Enclosed for all receiving offices with the exception of Charlotte and Indianapolis is one copy of photo of each of the subjects.

The purpose of this communication is to provide photo and description of the subjects, who are escapees from the Lewisburg, Pa., Federal Prison, to all offices in the continental United States who have not previously received communications pertaining to this case.

On August 10, 1974, captioned subjects, along with [redacted] and [redacted] escaped from Lewisburg Federal Prison, Lewisburg, Pa., in a prison garbage truck. The truck was abandoned 15 miles West of Lewisburg in Forest Hills, Pa. The subjects tied up 2 women and 1 man at a residence near Forest Hills and stole their vehicle, which has since been recovered. b7C b7C

On August 13, 1974, the subjects, along with [redacted] and [redacted] robbed the Bank of North Carolina at Pollocksville, N.C., which is in the vicinity of subject MC COY's home and relatives. The getaway car from that bank robbery was located the same date in a sparsely settled area near Cove City, N.C. Four individuals were seen fleeing from the automobile by a law enforcement helicopter and shots were fired at the helicopter. Bureau agents and other law enforcement officers converged on the area and at this point [redacted] and [redacted] were apprehended by Bureau agents. Neither MC COY nor [redacted] have been seen since that time. b7C

Intensive investigation continues in the area where [redacted] and [redacted] were captured; however, there is some indication that the subjects might have been able to get out of the area. b7C

At 2:45 a.m. on the morning of 8/14/74, subject MC COY's [redacted] Jasper, N.C., disappeared from her home with the subject's [redacted] in [redacted] car and did not reappear at Jasper, N.C., until 7:30 p.m. on 8/14/74. Both women denied any knowledge of the subject's whereabouts; however both women were uncooperative and refused to provide information regarding their recent travels, which could be verified by law enforcement authorities. b7C

The following is a physical description of the subjects:

Name:	RICHARD FLOYD MC COY
Sex:	Male
Race:	Caucasian
DOB:	12/7/42
POB:	Kinston, N.C.
Height:	5'10"
Weight:	170 lbs.
Hair:	Brown
Eyes:	Blue
FBI #:	919-406J2

Name:	[redacted]
Race:	Caucasian
Sex:	Male
DOB:	[redacted]
Height:	5'8"
Weight:	174 lbs.
Hair:	Brown
Eyes:	Blue
FBI #:	[redacted]

Multiple tattoos both hands or arms.

[redacted] b7C

[redacted] MC COY was serving a 45 year term for Air Piracy and reportedly is capable of flying Fixed Wing aircraft and helicopters.

The Bureau has directed that "this investigation must receive continuous and intensive attention"in an effort to locate and apprehend MC COY [redacted]. Bureau is to be b7C advised immediately of all pertinent developments; Philadelphia to submit daily teletype summaries to the Bureau. Consideration should be given to Request Wanted Fliers and Identification Orders if apprehension does not appear imminent.

The above information is being furnished for all receiving offices with the exception of Charlotte and Indianapolis inasmuch as a strong possibility exists that the subjects have fled the North Carolina area and may well now be in other divisions. They should be considered suspects in any Bank Robberies involving white males. There is also the possibility that subject MC COY might again attempt Air Piracy.

No leads are being set out for receiving offices.

Synopsis

Subjects MC COY [redacted] escaped from United States Penitentiary, Lewisburg, Pa., 8/10/74, accompanied by [redacted] Subjects commandeered a garbage truck at gunpoint, smashed truck through rear gate of United States Penitentiary, abandoning truck in wooded area fifteen miles west of prison. Subjects tied up two women and one man near Forest Hills, Pa., and stole there 1970 Ford Fairlane. Subjects eluded manhunt in that area. On 8/12/74, subjects appeared at residence b7C of MC COY's friend at Smithfield, N. C., for a short visit. At 9:30 a.m., 8/13/74, all four subjects robbed Bank of North Carolina at Pollocksville, N. C., at gunpoint, utilizing a 1970 Chevrolet stolen 8/12/74, at New Bern, N. C. Subjects obtained over $16,000, including $1,000 bait money, entered NCIC. Stolen 1970 Chevrolet recovered abandoned shortly after robbery two miles north of Pollocksville, N. C. Search of the area by North Carolina State Highway Patrol helicopter resulted in locating subjects in 1970 Ford Fairlane stolen in Pennsylvania in a swampy area two miles south of Cove City, N. C., approximately 3:30 p.m. Subjects abandoned vehicle and fled into woods after firing shots at helicopter. [redacted] apprehended by Bureau Agents without incident, shortly thereafter with recovery of $5,352. b7C but no bait money. Intensive search conducted for MC COY [redacted] in Cove City, N. C., area with negative results. Search of 1970 Ford abandoned by subjects resulted in recovery of prison-made hand grenade. Subject [redacted] Jasper, N. C., reported missing 8/14/74, by [redacted] located approximately 5 p.m., 8/14/74, at Cove City, N. C., and unable to account for her whereabouts from 2 a.m. to 5 p.m., 8/14/74, other than to say she and [redacted] could not sleep, drove around the area and to Charleston, S. C., during this period. Information developed that just prior to being located on 8/14/74, [redacted] was at hairdresser's where she washed her car before returning home. [redacted] and numerous other MC COY relatives subpoenaed before Federal Grand Jury at New Bern, N. C., 8/19-20/74. Relatives indicated they were advised by b7C attorney to remain silent and Departmental immunity attained for [redacted] to testify, which resulted in same story being told to Federal Grand Jury. On 8/19/74, authorized complaint charging all four subjects with violation of Title 18, Section 2113 (d) United States Code - Bank Robbery, filed at New Bern, N. C. Warrant issued same date. On 8/21/74, authorized complaint filed Williamsport, Pa., charging MC COY [redacted] with violation of Title 18, Section 751 (a), United States Code - Escaped Federal Prisoner. Information developed that MC COY [redacted] contacted [redacted] Henderson, Kentucky, on 8/17/74. Both subjects reportedly still together. [redacted] allegedly has $80,000 in numbered Swiss bank account from previous bank robberies. Both subjects allegedly attempting to go to Europe. MC COY allegedly stated he was helped out of Cove City, N. C., area by [redacted] who cannot now be arrested. ARMED AND DANGEROUS.

DETAILS:

I. FACTS OF THE OFFENSE

At approximately 9:30 a.m. on August 10, 1974, RICHARD FLOYD MC COY, [redacted] b7C commandeered a prison garbage truck at gunpoint at the United States Penitentiary, Lewisburg, Pennsylvania. The four subjects rammed the truck through the rear gate of the penitentiary and escaped from the area in the garbage truck. The truck was subsequently located approximately fifteen miles west of the penitentiary abandoned. Investigation determined that the four subjects, at knifepoint, stole a 1970 Ford Fairlane from an elderly man and two females, who were tied up and left at their residence.

An intensive manhunt was conducted in the area with participation of all law enforcement agencies with negative results in apprehending subjects.

Subsequent investigation resulted in recovery of a motel receipt from the vehicle indicating the subjects spent the night at the Howard Johnson Motel, Springfield, Virginia, on August 11, 1974.

On August 12, 1974, a friend of MC COY's, [redacted] b7C Smithfield, North Carolina, reported that MC COY and other subjects visited him at his residence for a short time, approximately 8 p.m., August 12, 1974.

At approximately 9:30 a.m., August 13, 1974, the Bank of North Carolina at Pollocksville, North Carolina, was robbed at gunpoint by three white males, with a fourth white male driving the getaway vehicle, a green 1970 Chevrolet. $16,270, including $1,000 in $20 Federal Reserve notes, was taken in the robbery. This bait money has been entered in the National Crime Information Center (NCIC).

Shortly after the robbery, the getaway vehicle was recovered abandoned approximately two miles north of Pollocksville, North Carolina. The vehicle had been stolen between 10 and 11:30 p.m. on August 12, 1974, from a teenage rock night club at New Bern, North Carolina, approximately fifteen miles north of Pollocksville, North Carolina.

A North Carolina State Highway Patrol helicopter conducted a search of the woods and swamps between Pollocksville, North Carolina, and Cove City, North Carolina, which is the residence of many of MC COY's relatives. At approximately 3:30 p.m., August 13, 1974, the helicopter spotted a blue Ford and four individuals in a cornfield near a wooded area approximately two miles south of Cove City, North Carolina, which located is approximately fifteen miles northwest of Pollocksville, North Carolina. At the approach of the helicopter, two shots were fired at the helicopter by one of the individuals and fire was returned by the North Carolina State Highway Patrol trooper in the copter at which point all four subjects fled through the cornfield into a heavily wooded area. The helicopter directed Bureau cars and local law enforcement cars to the area, and subjects [redacted] were arrested approximately 300 yards north of the abandoned vehicle without incident. Neither [redacted] were armed, and $5,232 in United States currency was recovered from them; however, no bait money was recovered. b7C

An extensive and continuing search of the area was conducted by Bureau Agents and local law enforcement agencies for several days which was hampered by heavy rains with negative results in locating MC COY [redacted] b7C

At approximately 11 a.m. on August 14, 1974, [redacted] Jasper, North Carolina, reported that [redacted] subject [redacted], and her 1973 Plymouth were missing. An alert was placed through the North Carolina State Highway Patrol and at approximately 5 p.m. on August 14, 1974, [redacted] was located at [redacted] residence at Cove City, North Carolina. b7C

[redacted] advised she was very upset as a result of MC COY's escape, the bank robbery, and manhunt in the area and was unable to sleep. At approximately 2 a.m., she awoke her [redacted] who resides next door and the two of them left in her car driving around the area. [redacted] advised she and [redacted] drove to Morehead City, North Carolina and eventually to Charleston, South Carolina, and returned to Cove City, North Carolina. [redacted] was unable or unwilling to provide any verifiable details of her travel as was [redacted] who advised she was asleep most of the time. b7C

Information was developed that [redacted] were at the residence of [redacted] b7C Ernul, North Carolina. [redacted] advised when [redacted] advised they were very upset inasmuch as they had learned that the FBI was attempting to locate her and she requested that she be allowed to wash her car before the FBI found her, which she did.

In view of the above, [redacted] b3 b7C [redacted] In view of this, application was made to the Department of Justice to obtain immunity from prosecution for [redacted] which was granted on August 20, 1974.

On August 20, 1974 [redacted] b3 b7C that they had previously furnished during interviews with Bureau Agents.

All of the relatives denied any contact of any type with either MC COY [redacted] subsequent to their escape from b7C Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, August 10, 1974.

II. FEDERAL PROSECUTION

On August 19, 1974, an authorized complaint was filed before United States Magistrate CHARLES K. MC COTTER, JR. at New Bern, North Carolina, by SA [redacted] charging all four subjects with violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 2113 (d) - Bank Robbery. A warrant was issued same date and placed with the United States Marshal, Raleigh, North Carolina. b7C

On August 21, 1974, SA [redacted] filed an authorized complaint before United States Magistrate WILLIAM A. ASKEY at Williamsport, Pennsylvania, charging MC COY [redacted] with violation of Title 18, Section 751 (a), United States Code. Warrant issued same date and placed with the United States Marshal at Scranton, Pennsylvania. b7C

III. PERSONAL HISTORY AND BACKGROUND

(A) RICHARD FLOYD MC COY

(B) [redacted] b7C

(A) RICHARD FLOYD MC COY

RICHARD FLOYD MC COY was born December 7, 1942, at Kinston, North Carolina, and resided in that area until approximately the fifth grade, at which time his parents moved to the Raleigh, North Carolina, area; and MC COY graduated from high school in 1961 at Garner, North Carolina, and thereafter attended Brigham Young University in Utah for one semester. MC COY withdrew from college and entered the United States Army on March 31, 1962, and was released from active duty in January, 1965. MC COY served in Vietnam as a member of the Special Forces and received military training as a Combat Engineer (Demolition Specialist, Army Aviator, helicopter pilot, and light cargo pilot). MC COY received a Purple Heart for shrapnel wounds, the Distinguished Flying Cross, and several other metals for his Vietnam service. His character and efficiency ratings ranged from good to outstanding. MC COY transferred to the United States Army Reserve in January, 1965, to return to Brigham Young University where he was a law enforcement major, and he maintained a "B" average.

MC COY's [redacted] residing in Raleigh, North Carolina, and [redacted] resides in Cove City, North Carolina. b7C

On August 7, 1965, MC COY [redacted] in Raleigh, North Carolina, who is a native of Canton, Ohio. They [redacted] b7C

In June, 1972, MC COY was convicted and sentenced to 45 years in prison for Air Piracy in connection with the hijacking of a United Airlines Boeing 727 over Provo, Utah, on April 7, 1972. MC COY armed with a hand grenade and .45 caliber pistol demanded and received $500,000 ransom along with parachutes and bailed out over Provo, Utah. Two days later, MC COY was arrested and all but $30 of the ransom money was recovered from his reisdence.

It is noted that information obtained at the time of this conviction reveals that MC COY [redacted] however, investigation reflects that during the time MC COY has been in prison he [redacted] have b7C maintained very close contact, exchanging letters on a daily basis, and with numerous visits [redacted] MC COY in jail.

It is further noted that through investigation at Cove City, North Carolina, it has been determined that all of MC COY's relatives are convinced that MC COY was wrongfully convicted of the 1972 skyjacking and believe that he was not involved at all. These relatives further expressed disbelief that MC COY was involved in the bank robbery at Pollocksville, North Carolina, on August 13, 1974, and for this reason and due to close family ties, these relatives have been, for the most part, very uncooperative.

MC COY's [redacted] and whose [redacted] is MC COY's present [redacted] b7C indicated he has disavowed any relationship with MC COY. All other relatives contacted have denied any contact with MC COY since his escape.

(B) [redacted] b7C

[redacted] was born [redacted] in Scott County, Missouri, and spent most of his adult life in the Illinois - Indiana area.

b7C

[redacted] has an extensive criminal record as shown on his identification record with numerous arrests in Illinois and Indiana.

In April, 1968, [redacted] robbed a bank in Norfolk, Virginia, and were subsequently arrested.

In March, 1969, [redacted] and two other convicted Federal prisoners were being transported by United States Marshals to the Marion, Illinois, Penitentiary. Near Princeton, Kentucky, the three escaped by overpowering the Marshals who were robbed of their credentials, guns, and other items. One of the escapees, JOSEPH WEBB, was shot and killed by the Chattanooga, Tennessee, Police Department the next day [redacted] a former Top Ten fugitive, were arrested in May, 1969, by the Hayward, California, Police Department, after a running gun battle following the armed robbery of a Hayward, Califronia, bank.

During past escapes, [redacted] has always contacted his [redacted] Henderson, Kentucky, [redacted] Senath, Missouri. Information has been developed by the Indianapolis Division that [redacted] MC COY allegedly contacted [redacted] on Saturday, August 17, 1974. [redacted] allegedly has $80,000 in a numbered Swiss bank account and that MC COY [redacted] are still together and will attempt to fly to Europe, possibly from the Florida area and may already be in Europe. During this contact with [redacted] MC COY allegedly stated that they got out of the swamp with the aid of an aunt who would not be arrested now.

V. FACTS AS TO DANGEROUSNESS AND SUICIDAL TENDENCIES

IN VIEW OF THE FACT THAT A WEAPON WAS USED TO ESCAPE FROM THE UNITED STATES PENITENTIARY, LEWISBURG, PENNSYLVANIA, AND USED IN THE BANK ROBBERY AT POLLOCKSVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA, BOTH SUBJECTS SHOULD BE CONSIDERED ARMED AND DANGEROUS.

It is further noted that examination of the 1970 Ford Fairlane stolen by subjects in Pennsylvania and recovered at Cove City, North Carolina, resulted in the recovery of an unopened box of 12 gauge 00 buckshot shells purchased at Kinston, North Carolina, which is located approximately 17 miles west of Cove City, North Carolina, and were presumably purchased subsequent to their escape.

It is further noted that located in the trunk of the vehicle was a prison-made hand grenade consisting of a small medicine bottle packed tightly with tissue paper wadding, a combustible substance, believed to be sulfur from matches, and containing a fuse apparently made from a small plastic straw packed with the same type of explosive. The bottle also contained numerous small screws, thumb tacks, and bits of metal. The entire device was wrapped with a heavy layer of tissue paper and cellophane tape in order that it could be ignited and thrown without breaking on impact.

Review of MC COY's prison file indicates he was examined at the Springfield Medical Center, Springfield, Missouri, after his arrest and may have suicidal tendencies.

ESCAPED FEDERAL PRISONER;

"TEN MOST WANTED FUGITIVES" PROGRAM

[redacted] a gun-wielding convicted bank robber b7C and escape artist who along with three other prisoners, including a convicted aircraft hijacker, crashed out of a Federal prison in a daring daylight escape on August 10, 1974, has been added to the FBI's list of "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives."

Described by one of his former prison associates as a man "who would kill at the drop of a hat," [redacted] b7C was instrumental in carrying out the August escape at the Federal prison near Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, in which the escapees commandeered a garbage truck at gunpoint and rammed their way out of the rear gate.

The escaped convicts wasted little time in getting back into the swing of their interrupted criminal careers. After abandoning the garbage truck 15 miles from the prison, they tied up a man and his wife and stole their automobile. Three days later the four Federal escapees reportedly robbed a bank at Pollocksville, North Carolina, and escaped with over $16,000. Two of Walker's companions were arrested following a brief gunfight with lawmen after the bank robbery.

[redacted] his remaining companion, Richard Floyd McCoy, b7C escaped the police dragnet and are still at large. McCoy gained national notoriety in 1972 when he hijacked a commercial airliner and bailed out over Provo, Utah, after demanding, and receiving, a half-million dollars in ransom. He was arrested two days later, and was subsequently sentenced to 45 years in prison for air piracy in July, 1972.

[redacted] has escaped from custody on a number of occasions b7C during his long criminal career, which dates back to his first conviction for burglary in 1957. He has also been convicted of attempted safe burglary, bank robbery, and escape. During one spree, he and his brother were allegedly responsible for five bank robberies, and on another occasion, when he had escaped from custody, he and a fellow escaped convict reportedly committed at least five additional bank robberies.

[redacted] has engaged in gunfights with police officers to b7C avoid arrest in the past. He has, in the past, escaped by overpowering his guards, and once escaped by using a homemade screw to spread the bars on his prison cell. Although a proficient bank robber, he is occasionally careless about details. On one occasion when he was arrested as a suspect of a bank robbery, which had occurred well prior to his arrest, he was still carrying a demand note furnished to the teller in his wallet and several bags he used to carry the loot.

A Federal warrant was issued at New Bern, North Carolina, on August 19, 1974, charging him with bank robbery, and a warrant was also issued on August 21, 1974, at Williamsport, Pennsylvania, charging him with being an escaped Federal prisoner. [redacted] may b7C be accompanied by Richard Floyd McCoy, who is also wanted by the FBI as an escaped Federal prisoner and for bank robbery.

Born [redacted] in Scott County, Missouri, [redacted] is a white American who is 5'8" to 5'9" tall, weighs 174 pounds, and has a stocky build. He has dark brown receding hair, blue eyes, and may wear a mustache. Although he generally returns to robbery as a b7C means of support, he has also worked as a construction worker, laborer, salesman, and trucker. [redacted] has a scar on the base of his right index finger, on his right hip, on his left knee and foot. He has [redacted] He has used Social Security Number [redacted] in the past.

[redacted] has used firearms in connection with his criminal activities in the past and has not been reluctant to try to shoot b7C his way out of any arrest situation. He should be considered armed, extremely dangerous, and an escape risk. Anyone with information concerning [redacted] should immediately contact the nearest office of the FBI, the telephone number of which may be found on the first page of most local telephone directories.

Most-Wanted Man May Be Hiding In Vegas

Melvin Dale Walker, a gun-wielding convicted bank robber and escape artist, may be heading west and may be hiding in Las Vegas, law enforcement authorities disclosed Thursday.

Walker, 35, was recently added to the FBI's 10-most-wanted list. He is believed to be in the company of Richard Floyd McCoy, of Provo, Utah, a convicted airplane hijacker, with whom he escaped from a federal prison near Lewisburg, Pa. on Aug. 10, 1974.

McCoy gained national noteriety in 1972 when he hijacked a commercial airliner over central Nevada and bailed out over Provo, Utah, after demanding and receiving $500,000 in ransom money. A former Sunday School teacher, he was arrested two days later at his home in Provo.

Lawmen in Las Vegas this week received FBI bulletins on Walker and McCoy, telling of their escape and urging extreme caution if the escapees are met in a confrontation.

Thus far, however, no positive indicators have surfaced to determine the pair are definitely in Las Vegas. Nevertheless, lawmen here are extra alert and have intensified visual observations in casino areas.

Described by one of his former prison associates as a man "who would kill at the drop of a hat," Walker was instrumental in carrying out the Aug. 10 escape from Lewisburg Prison in which he, McCoy and two other convicts commandeered a garbage truck at gunpoint and rammed their way out the rear gate.

After abandoning the garbage truck 15 miles from the prison, they tied up a man and his wife and stole their car. Several days later they robbed a bank and escaped with $16,000.

Two of the convicts were captured during a shootout with police after the bank robbery but Walker and McCoy got away and have not been seen since.

Some lawmen looking for indicators of Walker's and McCoy's presence, have determined McCoy could be lured toward Provo by his family. Las Vegas would make a convenient and easily covered-up stop, they said.

Review of Bufiles concerning captioned subject disclosed [redacted] escaped from Federal custody on three occasions prior to his last escape on 8/10/74. During the period of his escapes, he committed numerous robberies and was apprehended with [redacted] on 4/11/68, by a Bureau Agent at Norfolk, Virginia, in the act of casing a Norfolk bank. During subsequent interviews, subject and [redacted] admitted a total of 22 armed robberies including five bank robberies. [redacted] indicated at that time that he had traveled extensively throughout the country and often robbed motels such as Holiday and Ramada Inns. [redacted] advised he frequently used rental vehicles in connection with these robberies and [redacted] indicated they had used a Gulf travel card in making various purchases in connection with their travels. It was further noted that various disguises such as wigs, toupees, mustaches, etc., were located in their possession following their arrest.

During early 1969 when [redacted] was being sought as an escaped Federal prisoner, [redacted] b7C [redacted] Richland, Indiana, furnished information that [redacted] intended to commit more robberies and go to Tijuana, Mexico, where he would obtain a fraudulent passport for travel outside the United States. She had received this information from the [redacted] at Henderson, Kentucky.

In view of subject's background, all offices b7C should be alert to the possibility that [redacted] may be involved in unsolved robberies within your territory, particularly since [redacted] Richard Floyd McCoy, another escapee from Lewisburg Penitentiary, committed a bank robbery at Pollocksville, North Carolina, on 8/13/74.

Atlanta should ascertain the present whereabouts of your source, an inmate at the United States Penintentiary, Atlanta, who furnished information concerning [redacted] in 1969, following their escape from Federal custody. This source should be interviewed concerning subject's whereabouts.

Indianapolis insure that you have adequate coverage concerning subject's known relatives at Evansville, Indiana as well as close liaison with [redacted] who has cooperated in the past. In addition, afford appropriate feasible coverage with regard to possible contact by subject with his [redacted] who was last known to be residing with [redacted] Wadesville, Indiana.

Los Angeles determine the present location of [redacted] with [redacted] in Los Angeles bank robbery who was convicted in Federal court, in order that he may be interviewed concerning subject's whereabouts. Also review your files for any associates who may reside in the Los Angeles area in order that they may be located and interviewed.

Louisville, attempt to develop appropriate coverage of the [redacted] at Henderson, Kentucky. It is b7C to be noted that subject has previously maintained contact with [redacted] while in fugitive status. In this regard, consider requesting a mail cover in view of forthcoming holidays in accordance with existing Bureau instructions.

San Diego insure that an alert is placed at the border crossing, Tijuana, and advise appropriate informants and Mexican authorities concerning subject's possible presence in that area.

Charlotte should continue to insure that this matter receives vigorous investigative attention in view of the strong possibility that [redacted] may still be in the company of Richard Floyd McCoy, who has numerous relatives residing in your territory. Insure that consideration is given to placing stops through appropriate offices of the Holiday and Ramada Inns, or any other logical alerts concerning this fugitive, such as alerting major car rental agencies. You should commence submitting a daily airtel summary setting forth investigative efforts to locate this fugitive. b7C

The Bureau advised 10/21/74 that a review of bufiles reflects [redacted] admitted during 1968 interview at Norfolk, Virginia, he and [redacted] had traveled to Europe. Subsequent investigation revealed they probably visited Switzerland; Berlin, Germany; and Paris, France, using Passport Number [redacted] issued in subject [redacted] name at Chicago, Illinois. They probably traveled via Montreal, Canada, aboard Air Canada and Air France. b7C

Contact with local Ford dealers and rental agencies indicates subject would most likely have obtained new Thunderbird either by buying it or renting it from rental agency. Local Ford dealers of opinion subjects would not have leased vehicle on long-term basis as insurance necessary for such leases. It is noted [redacted] has past history of obtaining vehicles from rental agencies using stolen identification. b7C

LHM being submitted to Bureau under separate cover setting forth background on subjects and offense for dissemination to appropriate Legats.

LEADS:

In addition to specific leads set forth below, all offices, especially those having known relatives or associates of either subject within their territories, should promptly notify appropriate local authorities of the description of subjects' vehicle in order to be on lookout for the vehicle and to approach such vehicle with extreme caution.

Additionally, all offices should display IO's of [redacted] McCOY during routine investigation in view of information that both are still together, and both should be considered suspects in any recent bank robberies. b7C

FUGITIVE

ESCAPED FEDERAL PRISONER;

IDENTIFICATION ORDER NUMBER 4624

Richard Floyd McCoy, Jr., is presently being sought by the FBI as an escaped Federal prisoner and for bank robbery.

On August 10, 1974, McCoy and three other inmates escaped from the Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary in Pennsylvania, after they allegedly commandeered a garbage truck at gunpoint and rammed their way out the rear gate. Three days later, on August 13, 1974, the four escapees reportedly robbed a bank in Pollocksville, North Carolina. Two of McCoy's companions were captured after the bank robbery following a brief gunfight with local lawmen. McCoy, who was serving a 45-year sentence for air piracy, is believed to be in the company of convicted bank robber [redacted] both of whom should be considered armed and dangerous. b7C

Federal warrants were issued for McCoy's arrest on August 19, 1974, at New Bern, North Carolina, and on August 21, 1974, at Williamsport, Pennsylvania.

FBI Kills Hijacker From Utah

WASHINGTON (UPI) — FBI agents shot and killed a convicted airplane hijacker and arrested one of bureau's 10 most wanted fugitives Saturday night in a quiet residential suburb of Virginia Beach, Va., an FBI spokesman said.

Both men escaped from the federal prison in Lewisburg, Pa., in August with two other prisoners.

The former hijacker, Richard McCoy, was killed in an exchange of gunfire and his companion, convicted bank robber Melvin Dale Walker was arrested, the FBI spokesman said.

Walker, 35, was on the FBI's list of 10 most wanted fugitives.

McCoy, 31, gained national notority in 1972 when he hijacked a commercial airliner and bailed out over Provo, Utah, after demanding and receiving a $500,000 ransom.

He was arrested two days later and sentenced to 45 years in prison in July 1972. McCoy was serving his sentence at the time of his escape.

The FBI spokesman said all four men reportedly robbed a North Carolina bank three days after the escape fleeing with more than $16,000.

Title marked changed to include all of above aliases for subjects utilized within the Norfolk Division.

Enclosed for Charlotte, Knoxville and Philadelphia are two copies each, and for each other office one copy each, of list of items obtained from 733 North Great Neck Road, Virginia Beach, Virginia, etc.

For the information of the Bureau and all receiving offices, the following information is being set forth.

On 8/10/74, WALKER, MC COY, and two others escaped from the U. S. Penitentiary, Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, by crashing a commandeered garbage truck through a prison gate. On 8/13/74, [redacted] MC COY, and the other two escapees robbed the Bank of North Carolina, Pollocksville, North Carolina, of approximately $16,000. [redacted] and MC COY eluded capture after firing on police officers who located them in a wooded area following the bank robbery. The two other escapees were apprehended at that time. b7C

On 9/4/74 [redacted] MC COY robbed the Bank of Maryville, Maryville, Tennessee, of approximately $76,000, utilizing an automobile stolen from a private citizen as a get-away car. b7C

On 11/7/74, FBI Charlotte, through surveillance of [redacted] in the area of Cove City, North Carolina, established that she had attempted to contact the occupants of 733 North Great Neck Road, Virginia Beach, Virginia. Investigation subsequently conducted by the Norfolk Division determined that subjects MC COY [redacted] had rented the above residence in September of 1974 for a period of one year. MC COY, utilizing the name of HERBERT L. MOON, had rented the residence, [redacted] FBI Agents remained in the area of the residence from 11/7/74 until 11/9/74. At 11:15 PM, 11/9/74, subject MC COY approached the residence, entered, and upon being advised of the presence of the FBI Agents fired at the Agents and was killed by return fire. [redacted] was apprehended approximately ½ mile from the b7C residence by FBI Agents after a high-speed chase. Approximately 14 handguns and shoulder weapons were recovered from subjects' residence and automobile on 11/8 and 9/74. At this time, all of the weapons appeared to have been purchased by subjects from various sources. None of the weapons were noted to be stolen upon NCIC check. ATF, Norfolk, assisted Norfolk FBI in determining origin of the weapons. The weapons located are described as follows:

One blue steel Galesi (Brescia) 6.35 caliber automatic, Serial Number (SN) 162282;

One Galesi (Brescia) 6.35 caliber, chrome with engraving, SN 464653;

One Colt .45 automatic pistol, blue steel, SN 8019;

One Remington Rand .45 automatic pistol, blue steel, accurized, SN 2186166;

One Smith & Wesson .357 revolver, Highway Patrol model, SN N1292;

One Ruger .44 caliber magnum, single action, blue steel revolver, 6-inch barrel, SN 8115462;

One Smith & Wesson .38 caliber snub-nosed revolver, stainless steel, SN N1292;

One Rohm .22 caliber revolver, 4-inch, blue steel with ivory grips, SN 149461;

One .38 caliber Colt Detective Special, blue steel, snub-nosed, SN F31195;

One Winchester 12 gauge automatic shotgun (sawed-off), Model 1400, SN N596415;

One Remington, Model 700, .243 caliber bolt action with scope, SN 364753;

One Remington, Model 700, .22-250 caliber bolt action rifle with scope, SN 6720233;

One Remington .30-06 caliber rifle, automatic, with scope, SN 308850;

One Ithaca 12 gauge over and under shotgun, finger trigger, SN S5512881;

One brown walnut stock for carbine (pistol grips)

Currency located on the person of [redacted] at the time of his arrest, in subjects' vehicle, and in the residence checked in NCIC and determined to have been stolen during the robbery of the Bank of Maryville, Maryville, Tennessee, 9/4/74. Examination of the contents of subjects' residence and vehicle, a 1971 Ford LTD, black vinyl top with dark blue bottom and trailer hitch, located numerous aviation training aids; including Flight Guide of Airport and Frequency Manual for the central and Eastern United States, knee pad for pilots' pre-flight checklist, aeronautical charts for various Eastern Seaboard sections, aircraft navigational gear, and other necessary flight and navigational gear. Two knapsacks were located in subjects' vehicle which contained survival gear consisting of various dehydrated foods, area maps, various articles of clothing, and camping accessories. Each knapsack also contained approximately $1,000 in U. S. currency, and other camping paraphernalia which would insure the survival of an individual in a wilderness area for several days. All of the equipment in the knapsacks was wrapped in plastic to guard against moisture.

[redacted] appeared before U. S. Magistrate, Norfolk, 11/15/74, where he was ordered held on $150,000 bond for bank robbery at Pollocksville, North Carolina, which occurred 8/13/74, and was ordered held without bond regarding escape from U. S. Penitentiary, Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, 8/10/74. Subsequent to the hearing, [redacted] was interviewed and admitted his participation in the bank robbery at Maryville, Tennessee, 9/4/74, and the bank robbery at Pollocksville, North Carolina, 8/13/74. [redacted] also advised that [redacted] MC COY had planned the hijacking of an airliner at a later date, but would not disclose the complete details of the hijacking plan at this time. [redacted] noted the hijacking plan was MC COY's idea, but that [redacted] would assist MC COY in the plan. [redacted] declined to furnish details of the bank robberies or the proposed hijacking unless returned to the general prison population at Marion, Illinois. This information was related to the U. S. Attorney in Norfolk who is in contact with prison authorities. The U. S. Attorney, Norfolk, and the U. S. Marshal, Norfolk, were advised that a strong possibility exists that [redacted] will attempt escape in the near future, and his cooperation at this time is being furnished towards that ultimate goal believing that his cooperation will result in a relaxing of security on his behalf. b7C

The Norfolk Office, through review of background information regarding subjects and through receipts and other documents located following subject's arrest at Virginia Beach, has compiled the following day-to-day likely itinerary as to their possible locations following their escape from the U. S. Penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, on 8/10/74, and their capture at Virginia Beach, Virginia, on 11/9/74. Where blanks exist in the day-to-day itinerary, their whereabouts are unknown.

HE STATED THAT AFTER ALL THE OTHER PASSENGERS HAD BOARDED THE AIRPLANE, A STEWARDESS OVER THE PUBLIC ADDRESS SYSTEM ASKED IF ANYONE WAS MISSING A MANILA ENVELOPE, AT WHICH TIME A MALE PASSENGER WHO WAS LOCKED IN THE RESTROOM STEPPED OUT OF THE RESTROOM MOMENTARILY, ADVISED THE STEWARDESS IT WAS HIS, AT WHICH TIME THE ENVELOPE WAS GIVEN TO HIM AND HE RETURNED TO THE MEN'S ROOM. (THIS INDIVIDUAL SUBSEQUENTLY BECAME THE HIJACKER OF THE ABOVE MENTIONED AIRPLANE). [redacted] ADVISED AS THE b7C PLANE WAS GETTING READY TO TAKE OFF FROM THE DENVER AIRPORT A STEWARDESS WENT BACK TO THE RESTROOM IN ORDER TO GET THE ABOVE INDIVIDUAL TO COME OUT OF THE RESTROOM AND RETURN TO HIS SEAT, HOWEVER, THE PASSENGER WAS RELUCTANT TO COME OUT OF THR RESTROOM.

AT THIS TIME A MALE EMPLOYEE ON THE AIRPLANE CAME BACK TO THE RESTROOM AND WAS SUCCESSFUL IN GETTING THE ABOVE INDIVIDUAL TO COME OUT OF THE BATHROOM AND TAKE HIS SEAT NEXT TO THE WINDOW IN ROW TWENTY ON THE RIGHT SIDE OF THE PLANE. A SHORT TIME LATER THE PLANE BECAME AIRBORNE AND AT THIS POINT [redacted] OBSERVED THE HIJACKER ACTING NERVOUS AND APPEARED TO BE PLAYING WITH HIS b7C COAT AS IF HE MIGHT HAVE A GUN UNDERNEATH HIS COAT. [redacted] ADVISED HE ALERTED [redacted] OF THE HIJACKER'S ACTIVITIES.

END PAGE SIX

[redacted] STATED A SHORT TIME LATER A GREY HAIRED MAN WITH A b7C MUSTACKE, BELIEVED TO BE AN AIRLINES EMPLOYEE, CAME BACK TO THE AREA WHERE THE HIJACKER WAS SEATED, ENGAGED THE HIJACKER IN CONVERSATION, AT WHICH TIME THE HIJACKER MOTIONED WITH HIS FINGER FOR THE GREY HAIRED MAN TO RETURN TO THE FRONT OF THE PLANE.

HE STATED A SYORT TIME LATER OVER THE PUBLIC ADDRESS SYSTEM A MALE VOICE ANNOUNCED THAT DUE TO MECHANICAL DIFFICULTIES WITH THE HYDRALIC SYSTEM THE PLANE WOULD BE LANDING AT GRAND JUNCTION, COLORADO. [redacted] STATED HE CONTINUED TO OBSERVE THE HIJACKER b7C WHO PERIODICALLY WOULD RING THE SERVICE BELL, AT WHICH TIME DIFFERENT STEWARDESSES WOULD COME BACK TO THE HIJACKER AND THE HIJACKER WOULD GIVE THE STEWARDESS NOTES. HE ADVISED THIS OCCURRED EIGHT OR TEN TIMES. HE STATED THE PILOT EVENTUALLY ANNOUNCED THAT THE PLANE WOULD NOT BE GOING TO LOS ANGELES AS SCHEDULED BUT WOULD BE GOING TO SAN FRANCISCO.

[redacted] STATED THAT A SHORT DISTANCE OUT OF SAN FRANCISCO b7C THE PILOT ANNOUNCED THAT THE PLANE WOULD NOT BE GOING TO THE NORMAL UNLOADING AREA AS ALL AREAS WERE BEING UTILIZED. HE

ADVISED THAT THE PLANE AFTER LANDING WAS PARKED IN A POSITION AWAY FROM THE AIRLINE TERMINAL. HE ADVISED AT THIS TIME A STEWARDESS CAME BACK TO THE AREA WHERE HE AND [redacted] WERE SEATED AND THE STEWARDESS REQUESTED THAT [redacted] AS WELL AS THE OTHER PASSENGERS SEATED IN [redacted] MOVE TO THE FRONT OF THE PLANE AND ALSO MADE THE REQUEST FOR A WOMAN AND A YOUNG CHILD SEATED DIRECTLY BEHIND HIM [redacted] ALSO MOVE TO THE FRONT OF THE PLANE. HE ADVISED THAT THROUGHOUT THIS ACTIVITY HE OBSERVED THE HIJACKER SEATED ACROSS FROM HIM HOLDING A HAND GRENADE WITH THE PIN REMOVED. HE ADVISED THAT AFTER THE PEOPLE AROUND HIM HAD BEEN MOVED TO THE FRONT OF THE PLANE THE HIJACKER [redacted] A SHORT TIME LATER HE HANDED [redacted] HE ADVISED THAT A SHORT TIME LATER A STEWARDNESS ARRIVED [redacted] ADVISED HE WAS ALSO [redacted]

[redacted] stated that he is a good friend of RICHARD F. MC COY, JR., 360 South 200 East, Provo, Utah, telephone number 375-2930.

[redacted] stated that MC COY is a Brigham Young University (BYU) student, is a sky diver, who jumps out of the Alta Airport in Salt Lake City, Utah, on a regular basis. He is a Vietnam veteran, and has served two years in Vietnam; one year of which was as a helicopter pilot. b7C

Approximately three weeks to one month ago, [redacted] MC COY had a conversation concerning a hijacking of an airplane that had recently taken place. In the discussion of this hijacking, MC COY stated that it would be possible for someone to hijack a plane and get away with it provided he did certain things. One of the things that would be necessary for this person to do would be to have extra parachutes in the plane that could be thrown out while in flight to confuse people. The parachutes would be examined for beepers, and the dummy parachutes would contain the beepers. MC COY also stated that in the recent hijacking, the hijackers did not demand enough money, and that if he were to do it, he would demand at least $500,000.00. b7C

[redacted] stated that at approximately 9:30 P.M., on the night of April 7, 1972, MC COY's [redacted] name unknown, [redacted] and wanted to know where MC COY was. She wanted to know if MC COY was on a mission of some sort. b7C

[redacted] stated that he attempted to reach MC COY at approximately 11:30 P.M., and [redacted] answered and stated that MC COY was not home. They discussed the hijacking briefly, and the [redacted] stated that she was "scared to death," as MC COY had tried to get her to help him on a hijacking. During this conversation, MC COY's [redacted] stated that [redacted] MC COY had left at approximately 8:00 P.M., and had not returned by 11:30 P.M. to midnight. b7C

[redacted] stated that MC COY [redacted] have a lot of money troubles and have agrued frequently about this in the past. b7C

[redacted] stated that he was on duty the entire night of April 7, 1972 - April 8, 1972, with the Utah Highway Patrol, and when he arrived home early in the morning of April 8, 1972, [redacted] told him that MC COY had called at approximately 1:30 A.M., and asked for [redacted] thought it was a little odd that MC COY did not engage her in any type of conversation at all inasmuch as they are fairly close friends and when MC COY found out that [redacted] was not home, he simply hung up the telephone. b7C

In the discussion concerning hijacking, [redacted] said that MC COY talked about any hijacking he would be involved in would be a "big operation". He stated that if the plane that he would be on was being followed by chase planes, he would make it known to these chase planes that he had also planted a bomb on a second plane in order to get them to withdraw. MC COY also stated that if he ever got the half million dollars, he would leave the country. b7C

[redacted] added that MC COY flies frequently and is completely familiar with the filling out of the FAA flight plan forms, and because of his association with the military, would have access to these forms. Additionally, MC COY has his own military type flight and jump suits, helmet and jumping boots. b7C

[redacted] stated that in view of MC COY's past military experience in Vietnam, that it would be possible for him to have a grenade and he believes that MC COY does in fact, have several pistols and possibly a rifle. b7C

[redacted] furnished the following background and descriptive data on MC COY: b7C

[redacted] b7C [redacted] Foster City, California, furnished the following information:

[redacted] stated that he was the U. S. Coast Guard pilot who piloted the Coast Guard C-130 chase plane b7C which followed the United Air Lines (UAL) 727 which was hijacked. [redacted] advised he is stationed at the U. S. Coast Guard Air Station, San Francisco International Airport.

[redacted] advised that once the hijacked UAL plane was off the ground, the initial part of his mission to follow the hijacked plane went very smoothly. He stated b7C that the "first bit of action" occurred 55 miles west of Wilson Creek, Nevada. [redacted] furnished the following latitude and longitude bearings: latitude 38°, 10 minutes north, longitude 115°, 25 minutes west. [redacted] advised that at this time the UAL hijacked plane was flying at 14,000 feet and maintaining speed of 160 knots ground speed, or 110 knots air speed. He advised that at the latitude and longitude given, he and his co-pilot heard what they thought to be two beppers. He advised that it was his opinion that there were two beppers because of the unusual echo effect that he and his co-pilot heard. [redacted] advised that his co-pilot on this flight was [redacted] who he stated is also assigned to the U. S. Coast Guard Air Station, San Francisco International Airport.

[redacted] advised that when the beppers were first heard, he immediately contacted the UAL hijacked b7C plane by radio and asked if they wished for him to illuminate the area. [redacted] stated that the UAL Captain aboard the hijacked plane requested this not be done as he was afraid that even if the hijacker had jumped from the plane, that he might have the necessary apparatus on his person to still ignite a bomb which he might have left aboard the hijacked aircraft. [redacted] advised that the U. S. Air Force

C-130 which was following him did a very quick check of the area where the beppers were heard, but was unable to make any visual contact.

[redacted] stated the remainder of the flight went very smoothly until they were approximately four to ten miles South by Southeast from Provo, Utah. [redacted] advised that at this time [redacted] aboard the UAL hijacked plane advised he thought he felt a bump, indicating to [redacted] that possibly the hijacker had jumped. [redacted] stated that they immediately by radio notified their radio operations of the location and maintained contact with the UAL hijacked plane. [redacted] advised that from his position, he was unable to have any visual contact with the hijacker if he had jumped, as all the lights in the rear part of the hijacked aircraft had been turned off by the hijacker. b7C

[redacted] advised that it was his opinion that the hijacker had some experience in aviation. He qualified this statement by saying that the hijacker was experienced in certain areas of aviation, but was totally unexperienced in other areas. [redacted] advised that an example of this was that the skyjacker was tracking the position of the UAL hijacked plane by basing his calculations on the fact that he was having the hijacked plane maintain a speed of 180 knots ground speed. [redacted] advised that this meant that the hijacked UAL plane had to maintain an air speed of 110 knots. [redacted] stated that the critical speed for the UAL hijacked 727 is 140 knots air speed, but the Captain advised that the hijacker was extremely lucky in that most of the time on the flight they were being pushed along by a 50 knot tailwind, and it was for this reason that the UAL 727 was able to meet the specifications on speed without stalling. [redacted] advised that without the tailwind, it would have been impossible for the UAL plane to operate as the hijacker requested. b7C

[redacted] advised that it was also his opinion the hijacker was somewhat knowledgeable about parachutes. He said he based this opinion on the fact that the hijacker requested sport chutes rather than any regular kind of parachute. b7C

[redacted] stated that this was important inasmuch as a sport chute could be steered by the individual wearing it and would give the individual a great deal of control as to landing area. [redacted] advised that at the altitude they were flying, approximately 17,500 feet, it was such a clear night that they could see ground definition with no lights at all. [redacted] explained this as meaning that they could tell at the altitude mentioned if they were flying over mountains, level ground, semi-hilly ground, etc. b7C

[redacted] advised that at the location where the hijacker actually jumped from the plane, his impact area would be approximately half-way between two small airports. [redacted] advised he obtained this information from looking at his map in his aircraft. He stated that his map indicated that there was a small airport approximately ten miles north from where the impact area would have been, and that there was another small airport approximately ten miles south of where the impact area would have been. [redacted] further stated that another factor he considered was that approximately four or five miles to the west of the impact area there was a lake which could have been to some benefit to the hijacker. b7C

[redacted] further stated that he considered it to be of prime importance that the hijacker asked for a wrist altimeter rather than an altimeter which is attached directly to the parachute. [redacted] explained this by saying that if your altimeter was attached to your parachute and you were attempting to steer your parachute to a given location for impact, you would have a very difficult time observing it, whereas if it were on your wrist, it would be quite easy to see. [redacted] stated that, also, it should be mentioned that most wrist altimeters, in fact 99 per cent of all wrist altimeters, have luminous dials so that the hijacker would be able to read his altimeter in the middle of the night. b7C

[redacted] stated that from the actions of the hijacker and from the type of equipment and the general operations of the hijacker, he would not be surprised if the hijacker had a private or commercial license. He stated that b7C

this license would probably be for piloting a small one engine aircraft or a small two engine aircraft. He stated he based this opinion on the fact that the hijacker, as mentioned earlier, had been able to check his location by basing his navigation on a speed of 110 air knots. [redacted] b7C advised that this is fairly close to the speed of the small one engine or two engine airplanes that he mentioned earlier. [redacted] also advised that it was his opinion that the hijacker had some experience with skydiving. He stated he based this opinion on the type of equipment that the skyjacker explicitly asked for.

[redacted] advised that if he thought of any further information, he would contact the FBI at once. b7C He advised that he could be reached either at the U. S. Coast Guard Air Station, or at his residence in Foster City, California. He advised his home phone number is [redacted]

PRESS RELEASE

FBI Agents early today arrested Richard Floyd McCoy, Jr. at his residence at Provo, Utah, without incident, in connection with the hijacking of the United Air Lines Flight 855 on Friday night, April 7, 1972, according to Acting Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said McCoy is being charged relative to the hijacking of the Newark, New Jersey, to Los Angeles, California, via Denver, Colorado, flight, and diverting the plane to San Francisco where he demanded and received $500,000, four sport parachutes and the return of his luggage.

Mr. Hoover stated a complaint charging McCoy with aircraft piracy under the Crime Aboard Aircraft Statute was authorized by the United States Attorney, Salt Lake City, Utah, on April 9, 1972. The complaint further charges McCoy with interfering with flight crew members. McCoy took command of the United Air Lines plane near Grand Junction, Colorado. The FBI stated 91 persons were held aboard the aircraft until ~~McCoy's~~ hijacker's demands were met.

Mr. Hoover noted McCoy is 29 years of age, Vietnam veteran, married and with children, and is a college student.

The maximum penalty under this statute, if convicted, is death.

McCoy will appear before the United States Magistrate, Salt Lake City, as soon as possible.

All news sources on official news source list, 80-334, telephonically contacted; also NELSON WADSWORTH, National Observer, Stringer, Salt Lake City; plus approximately 60 other news media representatives from East Coast to West Coast. No record made of names.

TO DATE IT HAS NOT BEEN POSSIBLE TO PINPOINT THE AREA WHERE THESE ARTICLES MAY HVE BEEN JETTISONED. THEREFORE IT WOULD BE NECESSARY TO SEARCH AN AREA APPROXIMATELY ONE HUNDRED FIFTY MILES IN LENGTH. ONLY PLANES AVAILABLE ARE THROUGH COMMERCIAL CHARTER COMPANIES AND ANY PLANE THAT COULD BE UTILIZED FOR THIS SEARCH WOULD COST ONE HUNDRED FORTY DOLLARS AN HOUR. IT IS ESTIMATED IT WOULD TAKE APPROXIMATELY FIVE HOURS FOR THE SEARCH.

U. S. Attorney C. This is for the record as to counsel. We should advise the Bureau.

I asked USA DAY if the thought had occurred to him whether justice in [redacted] would be served by a change of venue in this case to San Francisco. Mr. DAY pondered the question out loud for a while and concluded that he saw no advantages to such a change, and could think of several disadvantages. He mentioned specifically the fact that a great many people in high places in California apparently have taken a rather strong position against capital punishment. I thanked Mr. DAY for his observations.

INSTURCTING PILOT TO FLY AT NOT MORE THAN TEN THOUSAND FEET, WITH FLAPS AT FIFTEEN DEGREES, THE LANDING GEAR DOWN AND REAR STEPS OF PLANE ALSO DOWN, PLANE INVOLVED BEING BOEING SEVEN TWO SEVEN, A TRI-JET, WITH STAIRS AT REAR. HIJACKER FINALLY AGREED TO HAVING STEPS RAISED. (IT IS NOTED BOEING SEVEN TWO SEVEN AIRCRAFT UNABLE TO TAKE OFF WITH STAIRS IN LOWERED POSITION. HOWEVER IN ORDER FOR STAIRS TO BE LOWERED IN FLIGHT, IT IS NECESSARY THAT REAR PRESSURED DOOR BE IN OPEN POSITION ON TAKE-OFF.)

CONTINUING IN NORJAK, STEWARDESS REMAINED IN CABIN WITH HIJACKER, AND HIJACKER HAD STEWARDESS SHOW HIM HOW TO LOWER STEPS AND ORDERED HER TO GO TO FIRST-CLASS SECTION. UAL CASE, HIJACKER ORDERED STEWARDESS TO GO TO FRONT SECTION OF PLANE AND DID NOT REQUIRE INSTRUCTIONS AS TO HOW TO OPERATE LOWERING MECHANISM OF REAR STAIRS.

NORJAK CASE, PLANE CAPTAIN IN CONTACT WITH HIJACKER BY INTER-COM AND JUST PRIOR TO FINAL COMMUNICATION WITH HIJACKER, CAPTAIN HAD SIGNAL INDICATING STARS HAD BEEN LOWERED.

UAL CASE, PLANE CREW ON OXYGEN FLYING AT SIXTEEN THOUSAND

FEET FOR PERIOD OF ONE AND ONE-HALF HOURS PRIOR TO HIJACKER JUMPING DUE TO OPEN REAR STAIRS.

NORJAK CASE, TWO PARACHUTES REMAINED ON AIRCRAFT WHEN IT ARRIVED RENO, NEVADA, ONE OF WHICH WAS OPEN AND THREE SHROUD LINES HAD BEEN CUT AND REMOVED FROM PARACHUTE, PRESUMABLY TO TIE RANSOM MONEY PACKAGE TO HIJACKER. UAL CASE, HIJACKER JETTISONED ONE, TWO OR THREE PARACHUTES IN NEVADA, AT LEASE ONE CONTAINING HOMING DEVICE AND HAD ROPE OR HARNESS IN HIS POSSESSION TO FASTEN MONEY AND EQUIPMENT TO HIM. IN UAL CASE ROPE WAS NINETEEN FEET LONG, WITH EYE GROMMETS. IN INTERVIEW OF LOCAL NATIONAL GUARD PARACHUTE JUMPER, HE INDICATED IT IS STANDARD OPERATING PROCEDURE IN NATIONAL GUARD UNITS TO HAVE "H" HARNESS WITH WHICH EQUIPMENT PACKAGE IS STRAPPED TO BODY. APPROXIMATELY TWENTY-FOOT ROPE IS FASTENED TO HARNESS AND EQUIPMENT PACKAGE, AND AFTER PARACHUTE IS OPENED, JUMPER

LOWERS PACKAGE SO IT DANGLES BELOW HIM. AS JUMPER APPROACHES GROUND, HE RELEASES ROPE FROM BODY HARNESS WITH RESULT PACKAGE WILL DROP IN IMMEDIATE AREA OF LANDING. JUMPER CANNOT RETAIN PACKAGE FASTENED TO BODY AS THIS WOULD HINDER LANDING OPERATION AND POSSIBLY CAUSE SERIOUS INJURY.

PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION IN BOTH CASES IS REMARKABLY SIMILAR. IN NORJAK CASE, SUBJECT IS DESCRIBED AS POSSIBLY IN MID-FORTIES, AND PERSONAL OBSERVATION OF SUBJECT, AGE TWENTY-NINE, GIVES IMMEDIATE IMPRESSION OF MAN POSSIBLY FORTY. COMPOSITE PHOTOGRAPH OF NORJAK SUBJECT BEARS STRONG RESEMBLANCE, PARTICULARLY HAIRLINE, HAIR PART, SHAPE OF FACE AND NOSE. IN NORJAK CASE, WITNESSES DESCRIBED SUBJECT'S COMPLEXION AS OLIVE, LATIN APPEARANCE, MEDIUM SMOOTH. IN UAL CASE, WITNESSES LIKEWISE DESCRIBED SUBJECT AS OF DARK COMPLEXION, POSSIBLY MEXICAN, BELIEVED DUE TO MAKE UP. IN NORJAK CASE, SUBJECT DESCRIBED AS HAVING SIDEBURNS AT LOW EAR LEVEL. SUBJECT IN UAL CASE UPON ARREST HAS SIDEBURNS TO BOTTOM LOBE OF EAR. IN NORJAK CASE, WITNESSES STATED VOICE HAD NO PARTICULAR ACCENT, POSSIBLY FROM MID-WEST SECTION OF U.S. IN UAL CASE, WITNESSES DESCRIBED SUBJECT'S VOICE AS NORMAL AND DID NOT REFER TO ANY ACCENT OF ANY TYPE.

IN NORJAK CASE, UNSUB DESCRIBED AS HEAVY SMOKER OF RALEIGH FILTER TIP CIGARETTES. IN UAL CASE, SUBJECT BROUGHT SUPPLY OF CANDY AND CONTINUALLY EATING CANDY DURING FLIGHT. IT IS NOTED UAL INVESTIGATION HAS NOT INDICATED UAL SUBJECT SMOKES; HOWEVER IS FROM RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA. CANDY COULD BE SUBSTITUTE FOR CIGARETTES; HOWEVER SUBJECT IN EACH CASE OBVIOUSLY NERVOUS.

IN UAL CASE, THERE IS OBVIOUS EVIDENCE SUBJECT ATTEMPTED TO DISGUISE HIMSELF AFTER BOARDING PLANE, IN THAT HE ON TWO OCCASIONS SPENT EXTENDED PERIODS IN LAVATORY AND EMERGED WITH BLACK HAIR WIG AND FALSE MUSTACHE.

NORJAK CASE, SUBJECT DURING LATTER PART OF FLIGHT PUT ON DARK WRAP-AROUND SUNGLASSES, WITH DARK RIMS. UAL CASE, SUBJECT BOARDED PLANE WITH MIRROR TYPE SUNGLASSES.

IN NORJAK CASE, SUBJECT BELIEVED TO HAVE DEPARTED PLANE IN AREA CONTAINING A NOTICEABLE BEACON AND FARM LAND. IN UAL CASE, SUBJECT DEPARTED PLANE SHORTLY AFTER HEADING EAST OF UTAH LAKE NEAR AIRPORT WITH BEACON AND IMMEDIATELY BEYOND, FARM LAND THUS PROVIDING EXCELLENT BEARINGS FOR JUMP.

IN NORJAK CASE, UNSUB VERY INSISTENT UPON RETRIEVING INSTRUCTIONS AFTER READING BY PILOT. IN UAL CASE, SUBJECT LIKEWISE INSISTENT UPON RETRIEVING INSTRUCTIONS. ADVANCE PREPARATION OF FLIGHT PLAN INSTRUCTIONS IN UAL CASE COULD LOGICALLY REPRESENT REFINEMENT OF M.O.

INTERVIEW OF [redacted] OF UAL SUBJECT INDICATES SUBJECT b7C HAD ADVISED HER THAT IF HE WERE EVER TO BE INVOLVED IN HIJACKING, HE WOULD NOT SPEND ANY OF HIJACKED LOOT FOR MANY YEARS BECAUSE IT WOULD BE MARKED WITH SUBSTANCE THAT WOULD BE VISIBLE BY USE OF AN ULTRAVIOLET LIGHT AND HE WOULD NOT SPENDSANY OF THE MONEY FOR MANY YEARS BECAUSE HE BELIEVED HE COULD NOT BE PROSECUTED AFTER SEVEN YEARS FOLLOWING THE CRIME.

INTERVIEWS OF ACQUAINTANCES OF SUBJECT IN UAL CASE INDICATE SUBJECT OBSESSED WITH IDEA OF HIJACKING AND CONTINUALLY BROUGHT UP DISCUSSIONS WHEREIN HE ATTEMPTED TO OBTAIN OPINIONS AS TO WHAT THE OTHER HIJACKERS HAD DONE WRONG IN THEIR OPERATION. THESE ACQUAINTANCES DESCRIBED SUBJECT IN UAL CASE AS NOT PARTICULARLY EXPERT

Also, In The Box Was . . . $499,970

An inventory of evidence seized at the home of Richard Floyd McCoy Jr., 29, Provo, charged in a $500,000 skyjacking of a United Air Lines plane, was provided today by the FBI.

It included:

—A blue and white parachute, black parachute harness, a military type jump parachute helmet, an official military flight suit and a military style flight suit with two aerial flare cartridges in the pocket.

—A green military canvas bag, a black crash helmet, a brown striped sports coat, a silver-colored wrist watch and two electric typewriters.

—A cardboard box containing various items of clothing, a pistol, a holster and a black glove.

Almost as an afterthought, it mentioned that the box contained $499,970 in U.S. currency, most of it still wrapped in bank bands.

[B]ehavior At Drill 'Ordinary'

By JOE BAUMAN
Deseret News Staff Writer

"He was at drill all day Saturday," Robert Van Ieperen, said Sunday, referring to his closest friend, accused skyjacker Richard Floyd McCoy Jr. of Provo.

Van Ieperen is a Utah Highway Patrol trooper. He was on duty at the Utah Army National Guard's Army Aviation Support facility — a military airfield near the Salt Lake International Airport.

ARREST FACTOR

His testimony to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, apparently was one of the factors that led to the arrest of McCoy Sunday morning as he left for another day of National Guard duty.

When interviewed Sunday afternoon, Van Ieperen had just landed a big Huey helicopter he had piloted from Fillmore.

"Yes," he said, "Richard was in the National Guard all day Saturday." Late Friday night McCoy allegedly bailed out of a United Air Lines 727 near Provo carrying $500,000 ransom money.

ORDINARY BEHAVIOR

Did he seem exhausted? Van Ieperen was asked.

"No,"

Was there anything out of the ordinary about his behavior that day?

"No a thing."

Other guardsmen with the [redacted] Unit of the [redacted] Engineering Group confirmed Van Ieperen's report.

"He flew out of here all the time," said Capt. John Welsh. "All of the pilots of the different units come here.

GOOD RECORD

Maj. Gen. Maurice Watts, the Utah adjutant general, said he wasn't personally acquainted with McCoy, "but as far as I know he performed his duties in a satisfactory manner. He never caused any trouble for anybody. He had a good record."

Van Ieperen added, "I think he is an outstanding aviator, and for that matter, I think he is an outstanding person. There's nothing I wouldn't do for Richard McCoy — including lending him money.

"I think he's the greatest."

CONVERSATION NOTED

Van Ieperen informed the FBI, according to the complaint filed in the arrest, that McCoy told him three weeks ago it would be possible to hijack a plane if someone were carrying his own parachute and then threw out bugged parachutes supplied by the airlines. The beeper in the latter would throw searchers off the track, McCoy is alleged to have said.

McCoy's remarks followed a spectacular and unsuccessful hijacking.

"He mentioned a few things that maybe he would have done that this guy didn't," Van Ieperen said.

"Richard's my best friend," he added. "I fly with him every weekend.

"I think he's one of the finest people I know.

"I don't believe it — I still don't believe it — I don't think he hijacked that plane."

Van Ieperen did not think his statement to the FBI was in itself sufficient grounds to arrest McCoy. "I talked about hijacking a plane myself," he said. "The other day I talked about robbing a bank. As I say, this was just a casual conversation we had."

'He's Innocent— I'll Stand By Him'

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — "War does funny things to people sometimes," Richard F. McCoy Sr. said Sunday afternoon, nervously trying to keep busy in his backyard.

McCoy had learned only hours earlier that his son, Richard Jr., had been arrested and charged with the $500,000 hijacking of a United Airlines flight that ended in a parachute jump over Utah.

A newsman asked him how he reacted to the news.

"I just don't know what to think," said McCoy, 52, a retired Army master sergeant. "I have to consider him innocent. I have to stand by him."

He said his son had always been active in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and added, "I don't see how he could do such a thing and be consistent with the church's teachings. But war does funny things to people sometimes."

His son had spent two tours of duty in Vietnam with the Army.

He said his son, 29, had not been in any financial difficulty so far as he knew.

"They're not rich, but he has the G.I. Bill and his wife works," McCoy said, referring to the son's enrollment at Brigham Young University.

"He never asked me for any money. He was making good grades," he added.

Provoan Jailed In Air Piracy

By ROGER PUSEY,
HAL KNIGHT and LEO PERRY
Deseret News Staff Writers

FBI agents have recovered $499,970 of the $500,000 ransom paid to a skyjacker who parachuted from a United Air Lines 727 jetliner over the Provo area late Friday.

The money was in a cardboard box and was among several items seized Sunday by agents armed with search warrants who combed the apartment, yard and two automobiles belonging to Richard Floyd McCoy Jr., 29, 360 S. 200 East, Provo.

McCoy is being held in the Salt Lake County Jail without bail on federal charges of air piracy and interfering with a flight attendant.

ARRESTED SUNDAY

He was arrested about 5:30 a.m. Sunday as he was leaving his home to attend a Utah National Guard drill. He offered no resistance to FBI agents.

The FBI had been watching the house since Saturday afternoon on the quiet, tree-lined residential street about two blocks from downtown Provo.

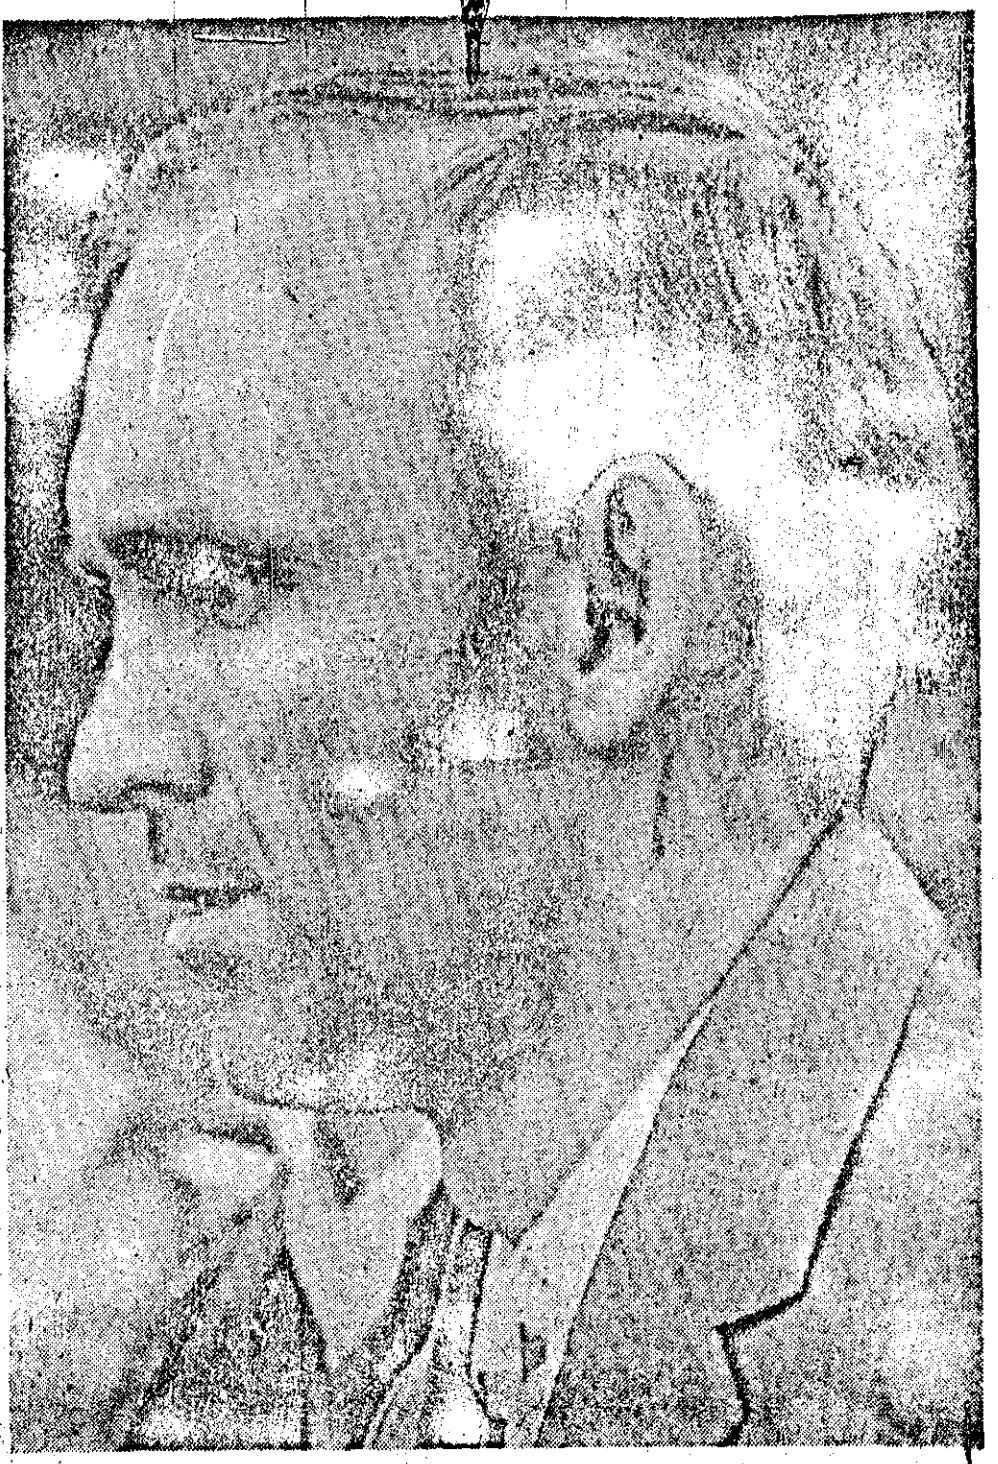
The stake-out of the house apparently was based on information first supplied by McCoy's sister-in-law and a good friend of McCoy who is a Utah Highway Patrolman.

For most of Saturday some 200 lawmen had conducted a 12-hour search of the area around Provo after it was determined that the skyjacker apparently had parachuted from the airliner near Utah Lake.

NO TRACE FOUND

However, they found no trace of the skyjacker and FBI agents are still investigating to determine where the skyjacker actually landed and how he eluded the massive search.

McCoy, a father of two, a Vietnam veteran and a Brigham Young University student majoring in law enforcement, was taken before U.S. Magistrate A. M. [illegible] arrest.



Richard Floyd McCoy Jr. is charged with $500,000 skyjacking.

A member of the 115th Engineer Group, a National Guard unit which meets in Murray, he was dressed in Army fatigues when arrested. He had also spent all day Saturday at a National Guard drill, according to friends. (See accompanying story, Page A-2.)

KEPT CALM

He was calm and chatted with FBI agents about his experiences in Vietnam. He used a small room in federal offices in Salt Lake City to change into a grey suit before seeing Ferro on the charges.

McCoy told the magistrate that his only source of income was $243 per month from the GI Bill, and added, "But I'm sure that will be terminated now."

He was informed of his rights and indicated he wanted Ferro to appoint an attorney for him.

William J. Geiermann, FBI special agent, signed the complaint before Ferro. U.S. Atty. C. Nelson Day recommended that McCoy be held without bail because of the seriousness of the crime.

The magistrate said a preliminary hearing would be held April 19 at 2 p.m. pending approval of McCoy's attorney. The arrested man was then taken to the jail by U.S. Marshal Royal K. Buttars and his deputies.

The dramatic skyjacking took place on a UAL scheduled flight from Newark, N.J., to Los Angeles, Calif., with a stop in Denver, Colo.

The complaint against McCoy included the following details:

When the plane left Denver at 2:36 p.m. Friday it was carrying 85 passengers and six crew members. After being airborne for 30 minutes, a man wearing a wig, fake mustache, mirrored sun glasses, a blue suit and pink shirt, handed a typewritten note to a stewardess, Diane M. Surdham and exhibited a hand grenade to her.

AP Wire P

An unident FBI agent digs in pile of trash in search of money.

GIVEN NOTE

He told her to take an envelope to the pilot. It contained a note which said "Grenade — Pin Pulled — Pistol" along with a bullet, a grenade pin and a regular Federal Aviation Administration flight plan form.

The skyjacker shook his hand containing the grenade at the stewardess as he gave her instructions.

The flight plan directed the aircraft's pilot to fly to San Francisco instead of Los Angeles. The skyjacker also demanded $500,000 in ransom and four parachutes in other notes after the plane landed.

OTHER ORDERS

Notes also ordered the pilot to have the craft refueled for six hours flight and to have all the passengers' luggage removed.

A passenger, William Richard Coggin, said the skyjacker told him to report to the captain of the plane as the craft sat on the ground with all the passengers still inside.

The captain told Coggin that the skyjacker had ordered Coggin to leave the plane and pickup from the ground near the aircraft some luggage and parachutes which had been delivered there by the airlines.

LUGGAGE, CHUTES

Coggin brought back on the plane a large blue piece of luggage belonging to the skyjacker, some parachutes and two large briefcases containing the ransom money.

The skyjacker then handed the stewardesses another note which ordered all the passengers off the plane. It read: "Everybody off now except stewardesses — they stay put. Get the hell off the GD!! Be quick about it — use this runway."

When the plane took off at 7:40 p.m. The skyjacker had the stewardess deliver another set of instructions directing the pilot to fly over Tonopah, Nev.

EXPLOSIVE HINTED

One of the notes said that if chase planes were observed following the airliner, the skyjacker would detonate an explosive in the jetliner after he parachuted out.

One of the notes also stated that if any of the crew, particularly the stewardesses, turned around to observe the skyjacker, "It would be a long fall without a parachute."

The skyjacker also ordered that all of his notes and flight plans be returned, but Mrs. Surdam kept one hand-written note, which was later turned over to the FBI.

Near Utah the plane was ordered to fly from the vicinity of Marysvale, Puite County, toward the Salt Lake City International Airport, then near Fairfield, Utah County, the pilot was told to fly easterly toward Price.

The rear door to the plane was open at this time and a few minutes after turning toward Price the crew reported that the skyjacker was no longer inside the aircraft.

The plane then turned toward the Salt Lake Airport where it landed shortly before midnight. As the massive ground search started in the pre-dawn hours Saturday, the FBI was already moving in other directions.

According to the complaint, at approximately 9:30 p.m. Friday, McCoy's sister-in-law called Robert Van Ieperen, a Utah Highway Patrol Trooper who is a close friend of McCoy.

Van Ieperen said she asked him if McCoy was on a mission of some sort. She called again at 11:30 p.m. and said McCoy was not home and she was "scared to death" as McCoy earlier had talked to her about helping him on a skyjacking.

After this Van Ieperen apparently contacted FBI agents.

The FBI promptly had McCoy's official Army personnel records pulled in Washington, D. C. and the hand-printed skyjacker's note was compared with handwriting in those records.

Experts declared that the note was identical with and written by the same person as the handwriting in McCoy's official records.

Pictures of McCoy also were obtained. A number of photographs of different people were shown to Coggin by the FBI and he identified McCoy's photo as the skyjacker, the complaint stated.

Interviews established that McCoy is a skydiver, a helicopter pilot who has access to FAA flight plan forms, has several pistols and in view of his past military experience, it would be possible for him to have a hand grenade.

Hijacking Alert Now Effective At S.L. Airport

Precautions aimed at guarding against hijacking of commercial airliners operating out of Salt Lake City International Airport are in effect, airline officials said Monday.

But all are reluctant to discuss specifics of these precautions for fear they will lose their effectiveness.

What is clear after a series of interviews with airline and airport officials is that the airlines themselves have instituted certain procedures to decrease the possibility of hijacking and the airport has initiated security procedures aimed at limiting access to just about all but public areas of the airport.

'No Comment'

Gene Lether, a United Airlines (UAL) official here, asked about precautions answered with a flat "No comment."

To say anything, he added, would mean there would be no security procedures, and would-be hijackers could figure out ways to circumvent them.

A UAL flight was hijacked Friday in Denver and a Provo man was arrested Sunday after allegedly bailing out of the Boeing 727 over Provo with $500,000 ransom collected in San Francisco.

Donald O'Hare, supervisor of American Airlines airport services, said, "We have them (precautions). But we are not at liberty to discuss them."

Profile Method

All of the airlines are apparently using the passenger profile method, which involves several steps used by employes in detecting potential hijackers.

Hughes Air West is using a detection device at each gate to screen boarding passengers for devices which may be used in a hijack attempt.

Norm Hansen, regional marketing director for Hughes Air West, declined specific comment on the device though. He [illegible] that policemen observe the [illegible] of nearly every flight leaving the airport, which serves as a deterrent.

A Federal Aviation Administration spokesman in Denver said the main thrust of present efforts is with the use of passenger profile method, a screening of all carry-on baggage and stepped-up security at commercial airports.

FBI Holds $499,970 In Skyjack Ransom

By Clark Lobb
Tribune Staff Writer

Federal Bureau of Investigation headquarters in Salt Lake City announced casually Monday that agents had placed in evidence $499,970 taken Sunday from the Provo premises of accused skyjacker Richard Floyd McCoy Jr.

The money, "almost all in bank straps and some loose currency," was mentioned as the last of 13 items on the second page of a two-page report released Monday at 8:30 a.m. in the Post Office Building, 350 S. Main.

It was signed by Special Agents James D. Downey and Lote Kinney Jr., Salt Lake City.

After listing clothing, a watch, two typewriters, two flight suits, a parachute and harness, two helmets, a green canvas bag, pistol, holster and a black glove, the agents added:

"Also located in the cardboard box was United States currency, almost all in bank straps and loose currency, totaling $499,970."

Arrested At Home

McCoy was arrested early Sunday morning at his Provo residence, 360 S. 200 East, and charged with air piracy and "interference with flight attendant." The former count carries a maximum death penalty. The suspect is being held in Salt Lake City-County Jail without bond. Preliminary hearing is set for April 19 at 2 p.m. before U. S. Magistrate A. M. Ferro in the Post Office Building.

Here is the complete text of the FBI announcement (dated Sunday):

"FBI agents seized the following items under the authority of a search warrant signed on April 9, 1972, by U. S. Magistrate A. M. Ferro at Salt Lake City, Utah. These items were seized from the premises of Richard Floyd McCoy Jr. at 360 S. 200 East Street, Provo, Utah.

"One men's brown striped sport coat with Alexandre label.

"One men's Rolex Osterdate watch, silver in color, with inscription R. F. McCoy, Raleigh, North Carolina.

Typewriters Also Seized

"One electric Smith-Corona typewriter, in case, with Number MIL-I-16910.

"One electric Smith-Corona typewriter, in case, Model Electra 120, Number MIL-I-16910 (an agent said it seemed likely there was a typographical error in the listing of the same serial number for both typewriters, but added he was not sure).

"One green military type flight suit with two aerial flare cartridges in pocket.

"One military flight suit, green in color, type Number CWU 1/P.

"One black parachute harness manufactured by Security Parachute Co., Inc., San Leandro, Calif.

"One parachute, blue and white, some red trim.

"One military canvas green bag manufactured by Eastern Canvas Products, Inc., 11/1963, Number S460-606-8366.

Money in Bank Straps

"Also located in the cardboard box was United States currency, almost all in bank straps and some loose currency, totaling $499,970."

Russell P. Calame, Salt Lake City agent in charge, said he could not add anything to the list and refused to answer questions as to whether the money was marked, why the amount seized was $30 less than the $500,000 listed Sunday as ransom paid or any other query.

The 29-year-old McCoy, a junior at Brigham Young University majoring in law enforcement, was arrested without incident. He was dressed in Utah Army National Guard fatigues in preparation for Guard drills Sunday. He was assigned to Headquarters, Headquarters Co., 115th Engineer Group, Murray, and was a helicopter pilot, said Maj. Gen. Maurice L. Watts, Utah adjutant general.

The suspect also was reported to have been a regular weekend skydiver at Alta Sky Park, 8700-17th East, Sandy.

McCoy's arrest climaxed a search of several Utah counties by ground, air and water after a hijacker bailed out of a United Air Lines 727 Jet in the Provo area late Friday night.

Crew Reports Threat

The crew reported the man threatened to blow up the plane with plastic explosives and a hand grenade if he did not receive $500,000 and four parachutes after the Newark, N. J., to Los Angeles bound aircraft was rerouted to San Francisco upon the skyjacker's written demands, forwarded to the pilot by a stewardess.

The FBI announced in the complaint that the money and 'chutes were taken aboard in San Francisco. Eighty-five passengers and one of three stewardesses were allowed to leave the jet with their luggage. The hijacker then forced the crew to fly over Nevada and Utah and, according to the complaint, jumped over Provo.

More than 200 law enforcement officers, led by the FBI, scoured central and eastern Utah counties Saturday until midafternoon. Surveillance was established at the McCoy home and the arrest was made Sunday about 5:30 a.m.

Using their warrant, FBI agents searched the McCoy house, garage, yard and two automobiles. About 5 p.m. Sunday, nine agents left the house carrying four large cardboard boxes and two black overnight bags. They loaded the evidence in their vehicles and eight drove back to Salt Lake City headquarters. The ninth was stationed in Provo.

The FBI refused to comment on what was found on the premises, indicating a release was being prepared for clearance in Washington, D. C. Late Sunday, FBI headquarters in the nation's capital announced a statement would be made Monday.

Mr. Calame said the delay was because of thorough checking of the evidence.

"It takes a long time to count and recount nearly $500,000," he said.

It was learned that it took agents most of Sunday night to count the money. Also, the FBI was required to present a list of evidence to the magistrate before making a public statement.

Meanwhile, it appeared McCoy was flying a Utah Army National Guard helicopter on the fringe of the massive search for the hijacker Saturday morning—and getting paid for it.

Maj. Gen. Maurice L. Watts, Utah adjutant general, said McCoy reported at Guard hangars on the east side of Salt Lake City International Airport for ET—equivalent training. The general said this means making up duty for training time owed.

Suspect Flies Copter

He said McCoy (a warrant officer in the Guard) flew a Guard photographer to Camp Williams at 10:30 a.m., close to a 200-man search for a suspect in the Provo area which extended to Fairfield, Utah County, 15 miles west of Camp Williams.

Gen. Watts said the photographer told him Monday the pair flew to Camp Williams and returned. They did not go south of that area.

McCoy and the photographer returned to Salt Lake City about 11:30 a.m. and the suspect was met by FBI agents, who questioned him at the airport, Gen. Watts said.

The agents apparently let him go until the arrest Sunday morning.

Fellow Guardsmen said McCoy seemed at ease and under no stress during the Saturday training duty.

Vietnam Army Service

Gen. Watts also released McCoy's military record. It showed he served two hitches in Vietnam — May 11 to Nov. 23, 1964, as a demolition specialist with special forces (Green Berets) and another one-year assignment after being appointed warrant officer pilot in 1967. He also served two years in Germany after Vietnam.

The report showed he received two medals for heroism — an Army Commendation Medal with V (valor) Device and a Distinguished Flying Cross — as well as the usual medals awarded for overseas duty.

McCoy Said 'Average' In Jumping

By David L. Beck
Tribune Staff Writer

Accused skyjacker Richard F. McCoy Jr. was "an average jumper . . . by no means an expert," according to the instructor at Alta Sky Diving Center.

Bill Dause said Sunday that McCoy "just didn't have that many jumps" to achieve an expert rating. He estimated McCoy had made between 30 and 40 jumps over the last year or year and a half.

"He was never an active jumper but he always wanted to be. Never had the money to spare," said Mr. Dause. It costs $3.75 for the plane ride, more if you have to rent equipment.

He said McCoy owns his own parachute.

Likable Person

He described the suspect as a "very nice, quite, likable type person. He used to stop in here occasionally when he was flying — to pick up a Coke or something . . .

"He was shy, I don't know if that's the right word — not boisterous, not a troublemaker; usually kept pretty much to himself."

He described McCoy as "quite intelligent."

Mr. Dause said holding airplanes up for ransom has become a popular topic of conversation among skydivers since D. B. Cooper first pulled the trick last fall.

"I think anybody associated with parachuting has talked about it quite a bit."

"One evening after one of the other attempts was made," explained the instructor, "I mentioned that this guy had gone about it wrong."

Talking it over in the clubhouse at the skydiving center with about half a dozen jumpers, Dause recalled, he said he would want a sport chute, not a military one, because the sport type is more maneuverable.

Remember D. B. Cooper? Coast Search Goes On

WOODLAND, WASH. (UPI) — While a suspect was being sought in Utah Saturday in connection with a $500,000 hijacking of an airliner, the FBI and Army were continuing the search of southern Washington for another skyjacker who got $200,000 in ransom money under similar circumstances.

A man identified only as D. B. Cooper parachuted from a Northwest Airlines Boeing 727 last Thanksgiving eve with $200,000 he received in Seattle after hijacking the plane on a flight from Portland to Seattle.

No trace of Cooper or the money has ever been found.

A man identified as T. Johnson hijacked a United Air Lines Boeing 727 Friday on a flight from Denver to Los Angeles and received $500,000 in ransom money in San Francisco.

Get 4 Parachutes

Cooper asked for and received four parachutes while the plane was on the ground in Seattle. Johnson also got four parachutes in San Francisco.

Both men released all the passengers after receiving their money and parachutes. Both hijacked airliners were followed by Air Force planes. Both men parachuted in the dark.

Both men apparently chose Boeing 727s because, according to Boeing officials, it is the only commercial airliner being used today on which the door can be opened while in flight to allow a safe parachute drop.

A 727 is equipped with a rear door which lowers from the underside of the fuselage and can be opened while in flight.

'Fake Moustache'

Cooper was described by the FBI as, "white, male, 6-foot-1, 170-175 pounds, slender, in mid-40s, olive complexion." Composite drawings showed him both with and without sunglasses.

Johnson was described as "white, about 30, medium build, and wearing a wig and fake moustache."

Both men were described as being very calm and cool during the entire operation. A stewardess on the flight Cooper hijacked said at first she thought the man was going to "make a pass" at her but instead he handed her a note to take to the pilot telling him there was a bomb aboard.

Johnson also passed to the stewardess a note to take to the captain.

FBI Hints 'Lead' In Skyjacking

Chutist Eludes Utah Police, Escapes With $500,000

PROVO — Search of the Provo area for a hijacker who parachuted from a United Air Lines 727 jetliner with $500,000 ransom Friday night was called off this morning after the FBI announced it had a lead on a suspect.

Agents in the FBI office in Salt Lake City would not confirm or deny if they had a suspect in custody.

Provo Police Chief Jesse Evans said the massive all-night search of the Provo and Utah Lake area was halted this morning after the FBI told him it had a lead on a suspect.

Utah County Sheriff Ralph (Dick) Chapple said to his knowledge no one was picked up in Utah County.

Strain of hijacking ordeal shows on faces of crew members, Capt. Gerry D. Hearn, stewardesses Margie Newby, Diane Surdam, after landing in Salt

Salt Lake City would not confirm or deny if a suspect had been taken into custody, but reports of a search continuing near Provo indicated no arrest in the hijacking.

The Carbon County Sheriff's Office in Price said it had not been alerted to set up any roadblocks this morning or join in a search.

Evans said if a suspect is taken into custody he would not necessarily be charged in Utah, but could be taken to any of the points involved in the hijacking.

The hijacker, a cool, bespectacled man armed with a pistol and grenade, plunged into the cold night at about 11:25 p.m. with the half million dollars and a bugged parachute.

The hijacked plane, Flight 855, landed at the Salt Lake International Airport at 11:50 p.m. with only its five crew members aboard.

Its 86 passengers were allowed off in San Francisco after the skyjacker was paid the half million dollars in small bills and given a number of parachutes.

The nine-hour odyssey began over the Rocky Mountains almost 30 minutes after the plane left Denver at 2:36 p.m. en route to Los Angeles.

The man, described as about 30, white, medium build and wearing a wig and fake mustache, pulled off the hijacking without ever leaving his seat. He took over the plane and handed typewritten notes to a stewardess who carried them to the pilot.

He ordered the plane diverted to San Francisco where the craft sat at the far end of a runway for three hours while the airline provided what the hijacker demanded — four parachutes, fuel for 4,000 miles of flight and $500,000.

The money, in two suitcases, was placed on a ramp about 100 feet from the plane and picked up shortly after 7 p.m. PST. The passengers and one stewardess then were allowed to leave the plane and it took off at 7:41 p.m. PST, headed east.

After leaving San Francisco, the pilot, Capt. Gerry D. Hearn of Los Angeles, was ordered to fly over southern Nevada. There was an erroneous report from the FBI that the hijacker had bailed out over Wilson Creek, Nev. It was believed the man may have pushed a dummy parachute out there.

The plane then zigzagged over southern Utah as the pilot was given several directions by the hijacker.

An airline spokesman in Denver, Don Canaulte, said "He keeps giving the crew new headings. I think it sounds like he's reading a map, just like I am. We don't know what he's got planned or why he's coming back this way."

The pilot radioed that the hijacker bailed out at 11:25 p.m. near Provo.

After landing at the Salt Lake Airport, the pilot then took off in another plane to drop flares over a marshy area just south of Utah Lake near where the hijacker had leaped out.

Airline officials said the man used the name T. Johnson in buying the ticket. He was reported wearing mirrored sunglasses, a pink shirt and a blue pinstripe suit. One report indicated he donned a jumpsuit before bailing out.

At a news conference later in Salt Lake City, Hearn, a United pilot for 17 years, said the hijacker "apparently took all of the ransom with him."

He refused comment on the plane's altitude and speed between San Francisco and Salt Lake City. "Too many ideas

7th Attempt In 5 Months

The hijacking Friday night of a United Air Lines jetliner was the seventh time in just under five months that parachutes and ransom figured in airline piracy.

Only one of the six other parachute-ransom hijackers has not been apprehended — a man who gave the name D. B. Cooper.

He bailed out of a Northwest Airlines 727 last Thanksgiving Eve somewhere between Seattle, Wash., and Reno, Nev., with $200,000 of the airline's money.

[illegible] from reading about this stuff," he said.

Hearn said the hijacker claimed he had "plastic explosives, hand grenades and two handguns." However, he said crew members saw only one gun.

The pilot said he had no personal contact with the man.

"The only contact I had was through instructions in an envelope delivered by a stewardess," he said. Some witnesses said the notes were all prewritten and he just handed them to the stewardess, Diane Surdam, 24, Los Angeles.

She told newsmen, "We believed him" when he made threats.

Hearn said the crew was assembled in the cockpit when the man jumped. None of the crew saw him, but said they could tell from the way the craft reacted.

In addition to Hearn, the male crewmen included First Officer K. R. Bradley and Second Officer K. W. Owen. The other stewardess on board was Margie Newby.

All but three of the 36 passengers had boarded in Denver, where airline officials said the only security precaution was a check of passengers against a "profile" of hijacker characteristics. The airline did not immediately know the sex of the three persons who remained on board Flight 855 from its origin in Newark.

Nearly all the passengers were unaware they were being hijacked Friday until they were on the ground at San Francisco.

Robert Mainthow, a 20-year-old student at Denver University, said, "All these weird things began to happen" shortly after the craft took off from Denver.

FORCED TO S.F.

"We were supposed to land in Grand Junction, Colo., because we had problems with the engine, and then the engine fixed itself," he said. "Then we were supposed to land in Los Angeles, but there was too much smog or fog and we came to San Francisco."

He said most of the passengers learned what was going on after the plane landed. He said he was scared "while we were on the ground. In the air, we didn't know what was happening."

BIG MANHUNT

The hunt for the hijacker in the Provo area involved the largest number of officers participating in any manhunt since Utah Highway Patrol Trooper Charles Warren was wounded after stopping a stolen car west of Springville several years ago.

Scores of officers hunted for the suspect throughout the night and they were relieved by a large contingent of Highway Patrol officers, sheriff's deputies, Jeep Patrol members and reserve officers at daylight today.

Reports of a mysterious helicopter flashing a light in the bailout area gave rise to speculation that a helicopter might have been waiting for the hijacker.

led searchers to mud flats about eight miles west of Provo.

A spokesman at Hamilton Air Force Base north of San Francisco confirmed today that a C130 Air Force plane had followed the airliner on its flight over Nevada and Utah.

He said a "beeper signal" came from skies near the jetliner over Nevada. But he said there was no way of knowing immediately if the gunman tossed out a bugged parachute in an attempt to throw the plane off his trail.

NO COMMENT

The FBI would not discuss the Air Force report or say what had happened to the other parachutes handed over to the hijacker in San Francisco.

A Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said no parachutes were found on the jetliner after it landed in Salt Lake City.

After the hijacked plane landed in San Francisco, the hijacker chose a prisoner under escort by a California correctional officer to go out and pick up the ransom money.

Officer Joseph Gonzales said the prisoner William R. Coggin, 21, Sacramento, whom he was escorting to San Quentin, was picked, with a United Air Lines employe, to go out and bring back the two suitcases.

BROUGHT ABOARD

After the money was brought aboard the plane, the hijacker ordered Coggin to go to the first-class cabin but told Gonzales to stay in the coach section.

Gonzales said he and Coggin were sitting immediately in front of the hijacker and that he noticed just after take-off from Denver that the man was acting suspiciously. Then, he said, he saw the hijacker give the first note to another passenger and tell him to give it to a stewardess.

The Big Question— Where'd He Land?

Just where could the hijacker—"A. T. Johnson"—have landed after he bailed from the 727 jet Friday night?

That question, of course, is being asked by everyone, including FBI agents, law enforcement officers in Utah and the news media.

The drama began earlier Friday afternoon when a hijacker, described as a swarthy, bespectacled man with a mustache, took over a Boeing 727 jetliner minutes after it left Denver for Los Angeles.

Half Million Dollars

After flying to San Francisco, the plane refueled, four parachutes and a half million dollars in money were loaded and the passengers were released. The hijacker then forced the pilot to fly back over Utah, where it orbited several times over Fairfield, just west of Utah Lake.

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration said the best theory was that the hijacker jumped over Provo at an altitude of 16,000 feet. The jet was traveling south by southeast at 180 knots, officials said.

United Air Lines officials in San Francisco added, "It would seem that the hijacking was well thought out, well planned and he obviously had a knowledge of parachutes."

Straight Down?

The question then, is, did the hijacker guide himself two or three miles from where he jumped, and if so, in which direction? or did he guide himself straight down?

Checking with David Reid, a skydiver at Alta Sport Parachute Club, 8700-17th East, the answers to the question depend upon a number of things — the type of parachute used, the speed and direction of the wind, the direction the hijacker wanted to go, how long he was in a free-fall and at what altitude he opened his chute.

Giving rough estimates he explained the possibilities. For example, he said, free-falling from a plane traveling south by southeast at 180 knots, the hijacker, for the first few seconds would have a tendency to be unstable, traveling the same direction as the airplane.

Mile Radius

He could free fall straight down, eagle-spread, or he could "track" — a skydriver term for moving in a slightly horizontal fall in whatever direction the body is positioned in.

Assuming, Mr. Reid continued, that the hijacker freefell to about 4,000 feet, and depending on if he "tracked" or not, he could be within a one-mile radius of where he jumped from the plane.

If the hijacker pulled his chute at the 4,000 foot level, and depending on the type of chute it was and the direction and speed, he could travel — in any direction — another mile or two.

Wind direction and speed do not have much effect on a free-falling body, Mr. Reid explained, but it can carry certain types of parachutes "quite a distance."

If the chute was a military one, he added, the hijacker would have come almost straight down from where he stopped free - falling — just about a mile from where he jumped.

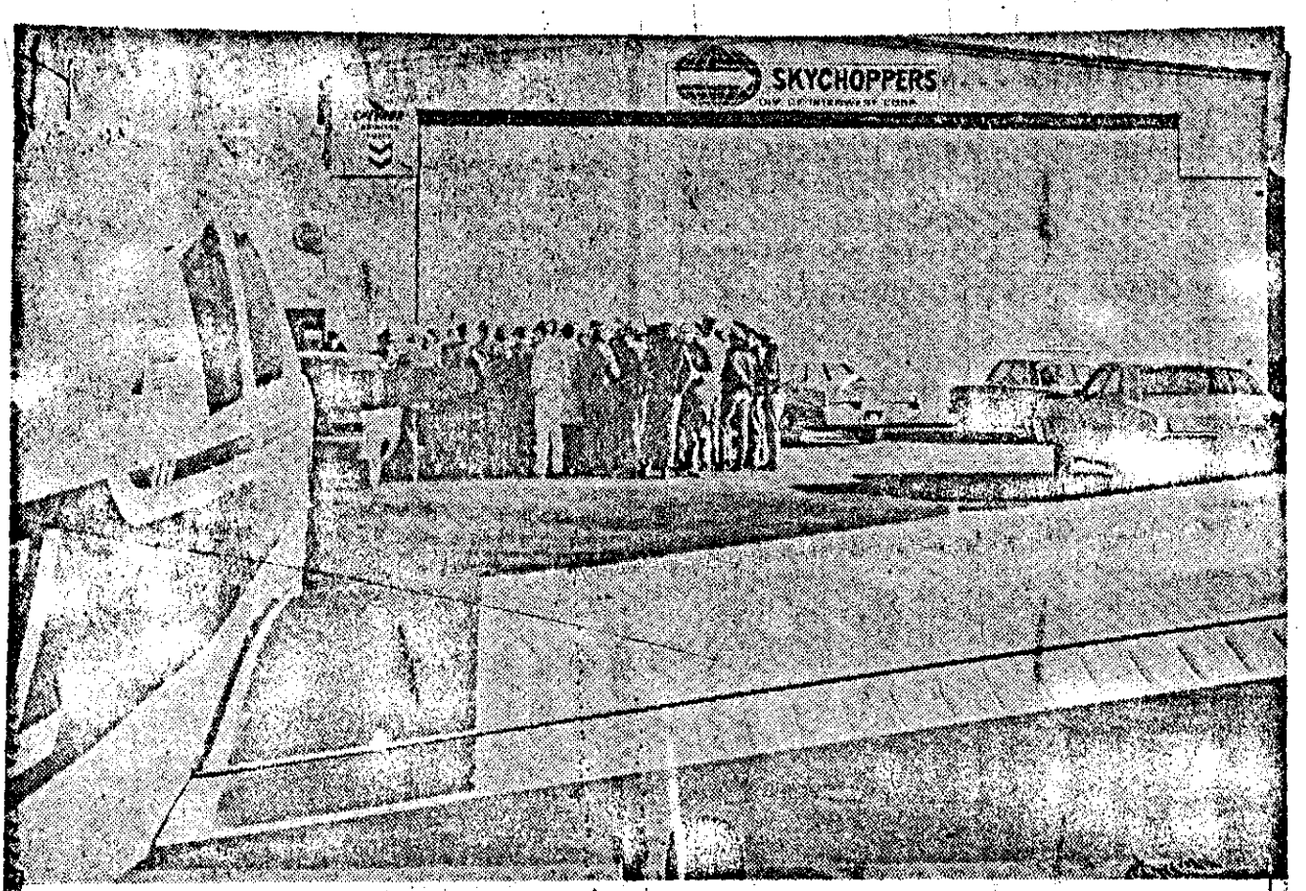
Depends on Chute

But if the chute was a high-performance canopy parachute, it could have carried him "at least another mile," Mr. Reid said, depending upon the wind speed and direction, and the direction the hijacker wanted to go.

The FBI had no comment when asked what type of chute the hijacker used.

The National Weather Service said the wind speed at 11 p.m. at the Salt Lake International Airport Friday was clocked at 7 miles per hour, and coming from the south.

At this speed, Mr. Reid said, with a high-performance canopy chute, and moving in this direction, the hijacker could very easily have traveled over two miles from where he jumped from the plane.



Provo and Orem Police huddle with BYU Security Officers early Saturday to get instructions for intensive search for clues to skyjacker who was believed to have parachuted near Provo Airport.

[redacted] advised that the caller was told there were two flights en route to Salt Lake City and stated that these flights would arrive at 5:30 p.m. on April 7, 1972, and 8:25 p.m. on April 7, 1972. b7C

[redacted] then stated that the caller asked the following question, "Haven't you had a plane that was hijacked to/over Salt Lake City from Denver?" [redacted] advised that she cannot recall whether the caller requested whether this craft was hijacked to Salt Lake City or over Salt Lake City. b7C

Inasmuch as she had received no information pertaining to a hijacking in progress, [redacted] advised that she informed the caller that UAL had no hijacking in progress nor did any other carrier based in Denver have a hijacking in progress. [redacted] stated at this time that the caller said, "Oh, yeah. Okay." [redacted] advised that when this statement was made the tone of the caller's voice inferred sarcasm to her. [redacted] advised that she did not receive any further calls pertaining to a hijacking in progress until approximately 5:00 p.m. when a call was received from the "San Francisco Chronicle". b7C

[redacted] stated that this call had been received on the Salt Lake City identifier, which indicated to her that the caller had dialed a Salt Lake City telephone number to obtain the information. She stated that when this Salt Lake City number was dialed the call was transferred tdirectly to the Denver UAL office. [redacted] advised she had no indication as to the exact location from which the call was made. b7C

Dear [redacted] b7C

In connection with an official investigation being conducted by this office, it is requested that telephone toll information for Telephone No. 375-2930 listed to Richard Floyd McCoy, Jr., 360 South 200 East, Provo, Utah, be furnished to this office for the past year.

It is further requested that the original records concerning the tolls and message units be retained as they will possibly be needed for evidentiary purposes.

This matter will be followed closely, and when it is determined the records are no longer required, you will be advised immediately.

Very truly yours,

SUBJECT: RICHARD FLOYD MC COY, JR.
CRIME ABOARD AIRCRAFT - HIJACKING; INTERFERENCE WITH FLIGHT CREW MEMBERS
(OO:SU)

During the night of 4/7/72 and 4/8/72, reporting Agent was assigned to the Office to handle telephone calls between the Salt Lake City Office and the Bureau and other offices and to handle any other telephone calls pertinent to captioned case.

When it was learned that the plane had turned north in the vicinity of Marysvale, Utah, writer telephonically contacted the Tooele, Utah, SO, and instructed the jeep patrol to procede to the Fairfield, Utah, area. Calls to other SOs alerting all counties in Utah were made by SAs [redacted] b7C
SA [redacted] was contacted and instructed to notify jeep posses in his area. SA [redacted], was instructed telephonically to notify jeep posses in areas north of Salt Lake City, Utah.

When it was determined that the hijacker had jumped from the plane, [redacted] at the Bureau was notified immediately. When it was subsequently learned that the plane was returning to Salt Lake City Airport, [redacted] was advised of this fact immediately; and [redacted] directed the SU Office to isolate the crew members as long as possible, b7C have the plane isolated at the Salt Lake City Airport, have the bomb squad check the plane before Agents board it and instruct the bomb squad to be extremely careful in their search for any possible bombs to preserve any evidence. [redacted] also advised that he had learned there was a heavy box on board the plane which was strange to the crew, and there was also a 6" X 6" X 5" white box on the plane which the crew knew nothing about.

At approximately this time the ASAC of the SF Office telephonically advised that the 6" X 6" X 5" box contained two north star altimeter with Velcro wrist mounts. These items had been requested by the hijacker and had been placed among the items subsequently taken aboard at the hijacker's direction.

SA [redacted] was advised of the above and proceeded to the airport to accomplish the directions of the Bureau. b7C

A subsequent telephone call from [redacted] b7C and [redacted] at the Bureau, advised that the SF Agents accompanying chase planes should be retained at SU for use in the search for the hijacker. Further advised that the Bureau was arranging for an artist to proceed to LA by plane and requested writer to advise the LA Office that the artist will arrive at 11:30 a.m., LA time.

Writer telephonically advised [redacted] of b7C the LA Office, and [redacted] advised that an LA Agent will meet the artist when he arrives. In a later telephone call it was learned that the crew desired to meet with the artist in LA rather than SU and the crew would depart Salt Lake City at 12:10 p.m., 4/8/72, on Western Flight 411 and would arrive in LA at 12:35 p.m., LA time.

SA [redacted] of the LA Office was advised of the b7C above fact and stated that the Agent assigned to meet the artist will also correlate with United Air Lines (UAL) officials in Los Angeles so that the witnesses can assist in the preparation of the composite drawing.

In subsequent conversation with [redacted] b7C at the Bureau, [redacted] directed the SU Office to organize and control a massive aerial-ground search team to commence at dawn the following morning. He advised that military helicopters should be utilized, and any evidence recovered should be forwarded immediately by courier to the Laboratory at the Bureau, probably by UAL. This information was telephonically furnished to the SAC by writer.

In a subsequent telephone call with [redacted] b7C [redacted] advised the Salt Lake City Division should advise the Bureau if Agents from other offices would be needed for the search. This information was furnished to the SAC by writer.

After RICHARD FLOYD MC COY, JR., was developed as a suspect, [redacted] was advised by writer. [redacted] advised that Poloroid pictures of suspect should be furnished immediately to the LA Office, inquiries should be made to determine toll call records of suspect and the SU Division was directed to institute a surveillance of [redacted] This information was furnished to the SAC and appropriate action was taken. Suspect's [redacted] were placed under surveillance by SAs in the Provo area. b7C

SAC FLETCHER THOMPSON, Omaha Division, telephonically advised that he was sending a teletype concerning a [redacted] who lives in the Dragerton, Utah, area. THOMPSON stated that there is no particular reason to suspect MAGGIO and this name had been suggested to him by [redacted] Ames, Iowa. b7C

SA [redacted] Phoenix Division, telephonically advised that he was sending a teletype concerning an anonymous call received by Crime Alert of a Phoenix newspaper indicating that "We'll find what we're looking for on hijacking in Kitchen Johnson Canyon, near Kanab, Utah." This information was furnished to SA [redacted] of Cedar City, who advised he would proceed to the area for anything of possible value. b7C

Dear [redacted] b7C

I would like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation for the assistance you and your officers rendered to the Salt Lake City FBI Office during the recent hijacking of United Air Lines Flight No. 855.

The cooperation and assistance rendered by your department in furnishing planes to search the area around the airport in Provo, Utah, and in setting up road blocks was of great value; also I would particularly like to commend [redacted] b7C for the outstanding manner in which he directed your officers in the search and the road blocks.

This excellent cooperation demonstrated by all law enforcement agencies in the State of Utah certainly assisted in the early identification of the individual responsible for the hijacking.

Sincerely,

Q2 PILOT'S PREFLIGHT CHECK LIST bearing typewriting beginning "GJT" and ending "WHEN YOU REACH DENVER, YOU ARE ON YOUR OWN"

Q3 PILOT'S PREFLIGHT CHECK LIST bearing typewriting beginning "FFU" and ending "SEAT POCKET NEXT TO ASISLE, 2ND SEAT ON RIGHT SIDE OF A/C"

Q4 Two small pieces of twisted wire accompanying "ALSO SUBMITTED" mirror

ALSO SUBMITTED: Contents of waste containers, paper material from hijacker's seat, latent lifts and pieces of mirror

Q11 PILOT'S PREFLIGHT CHECK LIST bearing typewriting beginning "MLF" and ending "...TAKE OUT NEW FLT PLAN-REPLACE IT WITH THIS ONE"

Specimens received 4/8/72 from FBI, St. Louis:

K1 Eight documents containing handwriting and hand printing of RICHARD FLOYD MC COY, JR. further described below:

1) Report of Medical History dated 11/3/69.

2) Report of Medical History form dated 3/7/62.

8) Designation of Beneficiary Form dated 11/24/64.

Specimens received 4/9/72 from FBI, Salt Lake City:

K2 Two cards bearing hand printing furnished by RICHARD FLOYD MC COY, JR.

Result of examination:

It was determined the Q1 hand printing was prepared by the person who prepared the hand printing on specimens K1 and K2.

The typewriting impressions on Q2, Q3, and Q11 consist of capital letters and numbers with the exception of ten lower-case letters on specimen Q11. From such classification as could be made of this limited amount of typewriting, it resembles most closely a style of type designated as "78 Presidential Pica" and "78 U" found on Smith-Corona office and portable typewriters, except the "Skyriter." This style of type is similar to "Prestige Pica" found on IBM standard, electric machines which precludes the elimination of the possibility that the questioned typewriting could have been prepared on an IBM typewriter.

Specimens Q1 through Q3 and Q11 were searched in the Anonymous Letter File without effecting an identification. Copies will be added to this file for future reference.

The pieces of brass wire in Q4 are twisted together with a machine formed twist. The untwisted ends also show evidence of twisting but these may be hand twisted. The loose ends appear to have been broken by pulling while the wires were held by some metallic objects which dented one end and partially sliced the other end. These two ends were not broken from each other. No toolmarks of value are present on Q4. The origin of the Q4 wire could not be determined. No commercial or military explosive devices known to the Laboratory use wire such as Q4.

Specimen K1 was returned to the St. Louis courier on 4/8/72. The rest of the evidence is temporarily retained pending receipt of instructions from your office concerning its return.

Remarks:

If it is determined to be pertinent to the investigation, the Salt Lake City Office may wish to contact airline or catering personnel to determine if wires such as Q4 are used on special airline food or liquor packages. Twisted wire such as Q4 is used on carbonated wine bottles but these are normally steel rather than brass such as Q4.

Examination of the pieces of mirror which were "ALSO SUBMITTED" disclosed nothing to indicate origin.

Results of the requested fingerprint examination are being furnished separately.

Remarks:

Specimens Q1 and Q2 will be treated for latent fingerprints. The result of that examination and the disposition of these documents will be furnished by a separate report.

Examination of specimens Q1 and Q2 revealed a lack of distinctive characteristics in the typewriting on these documents, making it doubtful if the typewriting can ever be identified with the typewriter on which the letter was prepared.

Because both this case and the case entitled "Richard Floyd McCoy, Jr.; United Airlines flight 855, Denver, Colo. to Los Angeles, Calif., 4/7/72; CAA - Hijacking" involved demands for the same amounts of money, $500,000.00, and the same area of the country, a comparison was made of the typewriting involved in these cases but was found to have been prepared on different typewriters.

Q2 Accompanying one-page typewritten letter beginning "[redacted] This a STATEMENT..."

Results of the examination:

The typewriting on specimens Q1 and Q2 was determined to have been prepared on a typewriter equipped with Royal elite type, the letters of which are spaced 12 to the inch. This style of type is used on electric, standard manual, and portable typewriters.

The typewriting on specimens Q1 and Q2 was searched through the appropriate section of the Anonymous Letter File without identifying it with any of the typewriting therein. Representative copies will be added to the file for future reference.

Specimens Q1 and Q2 contain no watermark, indented writing, or other feature through which the origin of the paper or the immediate source of the letter and envelope might be ascertained.

Photographs of specimens Q1 and Q2 have been retained.

Re: Richard Floyd McCoy, Jr.
United Airlines Hijacking

Dear [redacted]

As you are aware the investigation of the hijacked United Airlines Flight 855, Friday, April 7, 1972, in which $500,000.00 was obtained by the hijacker came to a successful conclusion with the arrest of Richard Floyd McCoy, Jr., and the recovery of the money at Provo, Utah. The success of this investigation was the result of the combined efforts of everyone concerned.

You, the pilots and equipment under your command contributed greatly to the successful investigation. Without the efforts and contributions made by you and your personnel the immediate investigation so vital to this case in the area of the Provo Airport could not have been accomplished.

We of the FBI extend to you our gratitude and sincere thanks for the cooperation you afforded our Agents. If we can ever be of assistance to you, please feel free to call on us.

Sincerely,

On 4/12/72 [redacted] Mountain Bell Telephone b7C Company, Provo, Utah, exhibited the long distance records for the telephone of RICHARD FLOYD MC COY, JR., 360 South 200 East, Provo, telephone 375-2930. Writer reviewed the bills dated 3/25/72, 2/25/72, 1/25/72, 12/25/71, 11/25/71, and 10/25/71, and made a complete handwritten recording of all long distance telephone calls placed from that number and collect call made to that number. Writer's notes will be made an exhibit in the NORJAK matter (164-24) in the event they need to be produced at a later date.

On 4/12/72 [redacted] Utah National Guard, 251 South 200 East, American Fork, Utah, advised that Chief Warrant Officer-2 (CW2) RICHARD FLOYD MC COY, JR., SSAN 237-66-2779, was released from the regular army and joined the 115th Engineering Group of the Utah National Guard in Murray, Utah, on 10/30/70. [redacted] stated b7C MC COY remained in that unit until 1/1/72, at which time he transferred to the 1457th in American Fork. [redacted] stated MC COY is unknown to most members of the unit inasmuch as he does not attend drills at the Guard armory but reports to Army National Guard Aircraft Headquarters next to the Salt Lake City airport and does all of his flying and drilling from this location. He stated [redacted] at that location should have complete records of MC COY's flight schedules, dates, hours and any other information pertinent to MC COY's Guard flying.

[redacted] stated his records reflect that b7C
MC COY drilled on 11/13 and 14/71, and 12/11 and 12/71, which were the normal drill dates for the 115th in Murray. In addition, he performed extra flight drills for extra pay on 11/19 and 20/71, and 12/14, 15 and 16/71.

[redacted] stated that once assigned to the b7C
1457th he attended the regular unit drills on 1/8 and 9/72, 2/ 8 and 9/72, and 3/11 and 12/72. In addition, he performed extra flight drills on 1/22, and 2/12 and 13/72. He reiterated that all of this drilling was at the air facility by the Salt Lake City airport.

[redacted] stated that MC COY is merely assigned b7C to them for paper and pay purposes.

He advised that his records reflected that MC COY did not attend any schools until 2/28/72 at which time he went to Fort Carson, Colorado until 3/5/72. In addition, on 11/2/71 he went to Davis-Mothan AFB in Arizona to pick up a helicopter for the Guard and returned to Utah on 11/6/71.

[redacted] advised the records reflect b7C
MC COY is merely a rotary wing pilot and is not qualified to fly fixed wing aircraft.

For the information of the Bureau, SA [redacted] at approximately 3:30 AM on 4/8/72 was participating in a ground search west of the Provo, Utah, airport attempting to locate the subject who had jumped from an aircraft. The aircraft was the hijacked United Airlines 727, Flight 855, which had been flown from San Francisco International Airport to Provo, Utah, under the control of the hijacker who has since been identified as RICHARD FLOYD MC COY, JR. of Provo, Utah. MC COY had parachuted from the aircraft somewhere over Provo and an extensive search was being conducted to locate him and the $500,000.00 he had obtained at San Francisco. b7C

SA [redacted] with other Agents of the Salt Lake City Division, was searching the described area where he flashed his light in the direction of a noise which he heard in brush nearby. Dear [redacted]:

I am writing to express the appreciation of the Salt Lake City Division of the FBI for your assistance in the recent aircraft hijacking case involving Richard Floyd McCoy, Jr.

Your information was not only specific, based on personal knowledge, but what is more important you furnished it promptly, which enabled us to accomplish several things that would not otherwise have been possible. As you know based on your experience in law enforcement, there are many different suspects suggested by law enforcement personnel, the general public, and in addition the suspects uncovered by investigation due to the circumstances of a particular case. This was somewhat the case last weekend. It is a tremendous investigative task to sift the information and to run enough investigation fast enough to resolve whether an individual has any potential as a suspect. You acted in the highest traditions of law enforcement, and can surely take pride in your part in helping to identify McCoy as the hijacker.

We hope you will maintain close relations with the F BI, and if there is anything we can do to assist you, please feel free to call on us. I am taking the liberty of making a copy of this letter available to [redacted] b7C because of his intense interest in such matters.

With our sincerest thanks,

Utah Officers on Suspect's Trail In Jet Hijacking; $500,000 Theft

Have Lead, Says Provo Police Head

PROVO, Utah (AP)—A police chief said today, "We have a suspect," as a ground and air posse of more than 200 men searched for a young hijacker who parachuted from a jet airliner with what officials say was $500,000.

FBI agents declined to confirm the statement, but Provo Police Chief Jesse Evans said, "There is a lead in the case. It involves a suspect. We have a suspect."

Evans said officers found a piece of plastic believed connected with the hijacking but which was not part of a parachute.

Evans said no arrest had been made but that authorities had obtained the name of a man whom they suspect was involved.

The searchers in helicopters criss-crossed over a marshy area near this north-central Utah cith this morning and other officers worked the same area on the ground in search of the young hijacker who leaped from the United Airlines 727 Jet Friday night.

SEVENTH TIME

That was the seventh time in just under five months that parachutes and ransom figured in air piracy.

A house-to-house portion of the search here was called off today, Evans said, declining further comment.

A blockade of roads into the area was lifted shortly after Evans made his statement, a Utah Highway Patrol dispatcher said.

Clear skies bathed the wide open search area near the Provo airport and police were checking local doctors and hospitals in the area surrounding Utah Lake.

The hijacking amounted to a forced zigzag flight across the West.

The nine-hour odyssey began over the Rocky Mountains almost 30 minutes after the plane left Denver at 2:36 p.m. MST when a mustachioed passenger wearing mirrored sunglasses, a dark shirt and a blue pinstripe suit ordered the Los Angeles-bound plane diverted to San Francisco.

ZIGZAG JOURNEY—Original route of hijacked plane and where it was hijacked after Denver takeoff, is shown in top map. Bottom map shows its route after leaving San Francisco and approximate area where hijacker leaped.—Standard Examiner UPI Telephoto.

Mrs. Dick McLennan of Denver, who sat next to the hijacker, said she saw no weapon but did see the man pass notes to the captain.

ARE PRE-WRITTEN

A CBS newsman on the plane, Jim Kilpatrick, said "The notes that were passed back and forth were all pre-written."

Sandy Wilkinson, a 25-year-old off-duty UAL stewardess on the flight, said she did not see any weapons either but was told the hijacker had a hand grenade and pistol.

One passenger said the hijacker pulled a pistol.

All but three of the 86 passengers and four United employes riding as passengers had boarded in Denver, where airline officials said the only security was a check of passengers against a "profile" of hijacker characteristics. The airline did not immediately know the sex of the three persons who remained on board Flight 855 from its origin in Newark, N.J.

For three hours the plane sat at the far end of Runway 19-Left, about a mile from main terminal at San Francisco International Airport, while the airline provided what the hijacker had demanded—four parachutes, fuel for 4,000 miles of flight and $500,000. The money in two suitcases was placed on a ramp about 100 feet from the plane and picked up shortly at 7:41 PST, headed east with the hijacker and five remaining crewmen.

A prisoner under escort by a California correctional officer was chosen by the hijacker to go out and pick up the money.

Officer Joseph Gonzales said the prisoner, William R. Coggin, 21, Sacramento, whom he was escorting to San Quentin, was picked with a United Air Lines employe to go out and bring back the two suitcases.

Gonzales said he and Coggin were sitting immediately in front of the hijacker and that he had noticed just after take off from Denver that the man was acting suspiciously. Then, he said, he saw the hijacker give the first note to another passenger and tell him to give it to a stewardess.

Gonzales said after the money was brought aboard the plane the hijacker told Coggin to go to first class and for him to stay in the coach section.

The passengers and one stewardess then were allowed to leave the plane and it took off at 7:41 PST, headed east.

The Air Force said during the evening that F106 Delta Daggers at Hamilton Air Force Base had been alerted, but it refused to confirm they had been sent to follow the airliner.

REPORT IN ERROR

After leaving San Francisco, the pilot was ordered to fly over southern Nevada. There was an erroneous report from the FBI that the hijacker had bailed out over Wilson Creek, Nev.

The three-engine plane then zigzagged over southern Utah as the pilot was given several directions by the hijacker.

An airline spokesman in Denver, Don Canaulte, said, "He keeps giving the crew new headings. I think it sounds like he's reading a map, just like I am. We don't know what he's got planned or why he's coming back this way."

The pilot radioed that the hijacker bailed out at 11:25 p.m. MST near Provo. The plane continued to Salt Lake City, where all five crew members were reported safe upon landing.

The pilot, Gerry D. Hearn of Los Angeles, then took off in another plane to drop flares over a marshy area just south of Utah Lake near Provo and about 20 miles from the Wasatch Mountains.

Some 200 officers took part in the early stages of the search. Helicopters from Hill AFB, Utah, also were pressed into use.

DROPPED FLARES

Crewmen periodically dropped flares, each of which lighted several square miles.

Roadblocks were established near the Provo airport and 25 miles either side of Provo, on Interstate 15, a north-south arterial.

Subject of the search was a white male, 5-foot-6, thin, aged 25 to 30. Authorities said the name on his ticket was T. Johnson.

Only one of the six other parachute-ransom hijackers has not been apprehended—a man who gave the name of D. B. Cooper.

He bailed out of a Northwest Airlines 727 last Thanksgiving Eve somewhere between Seattle, Wash., and Reno, Nev., with $200,000 of the airline's money.

Nearly all the passengers were unaware they were being hijacked Friday until they were on the ground at San Francisco.

Robert Mainthow, a 20-year-old student at Denver University, said "all these weird things began to happen" shortly after the craft had taken off from Denver.

REMAINED CALM

"We were supposed to land in Grand Junction, Colo., because we had problems with the engine, and then the engine fixed itself," said Mainthow.

"Then, we were supposed to land in Los Angeles, but there was too much smog or fog and we came to San Francisco," he added.

Mainthow said the passengers learned of what was going on after the jetliner landed at San Francisco. Most, he said, remained calm.

He said he was scared "while we were on the ground. In the air, we didn't know what was happening."

HAD NO CONTACT

Pilot Reluctant To Give Details

By PETER GILLINS

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Pilot Jerry D. Hearn didn't want to talk much about the way a hijacker took over his Boeing 727 and parachuted with a half million dollars.

"It gives people too many ideas about how to do it again," Hearn, a 17-year veteran of flying with United Air Lines, told a news conference early today shortly after his plane landed here.

"Everytime they read about something like this the plans get more sophisticated," he said.

The pilot said the hijacker claimed he had "plastic explosives, hand grenades and two handguns." however, he said crew members saw only one gun.

NO CONTACT

Hearn said he had no personal contact with the man.

"The only contact I had was through instructions in an envelope delivered by a stewardess," he said.

The stewardess who ran back and forth with the messages was Diane Surdam, 24, Los Angeles.

"We were apprehensive," she told newsmen. "We believed him" when he made threats.

Harn said the crew was assembled in the cockpit when the man jumped into the cold night air.

None of the crew saw the man jump but they could tell from the way the craft reacted, he said.

In addition to Hearn, the male crewmen included First Officer K. R. Bradley and Second Officer K.W. Owen. The other stewardesses were D.K. Sugimoto and M.N. Yewby.

Mrs. Sugimoto said the man communicated only through the notes.

"He didn't say anything to me," she said. "He didn't say anything to anybody. "He just wrote notes."

Passengers permitted to disembark at San Francisco were unanimous in praising the calmness of the crew and the stewardesses during the long ordeal.

Provo Reaction

McCoy's Arrest Surprises Most Friends

By George A. Sorensen
Tribune Suburban Editor

PROVO — Richard Floyd McCoy Jr. was described by friends and neighbors as a quiet friendly man who lived up to his teachings as a Sunday School teacher by helping his neighbors.

They expressed surprise at his arrest early Sunday morning in the Friday night hijacking of a United Air Lines jetliner in which $500,000 was extorted from the company.

McCoy is 29 years old, has a wife, Karen, and two children, Chante, 5, and Richard 2. He is a student at Brigham Young University, where his major is law enforcement.

Veteran Jumper

A veteran of Vietnam he is a member of the 115th Engineers, Utah National Guard, spending some weekends training with them. He also is a parachute jumper with 30 jumps to his credit at the Alta Air Park near Sandy, 30 miles north of here.

He also was a Sunday School teacher in the Provo First Ward, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, until a month ago. He is remembered by a student as "a very nice man."

His arrest Sunday morning came as he was getting ready to go to a National Guard drill in Murray. He was wearing Army fatigues when FBI agents took him into custody. Later he changed into a gray suit and tie.

The home in which the McCoy family resides is a modest brown brick with a basement. They occupy the main floor of the house at 360 S. 200 East, in an area not far from the downtown business district. Like the other homes in the area, it is surrounded by lawn with a large grassy area in the rear for the children to play.

Under Surveillance

The house apparently had been under surveillance by the FBI since shortly after noon Saturday. Mrs. Fred Hilson, who lives two doors away, said some men in a dark car sat outside the home for an hour and one-half, starting about 1 p.m.

They left and then came back between 4 and 5 p.m., going up to the McCoys' home, then left a few minutes later without taking anyone, Mrs. Hilson said.

Her association with the McCoys "was mainly through the church and the fact that our children played together, especially Chante, Mrs. Hilson said.

Norm Cluff and his wife Jessica found it hard "to believe he would do such a thing."

Neighbors who live across the street, the Cluffs, described him: "He was a real kind person. He would help push our car out of the snow when no one else would."

Friendly, Smiling

Mr. Cluff said he was "real quiet, always friendly and always smiling."

Roy Peterman, who occupies the basement apartment at 370 S. 200 East, and has been a graduate student at BYU, said he has been a neighbor of the McCoys for about 1½ years.

"He was the type of fellow you could always say 'Hi' to and get a response. He seemed to be a warm individual," Mr. Peterman said.

Other neighbors described him as very pleasant and knowledgeable student at the Y.

Both Mr. and Mrs. McCoy were described as "avid church goers" by another neighbor, Brent Reynolds.

"He is real level-headed and does not seem to be the kind of a kid to hijack a plane. He is the type you would like for a friend," Mr. Reynolds said.

Describe Mrs. McCoy

Several of those present Sunday said Mrs. McCoy was a former Provo High School teacher and is now a case worker for the Utah County Welfare Department. She is vitally interested in the proper raising of her children and has a deep concern that they "be brought up right," one acquaintance said.

McCoy, a slight man with a receding hairline, flies almost every weekend for the National Guard, in which he is a warrant officer. He served in Vietnam in 1964 with the Special Forces and in 1967 as a helicopter pilot.

He has logged 30 parachute jumps, none of them at night, at the Alta Air Park, said Bill Dause, McCoy's instructor.

It was at night when the hijacker parachuted from the 727 jet.

Mr. Dause described McCoy as quite intelligent and likable. He had been jumping at the air park for 18 months, but never seemed to have the money to spare to jump as much as he wanted, Mr. Dause said.

He did own his own chute work.

'Refused to Talk'

Mrs. McCoy spent most of the morning at the home of a neighbor as her own home, with blinds drawn, echoed several times with the ringing of a telephone which was never answered. It was at the neighbor's home that the FBI agents served her with a search warrant for her home. She refused to talk with newsmen.

Several persons were on hand to assist her, including one identified as Mrs. John Matthews, wife of the bishop of their LDS ward. When she was taken from the back door of the house, across a driveway separating the two houses and into her back door, she was surrounded by women who apparently were trying to shield her from news photographers.

The curious turned out in large numbers. Two men who said they had been following the story on their car radio all the way from Duluth, Minn., drove by the house. They said they hope to get jobs at the nearby Geneva Steel Works.

As word of the arrest spread, other persons drove slowly past the front of the home Sunday afternoon. Many stopped to watch as FBI agents, occasionally left or entered the home and at one time were seen digging in the back yard.

Several friends were admitted to the home and seemed to be assisting Mrs. McCoy.

BYU officials said McCoy was carrying 20½ hours of credits and had good grades. They said they began checking his records Saturday at the request of the FBI.

Richard F. McCoy Sr., Raleigh, N.C., his father said "I feel he's innocent, he's not that kind of boy."

Skyjacker Parachutes From Jet Near Provo

By Dave Beck, Craig Hansen
and George A. Sorensen
Tribune Staff Writers

A gunman, who hijacked a United Air Lines 727 jet and demanded and got $500,000, parachuted from the plane Friday at 11:15 p.m. near Provo.

The jet landed at Salt Lake International Airport about 11:50 p.m.

The Utah Highway Patrol dispatcher at Provo said all available manpower, "everyone that can walk," was out looking for the hijacker.

On and off duty officers from the Highway Patrol, Orem City, Provo City and Utah County Sheriff's Office were out looking. The Utah County Jeep Patrol also was alerted.

The best information available indicated the hijacker jumped in an area of farm and marsh land near Springville.

The hijacker, described as a swarthy, bespectacled man with a mustache, took over the Boeing 727 jetliner a few minutes after it left Denver for Los Angeles Friday afternoon.

He forced the pilot to fly to San Francisco where the half a million dollars in money and four parachutes were loaded aboard. The plane's 85 passengers were permitted to disembark.

The hijacker also ordered the plane refueled.

The plane was airborne at 8:41 p.m. (MST), heading for Nevada and carrying enough fuel for 4,000 miles.

According to newsmen at the Las Vegas Sun a dummy parachute with a signaling service attached was dropped about halfway between Pioche and Ely.

The plane then began an orbit over Utah, passing sveral times over Fairfield, which is west of Utah Lake.

FBI agents and police cordoned off the airliner as soon as it touched down at the Salt Lake International Airport. A package was found aboard the aircraft and, although no information was available as to what it contained, Frank Smith, a Salt Lake City Police Dept. demolition expert, was called to the airport.

Crew Interrogated

The crew was taken inside the airport terminal for interrogation.

Utah Highway Patrol dispatcher said they had received information that the hijacker might possibly havejumped over the southeast corner of Utah Lake.

Helicopters were sent to the area early Saturday morning.

UAL officials in San Francisco said the hijacker donned a jumpsuit before parachuting.

"It would seem that the hijacking was well thought out, well planned and he obviously had a knowledge of parachutes," one official said.

The hijacker had signed onto the plane as "A. T. Johnson," agents said.

The dummy parachute touched off speculation that the hijacker may have bailed out over Wilson Creek, Nev., a desolate, mountainous area some 20 miles west of the Utah border west of Cedar City.

Sheriff Alerted

The FBI alerted the Lincoln County Sheriff's office in Pioche at about 9:45 MST to set up roadblocks, but this alert was almost immediately rescinded as later information made it clear that the hijacker was not in the area.

Friday's hijacking began over the Rocky Mountains, not long after the plane stopped in Denver. The 727 jetliner involved was United's flight 855 from Newark, N.J., to Los Angeles.

The plane was diverted to San Francisco where it landed at 4:15 p.m. PST. The craft was fueled, all baggage aboard was unloaded and the parachutes were delivered in response to the hijacker's request.

Shortly after 7 p.m. PST, airline spokesman Mardy Leaver said the half a million dollars had been delivered — left on a ramp about 100 feet from the plane and picked up.

Passengers Get Off

The passengers began getting off the plane immediately after the hijacker's demands were met.

It was not immediately known how many of the six crewmen remained aboard. Initially, the airline said the plane carried 85 passengers, plus the hijacker, and four United personnel traveling as passengers.

Among those let off the plane in San Francisco was Sandra Wilkinson, 25, of Honolulu, an off-duty stewardess. She said most of the passengers did not know the plane was being hijacked.

"One man wearing mirrored sunglasses passed notes up to the captain. He had a dark complexion with a mustache curled up at the ends," she said.

Miss [illegible]kinson said he understood the hijacker was armed with a hand grenade and a pistol. She said the money had been delivered to him in two suitcases.

Another passenger, Michael Luckoff, sales manager for KGO Radio in San Francisco, said the hijacker appeared to be wearing a wig. He said everyone on the plane remained calm while the plane waited at the airport.

During the three hours at San Francisco International Airport, the plane sat at the far end of Runway 19 — Left, about a mile from the main terminal.

A U.S. Coast Guard helicopter carrying FBI sharpshooters was reported to have taken off immediately after the jetliner, but the Coast Guard refused further comment.

AF Alerts 2 Jets

Lt. Col. John Walker of —Hamilton Air Force Base had said two —F106 Delta Daggers were standing by waiting to "scramble to follow the hijacked plane." The Air Force refused to say whether their planes had taken off, however.

The hijacker ordered the plane diverted not long after it left Denver at 2:36 p.m. MST.

A United spokesman in Denver said the airline had used the Federal Aviation Administration profile of characteristics of potential hijackers, but reportedly employed no other special security precautions for passengers boarding at Denver.

It was not known where the hijacker got on the plane. United said all but three of the passengers on the hijacked plane got on in Denver. The airline did not immediately know the sex of the three passengers who remained on board at Denver.

The plane had a capacity of 96 passengers. The Boeing 727 is a medium range aircraft with a normal cruising speed of 600 miles an hour and three engines.

Parachutes and ransom have figured in six other hijackings since last Nov. 12.

The first hijacker to try to use a parachute was indentified as Paul Joseph Cinci, 27, of Calgary, Alta., who took over an Air Canada DC8 bound from Vancouver to Toronto. Cinci demanded and got $50,000 ransom and started to strap himself into a parachute he said he had carried on the plane. He was overpowered by crew members.

On Dec. 24, a man identified as Everett L. Holt of Indianapolis, was captured at Chicago's O'Hare International Airport after a five-hour period during which he threatened to blow up a Northwest Airlines Boeing 707 unless given $300,000 and two parachutes. His hostages escaped, however, and he surrendered.

Hijacker Surrendered

On Jan. 12, a man identified as Billy E. Hurst, 22, hijacked a Braniff Boeing 727 en route from Houston to Minneapolis and forced it to land at Dallas, demanding among other things, parachutes and $1 million. He never got either the money or the parachutes and, as in the Chicago incident, the hostages escaped and the hijacker surrendered.

On Jan. 20, a young man identified only as John Shane parachuted from a Hughes Airwest DC9 over Colorado, along with $50,000 he had demanded from the airline when he hijacked the plane at Las Vegas, Nev., McCarran International Airport. The young man was captured within a few hours.

A week later, Heinrick von George, 45, hijacked an Albany to New York flight of Mohawk Airlines and demanded two parachutes and $200,000. He was given both and the plane took off, but it landed again at the Dutchess County Airport in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., at the hijacker's request, and an FBI sharpshooter shot and killed him.

Skyjacker Uses Prisoner as Pawn in Plot

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A convict in the custody of a correctional officer was an unwitting pawn Friday night in the dramatic hijack of a jetliner.

William R. Coggin, 21, Sacramento, was being transferred to San Quentin Prison aboard the United Air Lines plane when it was hijacked over Colorado. He was in the custody of guard Joseph Gonzales.

The hijacker used Coggin to leave the plane at San Francisco International Airport, pick up the $500,000 in ransom in two suitcases and return it to the plane.

"A half hour after landing the hijacker handed me a note saying, 'Go see the captain,'" Coggin said.

The prisoner said the captain told him he was to bring the satchels aboard the plane.

Gonzales said he and his prisoner were sitting just ahead of the hijacker.

The officer said that just after takeoff from Denver "we noticed this man was acting in a suspicious way.

"I heard him give a piece of paper to a man and say take this to the stewardess."

Gonzales said this apparently was the start of the hijack.

Skyjacker Uses Prisoner as Pawn in Plot

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A convict in the custody of a correctional officer was an unwitting pawn Friday night in the dramatic hijack of a jetliner.

William R. Coggin, 21, Sacramento, was being transferred to San Quentin Prison aboard the United Air Lines plane when it was hijacked over Colorado. He was in the custody of guard Joseph Gonzales.

The hijacker used Coggin to leave the plane at San Francisco International Airport, pick up the $500,000 in ransom in two suitcases and return it to the plane.

"A half hour after landing the hijacker handed me a note saying, 'Go see the captain,'" Coggin said.

The prisoner said the captain told him he was to bring the satchels aboard the plane.

Gonzales said he and his prisoner were sitting just ahead of the hijacker.

The officer said that just after takeoff from Denver "we noticed this man was acting in a suspicious way.

"I heard him give a piece of paper to a man and say take this to the stewardess."

Gonzales said this apparently was the start of the hijack.

Father Vows to Stand By; Considers Son Innocent

Special to The Tribune

RALEIGH, N.C. — Richard F. McCoy Sr., father of the man accused in the hijack for $500,000 ransom of a United Air Lines 727 aircraft Friday night just out of Denver, said Sunday, "He has always been active in the church (Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints) and I feel he is innocent."

He continued, "I don't see how he could do such a thing and be consistent with the teachings of the church. I just don't know anything about it. I have to consider him innocent. I have to stand by him."

The senior McCoy, 52, a retired Army master sergeant, said, "We talked to his wife this morning, and she was all in pieces.

"They're not rich, but he has the GI Bill and his wife works. He never asked me for any money. He was making good grades."

Mr. McCoy said, "I just don't know. War does funny things to people sometimes."

Search Efforts Ebbing For Hijacker, Money

By George A. Sorensen,
Steve Wayda and Clark Lobb
Tribune Staff Writers

More than 200 law enforcement officers, equipped with helicopters, planes, boats and motor vehicles, sifted through a deluge of reports and rumors Saturday during an all-night, all-day search for an armed hijacker with $500,000 in ransom who bailed out of a United Air Lines 727 Friday night, reportedly over Provo.

A central and eastern Utah search ended late Saturday afternoon not long after a police official said a suspect had been identified but not apprehended.

The last search plane flew back to its Salt Lake City base shortly after noon and two carloads of FBI agents were back to their Salt Lake City headquarters, leaving the Provo Airport virtually deserted.

One fact was known for sure — the man had not been located. Russell P. Calame, Salt Lake City agent in charge, Federal Bureau of Investigation, said Saturday evening that no suspect was in custody. He declined to comment on reports that a "lead" had produced a suspect.

The chief agent would say only that the FBI was investigating all leads, was aiding in the search and would continue its investigation of the hijacking, most profitable in the chain of such ransom demands across the nation in recent months.

"I'm not going to tell you where my men are located or anything about the leads," Mr. Calame said, "but we are looking in all logical areas."

Believed to Be a Pilot

Meanwhile, the pilot of the hijacked Boeing aircraft, UAL Capt. Gerry Hearn of Los Angeles, said he believed the bespectacled, wig-wearing bandit was a pilot with "an excellent knowledge of parachutes and airplanes."

He said he thinks it's possible the man discarded all of the four parachutes provided him on demand by the airline — each equipped with a radio beeper — and used a parachute he brought with him. No parachutes were found — or, if they were, no one would announce the discoveries.

Sent Specific Instructions

Capt. Hearn, 17 years with UAL and planning to move to Salt Lake City soon, said the hijacker sent specific instructions to the cockpit and "the flight plan was similar to what we ourselves prepared." The captain never saw the hijacker. In fact, the hunted man apparently didn't leave his seat, sending pre-written instructions to the cockpit with Stewardess Dianne Surdam, 24, Los Angeles.

Other crew members with the hijacker after he had allowed 85 passengers to deplane in San Francisco were first officer Ken Bradley, second officer Kent Owen and stewardess Margie Newby, all from southern California. A third stewardess, D. K. Sugimoto, left the plane in San Francisco.

Capt. Hearn and Mr. Owen said the man did not verbally threaten anyone. But the series of notes "threatened destruction of the plane and himself," the captain said. The hijacker wrote he was armed with two guns, plastic explosives and a hand grenade. However, the stewardesses saw only one gun.

The crew's account of the hijacking came after this series of events:

Western Airlines man passes out tickets home to hijacked United crewmen Ken Bradley, left, Dianne Surdam, Margie Newby and Capt. Gerry Hearn. Second Officer Kent Owen was inside terminal.

The plane left Newark, N.J., for Los Angeles, stopping in Denver, where the hijacker boarded under the name of "T. Johnson." He was reported to be wearing mirrorlike dark glasses, a dark wig and a mustache.

He sent his first warning note and demands to the cockpit a few minutes after the plane left Denver, forcing the crew to fly to San Francisco.

The half million dollars was brought aboard and the passengers released unharmed.

Then began a zig-zag course over Nevada and Utah with just the gunman and the crew aboard. One of the parachutes reportedly was dropped between Pioche and Ely, Nev., leading to reports that the man had bailed out. The crew reported the back door of the jet was open all the way from San Francisco and the craft was not pressurized.

Capt. Hearn said he could tell when the man jumped "by the characteristics of the airplane and its configuration." He said the man dumped out two chutes before leaving the plane.

Capt. Hearn landed the aircraft at Salt Lake City International Airport shortly before midnight Friday. The man reportedly jumped around 11:30 p.m.

FBI agents and police cordoned off the airliner and a police demolition ex-

... Frank Smith, participating in a search of the plane. No bomb was found.

Rumors began to fly within minutes after the landing. One report was that a woman had seen a man parachute from a plane near Lehi, but law enforcement officers said there was no basis for the rumor.

Several reports were received that a helicopter landed near where the man was thought to have landed and had whisked the hijacker away.

Helicopter Flights

Brig. Gen. Van Hixson, deputy Utah adjutant general said this rumor could have stemmed from a sighting of Utah National Guard helicopter flights. He said two helicopters transported FBI agents to the Provo area, touching down once at Nephi and once at Provo about 11:30. The general said the FBI contacted the Guard approximately an hour before, apparently sure the plane was headed for that area.

Utah Highway Patrol Dispatcher Ron Law, Provo, said Sanpete County Sheriff Grant Larsen, alerted by a report the aircraft was heading north from Cedar City, told him he saw a helicopter land twice at Nephi and once by Burton's Pond west of U.S. 91 midway between Mona and Nephi. The sheriff reportedly said the copter took off each time before he could get to it in his car.

Persistent Report

The most persistent report during the day was that Provo Police Chief Jesse Evans had announced lawmen had uncovered a lead and had a suspect. The chief later modified the statement to "possible suspect" and said his statements had been exaggerated.

Utah County Sheriff Ralph (Dick) Chapple said the report of a suspect was "just a rumor." He said his office had been receiving many reports which, when checked out, could not be substantiated.

The search fanned out from the Provo Airport at the west end of town for 60 miles to the southeast. This was the concentrated search area. However, helicopters also sought the hijacker all over Utah and Juab counties, down to Richfield and even in the Price area.

Many Agencies

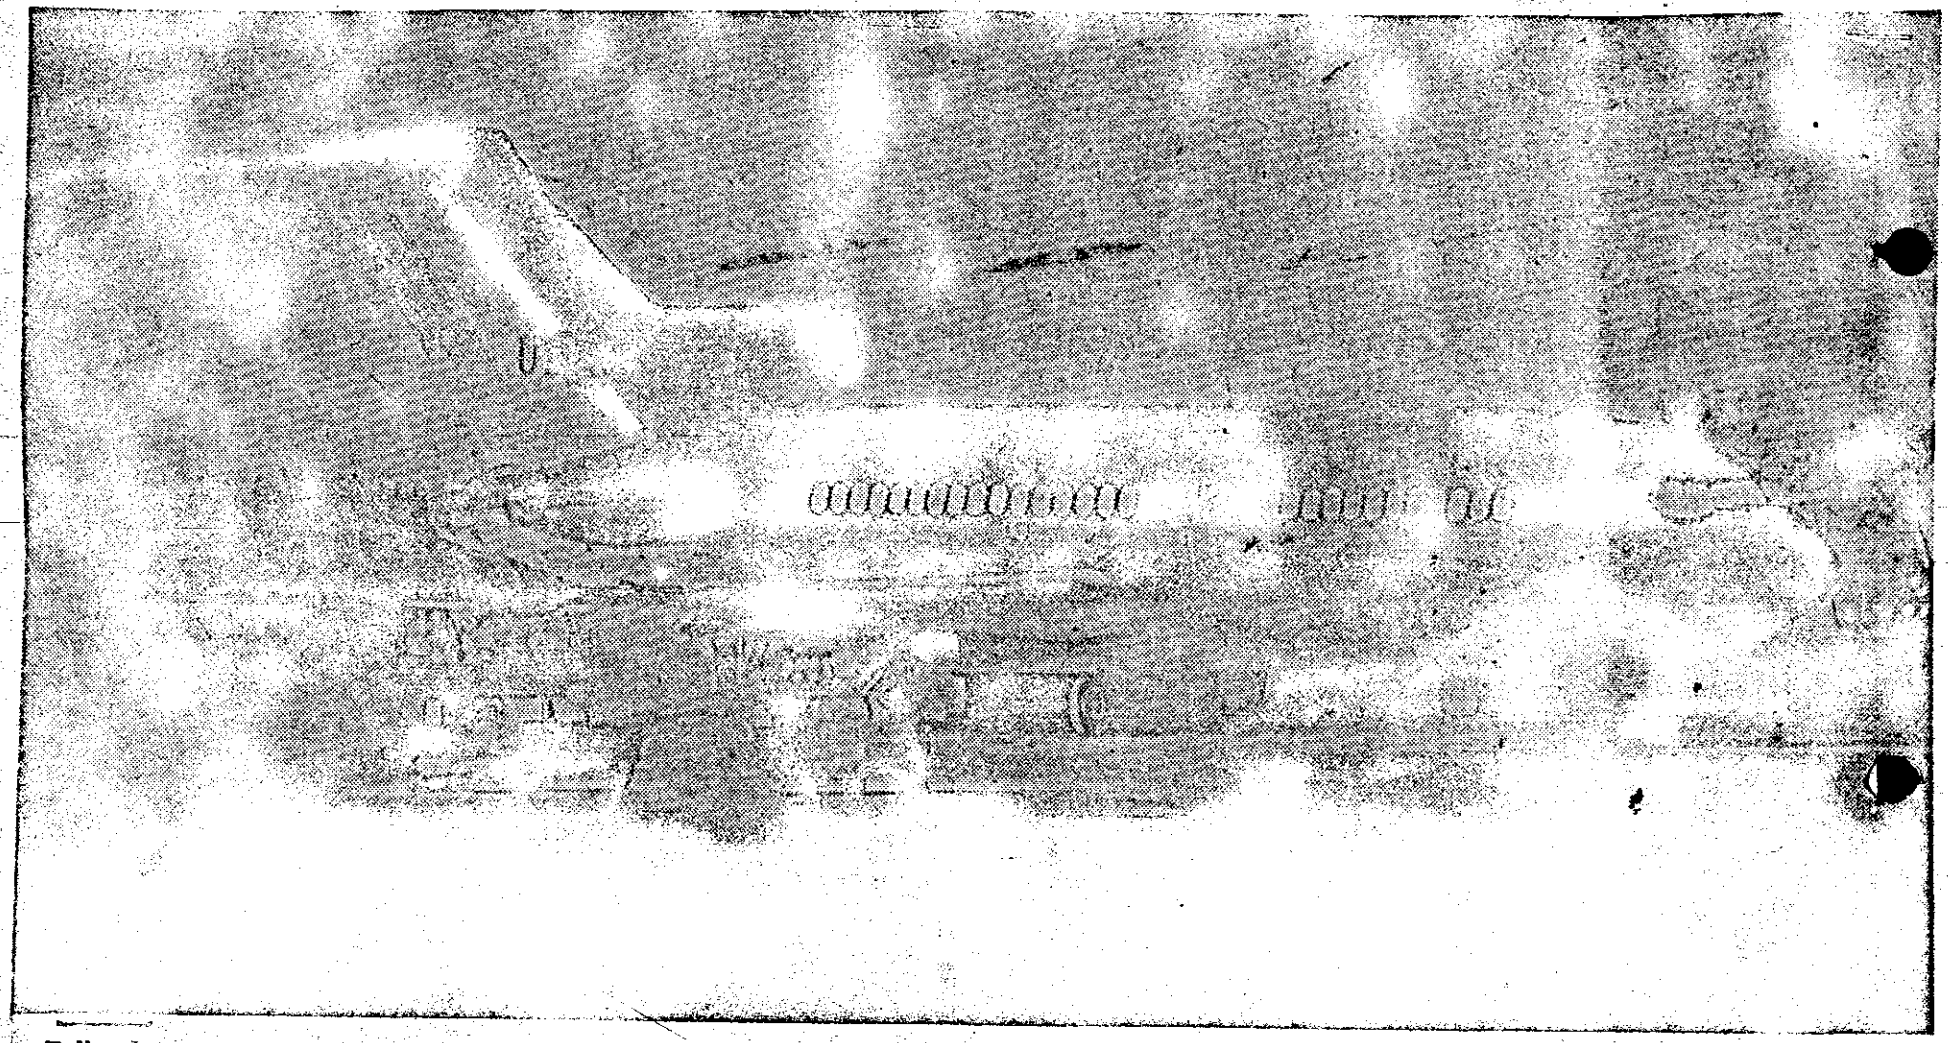
Searchers represented the Utah Highway Patrol (in cars and planes), the Salt Lake and Utah County Sheriff Jeep Posses and FBI and other law enforcement agencies from throughout the area.

The hijacking was the seventh in just under five months involving parachutes and ransom in airline piracy. Only one other man, who gave his ... as "D. B. Cooper," is still at large.

"Cooper" bailed out of a Northwest Airlines 727 Nov. 25 somewhere between Seattle and Reno with $200,000 of the airline's money.

Chief Evans speculated that the man was an experienced jumper who was familiar with the area. Others even wondered if "T. Johnson" and "D. B. Cooper" are one and the same. But "Cooper" had been described as six feet tall, while "Johnson" was described as five-feet-six.

The hijacked plane was flown to San Francisco Saturday about 6 p.m. with just a crew aboard, a UAL spokesman reported.



Police dog cars race toward hijacked United Air Lines 727 after it rolled to a stop at the north end of Salt Lake International Airport late Friday. Three officers, two stewardesses emerged tired but unharmed. The hijacker himself apparently bailed out, is still being sought.

Airlines Must Tighten Checks On Hijacks

Brace yourselves, air travelers, for more airplane hijackings for ransom.

For this risky new way of life in the skies, Americans can thank one D. B. Cooper. That's the name given by the man who parachuted from a Northwest Orient Airlines plane last November with $200,000 in ransom money provided by the airline.

In the next two months after Cooper's apparently successful exploit, he was copied by five other hijackers — all of whom failed.

Just as the apprehension of previous hijackers did not stop an air pirate from bailing out of a United Airlines 727 over Utah Friday night with $500,000 in ransom money, so the prompt arrest of a Provo man in that case early Sunday didn't stop another abortive hijacking attempt in California Sunday night. Who can tell how many imitators these latest hijackings will inspire?

Although the airlines provide the ransom money, it's ultimately the air travelers who pay for these hijackings. Higher costs of doing business must inevitably be passed along to the customer.

But money can always be replaced; lives can't. Over the years hijackings of American planes have caused seven deaths and a score of heart attacks.

Consequently, it's sheer stupidity for Americans to make a folk hero of "skyjackers," as was done with D. B. Cooper, since that amounts to glorifying someone who not only picks our pockets but is a potential mass murderer. For his own personal gain, the hijacker puts in jeopardy the lives of hundreds of passengers in the air and on the ground.

Sooner or later an aircraft is going to be lost with all the human lives it carries unless hijacking is stopped. But how, exactly, is it to be stopped? The problem defies easy answers.

One suggestion is that the airlines be prohibited by law from paying ransom money. If that really were sensible, ordinary kidnappings — let alone air piracy — could and would have been halted years ago.

Then there's individual inspection of each passenger and all luggage. But for decades airlines have sought to facilitate travel by reducing the time needed to get passengers and cargo on and off flights — something that would be impeded by individual searches.

More to the point, with some 400,000 passengers flying each day in this country, such inspections would create really serious headaches.

Even so, there's room for wondering if the number of armed air marshals wasn't reduced too soon. The force of 1,200 marshals was recently reorganized to conform with the view that airline terrorism must be stopped on the ground, not in the sky. The new plan leaves only 200 marshals on flying status. Is that really enough?

Moreover, shouldn't there be more than just a single security check? When 86 passengers in Denver last weekend boarded the UAL plane that was later hijacked, the only security precaution was a check of passengers against a "profile" of hijacker characteristics. But shouldn't electronic devices also be employed to detect weapons as an extra precaution?

Maybe airline security precautions against hijacking can't be made fool-proof. But they certainly can be tightened.

Richard McCoy Wears Fatigues To 'Embarrassing' Arraignment

By Craig A. Hansen

Tribune Staff Writer

"It's just embarrassing, let's face it," said 29-year-old Richard Floyd McCoy Jr., garbed in army fatigues during early minutes of his arraignment Sunday on two federal air hijacking charges.

He is charged with aircraft piracy and interference with flight attendant in connection with Friday's hijacking of a United Air Lines craft carrying 85 passengers and a crew of six. He is being held without bail in Salt Lake City-County Jail.

McCoy, limping slightly and hidden under a black shroud, was led into the front door of the U.S. Post Office by a half-dozen federal agents seconds after 8 a.m.

"I was going to drill this morning, that's why I have the uniform. I don't want to embarrass the National Guard or anything," he told U.S. Magistrate A. M. Ferro.

Earlier he said, "I'm sure my objection wouldn't mean very much," as Mr. Ferro was asked about news coverage of the arraignment.

The handcuffed suspect, whose shackles had been loosened earlier by FBI agent Charles Shepherd, was given the required notification of his constitutional rights by the magistrate. McCoy said he wanted a court-appointed attorney, and said his assets are two automobiles and a $243 a month GI grant.

"But I'm sure that'll be terminated," he said.

McCoy answered the magistrate's questions in a soft voice, cupping his chin in his slender fingers and remaining calm. His slight build, sandy, receding hair and clean cut student appearance contrasts with the swarthy, bespectacled, moustached hijacker who parachuted with a $500,000 ransom.

Proceedings were delayed 20 minutes as Mr. Ferro awaited formal complaints and warrants from U.S. Attorney C. Nelson Day. At that time, Mr. Shepherd allowed the defendant to change into a gray-vested suit in a separate room. He exited without handcuffs.

Looking at the magistrate's light oak desk, McCoy asked, "Is that all they can afford to give you?"

Two typed complaints against McCoy were signed by FBI Agent William J. Geiermann before the magistrate. Mr. Day said the first charge can bring the death penalty, with a minimum sentence of 20 years. The other charge carries a maximum prison term of 20 years.

Mr. Ferro read and explained the six-page document to McCoy, who looked at the floor several times.

"Do I get a copy?" he queried. He did.

Mr. Ferro set April 19 at 2 p.m. for preliminary hearing.

After the session, Mr. Geiermann signed formal search warrants under oath, getting permission to examine McCoy's automobiles, house and personal property.

McCoy was booked at the Salt Lake City-County Jail.

Now They're Chuckling

'Stop! We're Looking for a Hijacker'

By Irene Jones
Tribune Staff Writer

Thinking back to early Saturday morning, my husband and I have to chuckle about how scared we were when being questioned by the Utah Highway Patrol at a roadblock just north of Point-of-the-Mountain.

We were returning to our home in Salt Lake City about 1:15 a.m. after visiting friends in Orem. We hadn't been listening to the radio, and didn't know about the hijacker — "T. Johnson," — who reportedly bailed out of a 727 jet over Provo about 11:15 p.m. Friday.

My husband was asleep, and I was driving as we rounded the Point and saw the roadblock ahead. I was groggy from the late hour and the monotonous road just traveled when we pulled up to a stop.

Jerked Awake

My husband jerked awake as the officer greeted us with a flashlight in the face. I began fumbling in my pocket for my licene, which I thought they wanted to see, and my husband wondered just what kind of a dream he was having.

"Where are you heading?" the unsmiling face queried.

"Ah, ah, Salt Lake City," I stuttered.

"Where are you coming from," he demanded.

"Ah, un, Pleasant Grove, I mean Orem," I sputtered.

"Is the back of your truck open?" the officer asked. (We were in a pickup truck with a sleeper on the back.) He was beginning to smile now, probably because we had reacted so silly.

Checked Truck

Two officers checked the truck as we watched about 10 others stop approaching vehicles, question the motorists, open trunks and peer into back seats with flashlights.

"Have you seen any hitchhikers?" the patrolman wanted to know. No, we hadn't, but we had seen numerous flares going up over Utah Lake and Provo. "What was going on?" we asked.

"We're looking for a hijacker," he said, smiling. He was almost laughing at us. "You're okay, you can go."

We were just two of hundreds of midnight travelers questioned by law enforcement officers Friday night all over Utah County. Roads in and around Provo — usually just a quiet college town — were blockaded, helicopters swarmed through the blackness, flares flashed over the sky and sirens screamed.

Near the shores of Utah Lake, just outside of town, searchers with flashlights and police dogs trudged through the mudflats and others patrolled in boats.

More than 150 law enforcement officers helped in the search, but within a few hours most were sent home until daylight.

The search started in Provo after radio signals from the hijacker's rigged parachute indicated he landed somewhere in the mudflats, where a person can sink up to his neck.

ACCOUNTS VARY

Normal, Nice, Anti-Mafia

PROVO — The man charged with Friday's $500,000 hijack of a jetliner was described on the one hand Sunday as remarkably normal and decent, and on the other as an "organized crime freak," who wanted to break up the Mafia.

Richard F. McCoy, 29, Vietnam war veteran and sky-diver, taught a Sunday School class in the Provo First Ward, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, until a month ago.

"He is a kind person," said Norm Cluff, a neighbor across the street from McCoy's brown brick home at 360 S. 200 East. "He would help you push your car out of the snow when no one else would. He is a quiet guy, but always friendly, always smiling."

McCoy majored in law enforcement at Brigham Young University.

"VERY UPSET" WITH MAFIA

Kris Peters, 20, who sat next to him in a police administration class last semester, described McCoy as an "organized crime freak," whose ambition was to "make his dent on the world" by busting crime syndicates. "All last semester he was very upset with the Mafia," Miss Peters said.

Kent Talbot, 16, Provo, a student in McCoy's Sunday School class, said his teacher was concerned with sin.

"All he ever talked about was sin. He would ask us what last week's lesson was about and we would always say 'sin.'" Talbot said.

Others didn't mention such a preoccupation, but described only his kindness.

"He is a very nice man," said Stephanie Matthews, 14, another member of the Sunday School class.

"A FINE MAN . . . TRUSTWORTHY"

Sherman Wall, McCoy's landlord and next-door neighbor, echoed Miss Mathews' sentiments. "He is a fine man," Wall said. "I don't believe he could be involved in such a thing. I wouldn't trust anyone if I couldn't trust McCoy."

The quiet residential neighborhood where McCoy, his wife Karen and two children, Chante, 5, and Richard, 2, reside took on a garish carnival atmosphere Sunday.

Inhabited by elderly people and young couples with children, the neighborhood was packed with newspaper and television newsmen, who camped in front of the McCoy home.

In addition, curiousity-seekers drove down the street in front of the McCoy home in a steady stream throughout the afternoon, as if on a sight-seeing tour.

FBI agents conducted a search of the home behind drawn curtains and blinds and also dug up a compost heap behind the house, keeping newsmen and others away from the scene. They also searched two cars on the premises.

Mrs. McCoy was treated for shock at Utah Valley Hospital in the morning, but was briefly home again in the afternoon. She later left the scene in the automobile of her LDS Bishop John Mathews.

As might be the case with anyone, McCoy is seen differently by various neighbors and friends. While some people regard him as particularly quiet, others disagree.

"He is so sociable — such a nice person," said Mrs. Norma Morgan, neighbor and a fellow member of the Provo First Ward.

FBI Captures Student, 'Evidence' in Skyjack

By Clark Lobb, Steve Wayda, Craig Hansen, David L. Beck and George A. Sorensen
Tribune Staff Writers

A 29-year-old Brigham Young University junior majoring in law enforcement was arrested early Sunday morning on two counts in connection with the Friday hijacking of a United Air Lines 727 jet from which the hijacker parachuted over the Provo area with $500,000 ransom.

FBI agents removed four large cardboard boxes and two black overnight bags from the suspect's Provo home about 5 p.m. Sunday and returned to Salt Lake City. The FBI refused to say whether the ransom was recovered.

No Incident in Arrest

Apprehended without incident at his residence as he was preparing to attend Utah Army National Guard drills was Richard Floyd McCoy Jr., Raleigh, N.C., a former Green Beret helicopter pilot in Vietnam and a skyjumper at the Alta Skydiving Center, 8700-17th East, Sandy.

He was wearing Guard fatigues, but changed into a gray business suit and vest after his arraignment at 8 a.m. before U.S. Magistrate A. M. Ferro in Salt Lake City. He is being held without bond in Salt Lake City-County Jail pending a preliminary hearing April 19 at 2 p.m.

Has Wife, Two Children

McCoy resides at 360 S. 200 East, Provo, with his wife and two children.

FBI agents spent the morning and most of the afternoon searching the McCoy house, yard, garage, a dog run, two automobiles, and surrounding areas, dusting for fingerprints, collecting material from the auto tires, etc.

Activity in the house increased about 4 p.m. when all nine agents involved were inside. They could be seen carrying boxes.

Suspect's Wife Leaves Home

The suspect's wife was driven to the home by an unidentified woman about 4:30 p.m. The blonde Mrs. McCoy was crying. She was in the house about 10 minutes, then left by car with the same woman.

The agents left the home shortly after 5 p.m. and placed the boxes and valises in trunks of FBI autos and returned to their headquarters.

The suitcases and boxes were removed from the house following a search which included digging in the yard. Each one of the boxes bore a sticker marked "evidence."

A short time after the evidence was Deputy Marshal Jerry M. Smith, rear, escorts hijack suspect Richard McCoy, carrying Guard uniform McCoy wore at arrest.

Taken to Salt Lake City, an FBI agent indicated a news release was being prepared for clearance in Washington, D.C.

Later No Release Expected

However, at 8:40 p.m., an agent would say only that "we have no release at the present time and we are not anticipating one right now."

Russell P. Calame, Salt Lake City agent in charge, was reported not in his office. His wife said he was not home and that if he was not at the office she did not know where he was.

The FBI office in Washington said late Sunday night there would be no further release on any information regarding the hijacking until Monday.

Provo police said the hijacker landed at Provo Airport on the west end of town and got into a green Volkswagen bearing North Carolina license plates.

They said McCoy had not been at home for two days. The residence had been under FBI surveillance from early Saturday afternoon until the arrest, police said. Sunday a green Volkswagen with North Carolina license plates was parked at the rear of the McCoy residence.

Maj. Gen. Maurice L. Watts, Utah adjutant general, said McCoy is a warrant officer-2, listed as an "army aviator," and flying helicopters. He was assigned to Headquarters, Headquarters Co., 115th Engineer Group, Murray.

Viewed as 'A Good Man'

The general said he had little personal knowledge of the suspect, adding, "As far as we were concerned he was a good man."

McCoy is charged with aircraft piracy (with a maximum penalty of death)," and "interference with flight attendant."

The FBI would not add comments to a release issued shortly after the arrest by J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, and Richard G. Kleindeinst, acting U.S. attorney general, except to say the money had not been recovered.

However, the detailed complaint indicated the real break in the case came from an FBI interview with Utah Highway Patrol Trooper Robert Van Ieperen, Salt Lake City.

Trooper 'Close Acquaintance'

The trooper, according to the complaint, told Special FBI Agent James L. Theisen that he (the trooper) was a "close acquaintance" of McCoy's, that McCoy is a skydiver who jumps at the Alta Air Park near Sandy on a regular basis, "flies frequently and is very familiar with Federal Aviation Administration flight plan forms and has access to them; and that McCoy has several pistols and in view of his past military experience it would be possible for McCoy to have a hand grenade."

The agent said Trooper Van Ieperen told him McCoy told the trooper "It would be possible for someone to hijack a plane and get away with it by carrying his own parachute on the plane and that if he (McCoy) were to hijack a plane he would demand at least $500,000."

Call From Sister-in-Law

The trooper also said a sister-in-law of the suspect telephoned him the night of the hijacking (Friday) "and asked if McCoy were on a mission of some sort."

The woman, not identified, called the trooper again Friday about 11:30 p.m. (approximately the time the hijacker was bailing out of the plane over Provo) and said McCoy was not home and that she was "scared to death as McCoy had tried to get her to help him on a hijacking," the complaint read.

The complaint also alleges handwriting on a series of notes sent to the cockpit with a stewardess, with demands and threats by the skyjacker, matched McCoy's handwriting in his official military records. The complaint based the connection on a report from Palmer G. Tunstall, a document examiner with the FBI laboratory in Washington, D.C.

Descriptions Different

McCoy did not appear at all like the description provided by the hijacked jet's crew after the incident. He has thinning sandy hair, a light complexion and is clean-shaven. The crew reported the hijacker as being dark, wearing dark glasses, a wig and a mustache.

Friends and acquaintances contacted described McCoy as a quiet, soft-spoken, friendly man who, as far as they knew, had not been in any trouble. That was the report from a skydriver instructor, BYU law enforcement instructor and others who knew the suspect. His father, Richard Floyd McCoy, contacted in Raleigh, said he feels his son is innocent. "He's not that kind of boy," Mr. McCoy said.

Termed a Good Student

He was described as a good student and an average but not expert skyjumper.

Neighbors said he formerly was a Sunday school teacher for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

The skyjacking episode began Friday at 2:36 p.m., MST, as UAL Flight 855 — which originated in Newark, N.J., but stopped in Denver where the armed hijacker boarded — was about 40 miles northwest of Grand Junction, Colo., when the bandit handed the first of several prewritten notes to Stewardess Diane M. Surdam, Los Angeles, according to the complaint.

The complaint alleges the suspect displayed a hand grenade and handed an envelope containing a bullet and a grenade pin to Mrs. Surdam. In the envelope, too, was "a written note stating 'grenade — pin pulled — pistol,' and a flight plan on a regular FAA form directing the pilot to fly said aircraft to San Francisco . . ."

Other crew members were Capt. Gerry Hearn, Los Angeles, and First Officer Ken Bradley, Second Officer Kent Owen and Stewardesses Margie Newby and D. K. Sugimoto, all from southern California.

The complaint charges several other notes of a threatening nature and containing instructions for ransom payment of $500,000 and four parachutes were handed to Mrs. Surdam for delivery to Capt. Hearn.

New Instructions

The captain piloted the craft to San Francisco instead of Los Angeles and received further instructions in the same manner — six hours' fuel, all passengers and their luggage off the plane (Miss Sugimoto left also) and the loading of the ransom and parachutes.

The complaint states Mrs. Surdam was ordered by the hijacker to return all notes and flight plans but that she was able to retain a hand-printed message reading: "Everybody off now except stewardess (es). They stay put. Get the hell off the gd (ground)!! Be quick about it — use this runway."

The five remaining personnel and the hijacker then flew over Tonapah, Nev.; Marysvale, Piute County; Fairfield, Utah County; and easterly toward Price, the complaint stated.

"A few minutes (about 11:15 p.m.) after turning toward Price, the said person (the hijacker) was no longer in the airplane and she (Mrs. Surdam) believed that he had parachuted out with the money" through an open rear entranceway, the complaint continued.

Mrs. Surdam told the FBI, according to the complaint, that one note stated that if a chase plane were observed "the said male passenger would set a charge to detonate and that the male passenger would then parachute prior to the charge detonating and before the captain could land the plane."

FBI agents load four cardboard boxes and two black overnight bags marked as evidence. They were taken from suspect's home Sunday.

Reports Warning

She also was reported in the complaint to have said that if any of the crew, "particularly either of the stewardesses, turned around to observe the said male passenger in the cabin that 'it would be a long fall without a parachute.' "

Air Force planes did follow the jetliner, and the airliner copilot watched the hijacker don a jump suit before leaping.

McCoy's apprehension climaxed a search starting late Friday night and extending to late Saturday in several Utah counties.

Several reports were received Saturday that there were leads to the case, that a suspect was known and that his name was "McCoy" or "Coy."

The FBI refused to confirm them, however, and indicated late Saturday afternoon the search had shifted from the Provo area. Helicopters, planes, boats and scores of motor vehicles were used by more than 200 law enforcement officers.

At one time — early Saturday — road blockades were posted and there even was some house-to-house searching. At day's end, about the only positive statement available from the search-directing FBI was that a suspect had not been taken into custody.

Arrow points out Karen McCoy, wife of hijack suspect, as FBI agents escort her back into their Provo home. She had been staying next door. Sympathetic friends, neighbors look on.

FBI agents dig up back yard at 360 S. 200 East, Provo, where suspect in $500,000 airplane hijacking lives. Agents were searching for money, parachutes and weapons involved in the hijack.

Speed of FBI and Police Meritorious, But Barn Should Have Been Locked

Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation are to be congratulated for the quickness with which they have apparently written "closed" to the nation's most expensive aerial hijacking. Within 48 hours after the chilling episode began in the skies Friday near Grand Junction, Colo., the FBI arrested a suspect and recovered nearly $500,000 purported to be the ransom surrendered to a hijacker at San Francisco International Airport.

While congratulations are properly due the FBI, as well as other law enforcement officers and agencies, for their speedy resolution of the matter, the whole incident remains a case of locking barn doors after the thief has visited. The hijacking should never have happened.

The very fact that it did can only lead to the conclusion that either the airlines are not taking serious note of the recent security precautions ordered by the Federal Aviation Administration or the prescribed precautions are ineffective. From reports of the recent experience of persons who frequently travel by air it would appear the airlines are not persistent enough in executing the precautions.

Since March 9, when President Nixon ordered immediate implementation of already promulgated FAA security regulations on passenger screening and carry-on luggage, we have heard of no one boarding an airliner being required to undergo a body search, a procedure commonly used on some European airlines. Even where searches of carry-on luggage are made they seem to be done very haphazardly.

There seems little evidence that even the most cursory search was made of passengers aboard the Boeing 727 involved in the hijacking that reached its conclusion over Provo late Friday. A search of all carry-on luggage would have revealed the presence of the gun or guns used, whether the hijacker was carrying his own parachute on board, or if the man had any plastic type explosives with him.

If the airlines are reluctant to invoke more stringent pre-boarding security measures because they don't want to inconvenience customers, they are being shortsighted. It is hard to imagine a greater inconvenience than being forced, along with 84 other passengers, to sit at the end of a runway for several hours while a hijacker in effect has a gun pointed at your head, waiting for a plane to be refueled and $500,000 in ransom gathered and brought to the airport.

The American traveling public is entitled to be reasonably certain that when they board an airliner they will reach their destination safely and conveniently. As the situation now stands, such is not the case. Passengers have no assurances the person sitting next to them won't suddenly be the captain of the ship, instead of the man up front.

The FAA has ordered the precautions. The airlines must follow them to the letter and do so immediately. The precautions might be a little extreme, but compliance with the demands of a hijacker is more extreme. If forced to choose between the extremes we will opt for a more complete search of our luggage, yes, even of our persons, rather than risk being blasted out of the skies by some hijacker.

Enclosed for Salt Lake City are four copies of the currency list submitted by the San Francisco Division in this case. One copy is enclosed for the San Francisco Division. Destroyed 5/2/74 per [redacted]

Salt Lake City should utilize this list which is described generally as follows:

Total dollar value of the lists received was $420,000 made up of 2,000 $100 bills; 10,000 $20 bills; and 2,000 $10 bills. Because some of the entries were illegible or invalid, it was necessary to omit 34 bills. The total value of the bills appearing on the computer listings is $418,960. Due to the poor quality of the Xerox copies received, the legibility of some of the serial numbers was questionable and was resolved by exercising reasonable judgment. A detailed list of these items will be maintained by the Voucher-Statistical Section.

The handprinted lists did not contain series year for a large number of the $100 bills and very few of the other bills contained the series year letter.

Salt Lake City should utilize this list in handling the money recovered in captioned case.

My dear Sir:

Just as a matter of curisoity I am wondering if you have considered the possibility of a connection between last weekend's ransom-hijack of a United Air Lines Plane and the similar ransom-hijack several weeks ago in the Oregon-Washington area.

RICHARD FLOYD McCOY, JR.

AFFIDAVIT FOR SEARCH WARRANT

BEFORE A. M. FERRO
Name of Magistrate

Salt Lake City, Utah
Address of Magistrate

The undersigned being duly sworn deposes and says:

That he (has reason to believe) that (on the person of) (on the premises known as) residence premises of RICHARD FLOYD McCOY, JR., at 360 South 200 East Street, Provo, Utah, including all areas of the home, garage, any and all other buildings, and all grounds, trees, shrubs in areas of such premises, in the Central Division,

District of Utah

there is now being concealed certain property, namely grenades and grenade pins, hand guns, bullets, parachutes and parachute beepers, jump suit, a black hard jump hat or helmet, blue luggage bag, $500,000.00 in currency, two North Star Altimeters mounted on Valcro wrist mounts, one 6"x6"x5" white cardboard box, articles of clothing, including a blue men's suit, blue navy trousers, blue sport coat with stripes, pink modern type shirt, flowered shirt, blue socks, two-tone blue with gray square-toed shoes or two-tone blue with brown shoes, silver or chrome wrist watch, small yellow pad, yellow papers, FAA flight plans Form 7233, typewriters, pens, pencils, flight maps or aeronautical maps, airline ticket receipts or stubs, luggage tags, mirrored sunglasses, wigs, false mustaches, broken pieces of mirror, Manila envelopes, small black suitcase; two brief cases black or tan; black gloves, which are instrumentalities and fruits of the aircraft piracy and the interference with flight attendant, which occurred on April 7, 1972, on United Air Lines Flight 855, at and within the Central Division of the District of Utah,

(here describe property)

And that the facts tending to establish the foregoing grounds for issuance of a Search Warrant are as follows:

WILLIAM J. GEIERMANN
Signature of Affiant.

Special Agent

That affiant interviewed KERRY E. NEWMAN, a Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, who advised complainant that he interviewed Mrs. DIANE M. SURDAM on the early morning of April 8, 1972, at the Salt Lake City Airport, and that Mrs. SURDAM advised him that she was a stewardess on the Boeing 727 aircraft, United Air Lines Flight 855, from Denver, Colorado, to Los Angeles, California, and that on said flight, approximately 40 miles northwest of Grand Junction, Colorado, and over and within the Central Division of the District of Utah, a male person exhibited to her a hand grenade, shaking the same in his hand toward her and telling her to deliver a note to the pilot of said aircraft, said note being, in substance, "GRENADE - PIN PULLED - PISTOL"; that said person later had handed to her an envelope for delivery to the pilot, which envelope contained a grenade pin, a bullet, and a flight plan directing the pilot to proceed to San Francisco; that he had her deliver numerous notes, flight plans and instructions to the pilot; that the pilot instead of flying to Los Angeles

as the flight was scheduled, did fly to San Francisco where the plane landed; that at San Francisco the said person required her to deliver notes and instructions to the pilot which required the pilot to refuel the plane for a six-hour flight, to have all passengers' luggage removed from the plane and to have delivered to the airplane four parachutes and $500,000.00 in cash; that he ordered a passenger on the plane to deplane and bring the parachutes, the money which was in two flight bags, and said person's personal luggage back onto the airplane; that said person then ordered all passengers and one of the stewardesses off the airplane; that immediately before the airplane left San Francisco the said male person handed her a note for delivery to the pilot, which note directed that all passengers were to remove from the airplane and the pilot was to get the airplane off the ground expeditiously; that the said male person required her to return all notes, instructions and flight plans but she was able to retain this one note which was hand printed, and that after the plane landed in Salt Lake City she delivered said note to an FBI Agent, that she identified said note as reading "EVERBODY OFF NOW EXCEPT STEWARDESS - THEY STAY PUT GET THE HELL OFF THE GD!! BE QUICK ABOUT IT - USE THIS RUNWAY"; that said person then required her to deliver another set of instructions and flight plan to the pilot to fly from San Francisco southeasterly so as to go over Tonapah, Nevada; that said plane in leaving San Francisco carried only a crew of five, including two stewardesses, and the said person; that said person required her to deliver additional instructions, flight plans and notes to the pilot which directed the pilot to fly the plane from in the vicinity of Marysvale, Utah, toward the Salt Lake City Airport; that said person required her to carry further notes, flight plans and instructions to the pilot which required the pilot, in the vicinity of Fairfield, Utah, to fly easterly toward Price, Utah; that a few minutes after turning toward Price, the said person was no longer in the airplane and she believed that he had parachuted out with the money; that at that time the rear entranceway from the plane was open; that the plane thereupon turned toward the Salt Lake City Airport where it landed shortly thereafter.

That affiant examined teletype message from the Special Agent in Charge of the FBI Office at San Francisco, California, which advised that WILLIAM RICHARD COGGIN was interviewed by FBI Agents and advised them that he was a passenger on the said United Air Lines Flight 855, as above referred to, that while on said flight he observed a male person give a stewardess notes which she took up to the pilot of the airplane, that he saw the said person holding a hand grenade in his hand with the pin removed, that after the plane landed at San Francisco the person directed him, COGGIN, to report to the captain of the airplane and that the airplane captain told COGGIN the said person directed COGGIN to leave the airplane and secure from the ground near the plane a large blue piece of luggage, two large briefcases, and some parachutes which he then carried aboard the airplane, that shortly thereafter all passengers on the plane, including COGGIN, were allowed to leave the aireraft at San Francisco, that he has examined a number of photographs presented to him by the FBI and identified one of them as the above-described male person aboard United Air Lines Flight 855, which picture was subsequently identified to him as that of RICHARD FLOYD MC COY, JR.

That affiant interviewed RICHARD W. HEAD, Special Agent of the FBI, who advised complainant that HEAD had inter-

Flight 855, after the same landed at Salt Lake City, that said co-pilot told HEAD that a number of notes were received by the pilot and co-pilot from a male passenger on said flight, said notes being delivered by stewardess Mrs. DIANE M. SUNDAM, one of which notes stated that if a chase plane was observed the said male passenger would set a charge to detonate and that the male passenger would then parachute prior to the charge detonating and before the captain could land the plane; HEAD advised complainant further that Mr. BRADLEY had stated that one of the notes also stated that if any of the crew, particularly either of the stewardesses, turned around to observe the said male passenger in the cabin, that "it would be a long fall without a parachute".

That affiant further interviewed Special Agent KERRY E. NEWMAN of the FBI who advised complainant that NEWMAN, by telephone, conversed with PALMER G. TUNSTALL who is a document examiner with the FBI Laboratory at Washington, D. C., that Mr. TUNSTALL advised NEWMAN that he had compared hand printing on a note received from RUSSELL P. CALAME, Special Agent in Charge of the Salt Lake City FBI Office, which note is above referred to and set forth in full, with specimens of handwriting of the said RICHARD FLOYD MC COY, JR. contained in his official Army personnel records, which hand printed note he found to be identical with, and written by the same person as, the handwriting in MC COY's official military records;

That affiant interviewed JAMES L. THEISEN, Special Agent of the FBI at Salt Lake City, who advised complainant that THEISEN had interviewed ROBERT VAN IEPEREN, a Utah Highway Patrolman who resides in Salt Lake City, that IEPEREN advised THEISEN that he was a close acquaintance of RICHARD FLOYD MC COY, JR., that MC COY is a sky diver who jumps at the Alta Airport in Salt Lake County on a regular basis, that MC COY is a Vietnam veteran, having served there two years, one year of which he was a helicopter pilot, that MC COY is currently a member of the 115th Engineer National Guard Unit of Murray, Utah, that MC COY flies frequently and is very familiar with FAA flight plan forms and has access to them, that MC COY has several pistols and in view of his past military experience it would be possible for MC COY to have a hand grenade, that approximately three weeks to one month ago MC COY told IEPEREN that it would be possible for someone to hijack a plane and get away with it by carrying his own parachute on the plane and that if he were to hijack a plane he would demand at least $500,000.00, that IEPEREN stated that at approximately 9:30 PM on the night of April 7, 1972, MC COY's sister-in-law talked to IEPEREN by telephone and asked if MC COY was on a mission of some sort; that at about 11:30 PM on the same date, he had another telephone conversation with the sister-in-law who stated that MC COY was not home and the sister-in-law stated to IEPEREN that she was "scared to death" as MC COY had tried to get her to help him on a hijacking.

Signature of Affiant.

That affiant interviewed KERRY E. NEWMAN, a Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, who advised complainant that he interviewed Mrs. DIANE M. SURDAM on the early morning of April 8, 1972, at the Salt Lake City Airport, and that Mrs. SURDAM advised him that she was a stewardess on the Boeing 727 aircraft, United Air Lines Flight 855, from Denver, Colorado, to Los Angeles, California, and that on said flight, approximately 40 miles northwest of Grand Junction, Colorado, and over and within the Central Division of the District of Utah, a male person exhibited to her a hand grenade, shaking the same in his hand toward her and telling her to deliver a note to the pilot of said aircraft, said note being, in substance, "GRENADE - PIN PULLED - PISTOL"; that said person later had handed to her an envelope for delivery to the pilot, which envelope contained a grenade pin, a bullet, and a flight plan directing the pilot to proceed to San Francisco; that he had her deliver numerous notes, flight plans and instructions to the pilot; that the pilot instead of flying to Los Angeles

as the flight was scheduled, did fly to San Francisco where the plane landed; that at San Francisco the said person required her to deliver notes and instructions to the pilot which required the pilot to refuel the plane for a six-hour flight, to have all passengers' luggage removed from the plane and to have delivered to the airplane four parachutes and $500,000.00 in cash; that he ordered a passenger on the plane to deplane and bring the parachutes, the money which was in two person's flight bags, and said personal luggage back onto the airplane; that said person then ordered all passengers and one of the stewardesses off the airplane; that immediately before the airplane left San Francisco the said male person handed her a note for delivery to the pilot, which note directed that all passengers were to remove from the airplane and the pilot was to get the airplane off the ground expeditiously; that the said male person required her to return all notes, instructions and flight plans but she was able to retain this one note which was hand printed, and that after the plane landed in Salt Lake City she delivered said note to an FBI Agent, that she identified said note as reading "EVERBODY OFF NOW EXCEPT STEWARDESS - THEY STAY PUT -GET THE HELL OFF THE GD!! BE QUICK ABOUT IT - USE THIS RUNWAY"; that said person then required her to deliver another set of instructions and flight plan to the pilot to fly from San Francisco southeasterly so as to go over Tonapah, Nevada; that said plane in leaving San Francisco carried only a crew of five, including two stewardesses, and the said person; that said person required her to deliver additional instructions, flight plans and notes to the pilot which directed the pilot to fly the plane from in the vicinity of Marysvale, Utah, toward the Salt Lake City Airport; that said person required her to carry further notes, flight plans and instructions to the pilot which required the pilot, in the vicinity of Fairfield, Utah, to fly easterly toward Price, Utah; that a few minutes after turning toward Price, the said person was no longer in the airplane and she believed that he had parachuted out with the money; that at that time the rear entranceway from the plane was open; that the plane thereupon turned toward the Salt Lake City Airport where it landed shortly thereafter.

That affiant examined teletype message from the Special Agent in Charge of the FBI Office at San Francisco, California, which advised that WILLIAM RICHARD COGGIN was interviewed by FBI Agents and advised them that he was a passenger on the said United Air Lines Flight 855, as above referred to, that while on said flight he observed a male person give a stewardess notes which she took up to the pilot of the airplane, that he saw the said person holding a hand grenade in his hand with the pin removed, that after the plane landed at San Francisco the person directed him, COGGIN, to report to the captain of the airplane and that the airplane captain told COGGIN the said person directed COGGIN to leave the airplane and secure from the ground near the plane a large blue piece of luggage, two large briefcases, and some parachutes which he then carried aboard the airplane, that shortly thereafter all passengers on the plane, including COGGIN, were allowed to leave the aireraft at San Francisco, that he has examined a number of photographs presented to him by the FBI and identified one of them as the above-described male person aboard United Air Lines Flight 855, which picture was subsequently identified to him as that of RICHARD FLOYD MC COY, JR.

That affiant interviewed RICHARD W. HEAD, Special Agent of the FBI, who advised complainant that HEAD had inter-

Flight 855, after the same landed at Salt Lake City, that said co-pilot told HEAD that a number of notes were received by the pilot and co-pilot from a male passenger on said flight, said notes being delivered by stewardess Mrs. DIANE M. SUNDAM, one of which notes stated that if a chase plane was observed the said male passenger would set a charge to detonate and that the male passenger would then parachute prior to the charge detonating and before the captain could land the plane; HEAD advised complainant further that Mr. BRADLEY had stated that one of the notes also stated that if any of the crew, particularly either of the stewardesses, turned around to observe the said male passenger in the cabin, that "it would be a long fall without a parachute".

That affiant further interviewed Special Agent KERRY E. NEWMAN of the FBI who advised complainant that NEWMAN, by telephone, conversed with PALMER G. TUNSTALL who is a document examiner with the FBI Laboratory at Washington, D. C., that Mr. TUNSTALL advised NEWMAN that he had compared hand printing on a note received from RUSSELL P. CALAME, Special Agent in Charge of the Salt Lake City FBI Office, which note is above referred to and set forth in full, with specimens of handwriting of the said RICHARD FLOYD MC COY, JR. contained in his official Army personnel records, which hand printed note he found to be identical with, and written by the same person as, the handwriting in MC COY's official military records;

That affiant interviewed JAMES L. THEISEN, Special Agent of the FBI at Salt Lake City, who advised complainant that THEISEN had interviewed ROBERT VAN IEPEREN, a Utah Highway Patrolman who resides in Salt Lake City, that IEPEREN advised THEISEN that he was a close acquaintance of RICHARD FLOYD MC COY, JR., that MC COY is a sky diver who jumps at the Alta Airport in Salt Lake County on a regular basis, that MC COY is a Vietnam veteran, having served there two years, one year of which he was a helicopter pilot, that MC COY is currently a member of the 115th Engineer National Guard Unit of Murray, Utah, that MC COY flies frequently and is very familiar with FAA flight plan forms and has access to them, that MC COY has several pistols and in view of his past military experience it would be possible for MC COY to have a hand grenade, that approximately three weeks to one month ago MC COY told IEPEREN that it would be possible for someone to hijack a plane and get away with it by carrying his own parachute on the plane and that if he were to hijack a plane he would demand at least $500,000.00, that IEPEREN stated that at approximately 9:30 PM on the night of April 7, 1972, MC COY's sister-in-law talked to IEPEREN by telephone and asked if MC COY was on a mission of some sort; that at about 11:30 PM on the same date, he had another telephone conversation with the sister-in-law who stated that MC COY was not home and the sister-in-law stated to IEPEREN that she was "scared to death" as MC COY had tried to get her to help him on a hijacking.

Copy of Complaint

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF UTAH

CENTRAL DIVISION

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, Plaintiff, vs RICHARD FLOYD MC COY, JR. Defendant.	Magistrate's Docket No. 72 Case No. 43 C O M P L A I N T Vio. Sec. 1472(i)(1), T. 49, U.S.C. AIRCRAFT PIRACY; and Vio. Sec. 1472(j), T. 49, U.S.C. INTERFERENCE WITH FLIGHT ATTENDANT.

Before me, A. M. FERRO, United States Magistrate for the Central Division of the District of Utah, appeared this day WILLIAM J. GEIERMANN, who on oath deposes and says:

COUNT ONE

On or about April 7, 1972, at and within the Central Division of the District of Utah, RICHARD FLOYD MC COY, JR. did commit and attempt to commit aircraft piracy by the seizure and exercise of control of a Boeing 727 airplane, being United Air Lines Flight Number 855, en route from Denver, Colorado, to Los Angeles, California, and being an aircraft within the special aircraft jurisdiction of the United States, carrying 85 passengers and 6 crew members, a total of 91 persons, by force and violence and threat of force and violence and with wrongful intent, in violation of Section 1472(i)(1), Title 49, United States Code.

COUNT TWO

On or about April 7, 1972, at and within the Central Division of the District of Utah, RICHARD FLOYD MC COY, JR. while aboard an aircraft within the special aircraft jurisdiction of the United States, to-wit, a Boeing 727 aircraft, being United Air Lines Flight Number 855, from Denver, Colorado, to Los Angeles, California, did assault, intimidate and threaten Mrs. DIANE M. SURDAM, an attendant on said aircraft, to-wit, a stewardess, by exhibiting to her a hand grenade and shaking the same in his hand toward her and telling her she was to deliver an envelope to the pilot of the said airplane, which envelope contained a bullet and a grenade pin with a written note stating "GRENADE - PIN PULLED - PISTOL", and a flight plan on a regular Federal Aviation Agency Form 7233, directing the pilot to fly said aircraft to San Francisco, so as to interfere with the performance by her of her duties and lessen the ability of her to perform her duties, in violation of Section 1472(j), Title 49, United States Code.

The complainant states this complaint is based on personal knowledge of the complainant obtained through investigation conducted by him consisting of:

Interview with KERRY E. NEWMAN, a Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, who advised complainant that he interviewed Mrs. DIANE M. SURDAM on the early morning of April 8, 1972, at the Salt Lake City Airport, and that Mrs. SURDAM advised him that she was a stewardess on the Boeing 727 aircraft, United Air Lines Flight 855, from Denver, Colorado, to Los Angeles, California, and that on said flight, approximately 40 miles northwest of Grand Junction, Colorado, and over and within the Central Division of the District of Utah, a male person exhibited to her a hand grenade, shaking the same in his hand toward her and telling her to deliver a note to the pilot of said aircraft, said note being, in substance, "GRENADE - PIN PULLED - PISTOL"; that said person later had handed to her an envelope for delivery to the pilot, which envelope contained a grenade pin, a bullet, and a flight plan directing the pilot to proceed to San Francisco; that he had her deliver numerous notes, flight plans and instructions to the pilot; that the pilot instead of flying to Los Angeles

as the flight was scheduled, did fly to San Francisco where the plane landed; that at San Francisco the said person required her to deliver notes and instructions to the pilot which required the pilot to refuel the plane for a six-hour flight, to have all passengers' luggage removed from the plane and to have delivered to the airplane four parachutes and $500,000.00 in cash; that he ordered a passenger on the plane to deplane and bring the parachutes, the money which was in two flight bags, and said person's personal luggage back onto the airplane; that said person then ordered all passengers and one of the stewardesses off the airplane; that immediately before the airplane left San Francisco the said male person handed her a note for delivery to the pilot, which note directed that all passengers were to remove from the airplane and the pilot was to get the airplane off the ground expeditiously; that the said male person required her to return all notes, instructions and flight plans but she was able to retain this one note which was hand printed, and that after the plane landed in Salt Lake City she delivered said note to an FBI Agent, that she identified said note as reading "EVERBODY OFF NOW EXCEPT STEWARDESS - THEY STAY PUT GET THE HELL OFF THE GD!! BE QUICK ABOUT IT - USE THIS RUNWAY"; that said person then required her to deliver another set of instructions and flight plan to the pilot to fly from San Francisco southeasterly so as to go over Tonapah, Nevada; that said plane in leaving San Francisco carried only a crew of five, including two stewardesses, and the said person; that said person required her to deliver additional instructions, flight plans and notes to the pilot which directed the pilot to fly the plane from in the vicinity of Marysvale, Utah, toward the Salt Lake City Airport; that said person required her to carry further notes, flight plans and instructions to the pilot which required the pilot, in the vicinity of Fairfield, Utah, to fly easterly toward Price, Utah; that a few minutes after turning toward Price, the said person was no longer in the airplane and she believed that he had parachuted out with the money; that at that time the rear entranceway from the plane was open; that the plane thereupon turned toward the Salt Lake City Airport where it landed shortly thereafter.

That complainant examined teletype message from the Special Agent in Charge of the FBI Office at San Francisco, California, which advised that WILLIAM RICHARD COGGIN was interviewed by FBI Agents and advised them that he was a passenger on the said United Air Lines Flight 855, as above referred to, that while on said flight he observed a male person give a stewardess notes which she took up to the pilot of the airplane, that he saw the said person holding a hand grenade in his hand with the pin removed, that after the plane landed at San Francisco the person directed him, COGGIN, to report to the captain of the airplane and that the airplane captain told COGGIN the said person directed COGGIN to leave the airplane and secure from the ground near the plane a large blue piece of luggage, two large briefcases, and some parachutes which he then carried aboard the airplane, that shortly thereafter all passengers on the plane, including COGGIN, were allowed to leave the aireraft at San Francisco, that he has examined a number of photographs presented to him by the FBI and identified one of them as the above-described male person aboard United Air Lines Flight 855, which picture was subsequently identified to him as that of RICHARD FLOYD MC COY, JR.

That complainant interviewed RICHARD W. HEAD, Special Agent of the FBI, who advised complainant that HEAD had interviewed K. R. BRADLEY, co-pilot on said United Air Lines

Flight 855, after the same landed at Salt Lake City, that said co-pilot told HEAD that a number of notes were received by the pilot and co-pilot from a male passenger on said flight, said notes being delivered by stewardess Mrs. DIANE M. SUNDAM, one of which notes stated that if a chase plane was observed the said male passenger would set a charge to detonate and that the male passenger would then parachute prior to the charge detonating and before the captain could land the plane; HEAD advised complainant further that Mr. BRADLEY had stated that one of the notes also stated that if any of the crew, particularly either of the stewardesses, turned around to observe the said male passenger in the cabin, that "it would be a long fall without a parachute".

That complainant further interviewed Special Agent KERRY E. NEWMAN of the FBI who advised complainant that NEWMAN, by telephone, conversed with PALMER G. TUNSTALL who is a document examiner with the FBI Laboratory at Washington, D. C., that Mr. TUNSTALL advised NEWMAN that he had compared hand printing on a note received from RUSSELL P. CALAME, Special Agent in Charge of the Salt Lake City FBI Office, which note is above referred to and set forth in full, with specimens of handwriting of the said RICHARD FLOYD MC COY, JR. contained in his official Army personnel records, which hand printed note he found to be identical with, and written by the same person as, the handwriting in MC COY's official military records;

That complainant interviewed JAMES L. THEISEN, Special Agent of the FBI at Salt Lake City, who advised complainant that THEISEN had interviewed ROBERT VAN IEPEREN, a Utah Highway Patrolman who resides in Salt Lake City, that IEPEREN advised THEISEN that he was a close acquaintance of RICHARD FLOYD MC COY, JR., that MC COY is a sky diver who jumps at the Alta Airport in Salt Lake County on a regular basis, that MC COY is a Vietnam veteran, having served there two years, one year of which he was a helicopter pilot, that MC COY is currently a member of the 115th Engineer National Guard Unit of Murray, Utah, that MC COY flies frequently and is very familiar with FAA flight plan forms and has access to them, that MC COY has several pistols and in view of his past military experience it would be possible for MC COY to have a hand grenade, that approximately three weeks to one month ago MC COY told IEPEREN that it would be possible for someone to hijack a plane and get away with it by carrying his own parachute on the plane and that if he were to hijack a plane he would demand at least $500,000.00, that IEPEREN stated that at approximately 9:30 PM on the night of April 7, 1972, MC COY's sister-in-law talked to IEPEREN by telephone and asked if MC COY was on a mission of some sort; that at about 11:30 PM on the same date, he had another telephone conversation with the sister-in-law who stated that MC COY was not home and the sister-in-law stated to IEPEREN that she was "scared to death" as MC COY had tried to get her to help him on a hijacking.

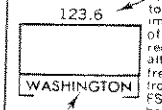
AIR/GROUND COMMUNICATION BOXES

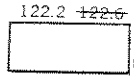
Shadow box indicates Standard FSS A/G Voice Communications freqs 122.1R, 122.6, 123.6 and 255.4 are available at all altitudes without terrain interference.
Frequencies transmit and receive except those followed by R or T
R - receive only T - transmit only

Plain box, with freq/s, indicates all Standard FSS freqs are not available, or are not available at all altitudes, due to terrain interference.



This is the best freq to use in the immediate vicinity of this site insuring reception at low altitudes. Other freqs are available from the Controlling FSS named, however, altitude may determine their reception.

Controlling FSS name



All Standard FSS freqs except the crossed out 122.6 are available at this location.
122.2 and 122.3 are additional FSS frequencies available at selected locations.

Plain box, without frequencies, indicates no Standard FSS frequencies available.

Vol. 204, No. 176 Salt Lake City, Utah — Saturday M

Skyjacker Bails

By Dave Beck, Craig Hansen
and George A. Sorensen
Tribune Staff Writers

A gunman, who hijacked a United Air Lines 727 jet and demanded and got $500,000, parachuted from the plane Friday at 11:15 p.m. near Provo.

The jet landed at Salt Lake International Airport about 11:50 p.m.

The Utah Highway Patrol dispatcher at Provo said all available manpower, "everyone who can walk," was out looking for the hijacker.

On and off duty officers from the Highway Patrol, Orem City, Provo City and Utah County Sheriff's Office were out looking. The Utah County Jeep Patrol also was alerted.

The best information available indicated the hijacker jumped in an area of farm and marsh land near Springville.

Also early Saturday morning, Ronald Law, Utah Highway Patrol dispatcher at Provo, said officers had tried to stop an unidentified helicopter.

The helicopter has landed and taken off at several points around the lake and once at Mt. Pleasant, but when officers approached it from the ground, it took off.

Utah County Sheriff Ralph Chapple sent several officers to the lake near Lehi after an unidentified woman said she saw the plane fly over and a parachute drop.

Sheriff Chapple also said a signaling device on the parachute indicates it was near the Lehi area.

The hijacker, described as a swarthy, bespectacled man with a mustache, took over the Boeing 727 jetliner a few minutes after it left Denver for Los Angeles Friday afternoon.

He forced the pilot to fly to San Francisco where the half a million dollars in money and four parachutes were loaded aboard. The plane's 85 passengers were permitted to disembark.

The hijacker also ordered the plane refueled.

A United spokesman identified the crew as: pilot Gerry D. Hearn of Los Angeles; first officer K. R. Bradley; second officer K. W. Owen; and stewardesses D. M. Surdam, D. K. Sugimoto and M. M. Newby, all of Los Angeles.

The plane was airborne at 8:41 p.m. (MST), heading for Nevada and carrying enough fuel for 4,000 miles.

According to newsmen at the Las Vegas Sun a dummy parachute with a signaling service attached was dropped about halfway between Pioche and Ely.

The plane then began an orbit over Utah, passing several times over Fairfield, which is west of Utah Lake.

FBI agents and police cordoned off the airliner as soon as it touched down at the Salt Lake International Airport. A package was found aboard the aircraft and, although no information was available as to what it contained, Frank Smith, a Salt Lake City Police Dept. demolition expert, was called to the airport.

Crew Interrogated

The crew was taken inside the airport terminal for interrogation.

Utah Highway Patrol dispatcher said they had received information that the hijacker might possibly have jumped over the southeast corner of Utah Lake.

Helicopters were sent to the area early Saturday morning.

During a press conference at the Salt Lake International Airport at 1:50 a.m. Saturday, a Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said the plane was unpressurized throughout its flight from San Francisco to Salt Lake City.

The spokesman said the back door of the jet was open all the way. The highest altitude reached by the aircraft was 16,000 feet and that was over Provo.

The spokesman said that the best theory was that the hijacker jumped over Provo at that altitude.

The pilot, he said, never saw the hijacker who passed a series of notes he had already prepared to the pilot via a stewardess.

UAL officials in San Francisco said the hijacker donned a jumpsuit before

Laird Warns N. Vietnam: Air Raids to Go On Till Reds Quit DMZ Line

By Michael Getler
Washington Post Writer

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said Friday that heavy U.S. air and naval bombardment of North Vietnam would go on until Hanoi both "withdraws" its invading forces back across the now-violated Demilitarized Zone and shows "a willingness to seriously negotiate" a peaceful settlement to the war.

Laird did not say if a withdrawal of the roughly Hanoi's chief arms supplier.

"The Soviet Union, in my opinion," Laird said, 'is a major contributor to the continuing conflict . . . in Southeast Asia. . . . 80 percent of the equipment being used in this particular conflict continues to be supplied . . . by the Soviet Union.'

A Slap at Russians

The Russians, he said, have "placed no restraint upon the use of this equipment outside of North Vietnam," and now 12 of Hanoi's 14 regular army divisions are "operating outside their country, marauding through Southeast Asia."

Laird has hit this theme before, but never so sharply, and at a time when President Nixon's visit to Moscow is only about six weeks away.

Laird has said in previous interviews

20,000 enemy troops and heavy arms that have crossed the DMZ into South Vietnam in the past week would signal that Hanoi was ready to negotiate seriously, but his remarks strongly implied that the U.S. would not return to the Paris peace talks at least until such a withdrawal takes place.

Mr. Laird

Using the toughest language to come from the Nixon administration thus far on the serious and spreading military showdown in Vietnam, Laird condemned not only the North Vietnamese but was sharly critical of the Soviet role as mutual cutbacks on arms shipments into Vietnam can be held during the Moscow summit.

At a Pentagon press conference Friday, the defense chief said the "massive invasion" across the DMZ was a "flagrant violation" not only of the 1954 accord on Vietnam but the "understandings" which led to the U.S. bombing halt in November, 1968.

But He Stops Short

But Laird stopped short of saying that the U.S had now completely abandoned any policy of restraint in use of air power over the North.

"If the enemy decides to withdraw and go beyond the DMZ and shows a willingness to seriously negotiate in Paris," then, he indicated, the current bombing attacks would end.

"It would seem that the hijacking was well thought out, well planned and he obviously had a knowledge of parachutes," one official said.

The hijacker had signed onto the plane as "A. T. Johnson," agents said.

The FBI alerted the Lincoln County

Heroin Hot Line Solicits Calls From Tipsters

KEY BISCAYNE, FLA. (AP) — A heroin hot line was opened Friday to take telephone calls from private citizens with tips and leads on heroin pushers and profiteers, the Florida White House announced.

The toll-free direct telephone calls are the latest effort by the Nixon administration to crack down on what the President has labeled public enemy No. 1. — the sale and use of heroin.

Federal narcotics experts will check out and verify the hot line tips, presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said.

Ziegler said the callers may remain anonymous and "will be fully protected" to avoid reprisals against anyone who provides information and he said "all constitutional safeguards will be followed" in verifying the information received.

The hot line telephone number: area code 800-336-5363.

Skyjacker Bails Out of UAL Jetliner Over Utah; Took Off From S.F. With $500,000 Ransom

Sheriff's office in Pioche at about 9:45 p.m. MST to set up roadblocks, but this alert was almost immediately rescinded as later information made it clear that the hijacker was not in the area.

Friday's hijacking began over the Rocky Mountains, not long after the plane stopped in Denver. The 727 jetliner involved was United's flight 855 from Newark, N.J., to Los Angeles.

The plane was diverted to San Francisco where it landed at 4:15 p.m. PST. The craft was fueled, all baggage aboard was unloaded and the parachutes were delivered in response to the hijacker's request.

Shortly after 7 p.m. PST, airline spokesman Mardy Leaver said the half a million dollars had been delivered — left on a ramp about 100 feet from the plane and picked up.

Passengers Get Off

The passengers began getting off the plane immediately after the hijacker's demands were met.

It was not immediately known how many of the six crewmen remained aboard. Initially, the airline said the plane carried 85 passengers, plus the hijacker, and four United personnel traveling as passengers.

Among those let off the plane in San Francisco was Sandra Wilkinson, 25, of Honolulu, an off-duty stewardess. She said most of the passengers did not know the plane was being hijacked.

"One man wearing mirrored sunglasses passed notes up to the captain. He had a dark complexion with a mustache curled up at the ends," she said.

Miss Wilkinson said she understood the hijacker was armed with a hand grenade and a pistol. She said the money had been delivered to him in two suitcases.

Another passenger, Michael Luckoff, sales manager for KGO Radio in San Francisco, said the hijacker appeared to be wearing a wig. He said everyone on the plane remained calm while the plane waited at the airport.

During the three hours at San Francisco International Airport, the plane sat at the far end of Runway 19 — Left, about a mile from the main terminal.

A U.S. Coast Guard helicopter carrying FBI sharpshooters was reported to have taken off immediately after the jetliner, but the Coast Guard refused further comment.

AF Alerts 2 Jets

Lt. Col. John Walker of Hamilton Air Force Base had said two F106 Delta Daggers were standing by waiting to "scramble to follow the hijacked plane." The Air Force refused to say whether their planes had taken off, however.

The hijacker ordered the plane diverted not long after it left Denver at 2:36 p.m. MST.

A United spokesman in Denver said the airline had used the Federal Aviation Administration profile of characteristics of potential hijackers, but reportedly employed no other special security precautions for passengers boarding at Denver.

It was not known where the hijacker got on the plane. United said all but three of the passengers on the hijacked plane got on in Denver. The airline did not immediately know the sex of the three passengers who remained on board at Denver.

The plane had a capacity of 96 passengers. The Boeing 727 is a medium range aircraft with a normal cruising speed of 600 miles an hour and three engines.

Parachutes and ransom have figured in six other hijackings since last Nov. 12.

The first hijacker to try to use a parachute was indentified as Paul Joseph Cinci, 27, of Calgary, Alta., who took over an Air Canada DC8 bound from Vancouver to Toronto. Cinci demanded and got $50,000 ransom and started to strap himself into a parachute he said he had carried on the plane. He was overpowered by crew members.

On Dec. 24, a man identified as Everett L. Holt of Indianapolis, was captured at Chicago's O'Hare International Airport after a five-hour period during which he threatened to blow up a Northwest Airlines Boeing 707 unless given $300,000 and two parachutes. His hostages escaped, however, and he surrendered.

Hijacker Surrendered

On Jan. 12, a man identified as Billy E. Hurst, 22, hijacked a Braniff Boeing 727 en route from Houston to Minneapolis and forced it to land at Dallas, demanding among other things, parachutes and $1 million. He never got either the money or the parachutes and, as in the Chicago incident, the hostages escaped and the hijacker surrendered.

On Jan. 20, a young man identified only as John Shane parachuted from a Hughes Airwest DC9 over Colorado, along with $50,000 he had demanded from the airline when he hijacked the plane at Las Vegas, Nev., McCarran International Airport. The young man was captured within a few hours.

A week later, Heinrick von George, 45, hijacked an Albany to New York flight of Mohawk Airlines and demanded two parachutes and $200,000. He was given both and the plane took off, but it landed again at the Dutchess County Airport in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., at the hijacker's request, and an FBI sharpshooter shot and killed him.

Intercosmos in Space

MOSCOW (AP) — Intercosmos 6, an earth satellite to study cosmic radiation and meteor particles, was launched Friday in the Soviet Union, Tass reported. The Intercosmos series is a cooperative venture involving the Soviet Union and Eastern European countries. Tass said Intercosmos 6 was put into an orbit with a high point of 159 miles, a low point of 126 miles. The last Intercosmos in the program was launched Dec. 2.

Wind, Snow Slam Illinois-Indiana Area

United Press International

Wind-driven snow slammed northern Illinois and northern Indiana Friday, snarling traffic, chilling pedestrians and causing at least two deaths.

The April storm, described by one Chicago traffic detail spokesman as "the worst day of the winter for traffic," came on the heels of tornadoes that caused one death and extensive property damage.

Two persons were killed in a chain reaction accident on Chicago's Kennedy Expressway and a truck and about six autos were involved in a chain reaction accident on Interstate 94 near Gary, Ind.

Two trucks jackknifed on another superhighway near Gary.

The storm reduced visibility at O'Hare International Airport to the point that no arrivals were permitted for a two-hour period. Several airline and most of the area's air traffic experienced delays.

The snow spread into Indiana, where a man was killed at Fort Wayne when he lost control of his truck on an icy overpass and an Indianapolis man died when high winds capsized his boat in a gravel pit near Indianapolis.

Seven inches of new snow fell at Eastport, Maine, bringing the accumulation there to

Case No. 43

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

v.

RICHARD FLOYD McCOY, JR.

SEARCH WARRANT

To Special Agent LOTE KINNEY, JR., Federal Bureau of Investigation, and any other authorized Agent of the FBI.

Affidavit having been made before me by Special Agent LOTE KINNEY, JR.

that he {has reason to believe / is positive} that {on the person / on the premises known as} green Volkswagen automobile, with North Carolina license plates, claimed and used by RICHARD FLOYD McCOY, JR., in the Central Division of the District of Utah, there is now being concealed certain property, namely, grenades and grenade pins, hand guns, bullets, parachutes and parachute beepers, jump suit, a black hard jump hat or helmet, blue luggage bag, $500,000.00 in currency, two North Star Altimeters mounted on Valcro wrist mounts, one 6"x6"x5" white cardboard box, articles of clothing, including a blue men's suit, blue navy trousers, blue sport coat with stripes, pink modern type shirt, flowered shirt, blue socks, two-tone blue with gray square-toed shoes or two-tone blue with brown shoes, silver or chrome wrist watch, small yellow pad, yellow papers, FAA flight plans Form 7233, typewriters, pens, pencils, flight maps or aeronautical maps, airline ticket receipts or stubs, luggage tags, mirrored sunglasses, wigs, false mustaches, broken pieces of mirror, Manila envelopes, small black suitcase; two brief cases, black or tan; black gloves, which are instrumentalities and fruits of the aircraft piracy and the interference with flight attendant, which occurred on April 7, 1972, on United Air Lines Flight 855, at and within the Central Division of the District of Utah, and as I am satisfied that there is probable cause to believe that the property so described is being concealed on the {person / premises} above described and that the foregoing grounds for application for issuance of the search warrant exist.

You are hereby commanded to search forthwith the {person / place} named for the property specified, serving this warrant and making the search {in the daytime / at any time in the day or night} and if the property be found there to seize it, leaving a copy of this warrant and a receipt for the property taken, and prepare a written inventory of the property seized and return this warrant and bring the property before me within ten days of this date, as required by law.

Dated this 7th day of April, 1972.

A. M. PERRO
U. S. Magistrate

1. The Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure provide: "The warrant shall direct that it be served in the daytime, but if the affidavits are positive that the property is on the person or in the place to be searched, the warrant may direct that it be served at any time." (Rule 41C)

Dear [redacted] b7C

Just got your letter today and decided since I have a little "time" on my hands to reciprocate. Regardless of what ever you are doing it's more fun that way. To bad I never tried to convince Lois of that. Oh yes, I did whip off a letter to her. Just got it mailed this morning. I hope for once in her life she reciprocates. I'm sending her address as per your request. Lets make that perfectly clear eh. I don't want [redacted] smiled at me. [redacted] may still be as good looking as b7C she was 10 years ago and I know all about the weakness of the flesh. [202 South 3rd St, Wilmington N. Carolina]

Never fear [redacted] about how things will turn b7C out. There isn't a jail strong enough to hold me. After all that good military experience in escape and evasion how can they possibly hold me. They've got a tiger by the tail and just don't know it. If my superior intelligence and training fails, then I still have my old friends out side that absolutely sure are ready to come after me. Life is only an adventure anyway, and between the two of us I think we can come up with something super. Of course on the other hand you being an ex cop, just how far can I trust you. I had one cop buddy out here and the bastard [illegible] on me.

With "best" friends like him (quote from Time) I don't need any enemies. But anyway if you are still true blue I'll send you a blueprint of this joint and tell you how to get me out. Go ahead and do your plowing in the south forty and bring all the rods. All that stuff I send you from Vietnam should come in handy now — and there we were thinking it would never be used. Bring the grenades, the rocket launcher (we'll blow out the North Wall with that) and a couple of grease guns (no i.d.e.t, not the one's you use on your car) Be sure to bring along Blow Torch — if we can keep him away from people with knives, we might be able to use him.

I appreciate your taking all my calls [redacted] b7C [redacted] him trying to figure out if they are really concerned about me and my predicament or if they just wanted an excuse to call you. Probably the latter!! Rats!! But that's the way the cookie crumbles.

By the way, I don't like your attitude. You made your letter sound like you did believe this frivolous thing. Don't believe half of what you read — really — "organized crime freak" — really now. The only thing I ever wanted was to fly helicopters and kill Gooks.

Well I'll let you go for now. If the wall blows in some day, I'll know you've arrived! Keep me posted.

As always, and more so

Richard

COPY of memorandum furnished to AUSA JAMES F. MOUSLEY re interview by SAs [redacted] and [redacted] of b7C [redacted]

MEMORANDUM

TO : James F. Housley, Assistant U.S. Attorney

FROM: SA [redacted] FBI b7C

DATE: June 27, 1972

[redacted] presently residing at [redacted] Canton, Ohio, was interviewed by Special Agents [redacted] and [redacted] in the office of the United States Magistrate A. M. Ferro, United States Post Office Building, Salt Lake City, Utah, on June 26, 1972 in the presence of [redacted] of Canton, Ohio. [redacted] advised that she has additional information that she, upon the advice of her attorney, desires to furnish to the FBI and is willing to testify b7C to in U.S. District Court in the case of United States v. Richard Floyd McCoy, Jr. She stated the following information is being furnished in addition to the information she previously furnished Special Agents [redacted] and [redacted] at Provo, Utah on April 9, 1972. A written recording of the information she previously furnished to Agents [redacted] and [redacted] was read to her, and she made the following correction:

She stated that [redacted] who telephoned her at the McCoy residence on the night of April 7, 1972, is a friend of Richard's, but that she has not actually seen [redacted] b7C She has heard McCoy talk of [redacted] and is aware that he is employed with the Utah Highway Patrol and works with McCoy in a unit of the Utah National Guard.

She stated that when [redacted] telephoned her the night of April 7, 1972 and indicated to her that McCoy had discussed with b7C him in general terms a plan for hijacking a plane, [redacted] indicated that McCoy had told him that he hijacked a plane, he would ask for $500,000.00. She told [redacted] that McCoy had also talked to her and that he would ask for that amount when he had discussed a hypothetical hijacking plan with her. [redacted] stated that the first time Richard McCoy actually made a specific proposal to her that she help him in a hijacking was about two months prior to the hijacking, which occurred on April 7, 1972. At this time, he stated that he had a "fool proof" plan whereby he would hijack a plane from California; ask for $500,000.00; use his own parachute to avoid the use of "beepers" which are used to trace the parachute; that he would not be observed by the pilot or anyone in the cockpit; that he would not spend any of the hijack loot for many years because it would be marked with a substance that would be visible by use of an ultra-violet light and since he could not be prosecuted for seven years after the crime had been committed. He told her that he would pay her $50,000.00 and that all she had to do is pick him up after he bailed out of the plane. She stated that this discussion was made to her out of the presence of [redacted] but that [redacted] later told [redacted] that if she was considering participating in the hijacking with [redacted] did not "want any part of it." [redacted] told McCoy at this time that she did not want to participate with him in any hijacking. [redacted] advised that about one month prior to the hijacking of April 7, 1972, Richard McCoy again made a proposal to her that she consider participating in a hijacking with him in that the plan was "fool proof" and that there was no way he could be caught. He did not elaborate on the plan at this time and she told him that he should get [redacted] to pick him up and he answered that he had discussed it with [redacted] but that she would not "go for it." [redacted] again told McCoy that she was not interested. Shortly after this discussion, which took place in the McCoy residence, [redacted] who was in bed, came out to the livingroom where McCoy and [redacted] were discussing the proposed hijacking and said to [redacted] that Richard McCoy had told her that although he had discussed the plan with her he had said [redacted]

b7C

b7C

b7C

he was not going to go through with it. [redacted] told [redacted] to go ahead and help Richard if she wanted to, but not to get Karen involved. [redacted] said she will not help him b7C

[redacted] stated that with regard to her activities on Friday, April 7, 1972, she spent the day as she previously indicated at herjob at the Village Inn Restaurant in Provo where she is a waitress. She returned to the McCoy residence about 3:30 or 4:00 p.m. and neither [redacted] were at home at the time. She stated b7C [redacted] arrived home from work between 4:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m. [redacted] asked [redacted] if she wanted to go out for supper and [redacted] indicated that she had plans to have supper with Richard in Salt Lake City that evening. [redacted] later decided that she would have supper with [redacted] and the [redacted] in Provo, and the group went to dinner in Provo and returned home about 7:30 p.m. When they arrived home, Richard was not there.

About 8:30 p.m., [redacted] said she was going to Grant's, a store in Provo to get some hair spray. [redacted] said that this surprised her because [redacted] had previously indicated that she was b7C going to Salt Lake City that even to have supper with [redacted]. [redacted] left the residence in the McCoy gray Plymouth.

Prior to [redacted] return to the residence, Richard McCoy arrived at the residence about 12:15 a.m. When Richard walked in the back door, he was dressed in a brown suit, possibly a yellow shirt, and was wearing his jump boots, which had mud on them. His face was quite dirty, and he was perspiring heavily.

She noticed that he was not wearing his L.D.S. garments and noted that it was the first time that she had seen him not wearing the garments. She stated that he had his T-shirt on. When he walked in, he was carrying a large paper cup with "Hi-Spot" written on it, containing a soft drink. She asked Richard if she could drink the remainder of the drink, and he set it down on the dishwasher and she later drank it. The drink contained a lime soft drink. Richard asked b7C if [redacted] was home, and when she answered that she was not, he walked directly to the bathroom, where he remained a short time and, after washing up, went to his bedroom and laid down on the bed. [redacted] walked in the bedroom and told him that [redacted] had called and asked her if she thought that [redacted] was involved in the hijacking. [redacted] denied any involvement, and [redacted] kept insisting that she felt that he was involved in the hijacking. After she told him that she had talked with [redacted] he became alarmed and said "did you tell [redacted] anything." She then became frightened and told him that she had not told [redacted] anything. She told Richard that [redacted] indicated that he was going to call back, whereupon Richard immediately called the [redacted] residence and asked for [redacted], [redacted] apparently was not there and he hung up.

About 12:45 a.m., [redacted] returned to the residence. [redacted] asked [redacted] where she had been and she said that she had been out with the girls. [redacted] noticed that [redacted] was wearing [redacted] tennis shoes and that they were muddy. [redacted] then went in the bathroom and took a bath together. Richard asked [redacted] to fix them all some hot chocolate, whereupon [redacted] went to the kitchen, fixed hot chocolate, sat down and drank a cup of hot chocolate. When the hot chocolate was cool, she reminded [redacted] that the hot chocolate was ready, but by the time they returned from the bathroom, the hot chocolate was cold. No further discussion was had that night concerning the hijacking and [redacted] retired to bed about 1:30 a.m. When she went to bed, both [redacted] were in the kitchen talking.

[redacted] woke up the morning of April 8, 1972 about 8:30 a.m. and Richard had left the house. She assumed he had gone to a National Guard meeting since the previous night he indicated that he had National Guard scheduled for that day.

The morning of April 8, 1972, several F.B.I. agents came by the house inquiring about Richard's whereabouts and indicating that Richard was possibly involved in the hijacking. After the agents first inquired at the house, [redacted] told [redacted] not to answer any questions on anything to the FBI agents. One time during the morning, [redacted] told [redacted] to leave the house, walk around the area and see if there were any F.B.I. Agents near the house. Later, about noon [redacted] told [redacted] to b7C go to the store, buy something and while there call the Chuck-A-Rama, a restaurant in Salt Lake City, to see what the restaurant had on the menu the previous night. [redacted] thereupon left the residence in the McCoy car and noticed that there were F.B.I. Agents following her. She was afraid to make any call to Salt Lake City and, after purchasing an item in the store, returned to the car and then drove to the McCoy residence. Upon returning to the residence, [redacted] told her that she had called Richard at the National Guard and Richard had instructed [redacted] to tell [redacted] to say nothing.

[redacted] and [redacted] remained at the McCoy residence b7C until the middle of the afternoon when they travelled from Provo to Salt Lake City en route to the National Guard at the Salt Lake Airport to meet with Richard. En route to the airport, they noticed several F.B.I. Agents that they had seen previously and they stopped the agents and asked them if they knew where Richard was. They were advised by one of the F.B.I. agents that Richard was at the F.B.I. office in the Federal Building and that the agents offered to take them to the Federal Building. Whereupon, [redacted] followed the agents to the Federal Building. [redacted] went with the agents to the F.B.I. office and [redacted] remained with [redacted] in the McCoy automobile. Several minutes later, [redacted] left the Federal Building and got in the McCoy automobile. Richard was very hostile toward [redacted] and severely reprimanded her for having commented to [redacted] that she suspected that Richard was involved in the hijacking the previous night. Richard stated "that loud mouth [redacted] had notified the F.B.I. that b7C he suspected I was involved." After leaving the Federal Building, they drove to the National Guard Armory near the Salt Lake Airport, and Richard went in the National Guard Building. Upon his return, he stated that [redacted] was a board a helicopter and Richard, by radio, told [redacted] "Thanks a lot loud mouth", to which [redacted] answered, "I don't know what you're talking about." Richard then stated, "You know what I mean, loud mouth", and [redacted] answered negative.

[redacted] then returned to Provo in the Plymouth, and [redacted] returned in the Volkswagon. When [redacted] arrived at the McCoy residence, the McCoys were not there. A few minutes after she arrived, a telephone call from Richard indicated that he had run out of gas and was having trouble getting the car started and instructed her to come and get them near the American Fork turnoff. She immediately left the residence and began driving as instructed. En route near Provo, she noticed the McCoys driving toward Provo and she turned around and followed them to their residence.

Upon returning to the McCoy residence, [redacted] said "Richard I need to know whether you are involved in the hijacking. If you don't tell me now and I find out later you were involved, I am going to tell on you." And then Richard said, "If you do, I will kill you." He pointed a finger at her in a threatening manner and she became afraid. Richard then turned to [redacted] and said, "She has got to go, she has got to get out of here." Thereupon, [redacted] became afraid and did not question Richard any further at that time.

Soon [redacted] telephone Richard, and he and Richard talked. Richard at first was very hostile toward [redacted] but seemed to mellow as they talked.

b7C

About 5:30 p.m. that night, [redacted] left the residence alone and went to a drive-in and obtained hamburgers and soft drinks for the group and returned shortly to the residence. At that time there were two F.B.I. agents in the McCoy residence talking to Richard [redacted] They asked [redacted] if they had a typewriter, whereupon Karen obtained the McCoy's typewriter and the agents took samples.

While the agents were taking samples, [redacted] grabbed [redacted] by the arm in the hall out of their presence and said, "Don't say anything about your typewriter." The agents soon left.

About 6:00 p.m. when the news was on television, Richard began talking freely about the hijacking. He first said to [redacted] "We will have to get rid of your typewriter. We will have to throw it in the river."

b7C

[redacted] then recalled that earlier that week [redacted] b7C [redacted] in the bedroom using her typewriter ~~which they normally do not use~~ and that when she attempted to get in the bedroom they insisted that she not enter. She listened to the typing and assumed that [redacted] was using the typewriter since the typing was rapid and she knows that Richard cannot type very well.

Richard then said, "Listen, if you don't say anything about this, you will be set for life. I'll give you $50,000." He said not to worry about the typewriter. "I'll get you another one. I'll also get you a new car." He then again described in detail how he hijacked the plane the previous night.

He said he boarded the plane in Denver. He did not say how he traveled to Denver. He said he had spend a lot of money on the clothes he wore when he boarded the plane because he wanted to dress mod because he was not normally a mod dresser. He said it cost him about $500 to pull the hijacking off, including the plane ticket, clothes, etc. He said he wore a pair of two-tone shoes, a loud pink shirt and other mod clothes.

He said as soon as he boarded the plane he went directly to the bathroom and hurriedly put on a disguise consisting of the following: he put a woman's hair band over his ears to hold his ears in. He then put his wig over his hair and darkened his complexion and put a dark mustache on. He put a bandaid on his cheek to cover a mole. He put on mirror reflecting sun glasses. He said he was a mess and did not get his disguise on as well as he intended but was in a hurry to get back to his seat since he did not have much time. He said he sat near the rear of the plane. He said shortly after taking off he felt the stewardess was getting suspicious and when he heard over the intercom from the pilot that the plane was going to have to make an unscheduled stop in Grand Junction he decided to comandeer the plane earlier than planned. He said he carried out the hijacking by giving the stewardess notes. He said in each case he demanded that the notes be returned to him but that he misplaced one note and needed to handwrite one note. He said that he did not have time to get one of the notes back from the stewardess prior to leaving the plane. He said that one note was "PIN PULLED AND GUN LOADED." He said he put this note along with the hand grenade pin and a bullet in an envelope that contained the note and handed it to the stewardess.

[redacted] recalled that Richard had, prior to the hijacking, shown her a hand grenade in the McCoy residence and told her that he had obtained it in Vietnam and showed her how to pull the pin out of the grenade. He later told her that the grenade he had in the plane was not really loaded and that the gun that he had was not loaded but that he had bullets with him. b7C

Later during the T.V. newscast he pointed to one of the stewardesses shown on the news and said, "That's the one." [redacted] inquired as to what he meant and he said "Just forget it." b7C

Richard said that he pulled all of the blinds down on the plane and taped up a peephold so that anyone in another plane following the hijacked plane would not be able to get a good look at him.

Richard said that when the plane landed in San Francisco he had a young long-haired boy get the money.

[redacted] asked Richard why he didn't use his own parachute as he had planned and he said that because he was carrying the parachute in his suitcase and the suitcase began bursting and he had to get rid of it. He said he asked for four parachutes to make the people believe there were two hijackers. [redacted] asked him why four parachutes for two people and he explained that he wore two chutes and that one of the chutes was a reserve chute. He said that he discarded the parachutes and the clothing that he wore by throwing it out of the plane. b7C

He said that he had planned to bail out over the Provo Airport about 10:30 or 11:00 P.M. [redacted] later told [redacted] that she had waited near the Provo Airport the night of the hijacking to pick Richard up but when the lights were turned on at the airport and the "cops came" she left. [redacted] said that she did not pick Richard up after he bailed out. b7C

Richard said that he, because of the change in wind, landed near Springville, Utah. He said he had a good landing on smooth ground. He described to her how he landed in order to protect his bad leg. He said he threw the parachute that he used underground in a ditch since the beeper would not work underground. He said he hid the money near where he landed. He said he walked to the Hi Spot Drive-In in Springville where he bought a soft dring and then paid a kid at the drive-in $5 to drive him home. He said that he talked about the weather and the boy left him off a couple of blocks from his house.

Richard told [redacted] that the notes he used to give instructions to the pilot were typed on [redacted] typewriter. [redacted] advised that several days after Richard was arrested she looked through the pockets of a brown suit coat believed to be the same one Richard wore when he arrived at the residence the night of April 7 and in the presence of [redacted] who resides on [redacted] in Salt Lake City, found in the coat pocket $14.69. She said she deduced that this was the exact change that he would have left from $20 including the $5 he paid the boy and the 31 cents for a large soft drink, in that he said he used a $20 bill from the loot to pay for the drink and pay the boy. b7C

When [redacted] asked Richard why he committed the hijacking he smiled and said, "Just for the thrill of it." At that time on Saturday night [redacted] asked [redacted] if the money was in the house and he said no. b7C

Later that night [redacted] and [redacted] went out to get something to eat and when they returned home about 9:00 P.M. Richard was in bed. They woke Richard up and he appeared to be calmer and indicated that everything is going to be O.K. "Let's just act normal and don't worry. If they don't come to us by Monday or Tuesday, we don't have anything to worry about." [redacted] said that thereupon they all went to bed and since she was nerbous she slept beside their bed that night. b7C to come with her to help her hide the money. [redacted] left and took the children to a baby sitter. On the way back to the house the two began arguing about something not related to the hijacking and [redacted] said that she was not going to help [redacted] hide the money. Thereupon [redacted] said "If you don't help me I will walk right over to the FBI and tell them that you knew everything about it and that it was your typewriter and that you are involved." Thereupon [redacted] became freightened and decided to help [redacted] They returned home and on the way from the car to the house [redacted] again threatened to tell the FBI if [redacted] did not help her. They entered the residence and [redacted] got Richard's wig, cut it in small pieces with scissors and flushed it down the toilet. She gave [redacted] a pair of white gloves to wear and they went to the back room of the house. [redacted] showed [redacted] a large box containing a stove pipe about four feet long containing many packets of money. At one end of the stove pipe there was a plastic covering that slipped off and the money fell into the box. Also in the box was a large garbage bag ("Hefty bag") brown in color containing many packets of money. [redacted] advised that her fingerprints are all over the money. [redacted] then got other items from various locations in the house which she stated Richard had with him during the hijacking. These items consisted of a gun, a tube of sub substance, one black glove and a piece of a hair substance were placed in the box with the money. She stated she thinks there was also an undershirt or undergarment in the bag. [redacted] stated that "we also have to hide the helmet." She saw [redacted] wipe mud off Richard's jump boots and place them in his closet. She also believed there was a black box, like a shaver box, placed in the box with the money. She said [redacted] had Richard's watch with her but decided to leave the watch on his dresser.

[redacted] recalled that Richard, after the hijacking, told her that he had lost one of the black gloves (which [redacted] had given to him the previous Christmas) when he jumped from the plane.

b7C

[redacted] after Richard had been arrested, told [redacted] that she had helped Richard get the money from where it was placed after he bailed out. She did not say where they obtained the money. After the money was placed in the box there were other boxes and items placed on top of the box in the back room of the McCoy residence [redacted] then took the toys out of the toy box and placed [redacted] typewriter in the toy box located in the children's bedroom. b7C

Prior after to Richard's arrest he told [redacted] that he had dug a hole in the back yard to throw off the FBI. b7C

[redacted] advised that when the FBI appeared at the residence with a search warrant to search the house she was there during the search and noticed the same box that contained the money was located in the hall and she said she also saw her typewriter in the kitchen along with the McCoy typewriter and they were both tagged with small brown tags. She stated she observed an open parachute on the living room floor. She noted that Richard had never had an open parachute in the residence before.

On Monday following Richard's arrest [redacted] visited him in the jail and he asked [redacted] "Didn't you and [redacted] try to hide the money?" [redacted] told him that they did.

b7C

[redacted] advised that she continued to reside at the McCoy residence in Provo until the first part of May 1972 when [redacted] told her that she wanted her to leave the residence in that she did not want to have her around her children. [redacted] told her at that time "If you talk, your ass is going to burn." Whereupon [redacted] answered, "Well, if I burn, you're going to burn too."

She stated she has not been in contact with [redacted] since that time.

b7C

[redacted] advised that she has talked with two of Richard McCoy's attorneys in Provo and has also talked with [redacted] from Salt Lake City, who represents Richard. She advised that she told [redacted] substantially the same information she has provided here and that [redacted] tape recorded about two hours of conversation with her concerning Richard McCoy's involvement in the hijacking. b7C

PETITION FOR WRIT OF CERTIORARI TO THE UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE TENTH CIRCUIT

A writ of certiorari is respectfully sought to review the opinion of the United States Court of Appeals for the Tenth Circuit, entered in this case on May 7, 1973.

OPINION BELOW

The opinion of the United States Court of Appeals for the Tenth Circuit has not been officially reported. That opinion was made and entered on May 7, 1973, and a copy is appended to this Petition as Appendix A.

The Judgment and Commitment of the United States District Court for the District of Utah — Central Division dated July 11, 1972, sentencing the defendant to imprisonment for a period of 45 years after his conviction by a jury of the crime of "Air Piracy" is appended to this Petition as Appendix B.

JURISDICTION

Jurisdiction is invoked under 28 USCA 1254(1), which statutory provision is believed to confer on this Court jurisdiction to review the opinion below.

QUESTIONS PRESENTED FOR REVIEW

The Court of Appeals held that even though the search warrant used to search the defendant's premises was not in accordance with the requirements of Rule 41(c), Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, since it failed to contain therein the name of the person whose affidavit was given in support of the search warrant, that such error was harmless since it resulted in no prejudice to the petitioner, McCoy. The Court also held that there was probable cause for issuance of the search warrant and even though the only affidavit in support thereof contained entirely hearsay. Therefore, the questions presented by this Petition are:

1. Considering that the search warrant is defective, did the Court of Appeals apply the correct "harmless error" rule and as set forth in prior decisions of the Supreme Court?

2. Did the Court of Appeals err in finding probable cause from the affidavit where the information furnished was entirely double or triple hearsay?

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

This is a criminal case involving a charge against the petitioner of Aircraft Piracy (violation of Section 1472 (i) (1), Title 49 United States Code). He was indicted and convicted on this charge after jury trial and his conviction was affirmed by the Court of Appeals.

The facts which are material to this petition are as follows: On April 7, 1972, United Airlines Flight #855, a Boeing 727, was hijacked while en route from Denver, Colorado to Los Angeles, California and was diverted to San Francisco, California. Various members of the crew testified that the hijack was carried out by means of various threats and that the hijacker claimed to be armed with a grenade, a gun or guns and plastic explosives.

The hijacker demanded and obtained $500,000.00 at San Francisco. He then directed the aircraft over Nevada and into Utah and then apparently bailed out of the aircraft in the general vicinity of Provo, Utah around 11:15 p.m. on Friday, April 7, 1972.

On Sunday morning, April 9, 1972, at approximately 8:00 a.m. a search warrant was issued by the magistrate for the search of the petitioner's premises in Provo, Utah. The only affidavit given in support of the issuance of this search warrant was by Mr. William J. Geiermann, an FBI agent in Salt Lake City. However, his name was not contained in the search warrant as required by the clear mandate of Rule 41(c), Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, which in applicable part then required that the search warrant "shall state the grounds or probable cause for its issuance and the names of the persons whose affidavits have been taken in support thereof." Instead of containing the name of Mr. Geiermann, the search warrant erroneously stated that it was based upon the affidavit of Mr. Lote Kinney, Jr., he being another FBI agent in Salt Lake City and the one to whom the warrant was directed for execution. Shortly following the issuance of the warrant, the premises of the defendant were searched and a number of extremely incriminating items of evidence were obtained in this search. These included: a typewriter, two flight suits, a parachute harness and a parachute, a black helmet and a green jump type helmet, a hand grenade with pin removed and, most damning of all, the sum of $500,000.00, less only $30.00, in United States currency and wrapped in bank straps.

As noted, the only affidavit in support of the search warrant was given by Agent Geiermann. He had absolutely no first hand knowledge of anything contained in the affidavit upon which the warrant was based. Moreover, none of the direct informants to Agent Geiermann had any first hand konwledge of anything upon which the warrant was based. The affidavit consisted entirely of double hearsay and in two instances, triple hearsay. Nevertheless, the magistrate concluded that this affidavit constituted probable cause for the issuance of the warrant.

Prior to trial, the petitioner, through his attorneys, filed a Motion to Suppress on the grounds that the warrant was defective on its face for failure to state the name of the affiant and also on the grounds that it was not based on probable cause by reason of being entirely double or triple hearsay. Considerable testimony was elicited at the trial on the Motion to Suppress. From this testimony it appeared that there was no explanation as to why the affiant's name was not contained in the search warrant except that a mistake had apparently been made by the United States Attorney and his staff who were principally instrumental in preparing the affidavit and warrant and further that their error was not discovered by the magistrate. The trial judge acknowledged that since the error was in clear violation of the unambiguous language of Rule 41(c), that the warrant was therefore defective on its face. However, he ruled that since the substantial rights of the petitioner were not effected thereby, that it was only "harmless error." The Court of Appeals affirmed this ruling and, in addition, held that the hearsay contained in the affidavit did constitute probable cause for the issuance of the search warrant.

REASONS FOR GRANTING WRIT

This Court should review the decision below for the following reasons:

1. The Court of Appeals for the Tenth Circuit has decided a federal question, to-wit: the interpretation of "harmless error" in a search and seizure case, in a way that is in conflict with applicable decisions of this Court.

2. The Court of Appeals for the Tenth Circuit has erroneously found probable cause for the issuance of the warrant in a way that is in conflict with applicable decisions of this court.

POINT I

THE COURT OF APPEALS HAS ERRONEOUSLY APPLIED THE "HARMLESS ERROR" RULE IN THIS CASE.

POINT II

THE SEARCH WARRANT FOR THE DEFENDANT'S PREMISES WAS CLEARLY DEFECTIVE SINCE IT FAILED TO STATE THE NAME OF THE PERSON WHOSE AFFIDAVIT WAS GIVEN IN SUPPORT THEREOF.

Both the trial judge and the Court of Appeals conceded, as they must, that the search warrant used to search the petitioner's premises was defective on its face inasmuch as it did not contain therein the name of the person whose affidavit was given in support of the search warrant and as positively required by Rule 41(c) of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure. These Courts held that even though an error had been made that it was a harmless one and was not a prejudicial error. Petitioner respectfully submits that this ruling constituted error under the applicable decisions of the United States Supreme Court.

So far as counsel for the petitioner has been able to discover, there is no United States Supreme Court case that has squarely upheld the use of the so-called "harmless error" doctrine in a search and seizure case. That is, there has been no case decided by the Court holding that even though the search was invalid that evidence received in evidence and obtained in the search would not serve as a basis for reversible error because the receipt of such evidence was harmless in light of the otherwise overwhelming evidence of guilt. This issue has been raised before the Court in at last two cases, these being: Fahy v. Connecticut, 375 U.S. 85, 84 S. Ct. 229, 11 L. Ed. 2d 171 (1963) and Bumper v. North Carolina, 391 U.S. 543, 88 S. Ct. 1788, 20 L. Ed.2d 797 (1968). However, the Court did not actually decide this question although there is considerable dicta in both opinions that the Court might adopt a "harmless error" rule in a search and seizure case and under the proper facts.

While the Court has not definitely decided the question of whether or not the harmless error rule can be applied in search and seizure cases, it did, in the Fahy case, enunciate the standard which must be followed whenever the harmless error doctrine is applied. In the words of the Court:

> We are not concerned here with whether there was sufficient evidence on which the petitioner could have been convicted without the evidence complained of. The > question is whether there is a reasonable possibility that the evidence complained of might have contributed to the conviction. [Emphasis added] Id. at 375 U.S. 85, 86.

After the Fahy decision, the Court further clarified the standard which must be followed in applying the harmless error doctrine to any particular case. In Chapman v. State of California, 386 U.S. 18, 24, 87 S. Ct. 824, 828, 17 L. Ed. 705 (1967), the Court recognized the Fahy standard and then further added:

> before a federal constitutional error can be held harmless, the court must be able to declare a belief that it was harmless beyond a reasonable doubt. [Emphasis added] Id. at 17 L. Ed. 710, 711.

In its opinion of May 7, 1973, affirming the conviction in this case, the Court of Appeals failed to apply the standards referred to above. In substance, the Court of Appeals ruled that even though error was committed and Rule 41 was not followed, that no substantial right of the petitioner was violated. This is not the test. The Court of Appeals' opinion completely disregarded whether it could be said beyond a reasonable doubt that the erroneously admitted evidence contributed to the petitioner's conviction. That is the test that was enunciated by the Fahy and Chapman cases, and it was ignored by the Court of Appeals.

Even the most cursory review of the trial transcript would demonstrate that the admission of the evidence in question was not "harmless error" under the standard enunciated by the Court. To the contrary, the evidence obtained and later admitted into court based on this defective search warrant was of the most harmful and incriminating kind insofar as it related to the conviction of this petitioner. This included a hand grenade with pin pulled (the presence of which on the hijacker had been testified to by some of the flight crew), parachutes and other paraphernalia that closely resembled items used by the hijacker and testified to by the flight crew and, most incriminating of all, the very sum of money, less $30.00, obtained by the hijacker. In fact, most of this currency was identified by serial numbers as being the same bills loaded on the hijacked aircraft at San Francisco. Needless to say, there was no possible way to explain away this kind of evidence and it would be naive to say that it did not contribute to the petitioner's conviction. Moreover it could be said not only as "a reasonable possibility", but as a certainty that the prosecution did not regard the evidence in question as being "harmless". This is evident from the zeal with which they pursued its admission at the trial. The "harmless error" rule is a worthwhile one to apply in search and seizure cases where erroneously obtained evidence is admitted by mistake, is merely cumulative, or something to that effect, but it is hardly applicable to evidence of the magnitude of that obtained in the search of this petitioner's premises.

POINT III

SINCE THE AFFIDAVIT IN SUPPORT OF THE SEARCH WARRANT CONTAINED ONLY DOUBLE OR TRIPLE HEARSAY, IT DID NOT PROVIDE PROBABLE CAUSE FOR THE ISSUANCE OF THE WARRANT.

Agent Geiermann gave the only affidavit in support of the search warrant. He had no personal knowledge as to what had occurred and none of the persons furnishing information to him had any personal knowledge as to what had occurred. Of the six categories of information contained in the affidavit, in the case of two of them, there was even triple hearsay involved. In the case of the other information upon which the warrant was based, it was all double hearsay.

Petitioner is well aware that a search warrant may be based on hearsay to some extent. United States v. Harris, 403 U.S. 573 (1971) and Jones v. United States, 362 U.S. 257 (1960). He is also aware of the Eighth Circuit cases United States v. Kleve, 465 F.2d 187 (8th Cir. 1972) and United States v. Smith, 462 F.2d 456 (8th Cir. 1972). However, petitioner respectfully submits that this has not been the ruling of the court and as primarily based on Ventresca v. United States, 324 F.2d 864 (1st Cir. 1963) reversed on other grounds 380 U.S. 102, 12 L. Ed.2d 684, 85 S. Ct. 741 (1965). In the Ventresca case, the Court of Appeals, in effect, ruled that an affidavit grounded on double hearsay alone was not sufficiently credited to support a finding of probable cause. It is true that the Court in the Ventresca case reversed the Court of Appeals, but not on that grounds. The Court did disagree with the Court of Appeals construction of the affidavit itself but in its opinion, the Court tacitly agreed with the Court of Appeals that if the affidavit was hearsay on hearsay that this would not be sufficient.

The case of United States v. Morin, (Conn) 250 F. Supp. 507 (1966) also involved a motion to suppress evidence. That Court referred to the Ventresca decision and noted that the Supreme Court had disagreed with the Court of Appeals in its construction of the affidavit, but the Connecticut District Court then went on to say:

> But in deciding that the Court of Appeals was wrong about this point, there was certainly tacit agreement with the fundament that probable cause for a search warrant cannot be based on information which is 'hearsay on hearsay or some other form of multiple hearsay.' See Ventresca, Douglas J., dissenting. The justices were not divided on that.

The Court should not extend the rule of the Jones case and should require that at least some of the information furnished directly to the affiant be based on personal knowledge and be something strongly than double or triple hearsay.

CONCLUSION

Petitioner respectfully urges the Court to grant certiorari for the reasons stated above.

Respectfully submitted,

UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS TENTH CIRCUIT

MARCH TERM — 1973

No. 72-1646

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Plaintiff-Appellee

v.

RICHARD FLOYD McCOY, JR.
Defendant-Appellant.

Appeal from the United States District Court
For the District of Utah, Central Division
(D.C. No. CR-33-72)

James M. Dunn, Assistant United States Attorney (C. Nelson Day, United States Attorney, on the brief), for Plaintiff-Appellee.

David K. Winder, for Defendant-Appellant.

Before SETH, McWILLIAMS and BARRETT, Circuit Judges

McWILLIAMS, Circuit Judge.

Richard Floyd McCoy, Jr., was convicted by a jury of aircraft piracy under 49 U.S.C. § 1472(i) (1) and he now appeals his sentence of forty-five years. The only point raised on appeal concerns the validity of a search warrant which purported to authorize a search of McCoy's home. In view of the narrow issue presented to us for review, background facts need not be developed in detail.

A United Airlines plane en route from Denver, Colorado, to Los Angeles, California, was taken over by a so-called sky-jacker who by virtue of threats caused the pilot to change his course and land in San Francisco, California. There, the passengers were permitted to deplane and, pursuant to further direction of the sky-jacker, $500,000 in currency and several parachutes were brought aboard the plane. Still acting under threats from the sky-jacker, the pilot then flew the plane back to Utah, with the sky-jacker apparently bailing out near Provo, Utah, taking the $500,000 with him.

Two days after the sky-jacking, McCoy was arrested at his home in Provo, Utah. McCoy was immediately taken before a magistrate who advised him of his various constitutional rights. At the same time and place an FBI agent named William J. Geiermann presented his affidavit to the magistrate and asked for the issuance of a warrant to search McCoy's residence. The magistrate determined that probable cause was shown by Geiermann's affidavit, and issued a search warrant. However, the warrant signed by the magistrate, through someone's error or oversight, mistakenly identified the affiant as one Lote Kinney, Jr., also an FBI agent, instead of Geiermann. As indicated, Geiermann was the only one who had presented an affidavit to the magistrate in support of the request for a search warrant. The warrant itself was directed to Kinney, and he and others operating under his direction conducted the ensuing search of McCoy's residence. The search disclosed, among other things, $499,970 in currency, parachute and harness, grenade, gun and ammunition, and the like.

Four days prior to trial, counsel for McCoy filed a motion to suppress the various articles taken in the search of McCoy's home, alleging that the affidavit did not show "probable cause" for the issuance of a search warrant and that the search warrant itself was "insufficient on its face."

The motion to suppress came on for hearing at the commencement of the trial proper. At the conclusion of the relatively short hearing, the trial court stated that it would defer its ruling till the matter came up during the course of the trial. In the course of the trial, then, the circumstances surrounding the issuance of the search warrant were fully explored, initially out of the presence of the jury, and the trial court then denied the motion to suppress. Accordingly, the articles seized in McCoy's home by the FBI agents were received into evidence. As indicated, the only matter urged in this court concerns the propriety of the trial court's denial of McCoy's motion to suppress.

I

As indicated, the affidavit upon which the issuance of the search warrant was based was that of agent Geiermann. McCoy's complaint about the sufficiency of the affidavit relates to the fact that the statements contained therein were all based on information acquired by Geiermann from others. In other words, Geiermann himself had no so-called firsthand information, and his statements were all based on what he had been told by other FBI agents who in turn had themselves acquired their information from others. The affidavit, then, according to counsel, is one based on double hearsay, if not indeed triple hearsay, and for that reason alone was insufficient to permit a finding by the magistrate that probable cause did exist for the issuance of the search warrant. Let us examine the affidavit a bit more closely.

In his affidavit, Geiermann stated that he had been advised by a fellow FBI agent from San Francisco that a passenger aboard the hijacked plane had been interviewed and that this passenger had viewed a number of photographs presented to him by the FBI and had identified a picture of McCoy as being a picture of the sky-jacker.

Geiermann in his affidavit also stated that he had been advised by a fellow FBI agent who had interviewed a stewardess aboard the sky-jacked plane that he had received from the stewardess a hand printed note which the sky-jacker had sent the pilot during the flight, and that he had been since advised by a document examiner at the FBI laboratory in Washington, D.C., that the writing on the hand printed note had been identified as being the handwriting of McCoy as contained in his official Army personnel records.

Also, in his affidavit, Geiermann stated that he had been advised by still another fellow FBI agent who had talked with a Utah state highway patrolman who served in the Air National Guard with McCoy and that the patrolman had informed him that McCoy was a sky-diver and that the two of them had discussion regarding a plane sky-jacking and that he had ascertained that on the night of the sky-jacking McCoy was not at home.

Without going into more detail, the foregoing is indicative of the type of information set forth in Geiermann's affidavit, which consisted of some six typewritten pages. It is correct to say that all of Geiermann's statements were based on information relayed to him by fellow FBI agents who had in turn acquired their information from others interviewed in the course of their particular investigative endeavors. In this regard see United States v. Ventresca, 380 U.S. 102 (1965), where it was held at page 111 that observations of a fellow Government officer engaged in a common investigation may form the basis for a warrant applied for by one of their number. So then, it is quite true that the affidavit contained some double hearsay, and perhaps even a bit of triple hearsay. However, such fact in and of itself does not render the affidavit insufficient. In determining the sufficiency of an affidavit, the test is whether the affidavit sets forth sufficient underlying facts and circumstances to the end that the magistrate can make a detached judgment as to the reliability of the various sources of the affiant's information. The affidavit in the instant case easily measures up to that test.

That an affidavit for a search warrant may be based on hearsay is well established. United States v. Harris, 403 U.S. 573 (1971), and Jones v. United States, 362 U.S. 257 (1960). Indeed, such is usually the case. As concerns so-called double hearsay, the Eighth Circuit has held that when a magistrate receives an affidavit which concerns hearsay on hearsay, he need not summarily reject this double hearsay information, but is rather called on to evaluate such information as well as all other information in the affidavit in order to determine whether the informant gathered his information in a reliable way and from reliable sources. United States v. Kleve, 465 F.2d 137 (8th Cir. 1972), and United States v. Smith, 462 F.2d 456 (8th Cir. 1972). We subscribe to the reasoning of those cases.

In evaluating the affidavit of Geiermann, it should be noted that we are not here concerned with professional informers, identified or unidentified. Rather, we are concerned with information acquired by FBI agents from named persons who were either eye witnesses to the crime or had information acquired from McCoy himself. This we deem to be of considerable significance in connection with the magistrate's determination as to the reliability of the affiant's sources of information. In this connection it was held in United States v. Bell, 457 F.2d 1231 (5th Cir. 1972), that a supporting affidavit in an application for a search warrant must attest to the credibility of an informer and his information, but that such requirement did not extend to information acquired from an eye witness to a crime.

Without belaboring what we deem to be quite obvious, the affidavit of Geiermann in the instant case was amply sufficient to permit the magistrate to exercise his independent judgment as to the reliability of the various sources of information. Indeed, on the basis of the affidavit before him, the magistrate could only have concluded that probable cause did exist for the issuance of a search warrant.

II

Through the error or oversight on the part of some person or persons, the search warrant, as issued, named therein the affiant as Lote Kinney, Jr., instead of William J. Geiermann. Counsel asserts that this error renders invalid the warrant and the search based thereon. We disagree, as under the facts of this case we see no resulting prejudice to McCoy.

The Fourth Amendment requires that no search warrant shall issue except on probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, but does not require that the name of the affiant be set forth in the warrant itself. So, we are not here concerned with any constitutional mandate. However, Fed. R. Crim. P. 41(c), before the recent amendment thereof, did direct that the warrant shall state the "names of the persons whose affidavits have been taken in support thereof." That particular requirement has since been deleted from the rule, the official committee notes to the amendment stating that the requirement that the warrant itself should state the names of the affiant was being eliminated as "unnecessary paper work." However, such requirement was in effect when the search warrant was issued in the instant case. Fed. R. Crim. P. 52 directs a trial court to disregard any error, defect, irregularity or variance which does affect a defendant's substantial rights. And under 28 U.S.C. § 2111 an appellate court is directed to "give judgment after an examination of the record without regard to errors or defects which do not affect the substantial rights of the parties." For reasons set forth below we do not believe the misidentification in the warrant of the affiant in anywise prejudiced McCoy.

The reason for the earlier requirement in the rule that the warrant name the affiant is said to be that someone must take responsibility for the facts which purportedly give rise to the probable cause for the issuance of the search warrant, and that the defendant should be apprised of the name of that person. Additionally, it has also been stated that another reason for naming the affiant in the warrant is to enable the aggrieved person to probe and challenge the legality of the warrant by challenging, in court, the affiant and his statements. United States ex rel. Pugh v. Pate, 401 F.2d 6 (7th Cir. 1968), cert denied, 394 U.S. 999 (1969), and King v. United States, 282 F.2d 398 (4th Cir. 1960). However, as we see it, McCoy was not prejudiced in either of those areas by the fact that Kinney, rather than Geiermann, was named in the warrant as the affiant.

Although we do not attribute great significance to it, the fact is that McCoy was present in the magistrate's office at the very moment Geiermann presented his affidavit to the magistrate. This no doubt was just a coincidence. However, we are advised that a copy of the warrant, with Geiermann's affidavit attached thereto, was presented to McCoy's wife when the search was made of McCoy's home. Thereafter, copies of the affidavit and the search warrant were on file in the magistrate's office until the return thereon was made, at which time all papers were filed in the office of the clerk of the District Court.

Counsel for McCoy at an early time apparently had access to the affidavit, the warrant and return. At least we know that in explaining why they had delayed filing their motion to suppress till only a few days before trial, counsel candidly stated that it was not till then that they had themselves noted that the warrant named Kinney, rather than Geiermann, as the affiant.

Finally, out of the presence of the jury, there was an in depth inquiry of both Geiermann and Kinney, as well as others concerning the statements in the affidavit, and all the facts and circumstances concerning the issuance of the warrant were fully developed. It is this combination of facts and circumstances that leads us to conclude that McCoy was in fact nowise prejudiced by the misnomer in the warrant.

McCoy relies in this regard on Pugh v. Pate, supra, and King v. United States, supra. We do not regard those cases as having great applicability to the instant case. Each concerned an affiant who used a fictitious name and thereafter apparently disappeared. At least, in King, for example, which incidentally was cited and relied on heavily in Pugh, at the hearing on the defendant's motion to suppress the affiant was among the absent and could not be subjected to examination. It was in this setting that the court in King held that the trial court erred in denying the motion to dismiss. Such is a far cry from the instant case. Nor are we persuaded by United States v. Carignan, 286 F.Supp. 284 (D. Mass. 1967), even though the facts there are more akin to the facts of the present case. We are more impressed with the reasoning in United States v. Averell, 296 F.Supp. 1004 (E.D. New York, 1969), which distinguished Carignan and held that the failure to designate the affiant in the search warrant was not fatal where no prejudice was shown.

In short, it would seem clear that under the facts and circumstances disclosed by the record before us, the error here complained of is indeed one that did not affect any substantial right and should accordingly be disregarded.

Judgment affirmed.

APPENDIX B

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF UTAH CENTRAL DIVISION

APR [illegible] 1972

REGARDING SELLING A TICKET TO A PSGR [redacted] OR [redacted] b7C ON FLT 857 / 7 APR. / WAS WORKING IN [redacted] ABOUT 1-2 PM THE TICKET COUNTERS WERE UNUSUALLY CROWDED BECAUSE OF DELAYED CHICAGO FLIGHTS. I WAS ATTEMPTING TO RE-BOOK A GROUP OF EAST-BOUND PSGRS AND HAD THEIR PNR DISPLAYED. AS THIS RE-BOOKING WAS TAKING SOME TIME, THESE DELAYED PSGRS OFFERED ONE OR TWO PEOPLE IN LINE BEHIND THEM TO GO AHEAD AND GET THEIR TICKETS. I BELIEVE THIS WAS THE SITUATION WHEN I SOLD THE DEN/LAX "K" TICKET IN QUESTION. I DO NOT THINK I PULLED UP A PNR FOR [redacted] b7C AS I ALREADY HAD AN INVOLVED PNR ON THE CRT. (HOWEVER, FLT 857 WAS NOT BOOKED FULL AND IT IS COMMON PRACTICE TO TICKET OR REVALIDATE A ONE-LEG ITIN. ON THE WORD OF THE PSGR IF THE FLT IS NOT NEAR CAPACITY.) TO THE BEST OF MY RECALL THE TICKET WAS PAID FOR WITH A $50.- BILL + $10.- BILL. I SENT TRANSACTION TO THE CASHIER AND GAVE BACK $/C CHANGE. I THEN APPARENTLY CHECKED IN

THE PSGR WITH UCI, POSSIBLY WITH A SEAT ASSIGNMENT IN ROW 20. IT SEEMS THAT HE THEN ASKED FOR THE BAGGAGE CHECK-IN AND I DIRECTED HIM TO IT - WHICH WAS THE END OF THE TRANSACTION. I DO NOT RECALL MAKING AN ID. CHECK IN THE ABOVE TIME PERIOD (1 - 2 PM). I WAS SO PRE-OCCUPIED WITH ATTEMPTING TO REBOOK THE OTHER PSGRS THAT I DID NOT RECOGNIZE THIS PSGR AS FITTING THE PROFILE.

THE IMPRESSION I GOT OF THE PSGR IN THE ABOVE BRIEF TRANSACTION (2 - 3 MINUTES) IS AS FOLLOWS:

AGE: LATE 20'S, EARLY 30'S
HEIGHT: 5'10"
WEIGHT: 150 - 160 LBS, LIGHT-MEDIUM BUILT.
HAIR: DARK BLOND / BROWN, - REGULAR LENGTH EYES: ——
FACIAL FEATURES: LIGHT COMPLECTED, MEDIUM - HIGH CHEEK BONES, EYES: POSSIBLY MORE WIDE-SET THAN NORMAL, NO BEARD OR MUSTACHE, PROBABLY NO LONG SIDEBURNS.
CLOTHING: DARK SUIT / SPORT COAT, POSSIBLY BROWN IN COLOR.

INTERROGATION; ADVICE OF RIGHTS

YOUR RIGHTS

Place Brighton, Colo.
Date 7/24/72
Time 12:54 PM

Before we ask you any questions, you must understand your rights.

You have the right to remain silent.

Anything you say can be used against you in court.

You have the right to talk to a lawyer for advice before we ask you any questions and to have him with you during questioning.

If you cannot afford a lawyer, one will be appointed for you before any questioning if you wish.

If you decide to answer questions now without a lawyer present, you will still have the right to stop answering at any time. You also have the right to stop answering at any time until you talk to a lawyer.

WAIVER OF RIGHTS

I have read this statement of my rights and I understand what my rights are. I am willing to make a statement and answer questions. I do not want a lawyer at this time. I understand and know what I am doing. No promises or threats have been made to me and no pressure or coercion of any kind has been used against me.
