" hired the killers to stir up a war of reprisals between the two Negro groups. "Dad never stuck his neck out too far," Wallace said.

Wary About Conventions

He is admitting persons about his appearance before the Muslim convention because of his better denunciation of the movement at the time he detected it last year he accepted the Black Muslims of leaving the membership of seeking executive distribution and of underpaying Muslim who are working in various call enterprises. He also accused the father of the person.

His father's loyalty is not enough to guarantee his safety to Black Muslims. Wallace said his father has told him:

"I can't judge you alone, my followers will have to accept you also."

Daily Bomb Checks

When the Black Muslims gather, the Coliseum will be as safe from bombs and snail ing devices as police can make it, the commander of the task force said today.

A. Robert Lynskey said the huge building will be searched for explosives before and after each session tomorrow, Saturday, and Sunday. Lynskey added:

"Muhammad will have as much security as if he were President Johnson."

The police intelligence unit is checking out reports that followers of Malcolm X are entering Chicago planning to infiltrate the Black Muslim convention. All cars bearing New York license plates are halted and the occupants questioned.

Detectives in Audience

Lynskey said that "whether the Black Muslims like it or not," his Negro detectives in plain clothes will be scattered about among the audience at the convention.

Lynskey said:

"There will be no repetition of the kind of assassination in which Malcolm X was murdered last Sunday in New York."

Eastern Airlines canceled a flight, which was to bring 200 Black Muslims from New York City to Chicago. Ronald Gill, vice regional manager of the charter flight service, said it was feared some enemy of the Muslims might plant a bomb on the craft.

Muslims are coming here by train, car, and bus, rather than airplane, because of their own fears. The first groups from eastern mosques began arriving today.

Plan Secretly to Fund

Funeral for President church in Harlem—organized into Harlem Upper Manhattan

United Church association have begun raising a scholarship fund for the children of Malcolm X, four born and one expected. The Rev. W. Sterling Currey, president, called Malcolm one of Harlem's "most deeply loved and appreciated men." Malcolm will be buried Saturday.

For the second consecutive day there was a report of a bomb having been planted in the two-story Unity funeral chapel in Harlem where Malcolm X awaits burial. Police evacuated the building while they conducted a search.

Another bomb threat was directed at the Harlem church where the funeral services will be held at 2:30 a. m. Saturday. Police searched the Faith Temple Church of God in Christ.

Probe Malcolm's Foreign Ties

Break in Case Is Expected Soon by Police

BY WALTER BELTZ
(Chicago Tribune Press Syndicate)

New York, Feb. 24 — The Federal Bureau of Investigation today refused to confirm or deny it was involved in the investigation into Malcolm X's assassination.

Donald Roney, special agent in charge of the security division here, said he could not comment on New York newspaper reports that Negro undercover agents were in Harlem checking into Malcolm's foreign associations for possible clues to his murder Sunday.

The 34-year-old chieftain, who was shot and killed just as he was about to address a rally of his Organization for Afro-American Unity, was a familiar figure in the delegates lounge of the United Nations headquarters here in recent years. He also had made several trips to Europe and Africa, in some cases as the guest of foreign governments.

'An International Plot'

James Farmer, director of the Congress of Racial Equality expressed the belief Malcolm's death "was an international plot, although the executioners themselves weren't foreign agents."

Farmer is one of several Negro leaders who have suggested that the ex-convict former Black Muslim lieutenant may have been killed because he refused to serve as a foreign pawn, and because he was turning his back on extremist, right-white hate methods of attacking equal rights for American Negroes.

"It is significant that he was coming into the mainstream of Negro thought," Farmer said. "That is, anti-segregation, pre-integration."

Explanation Is Deeper

"Most people are leaping to the easy conclusion that the Black Muslims killed Malcolm," he said. "The explanation is much deeper, much more sinister. It has international implications."

Malcolm reportedly told friends he was considering an offer from President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt to head the African section of Cairo's foreign ministry. He also claimed to have been approached to work for President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana.

The speculation that Malcolm was trying to dissociate himself from "foreign entanglements" was coupled with questions concerning how he could afford trips to Cairo, Accra, and Mecca, a beyguard, tailored clothes, impeccable grooming [manicured nails, trimmed mustache, etc.] when he often claimed to be broke.

Break Expected Soon

Moskowitz, Assistant Chief

Inspector Joseph L. Coyle, in charge of the investigation, said he would confer with the district attorney's office on the case. He declined to elaborate, saying only that his crew of 30 detectives was "on the right track" and "I hope to have a break [in the case] in the very near future."

Speaking at the Wadsworth avenue station, Coyle said a number of witnesses to the murder were shown photographs in an attempt to identify the killers. He did not say if anyone had recognized one or more of the assassins.

Nayer Still Silent

Only one person has been arrested from among five believed to be conspirators in the slaying of the black nationalist. Charged with homicide and under police guard in Bellevue hospital prison ward is Tammage Hayer, 22, a Negro, of Paterson, N. J. He was wounded in the leg in the melee touched off by the shooting of Malcolm X. He has refused to tell police anything about the assassination, including who his accomplices were.

Coyte said one phase of the investigation was concentrated outside the city, but he declined to say where.

In another development, Reuben Francis, 33, was continued in $10,000 bail today for a hearing March 2 when he will appear in criminal court on charges of shooting Hayer. Francis, a Negro, was Malcolm's bodyguard.

Many View Body

At a Harlem funeral home, the body of Malcolm X lay beneath a glass shield in a burnished copper coffin for a second day of public viewing. Some 200 persons were waiting behind police barricades when the door to the funeral home was opened.

By late evening police estimated that 5,000 persons, overwhelmingly Negro, had filed past the coffin. Yesterday 2,000 viewed the body. Bomb threats received at the funeral home forced several evacuations of the premises.

Another threat was directed at Harlem's Faith temple, mentioned as a possible site of Malcolm's funeral. Police searched it in vain after an anonymous caller told the pastor's wife, "If Malcolm's funeral is held there, we will bomb the place."

Malcolm Applies for Gun Permit

Black Nationalist leader Malcolm X has applied for a gun permit to defend himself against an alleged conspiracy to kill him. As he is an ex-convict, the chances of his getting the permit are virtually non-existent.

At a news conference in his Harlem headquarters at Hotel Theresa, Malcolm disclosed that he has moved his family and furniture out of their fire-bombed East Elmhurst home. He moved a jump ahead of an eviction order issued by Civil Court at the request of the Black Muslims.

The order, effective yesterday, authorized city marshals to remove Malcolm, his wife and four daughters from the house. But he moved his belongings out Wednesday night and put them in storage.

Formed Own Group

The Black Muslims gave the house to Malcolm while he was head of the sect's New York mosque. But the Muslims retained title to the property and brought suit to evict him after he quit the cult to form his own Negro nationalist group.

Molotov cocktails, hurled through the living room windows, set the house on fire early Sunday. Malcolm blamed the Muslims for the bombing and Muslim spokesmen blamed him.

At the news conference yesterday, Malcolm repeated charges that the Muslims are out to kill him.

Charges Conspiracy

He also charged that the Police and Fire Departments and the New York press are conspiring against him.

"They are attempting to make it appear that I'm just blowing my horn to get publicity," he said. "The conspiracy leads toward my death."

"I don't believe in being in a society where they are going to make a patsy of you. I applied for a gun permit today. I'm going to protect my family and myself."

New Threats!

Police Here Set for Islam Parley

BY GEORGE MURRAY

The Black Muslim mosques, universities, and restaurants across the nation are under heavy guard today by police and Islamic followers of Elijah Muhammad.

Black Nationalist followers of the slain Malcolm X also are guarding their mosques and headquarters in fear of retaliation for the destruction of the four-story Muslim mosque in New York City's Harlem.

Despite the refusal of the Muslims to cooperate with police, authorities are determined to protect the followers of Muhammad from self-styled avengers who have made death threats at the bier of Malcolm X.

The same threats made last night in Harlem beside the coffin of the 39-year-old fiery orator who was assassinated Sunday have been made by phone to police.

Vengeance Is Theme

Vengeance is the theme of the calls here. Vengeance also has been demanded by Malcolm's wife, Betty; his half-sister, Mrs. Ella Collins; and the heir-apparent of Malcolm's splinter Afro-American Unity party, Leon "4-X" Ameer.

Ameer, who arrived in New York from Boston, where he had been sent by Malcolm X to organize a New England branch of the group, said:

"We are going to repay them for what they did to Malcolm. There will be maximum retaliation."

Taught Muslims Karate

Ameer, a tough little man who taught karate to the Fruit of Islam, the Black Muslim storm troopers, said retaliation could include the assassination of Elijah Muhammad.

Of the 69-year-old Elijah Ameer said:

"I don't know if he'll live out the month. They're guardin' him pretty good now, but I don't know if he'll live out the month."

Ameer made clear that he is aware the month ends this Sunday, bringing to a close the 3-day convention of Elijah Muhammad's forces held annually in the Chicago Coliseum at 1513 Wabash st.

Ameer said that he himself is going to die. The Black Muslims, he said, are going to kill him. He says it so quietly, so calmly, it is difficult to believe him. A week ago Malcolm X said the Black Muslims were going to kill him—and it was difficult to believe him, too.

Work with FBI

Intelligence units of the Chicago police are working closely with the Federal Bureau of Investigation to prevent spread of the violent warfare among Negro extremist groups.

Capt. William Duffy, head of the police intelligence unit, is in touch with police in major cities housing the Negro factions.

Coliseum Searched

The Coliseum was searched yesterday after Chicago police received a phone call that a bomb timed to explode Friday or Saturday had been concealed in the building. Nothing was found.

Sgt. Edward Neville, head of the police bomb squad, said the Coliseum will be given a thorough check early Friday, before the opening of the convention. Detecting devices will be used to reach every part of the building, he said. Muhammad is to speak at the convention Friday or Saturday.

"100 Men Coming Here"

Another warning that 100 men are coming here from Harlem to kill Muhammad came from a man who identified himself as John Henderson.

Col. Minor K. Wilson, administrative aid to the police superintendent, said:

"We've been watching the Black Muslim movement and the activities of Malcolm X for months. We think it highly improbable, however, that there will be any attempt to kill Muhammad during the convention here."

A Muslim mosque in San Francisco was bombed, less successfully than the one in Harlem which was demolished.

Police also have seized two New York City Negroes carrying rifles.

Renegade from Cult

Ameer, 31, like Malcolm X, is a renegade from Elijah Muhammad's religious cult. Ameer had been in the Muslim movement since 1956.

Another aspect of the Malcolm X assassination is a fanatic Negro hate group called the Revolutionary Action Movement. This group, known as R. A. M., is dedicated to organized violence.

R. A. M. includes hard-core young hotheads from both Elijah Muhammad's and Malcolm X's organizations, who dream of a global black revolution.

R. A. M. is only one of 17 black nationalist groups known to have been members last summer of a coordinating body calling itself the African Nationalist Federated council. Most of these organizations profess the belief that the American Negro can gain freedom only by linking his fate with that of rising African and Asian nations.

Some believe that the assassination and Muslim temple bombing were the work of R. A. M.

Farmer Tells Story

Support for this explanation came indirectly from James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, who said he believed Malcolm's slaying to have been "a political deed, with international implications."

Farmer said he would ask President Johnson to order a federal inquiry. Farmer said that while he believed Malcolm's death to have been "an international plot, the executioners themselves were not foreign agents."

Negro FBI agents in New York are investigating Malcolm's ties abroad. He had told friends of two offers of employment, one with President Gamel Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic and the other with President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana.

Malcolm said Nasser wanted him to head the African section of Cairo's foreign ministry and that Nkrumah wanted him as an anti-American speech writer and policy adviser on east-west relations.

Muslim Bomb Scares Here

Police investigated two new bomb scares Wednesday in which Black Muslims were the "targets," including one involving a grandfather clock sent to Muslim leader Elijah Muhammad.

The police bomb and arson unit was called to inspect the clock when an REA Express truck driver Frank Stec, attempted to deliver it to Muhammad's home at 4847 S. Woodlawn. However, no bomb was found.

The 6-foot high carton containing the clock was shipped by a Philadelphia department store, Stec told reporters. Police said the package contained a card that said: "From MGT and CCC," indicating the clock was apparently a gift.

MUHAMMAD'S 19-room

red brick mansion is being guarded by a detail of shotgun-armed police. He is thought to be a likely target for six black nationalists reported en route here to avenge the death of Malcolm X, who was slain in New York Sunday.

The second bomb incident Wednesday occurred when a man phoned the police communications center to say that "the Muslim temple" would be bombed at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Police details at Muhammad's Mosque of Islam No. 2, 5335 S. Greenwood, and a branch meeting place of the mosque at 2504 W. Madison were alerted, but no explosion occurred.

Several other calls were received by police Tuesday night. One caller warned: "We have arrived. Muhammad will have a lively convention."

A second caller, who identified himself as "John Henderson," said 100 men were coming to Chicago from New York to kill Muhammad.

The caller also told police a bomb already had been planted in the Coliseum, site of the convention which is expected to attract 6,000 Black Muslims.

Police said the caller indicated the bomb was timed to explode Friday or Saturday when Muhammad is scheduled to address the convention.

LT. ROBERT Lynskey, head of the police task force, said that the Coliseum, at 1513 S. Wabash, will not be searched for a bomb until Friday morning, just before the Muslims take it over for their convention.

"If we searched it now, we'd either have to post a very tight guard around it or else search it again before the convention," Lynskey said.

As a further precaution, officials tripled the number of policemen, from 9 to 27, assigned to guard the convention. James C. Conlisk, deputy superintendent, also said 50 other patrolmen would be available "within seconds" in case of emergency.

Sgt. James Callahan of the task force, assigned to guard Muhammad's residence, said 12 men were assigned to each of three shifts in an around-the-clock guard. The watch will continue "indefinitely," he said.

Unmarked police cars also cruised the immediate area stopping all autos that appeared to be suspicious.

"He's (Muhammad) pretty safe," Callahan said. "We've got it covered pretty good."

CAPT. WILLIAM Duffy, head of the police intelligence unit, said police "definitely are not discounting" an FBI report that six New York followers of slain Malcolm X are coming to Chicago to seek revenge for Malcolm's murder in New York Sunday.

He said police were continuing their stakeouts at O'Hare Airport and at rail and bus terminals in an attempt to intercept the six.

Duffy said police have the names and descriptions of more than six Black Nationalists who may either be en route to Chicago or already are here to seek revenge against the rival Black Muslims.

HEAVY guards also were placed at the sect's Mosque No. 2 and the University of Islam, both within a mile of Muhammad's home.

Police were aided in their security guard by Black Muslim guards, who stationed themselves in cars parked in front of the Muhammad mansion.

No chances were taken. A delivery truck pulled up to the mansion Tuesday, and its young driver jumped out, two packages in his arms.

Police and Black Muslim guards immediately surrounded, searched and quizzed the driver before letting him continue his delivery.

"They really gave me the once over," the delivery boy told newsmen later.

The posting of Black Muslim guards gave rise to speculation that Muhammad, who said Monday he feared no reprisals in connection with the Sunday slaying of Malcolm X, may have had a change of heart.

PHONED bomb threats also harassed New York police and reinforcements were ordered into Harlem in an attempt to prevent further violence. Early Tuesday, an explosion and fire, believed to have been set by avengers of Malcolm X, wrecked a four-story Muslim mosque. No one was injured.

Tension mounted later when the funeral parlor housing the body of Malcolm X was the victim of a false bomb threat. The body went on display a few hours later.

Police sharpshooters were stationed on rooftops around the funeral home.

In less than four hours Tuesday night, more than 2,000 persons filed past the glass-covered, bronze coffin of the tall, bearded militant leader. All visitors and floral tributes were carefully searched by police before being allowed inside the mortuary.

New York police reported little progress in their investigation of Malcolm's slaying. Officials complained there was a barrier of silence among Malcolm's followers, members of the Afro-American Unity. Malcolm was suspended from the Black Muslims 14 months ago and shortly afterward began his movement.

Only one person, Talmadge Hayer, 22, has been arrested thus far in connection with the slaying. He has refused to say whether he has any affiliation with the Black Muslims.

MUHAMMAD, 67, has denied any Black Muslim complicity in the slaying, but he surrounded himself with guards from the Fruit of Islam, the karate-trained elite corps of the sect.

CHICAGO police said they had little information on a third, even more fanatical hate group, that some New York police officials said may be responsible for the slaying of Malcolm X and the fire bombing of a Muslim temple in New York's Harlem district.

Capt. Daniel McCain, head of the police human relations section, said the group, the Revolutionary Action Movement (RAM), is a very secretive organization.

McCain said there are probably less than a dozen RAM members in Chicago. He added that members will deny belonging to the group when questioned about their associations with it.

Sources in New York told police there that RAM has long plotted to pit Muhammad against Malcolm X to focus world attention on problems of the American Negro.

RAM has its headquarters in Philadelphia and is also active in Detroit and Cleveland, in addition to New York, officials said.

Police guards outside the residence of Black Muslim leader Elijah Muhammad, 4847 Woodlawn, interrogate and search visitors at driveway entrance to the mansion. (AP)

A New Picture of Malcolm

EXCLUSIVE

By WOODY KLEIN
Of the World-Telegram Staff

The contents of 10 postcards from Malcolm X to civil rights leader James Farmer today provided a new insight into the slain Negro's feelings about integration.

A series of almost cryptic messages was received by Farmer from the murdered ex-Muslim leader last summer and fall when Malcolm was traveling through Europe, Africa and the Far East.

The messages, revealed for the first time today, showed that Malcolm X was apparently undergoing a painstaking re-appraisal of his own opinions concerning Negroes and whites.

"Spirit of Unity"

As long ago as last May, when he was in Arabia, Malcolm X wrote to Farmer:

"I have just visited the Holy City of Mecca and witnessed pilgrims of all colors, from every part of this earth, displaying a spirit of unity and brotherhood like I've never witnessed during my entire life in America. It is truly (sic) a wonderful sight to behold."

And from Algeria in June, 1964, Malcolm X wrote to the Congress of Racial Equality leader:

"If more of our leaders would visit Africa it would broaden their scope and our struggle for freedom and human dignity would take on new dimensions."

"Broaden My Scope"

In September, another card: "Still trying to broaden my scope by traveling, since I've learned what a mess can be made of things by narrow-minded people. Best wishes for your success."

picture postcards from Addis Ababa, Cairo, London, Kuwait, Tanganyika, Nigeria and elsewhere. All began with the salutation: "Greetings from _____" and many were signed, "El-Hajj Malik El-Shabazz (Malcolm X)."

Malcolm's seemingly contradictory views about separatism and integration also were revealed. As recently as October, Farmer received this message:

"Greetings from Kenya, the home of those great Africa Patriots, the Mau Mau Freedom Fighters."

This particular card was signed: "Bro Malcolm X."

"An Uncertain Mau"

What did Farmer, who said he did not reply to Malcolm's cards, think of these messages?

"They showed that he was a confused man," Farmer says. "After he left the Black Muslim dogma and let the script go, he became an uncertain man.

"He bounced from pillar to post, but my impression was that he was moving away from the Black Muslims into the mainstream. I thought he might have become a constructive and creative fighter."

"I was convinced that he was genuinely interested in the welfare of Negroes. I considered him a personal friend, although our areas of disagreement were much larger than the areas of agreement."

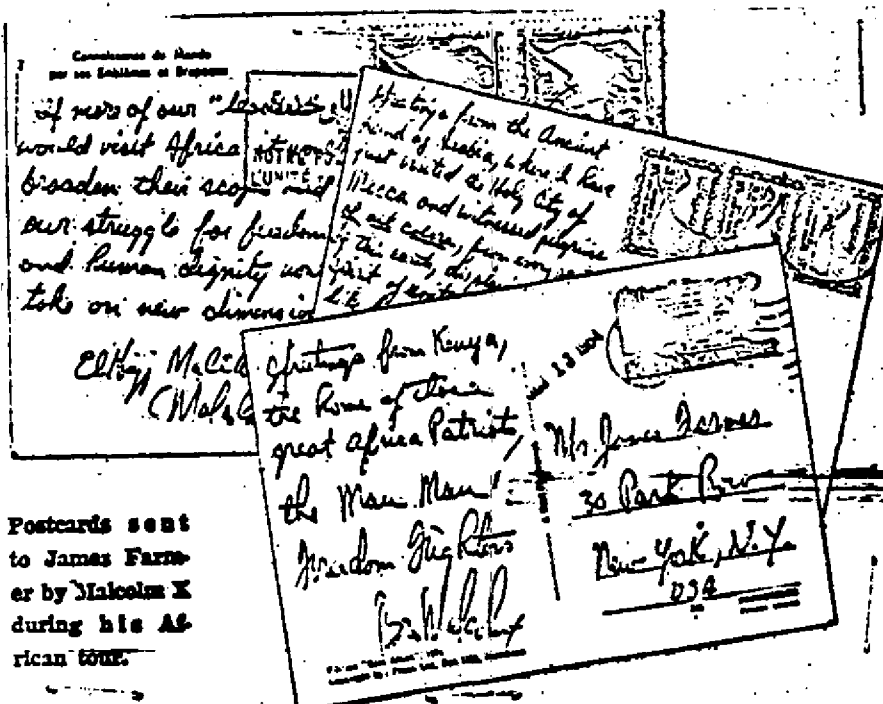

"Change in Thinking"

Farmer disclosed that before his own trip to Africa last December, he was visited by Malcolm X. "He called me up when he read I was going," Farmer said, "and asked if he could see me. We spent three enjoyable hours together in my house."

"He was relaxed and charming," Farmer continued, "and did not appear at all strained in the presence of my wife (Mrs. Farmer is white). He was perfectly friendly."

"I asked him about his change in thinking and he told me he thought Elijah Muhammad had misled him. He had been told that whites couldn't get close to Mecca. But when he saw white, blue-eyed, blond-haired Muslims there he found out differently."

"He told me that he was prepared to accept people on the basis of their deeds, and not on their genes. I don't think he knew exactly where he was going when he was murdered, but I thought he was right in saying our struggle needed to have international dimensions, even though we might quarrel about the nature of those dimensions."

Negro Violence Linked to 3d Group

By WILLIAM FEDERICI, EDWARD KIRKMAN and HENRY LEE
The assassination of Malcolm X, dissident Black Muslim leader, and the fire-bombing of an orthodox Muslim temple in Harlem less than 36 hours later, probably were the work of a third, even more fanatic Negro hate group, top police and federal investigators told THE NEWS last night.

As more violence threatened in Negro communities across the country, these sources disclosed that the Revolutionary Action Movement, dedicated to organized violence, had long plotted to pit the aging Prophet Elijah Muhammad against the fiery young Malcolm X and thus focus world attention on the problems of the American Negro.

The organization, known as RAM, includes hard-core young hotheads, from both the prophet's and Malcolm's organizations, who dream of a global black revolution. RAM is masterminded by Robert F. Williams, turncoat North Carolina Negro now working for Communist Cuba and China, who conceived the plot to bomb the Statue of Liberty, the Liberty Bell and Washington Monument.

Financed by Crime

Williams fled to Cuba four years ago after being indicted in the kidnaping of a white couple during racial rioting in Monroe.

Cassius Clay "fears nobody", but his mother is "scared" and wishes he would quit the Muslims. would quit the Muslims.

N.C. Since then he has been making regular hate broadcasts from Havana.

RAM, headquartered in Philadelphia and strong in Detroit, Chicago and Cleveland, became active here only about six months ago. Since then, police have known that guns and ammunition have been pouring into Harlem.

According to an FBI report to which TEN News had access, RAM has apparently completed its first phase of recruitment and education for ideological warfare. Now the outfit is believed concentrating on financing—through stickups, muggings and other means — and "direct action" against the American system through acts of violence.

Support for this explanation of the assassination and bombing came indirectly from James Farmer, CORE director. He said he believed the murder of Malcolm X "was a political killing with international implications."

Farmer said most people are leaping too easily to the conclusion that the Muslims were responsible, but "when the truth is out, it may be more sinister." Farmer said Malcolm had come to believe the whites could make a significant contribution to the Negro drive for equality and be their allies and supporters.

International Plot Seen

"It is significant that he was struck down as his views were changing," Farmer said.

Farmer, who called for a White House investigation, expressed his conviction that Malcolm X's death "was an international plot, although the executioners themselves weren't foreign agents."

Similarly, James Lawson, president of the United African Nationalist Movement, called the Harlem mosque bombing a "well-calculated and diabolical plan" that "will benefit the Communists more than anyone else."

Witnesses Reluctant

The investigation "should not rule out that this may be the beginning of a series of acts undertaken by Peking-orientated Communists," he said. "It does not have to be the result of a feud between the followers of Muhammad and the late Malcolm X."

Although Malcolm X was assassinated Sunday afternoon in view of 400 of his supporters, Assistance Chief Inspector Joseph Coyle said witnesses have not been helping the police.

"When the heat is off, we expect some of these people will come forward," Coyle said at the Wadsworth Ave. station, where the investigation is concentrated. "As of now, I don't think they feel secure."

Suspect Is Silent

Coyle said that Talmadge Hayer, 22, the one suspect captured, has refused to talk to police. He is in the Bellevue Hospital prison ward. He was allegedly shot by Malcolm's bodyguard Reuben Francis, 33, who is being held in $10,000 bail on charges of felonious assault and Sullivan Law violation.

Coyle refused to say whether police knew the identities of two other assailants who sprayed Malcolm X with some 16 bullets and shotgun pellets, two of which pierced his heart.

Wounded Shielding Son

Two other men were wounded in the hail of gunfire and Coyle said one of them, William Parker, 36, of 23-05 30th Ave., Astoria, Queens, had identified himself as a follower of Malcolm X. He told the cops he had taken his 4-year-old son with him to the meeting and when the shooting started,

"take care of my own problems."

Both Parker and Harris remained in the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center. Harris threw himself over his son to protect him. Parker caught a bullet in his right foot.

William Harris, 51, of 614 Oak Tree Place, Bronx, who was shot in the abdomen, wouldn't talk, Coyle said, except to say he would.

Several bomb threats were received at the Unity funeral home, 2352 Eighth Ave., where Malcolm's body will be on view until Friday, and a man was picked up in the IRT subway station at 125th St. and Lenox Ave., three blocks away, with a sawed-off rifle under his coat.

The weapon had one cartridge in the chamber. The man, John F. Gilliard, 56, of 120 W. 124th St., had several ammunition clips in his pockets. He was booked at the W. 123d St. station on a Sullivan Law charge.

Widow Views Body

Malcolm's widow, Mrs. Betty Shabazz, arrived at the funeral home at 6:15 P.M. With her were Mrs. Ella Collins, Malcolm's sister from Boston; Mrs. Collins' son, Rodnell, 20; Herbert Dudley, a Malcolm bodyguard, and a few friends and associates.

Malcolm's burnished bronze casket, glass topped for its full length, was wheeled in just before 6:30. The body was dressed in a black suit, with white gloves on his hands. The familiar horn-rimmed glasses were absent.

The widow and her party left at 7:10 P.M., and the doors were opened to the public at 7:30. About 1,000 filed past the bier in the next hour.

Hate: Full Circle

When Malcolm X, only a little while ago, urged the Negroes to form an American version of the Mau-Mau, he ignored the fact that it was the black Africans of Kenya who were the first and by far the most numerous victims of that terror. Now the hatred and violence that he preached has overwhelmed him, and he has fallen at the hands of Negroes.

In this there can be no cause for complacency on the part of the white members of the American community. They bear their own heavy responsibility for that hate and its effects, and the end of it all is not in sight. But the slaying of Malcolm X has shown again that hatred, whatever its apparent justification, however it may be rationalized, turns on itself in the end.

Elijah Muhammad and the Black Muslims preached hatred of the white man. At best their goal of a segregated Negro society is irrelevant to the circumstances of the Negro in America; at worst it is a conscienceless fraud that promises no way out of the black-white dilemma and impedes serious efforts to find such a way. More, it turns the frustrations of the Negro against himself; the violent discipline of the Black Muslim movement creates counter-violence.

It created Malcolm X. It forged his tragic experiences with the white world as well as his unusual resources of personality into a weapon. When the orthodox Black Muslims discarded that weapon, it was still dangerous—until the gunfire broke out in the Audubon Ballroom.

Indeed, the weapon is still dangerous. For hate cannot be killed as easily as a man, and it spawns more hate, more violence, more deliberate misunderstanding. Even the law can do no more than arrest the overt manifestations of hate, break the chain of violence, and trust that thereby the spreading fire will be checked for lack of fuel.

It is idle to pretend that the cause of Negro equality has lost anything valuable by Malcolm X's passing. He was a destructive force. But the manner of his passing is of deep concern to the whole community, Negro and white, and all the resources of the law must be used to discover the immediate causes of the crime, punish the perpetrators and block the threat of reprisals. However large or small the circle of hatred of which Malcolm X was a part, its power to harm must be broken.

The Fruit Of Islam

AND NOW that Malcolm X is dead, it is odd how sad some of us who knew him find ourselves and how pitiful, for all his dignity, he seems to have been all through our memory.

We knew him first and best as the preacher of the eternal separation of black and white; there is a theory that near the end he was struggling unevenly towards some idea of community. But I do not think he changed much with time; he lived with America for 39 years and, whether from love or hate, I should doubt he really knew until the day he died.

Yet he was always a man of Harlem; he never came into white New York, except as ambassador from an independent, hostile nation. Never, that is, except the last night of his life, when he came to us as a refugee. He spent Saturday night at the New York Hilton because he did not feel safe in Harlem. That night he was a fugitive from black men; his dignity must have commanded that he go back among them Sunday and now he is dead.

Until the end, Malcolm X preached that Negroes must arm themselves against us the enemy. And now he has been assassinated by armed Negroes at a meeting from which all white people were barred.

It was his conviction that his father had been murdered by white men and thrown under a streetcar. Now his widow will have someday to explain to her youngest daughter Lomumbah that her father was shot down by Negroes.

The journalists always suspected that he was their creation, and in a way he was. He had both an exotic presence and considerable native wit; he came to New York at a time when he perfectly suited the demands of electronic journalism. There have been very few public men whose message lit so snug and yet so lively into a two-minute segment of a news broadcast.

that gift would have made him notorious under any circumstances; but he had something else. I do not know a Negro so completely adjusted that some part of him did not respond to what Malcolm X was saying, just as I do not know a Negro so entirely alienated that some part of him does not respond to what Martin Luther King is saying. Just by his insistence, Malcolm X created himself a nation to which every Negro owed a small allegiance. As Jimmy Hicks said yesterday, this was an assassination, for Mr. Malcolm was a head of state.

And yet he had a strange trusting side. The longest I had ever talked to him was in Miami the night before the Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston fight where Mr. Malcolm had gone as Clay's spiritual prop.

I remember his saying that, if you found a good white man, he was usually a Southerner, and how innocent that notion seemed to me as a hybrid Southerner.

I tried to disabuse him and failed, and then the subject turned to Cassius and I said I hoped I wouldn't be immobilized by fear of Liston.

"To be a Muslim," Malcolm X replied, "is to know no fear."

And there he seemed to me correct, in so far as any white man can judge whether a Negro is correct about other Negroes; there was a quietness, a containment and a dignity about the young men around him that made you believe that Mr. Malcolm and they had been given a community and rescued from fear.

He lost that community when he was expelled from the Nation of Islam and it must have taken an immense amount of character to carry on as well as he did. Now what can we believe but, that he was killed by young men very like the ones who had used to surround him, and whom he had helped liberate from fear?

Old ladies shake in their beds at the image of the Muslims, but for these young men, white people do not exist any longer; they kill only heretic Negroes.

I do not think that, until now, I have ever really known what a terrible thing a ghetto is.

Muhammad Says Muslims Played No Part in Slaying

By AUSTIN C. WEHRWEIN

Special to The New York Times

CHICAGO, Feb. 22—Elijah Muhammad denied today that the Black Muslim movement, which he leads from a 19-room mansion here, had anything to do with the slaying yesterday of Malcolm X. Malcolm, the former No. 2 man of the Muslims who defected and set up a rival movement, was a "victim of his own preaching," Muhammad said at two news conferences.

"I don't have any knowledge of anyone trying to kill Malcolm," he said. "We have never resorted to no such thing as violence."

He said of Thomas Hagan, a suspect in the New York slaying: "He is a stranger to us." Hagan has been identified as Talmadge Hayer of Paterson, N. J.

Seated on a carved, upholstered chair in his 20-by-40-foot living room with silk-covered walls, he said that the Black Muslims were making their own investigation of the assassination to determine whether any of his followers had been involved.

Cassius Clay Guarded

The Chicago police posted a heavy guard around the red brick mansion, worth at least $50,000, and the three-garage brick coach house in the rear. They are on the South Side, near the University of Chicago.

Also under guard was Cassius Clay, the heavyweight boxing champion, who uses the name Muhammad Ali. His apartment here caught fire last night, just hours after the assassination in New York. The police discounted arson as the cause of the fire which started in the apartment below in the 36-apartment building.

While Muhammad, who is 37 years old, was appearing before reporters and television crews at the news conference in his oak-beamed living room, the Chicago police reported that they were informed last Jan. 29 by the Los Angeles police intelligence unit that Malcolm might be "killed publicly" here.

Report Made Public

This report was made at a news conference by Capt. William Duffy, head of the Chicago police intelligence division, and Lieut. Frank Helmoski, head of that division's subversion unit. Also present was Sgt. Edward McClellan of the intelligence division.

Their Los Angeles colleagues had kept Malcolm under surveillance and noticed a group of Black Muslims following him when he was in that city, the Chicago policemen said.

They said too that the Los Angeles police spotted the Black Muslims at the airport before Malcolm's departure for Chicago, and that the pilot insisted on a thorough search of the plane and the passengers' luggage before he would take off.

Sergeant McClellan guarded Malcolm during his stay at the Bismarck Hotel here. The leader of the splinter black nationalist movement told Sergeant McClellan that he had seen several Black Muslims in and near the Chicago airport and in front of the hotel.

Malcolm appeared on a television show conducted by Irving Kupcinet, a Chicago Sun-Times columnist. He said on the show that several attempts had been made on his life, and he told the columnist that he was so convinced he would be killed that he had a letter on his desk naming his suspected future killers.

Sergeant McClellan said today at the police headquarters news conference that Malcolm said Dec. 31 that he feared he was being stalked for death here, and the New York police were alerted.

According to Captain Duffy, New York police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation sent word overnight that at least six and possibly more supporters of Malcolm were en route from New York to Chicago, presumably to kill Muhammad. Others are being watched here, he added.

"It is a dangerous situation," Captain Duffy declared.

The police have a special elite unit, called the Task Force, on the job. The airport and bus and train terminals are being closely watched.

Other Sites Guarded

Police are guarding not only Elijah Muhammad's home, but also the office of his newspaper, Muhammad Speaks, and the headquarters, called the Mosque of Islam No. 2 and the connected University of Islam, said to be attended chiefly by pupils of high-school age. The school and the mosque are in the same area as the residence.

Behind the 18-room house, on a driveway and in the garages were a Cadillac, two Buicks and a Mercury station wagon.

Reporters were admitted to the news conference in two separate groups after a long cold wait on the concrete porch. In an anteroom two Negroes frisked all of them for weapons.

In the living room, whose bay window fronts on the 4800 block of South Woodlawn Street, there was a jade-green wall-to-wall carpet. The silk wallpaper was white.

The beige-upholstered furniture was covered with plastic covers. There was a large marble fireplace and a combination radio-television-phonograph. Fruit was on a table and there were three plastic potted plants.

The bric-a-brac was Japanese. On one wall hung what appeared to be an oil painting of Muhammad, some when he was younger. A framed symbolic device with an Arabic inscription was on another wall.

Muhammad wore a fat embellished with a half-moon, stars and suns in gold braid. He wore a blue suit, a white shirt and a blue tie. His expression was bland, his voice almost inaudible, and he spoke with an indelible accent.

Malcolm's news conference, according to The Chicago Daily News, Muhammad said his Black Muslims would fight back if attacked by Malcolm's nationalists. The newspaper also quoted him as saying:

"I don't feel disturbed about that in the very least. We are innocent of Malcolm's death. It doesn't matter if there are 500 or 5,000 of them."

Flanked by four attendants, the leader began the second conference this way: "I have a few words to say and these are the words."

He expressed shock on hearing of Malcolm's death, describing him as a man he had known for quite a few years. But he added that last year, when the split developed, was "kind of bitter for us."

"Malcolm broke off from the brotherhood and upset us all," he said. He declared that Malcolm "left on his own terms," which he defined as the necessity for violence and arms, whereas in 34 years "we have never resorted to arms."

Asked if his life had been threatened now, he said it had been threatened "many times," and currently "no more than I have had."

He denied having had any premonition of Malcolm's murder, saying, "A hypocrite is not to be killed." Instead, he asserted, the Black Muslim punishment was "spiritual isolation."

"I hoped Allah would chastise him and bring him back on his knees," Muhammad said. "I am the man that taught Malcolm. I didn't teach him what he went for himself. As for what he had gone for himself, I didn't teach him that."

The Black Muslim leader said he suspected Malcolm tried to bomb his own house in Queens on Feb. 14. He said the evidence looked to me like he did the job himself.

A Muslim convention is scheduled here for Friday through Sunday, at which Muhammad is billed as the "messenger of Allah."

The police have been kept out at previous conventions here, but this time they intend to be present. They regard the Black Muslims as a group that would be "quickly exploited by subversives."

Malcolm said he had not requested the police guard around his house today.

Edwin C. Berry, head of the Chicago Urban League, a Negro organization, issued a statement that said:

"I do not know what motivated the assassination of Malcolm X. It is a great tragedy. All of those who stood against him as well as his followers stand to lose by his violent death. While I disagreed with his philosophy I had great admiration for him.

"Malcolm had a great mind. His being driven into nationalist movements was a great mistake. It is too bad that his great mind and commitment could not have been used to help the movement. Such is the tragedy of a sick society."

About 6,000 Black Muslims are expected at the convention starting here Friday.

Dr. King Saddened

Atlanta, Feb. 21 (AP)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said tonight the slaying of Malcolm X showed "our society is still sick enough to express dissent with murder."

"This evil act should be strongly condemned by all people of good will," commented the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize winner.

King added: "We have not learned to disagree without being violently disagreeable. I am deeply saddened and appalled..."
