A Mother Writes From the Death House

"We said, and we say again, that we are victims of the greatest type of political frame-up ever known in America."

-Mrs. Ethel Rosenberg

FOR YOUR COURAGE

We thank the editors of NATIONAL GUARDIAN for their articles revealing the gross injustice perpetrated in the Rosenberg Case.

FOR YOUR HUMANITY

We thank the many hundreds of GUARDIAN readers who responded so magnificently to our appeal for funds and sponsors to help secure justice in the Rosenberg Case.

YOUR SUPPORT HAS MADE POSSIBLE

- Establishment of a national office at 246 Fifth Av., N. Y. C.
- Publication in paniphlet form of William A. Reuben's GUARDIAN' articles (25,000 sold and paid for in three weeks; 25,000 more now on the presses).
- Preparation of a compelling fact sheet for national distribution.
- Activity from Maine to California.
- Preparation of a nationwide speakers tour.
- Preparation for big public meetings in major cities in the next two months.
- Advertisements in major English and Yiddish newspapers around the country, some of which already have been placed.
- · Payment of certain legal expenses.
- A happier holiday for the Rosen
- berg children. Establishment of a national committee whose sponsors include: Hon. Robert Morss Lovett, Dr. Katherine Dodd, Mrs. Bessie Mitchell, B. Z. Goldberg, Capt Hugh N. Mulzac, Rev. Spencer Kennard. Joseph Brainin is provisional chairman,

But We Have Just Begun to Act

Write to Pres. Truman, Atty. Gen. McGrath and your senators—ask that the verdict and sentence be set aside.

Contribute funds to the committee. Order pamphlets, ask for speakers.

Committee To Secure Justice In The Rosenberg Case

246 Fifth

New York 1, N. Y. MUrroy Hill 5-2144

March 12, 1952

Dear Friend:

The Appeals Court affirmation of the verdict and sentences in the Rosenberg Case is one of the most shocking judicial acts in our country's history.

Only immediate, nation-wide steps to rouse our fellow citizens to the danger to the Rosenbergs and to themselves can prevent a terrible tragedy.

Your past generosity and help has made it possible to bring our campaign for justice to millions of people. We have taken advertisements in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Chicago Daily News, Nation magazine, N. Y. Compass, National Guardian, Jewish Day, Morning Freiheit, Jewish Life, Jewish Morning Journal, and other publications. We have printed 60,000 and distributed 45,000 copies of Mr. Reuben's fine pamphlet. We have initiated or helped organize public meetings in Chicago, Cleveland, New . York and other cities. We have printed thousands of leaflets, and we now have a fact sheet on the press. When you add the cost of these to legal expenses, office rent, technical help, mailings, etc., you will realize how strained our financial resources are

Now we begin a new round of public appeals and legal expenses, for which we need immediate funds.

Please give as much as you can, as soon as you can.

Very truly yours, JOSEPH BRAININ DAVID ALMAN

Dr. Leonard Tushnet

Send a letter today to Pres. Truman and U.S. Attorney General J. Howard McGrath, telling them that the verdicts and death sentences in the Rosenberg Case must be reversed.

Rosenberg aid in L.A.

PACIFIC PALIBADES, CALIF

If it had not been for the GUAR
DIAN and William Reuben in case of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg might have remained buried beneath the love bumultous events of our time.
As it is the GUARDIAN has not only severaled the case to public serutiny, but has indicated the dirnot relationship between the sivage sentence and those very tumulcous events which tended to obscure their fate.

With the conviction (based on your splendld coverage) that the

N.Y. rally demands Supreme Court review

LASS MEETING Which Jammed New York's Pythian Temple with 1,200 people, with an one by of many hundreds clustered with Sobies and on the street until the end, launched a drive last week for petition signatures arging a Supreme Court review of the convictions and death sentences of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg and the 30-year sentence of Morton Bobell On charges of atomic explonage. Sarlier in the week, requests were flied for rehearings in the cases by the Circuit Court of Appeals, which affirmed all the sentences last month.

The people at the mass meeting heard journalists, a minister, a rabbi, a social worker and others decry the convictions as human sacrifices to the cold wat.

NO KIND OF DEATH: Heler Sobell, wife of one of the victims, brought repeated outbursts of applause and a rising salute from the whole audience when she said:

"They have taught me an awful lot." she declared, "and that is that where- in find me there!".

BOSENBERG MESSAGE: The no contributed more than $5,000 for the Resemberg Sobell case, in response to an appeal following a reading by author Albert Kahn of a message from the Rosenbergs in the death b Sing Sing petace. The message follows:

We wish to greet our many friends, town and unknown, and our families and children who are sitting with you tonight. At this very moment we are trying to imagine ourselver among you, protesting, as we have done so often in the past, on injustice. We never dreamed that we would ever become a "case," that we would one day be taken fro our loved ones, tried on an unbelievable charge, jound guitty, und sentenced to death. But that is what has happened to us. For 2 years we have been in a terrible loneliness, in the shadow of the electric chair.

We cannot believe that we are simply victims of some nightmarish miscarriage of fustice, that we are victims of a case cicken identity. Reuben addressed 20 meetings; 1,000 persons attended one, at the Park View Manov. Hotel. A lunch meeting with Sam Oach. publisher of the Voice, largest West Coast Anglo-Jewish paper, resulted in financial contribution and a request for by-lined articles on the case. An open Letter to the officers of the American Civil Liberties Union

ENTLEMEN: On May 20 the American Jewish Congress circulated to its affiliates throughout he country copies of a "memorandum" on American livil Liberties Union stationery under the heading 🎸 🖟 To whom it may concern—from Herbert Monte Levy, staff Counsel-subject: Rosenberg, Atomic Esplonage Lase."

This "memo" will make sick at heart thousands of Americans who have rallied to the ACLU motto: Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." Described s "an effort to cover all matters which have been aised h us or could concelvably be raised," the document "takes no position on the guilt c innocence of the Rosenbergs" as if that were a side ksee. From this admitted superficiality it quickly levelops into a low-level political diatribe with a fracultous libel of the NATIONAL GUARDIAN which, seeking facts according to its policy, brought the ase to national attention.

PHE GUARDIAN is accustomed to such libels, as any fact-finding American paper must be in this eriod. But two questions are raised which we subhit you have a responsibility to answer soberly, conerning this "memo" on a case involving the lives of wo American citizens and parents:

- The effect of the "memo" by Staff Counsel evy is to give positive support to a death-sentence onviction. Do you appropriate of this departure from CLU's 30-year practice theither taking up a case refraining from committee it? Do you think it 5 the function of a civil liberties organization to publicly in favor of a death sentence for n al crime never before so punished in this ation's history?
- The "memo" is filled with demonstrable inacuracles and downright misrepresentations of fact. to you approve of such a document being circulated hroughout America as an apparently official statehent by ACLU?

For example:

. . . That perjured testimony was knowingly ised against the Rosenbergs . . . was not raised by he alterneys for the Rosenbergs." (THE FACT: the basic contention of the defense throughout the rial was that the key witnesses. David and Ruth treenglass, lied to save themselves; and in the oral rgument on the appeal, attorney Emanuel Bloch atly charged the existence of a "deal" between he prosecutor, the Greenglasses and their attorney, John Rogge.)

• "FBI kidnapping of a witness. This contention again is not raised in the brief for the Rosenbergs." (THE FACT: Of course not; it was co-defendant Privally, may we point out that the Levy "memo" in the Sobell brief.)

 "The contention has been made that somehow persons have been sentenced to death for this [espionage] in the past." (THE FACT: No such sentence has ever been imposed in American history. Levy is here confusing "espionage" with "treason," although he makes the clear distinction between \ nist" testimony, (3) on the issue of "cruel and u them on the vital Constitutional issue—see below.)

. "Membership in the Communist Party was expressly introduced as evidence of motive, which we felt under the circumstances was perfectly proper." (THE FACT: This is a double misrepresentation. The bergs had Left sympathies was submitted to the jury as evidence of "intent"—which any law student knows refers to a general state of mind and is quite different from "motive." No testimony whatever that the Rosenbergs were CP members was introduced, as the GUARDIAN has repeatedly pointed out.

THE point in which the Levy "memo" most significantly lends ACLU prestige to government legal hair-splitting is the vital Constitutional Issue concerning "treason." Says the "memo":

"Conviction for atomic espionage does not involve civil liberties. . . . This was a conviction for espionage, which we believe to be the proper way to deal with communist totalitarianism."

Because "the crime of atomic espionage was a different crime from that of treason," the "memo" rejects the defense contention that the Rosenbergs were deprived of due process under the Constitution. which lays down that treasonable acts must be confirmed by the evidence of two independent witnesses. But the defense has pointed out that—while the Rosenbergs were carefully charged with a crime other than treason, since the government knew it could not produce two such witnesses—the fact that it was really a "treason" trial was clear when prosecutor Saypol called the Rosenbergs "traitors" both in opening and in summation and Judge Kaufman did the same in summing up. and the second

Thus the trial was conducted in what Supreme. Court Justice Jackson has referred to in another connection as the "passion-arousing" atmosphere of a treason trial, while defendants were denied the rights the Constitution guarantees in such a trial is in head-on conflict with the Natl. Lawyers Guild, which has officially approved the filing of an amicus curiae brief before the Supreme Court (based a penalty of death violates civil liberties. . . . But Lon a careful study of the trial record which ACLU apparently never made; just because it found that the Rosenberg Case does involve civil liberties on the three counts: (1) on the "treason" issue: (2) on the introduction of vague but inflammatory Commy usual punishment"?

> Is ACLU prepared to say and prove that the Natl. Lawyers Guild decision is not borne out by the facts or the law?

Is eternal vigilance still the price of liberty? Can tendencious testimony introduced to show the Rosen- Sliberty be bought with political spitefulness and an admitted refusal to investigate all the facts?

Does Staff Counsel Levy speak with your authority? If he does not, you owe it to the people of America—tens of thousands of whom have rallied to the Rosenbergs' defense after examining the facts in the case—to say so. If he does, then we submit that all serious re-evaluation of the American Civil Libertia. Union—which has won richly-merited laurels for it. Implementation of its motto in the past—is called for.

In spite of the gratuitous libel to ourselves in the Levy "memo," we address this to you without bias or bitterness, out of our sole desire for cooperation between all defenders of America's beleaguered civil liberties.

THE EDITORS OF THE NATIONAL GUARDIAN

The GUARDIAN urges readers concerned about the Rosenberg Case to contact personally or by letter officials of the ACLU and of organizations circulating the Levy "memo"; to bring the above Open Letter to the attention of acquaintances who are members of these organizations; and to insist on full and frank answers to the questions raised.

We further urge members of Jewish organizations to ask them why, equipped as they are with more than adequate legal staffs, they do not take a position on the Rosenberg Case on the basis of a proper study of the trial record by their own; legal advisers, rather than to give endorsement. to the inaccurate, unobjective "memo" of ACLU's. Staff Counsel who admittedly has not studied the record.

World - wide protest on germ war grows

By James Aronson

DR. GENE WELTFISH is a social, scientist of wide repute, a teacher of anthropology at Columbia University, co-author with Ruth Benedict of The Races of Mankind. Believing that science-in-a-vacuum is useless, she has long applied her knowledge to the benefit of mankind and has become a familiar and respected figure on peace platforms.

On June 5 she spoke at a New York meeting called to hear reports by delegates to the Intl. Conference in Defense of Children in Vienna in April, a conference which discussed the effects on children of war and the threat of war. She spoke of the charges of germ war in Korea, the admitted wide-scale bacteriological warfare research in the U.S., quoted Gen. H. H. Arnold as calling BW an "ideal weapon."

EVIDENCE ENOUGH: In the audience of 1,000 were three persons who took exception to her remarks and sent a telegram of protest to Dr. Grayson Kirk, provost of Columbia. The N.Y. World-Telegram, always on the prowl to increase the ranks of unemployed progressives, in a p. 1 story next day said Dr. Weltfish had accused the U.S. of using BW. On June 11 Dr. Weltfish called a press conference, said she was "not equipped" to make such an accusation but felt the evidence was "cumulative material which should be evaluated and brought to the attention of the American people."

She had arranged for the reporters to interview by phone Dr. James G. Endicott, Canadian minister who investigated BW charges on the scene in China (GUARD'AN, May 29). Dr. Endicott repeated that he was convinced the charges were true, could not be budged by hostile questioning.

Dr. Weltfish, in a statement to the press, summed up:

press, summed up:

"I take action on this matter, through the platform of their party conventions, their randidates, and their present officials. Practical steps must be taken to which the platform of their present was a plan of retallation, will not save us from aftick from a thousand directions and, once started, such a process ran have no cad. No one knows what harm assorted germs from all parts of the world will do, once they are let loose on different soil. If we mustiply our health services a bundredfold.

DR. GENE WELTFISH Let the people know we will have far more protection from bacteriological attack than any other method. . . ."

ROSEBURY PROTESTS: Calls for outlawing of BW came last week from two other significant quarters:

• In New Delhi Prime Minister Nehru asked India to take the lead in getting all nations to declare against the use of "horrible modern weapons against any country."

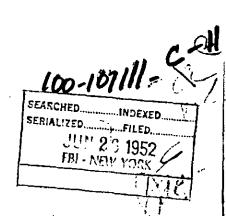

• In the U.S. Theodor Rosebury, director of bacteriological warfare research at Camp Detrick, Md., during World War II, joined 40 prominent Americans in a letter to President Truman insisting on U.S. ratification of the Geneva Convention banning BW. The letter said:

As we recall the purposeful and planned destruction of the Korean countryside, the command to "kill anything that moves," the million casualties among Korean civilians, the vast sums of money being spent by the U.S. on bacteriological warfare research and the boasting by military spokesmen of our progress in this field, we can understood how the world can believe that those who would use burning gusoline would not hesitate to employ death-dealing bacteria.

investigation? Pressure increased meanwhile for an impartial investigation of the charges.

Last March the State Dept. proposed an on-the-spot inquiry by the Red Cross or by a UN commission. The proposals were rejected by the North Koreans and Chinese on two grounds: SAC ASACI ASACI ASACI SEC. I S

EDIWARDED BY N. Y. DIVISION

(1) that the Red Cross had prayed itself woefully feeble as an investigating agency (it had whitewashed Nazi concentration camps in World War II); (2) a UN investigation would be absurd since "UN" is a participant in the war.

In April the Paris daily Humanite asked this question of Kuo Mo-jo, Vice-Premier of China and chairman of the Chinese Academy of Sciences:

What should be the conditions for the choice of an international investigation initiated by the Bureau of the Werld Peace Council on a proposal by China?

Kuo Mo-jo replied:

None, The Chinese and Korean peoples will surely welcome any prominent gures to long as they are importful and self-sacrificing. It is an exacting and serious task to come to China and Korea to investigate bucteriological warfare crimes. They must be prepared to risk their lives and challenge the forces of violence.

NO PLACE BACK HOME: One impartial investigator had brought home to him sharply the meaning of challenge. He was Dr. Heinrich Brandweiner, prof. of canon law at the University of Graz (U.S. Zone of Austria). He was chairman of the Fedn. of Democratic Lawyers' commission of eight (five of them, including Dr. Brandweiner, non-Communists) who investigated the germwar charges on-the-spot in March and unanimously found the charges valid (GUARDIAN, April 23). On his return to Graz, Dr. Brandweiner was fired.

On May 29 he spoke before a meeting of thousands in Prague. GUAR-DIAN's George Wheeler reported:

LT. JOHN QUINN
The dates were the same

Dr. Brandweiner is a calin man whose manner of specci reflected his legal training. But when he reported on the findingale could not keep the bitter indignation from his voice. . . He noted that the commission accepted as evidence only what they saw with their own eyes, or facts which could otherwise be verified in a manner accepted in international law, fe loid in a low voice, as if he himself were still reluctant to repeat or believe, of the perverted atrocities practiced by U.S. troops. When he told of the sadism with which our troops mullinted a beautiful young woman patriot a monn swept through the audience.

The rest of the world is losing patience with America. As scientific evidence pours in, documents, photographs, sound recordings, moving pictures and eye-witness reports of the atrocities U.S. armed forces are committing in Korea, the anger of decent people is rising.

The Chinese since have said officially they would agree to an inquiry by a delegation of qualified scientists; the U.S. and UN have made no reply.

WHAT QUINN SAID: There was an aftermath to the statements by two captured U.S. Air Force officers that they had participated in germ bombings (GUARDIAN, May 29). The U.S. wire services (which had largely ignored news of the capture and contents of the deposition) rushed to interview the wife of one flyer, Mrs. John Quinn, of Los Angeles. This is how INS (Hearst) reported the interview:

A Chinese Communist radio b oadeast that quoted an American airman as "confessing" that he dropped germ bombs on Korean troops was branded a lie today by the pilot's family. Mrs. Mildred Quinn, wite of pilot 1st Lt. John Quinn, 30, said: "his husband did not go overseas until last November. In August we were still together at Langley Field, Va." The Red broadenst ciaimed Quinn confessed he had attended a "bacterlological warfare school" in Ispan in August.

The Chinese broadcast, a transcript of which the GUARDIAN received, did not say that Quinn had attended the germ-war briefing class in August; it said the August class had been attended by 1st. Lt. Kenneth L. Enoch, the other captive. The dates in the deposition given by Quinn corroborated those given by his wife. This is a nuote from Quinn's deposition:

I was told to report, on Aug. 5, to Langley Air Force base to learn to fly 1-26s, I was there for eight weeks. We we e eart from there to Camp Stoneman, for processing. At Camp Stoneman I was inactiated for typhold fever, typhus, cholera and small pox. We left the U.S. by air lane and arrived in Japan on Nov. 27... On the 30th we were sent to Kunsan air was, ... On Dec. 17, 1951, I reported to the 8th Squadron orderly room and saw my mane on the bulletin board to altend a lecture the next day at 9 o'clock... He started his lecture by telling us his lecture was on biological warfare. ...

INS did not mention Enoch; Enoch's facts have not been refuted.

Space Platforms' and the Rosenbergs

By William A. Reuben

WITH Washington's foreign and domestic policies facing a new erists as "free world" allies and its own eitizens balked in all directions, "spy sensations" were laid on double-thick in June in what looked like a planned effort to scare the balkers back in line.

The season was ushered in at a communion breakfast in New York when U.S. Atty. Myles Lane unveiled a startling new charge against Ethel and Julius Rosenberg. "atom spies" under death sentence in Sing Sing. "These spies," he said, (N.Y. Times, 6/2)

MYLES T. LANE The 21st century mind

"... had given Soviet Russia some of our top secrets, including a project for a platform 3,000 miles in space. ... Because of the Rosenbergs, the Russians found out about this in 1944-5], before some of our own top people knew about the project."

50 YEARS OLD: The "revelation" came a few days before the Rosenbergs' petition for a Supreme Court hearing was filed, as public opinion measurably mounted against the conviction and sentence. The press played up the U.S. Atty's new charge widely; these facts were unmentioned:

The Russian Science Survey published in 1903 K. Zialovsky's itadings on The Rocket in Cosmic Space," sketching the possibilities of space travel, Since the many 'space station' theories subsequently advanced all binge on observations, speculations and experiments concerning rockets, Russian scientists can properly take credit for being the pioneers in this field.

Between 1826 and 1828 (we societies the control of the U.S. S. R. to promote the space trayel, solve its problems,

In 1933 the Brst theory of a space diction was developed by Germany's Herman Oberfa, rocket expert and astronautical theorist, in his book The Rocket Into Interplanetary Space.

 Since 1922 information about space stations has been public property expounded and discussed in countless books and journals all over the world.

• In 1918 Defense Sery, Forrestal, who was locked up a month later after running down the street in his alghishlet crying "The Reds are coming!" and subsequently succeeded in his fourth suicide attempt, referred in his annual report to a secret "earth satellite vehicle program" that the "U.S. Army was engaged in. Scotling at the "secret" report, the N.Y. Times' science editor Kaempffert pointed out (1/2/49) that the space-station "notion has engaged the astronauts for many years" and Forrestal's "earth satellite vehicle" could be traced directly to the work of Oberth.

EAST WITH WHITTAKER: The facts, if anyone cared to consider them rather than the oracular utterances of Bentley, Budenz, Chambers & Co., showed that claims about space-station "secrets" are as nonsensical in 1952 as when offered by the paranoidal Forrestal in 1948.

But this was only one of the new "spy sensations" brought almost daily by newspapers, books, magazines, radio, TV and movies, with fiction and "fact" so scrambled as to leave the citizen dizzy. At the movies, the citizen could with the FBI Walk East on Beacon to trap a Red spy ring operating out of Boston; or in High Treason* see how it worked in Britain; or in Red Planet Mars hear a "U.S. Defense Seey." say:

"I don't want war, but Mosenw, Leningrad — every nerve center in the Soviet Union — must be wiped out."

Between hard covers there were the "revelations" of Budenz, of Chambers, of Oliver Pilat (The Atom Spies), of Ralph de Toledano (Spies, Dupes and Diplomats). The Satevepost concluded a four-part series by Alan Moorehead. New Yorker specialist, in the quaint charms of starving Italy, on Klaus Fuchs ("He Gave the A-Bomb to Stalin"). On TV there was Whittaker Chambers in person, whom leading U.S. psychiatrists have called a "psycho-pathic personality," curdling the spines of the "Youth Wants to Know" audience. (Meanwhile radio station WJZ was forced to abandon a four-nerson forum planned on Chambers book because no one except this reporter could be found to speak publicly against it;

(The British Home Office's statement that it was untrue" "completely quietly Was buried.)

"Get me the Secretary of Defense in Washington . . . and hurry."

WANTS TO BE TRIED: Clearest proof of any actual conspiracy came in an action brought in a N.Y. federal court by aerodynamics specialist and formers. Columbia U. physics teacher William' Pert Perl was one of the 118 witnesses the U.S. announced it would call in the Rosenberg case. Like such experts as Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, Dr. Harold Urey and Maj. Gen. Leslie Groves who were each "expected to corroborate the government's case" (prosecutor Saypol on Perl), Perl's relationship to the case was confined to headlines; but his indictment when the government rested its case, for alleged perjury five months earlier, caused alnew press sensation conveniently submerging the case for the defense.

Peri brought action this month to make the government bring him to a lai; he said he never had any feelo s "remotely disloyal" to the U.S., but had been unable to find employ-iment in the 15 months since he was indicted. He insisted on a chance to answer in court the "innuendoes un-justly raised to cast doubts on my loyalty." Answering for the government, one of Myles Lane's assis antatold the court (N.Y. Times, 6/10):

The government felt that it was inappropriate to go to trial now, in the interests of security and justice. . . .

To Peri's demand that the government furnish a bill of particulars explaining what "crime" he is charged; with, he got this answer (N. Y. Times):

To grant this would in effect be giving the defense the government's evidence.

FACTS vs. NIGHTMARES: As it became clear that everything connected with "spy plots" is "secret," including evidence against the accused, the embattled Committee to Secure Justice in the Rosenberg Case continued to deal in facts and labor to bring them in the open. It held three end-of-June meetings in greater New York, received 10,000 signatures to its Supreme Court amicus petition in a week.

Washington, feeding the 'best-in-formed people in the world' with a new stock of nightmares and Munch-ausen tales through its big-business-controlled press, had the loyal support of "liberals" in keeping any facts from emerging Attending a Rosenberg mass-rally in Brooklyn at which $3,500 was collected and two rabbis (Cronbach of Cincinnati, Sharff of Williamsburg, N.Y.) were chief speakers, N.Y. Post-columnist Max Lerner wrote:

My anger was at the cynicism with which they [the Communists] exploited the emotions of good people for an evil cause..... During the whole meeting one listened in vain for a single hard fact that would cast a secious doubt on their guitt.

In the Sing Sing death house Ethel and Julius Rosenberg waited, confident, that sanity would dawn again.

*Albeit Kahn, author of the book High Treason, well-known to GUARDIAN r.adera, last week filed suit against the producers of this war-inciting film, claiming $500.000 for the damage done, by appropriating his title, to his reputation as an anti-war author.

A matter of education 🗀

At the 34th annual meeting of the American Assn. of Advertising Agencies much attention was paid to the problem of increasing prosperity in the country after defense production is cut back. One ad executive sold the authook is not ball bad; that we have the tools and much ness and the productive ability—and enough purchasing power left over after taxes. But, he sold, 160 million Americans must be educated to live one-third better, $\frac{1}{2}$.

Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, sentenced to die.

Robbie Rosenberg, aged 5, and Michael Rosenberg, aged 9, sentenced to live as orphans in fear, and loneliness.

Morton Sobell, sentenced to 30 years.

Mrs. Helen Sobell and her 2 children, aged 4 and 13.

The Rosenbergs and Sobell were convicted and sentenced on a charge of "conspiracy to commit espionage." Their trial was held in an atmosphere of hysteria and anti-Semitic hatred.

The prosecution used the Rosenberga' trade union membership, their support of the American Inbor Party, their interest in progressive causes as "proof" of guilt.

The Rosenbergs and Sobell asserted then and now their absolute innocence.

Julius Rosenberg writes from the Sing Sing Death House:

"appeal to the conscience of America, to its inherent sense of decency and fairness to some the lives of two ignocent people who are the victims of the political storms that rays in our land. A letter from the Death House

The following is an excerpt from a letter written by Julius Rosenberg from a death cell in Ring Sing prison on a column by the N.Y. "Post's" Max Lerner in which Lerner accused the "communists" of injecting the lissue of anti-Semitism in the Rosenberg case where, he said, none existed. The column appeared the day after an overflow Hosenberg Defense meeting in Brooklyn.

JUNE 24, 1952.

I have read Max Lerner's column appearing in the June 10 issue of the N.Y. Post. Most of us remember how the basis for Nazism was laid—by the Goebbels technique of propagands. Attack the communist and Jew, and then there are no limitables, brutality, genocide, liquidation of all opposition, socialists, trade unionists, Catholics, Free Masons and democrats.

The incredible charges against me sod my wife, the hysterical trial, the unprecedented sentence which has placed us here, a few death cells apart in Sing Sing these are a long stride along the awful road to genocide.

Mr. Letner is guilty of the very things with which he charges the Committee to Secure Justice in our case. He presents no facts. Instead he shouts Red. No mention is made of the undemocratic action which denied the use of the Brooklyn Academy of Music for a public meeting. No mention is made of any of the real issues: the lack of a fair and impartial trial, the lack of even one shred of evidence to substantiate any change against us, the obvious motives of the self-confessed spics in doing the bidding of the prosecution as their part in a deal to frame us.

And then the gentleman arks us to prove we are not guilty. This, is not the way our system of justice operates. It is the duty of the District Attorney to prove beyond a reasonable doubt with hard, incontrovertible facts that we are guilty.

Remember, Mr. Lerner, only recently you were denied the right to speak at a University because it was alleged you were a red. You cannot buy immunity by joining the conformists in their political pogroms against decentpeople everywhere and particularly against progressives.

I know why you howled over the Brooklyn meeting. You howled because you were confronted with visible svidence that the American people, the Jews of Brooklyn, who have not forgotten the lessons of Hitler-lism, are rallying to the support of the Committee in its fight to rectify the miscarriage of justice in our case, and are respecting your kind of poisonous propagands.

Today my wife and I are the innocent victims of the political climate because, Mr. Lerner, the Justice Department has concentration camps all ready for temorrow—for thousands more like us—and for you as well.

Shall the lives of these two young Americans be sacrificed?

Following is the comment written jointly by Ethel and Julius Rosenberg in the Death House at Sing Sing Prison, New York, three days before the Supreme Court refused to review their conviction and death sentence:

Our pleas to the Supreme Court have been restricted by legal protocol, but before the bar of public opinion we cannot reassert often or emphatically enough our complete innocence of the charge.

One matter should be made unequivocally clear. No matter what the result, we will continue in our determination to expose the political frame-up perpetrated against us by those who would silence by death, through spurious expionage accusations, opposition to the conspiracy to impose war abroad and a police state at home.

We do not want to die. We are young and yearn for a long life of accomplishment. Yet, if the only alternative to death is the purchase of life at the cost of personal dignity and abandonment of the struggle for democracy and ethical standards, there is no future for us or any legacy we can leave our children or those who survive and follow us.

For what is life without the right to live it? Death holds no horror as great as the horror of a sterile existence devoid of social responsibility and the courage of one's convictions..

We believe that our fellow Americans share these sentiments. We believe that they will save us—and themselves—from this conspiracy to put to heath amorbal Americans.

COMMITTEE FOR ROSENBERG CASE meets every Monday night, 6:30 p.m., at Park View Manor, 2200 W. 7th St. Join us in our fight to free not only the Rosenbergs and Morton Sobell, but for freedom for mi peoples.

The 5th Annual Concert of the Fraterial Sougsters has been IDNITONED from Oct. 25 to latter part of Dec. WATCH FOR DALE!

By an 8-to-1 decision with only Justice plack dissenting, the U.S. Supreme Court on Monday refused to review the cases of Ethei and Julius Rosenberg, scatteneed to death on a charge of givern A-bomb secrets to Russia, and of Mocton Sobell, sentenced to 30 years in juil for his part in the same "conspiracy."

A call for a "supreme effort."—with speed its essence—immediately went out from the Natl. Committee to Secure Justice in the Rosenberg Case. The Rosenbergs attorney, Emanuel H. Bloch Jr., said he would seek reconsideration by the high court and "take every other process known to law." If the court refuses to reverse itself, a new trial on the grounds of new evidence will be sought. A writ of habeas corpus may also be applied for, charging illegat detention based upon perjured testimony at the trial and citing the hysteria that made a fair trial impossible.

THE PEOPLE MUST ACT: Speaking to and for the "thousands of Americans who have petitioned for a new trial" and "millions more who are shocked by the unprecedented death sentences," the committee pledged a

... continued effort to win a new trial for the Rosenbergs and Sobell, We will make every effort to save their lives against the moment when it becomes impossible to deny the justice of our claim that their trial was devoid of those guarantees of lairness which should be taken for granted in our courts... What the Supreme Court has not done, the American people must do. A new trial must be won for the Roseubergs and Sobell.

Specifically the committee urged individuals, groups and organizations to write or wire the President for clemency and for government agreement to all steps that might be taken by the defense. Local groups were also asked to take advertising space in newspapers and seek radio time to bring the Rosenberg appeal to the greatest number of people. Delegations to Congressmen and to community leaders were also urged. Funds were asked to be sent to the committee's national offices at 1050 Sixth Avc., New York 18, N.Y.

"COLD-WAR VERDICT": Vincent Hallinan, Progressive Party candidate for President, called the Supreme Court's "evasion of its responsibility"

... a 1952 Sacco-Vanzetti decision ... a cold-war verdict which sentences two Americans to death and one to 30 years imprisonment without even an opportunity for a high court review of the evidence on which they were convicted... Attitions of Americans, including myself, have the gravest doubts as to the sufficiency of evidence ... and are convinced beyond a doubt that they were not the recipients of a fair trial guaranteed by the Constitution... I call for action on the part of all Americans to demand justice in this case. There are ample reasons for a rehearing before the court, and I ask everyone to sire President Truman and Atty. Gen, McGranery demanding that they consent to such a rehearing that no irrevocable miscarriage of justice may occur.

CALM IN DEATH HOUSE: The Rosenbergs, who have two sons, Michael 9; and Robbie, 5, have been in Sing Sing's death house for 18 months. They learned of the Supreme Court's decision when it was broadcast over the prison's radio network, took the news calmly and expressed faith that their innocence eventually will be affirmed. They were sentenced by U.S. Judge Irving R. Kaufman after a 15-day trial on April 5, 1951—the first time in U.S. history that death was decreed in such a case by a civil court in peace-time.

The testimony that convicted them came from Mrs. Rosenberg's brother, David Greenglass, who said he stole "secrets" while serving as a sergeant at the Los Alamos, N. M., A-bomb development from 1944 to 1946 and passed them to the Rosenbergs for transmission. He said he made a diagram of the bomb and wrote 12 pages of description from snatches of conversation he had overheard and from blueprints he had seen. Of a diagram he reconstructed for the court, Scientific American said it was "not much of a secret," the science editor of Life that it "appears illogical, if not downright unworkable"; Time said his testimony "made little scientific sense." Atomic scientist Dr. Harold C. Urey has pointed out:

"Detailed data on the atomic bomb would require eight to nine volumes of close print which only a scientist or engineer would be able to understand."

TOO PROGRESSIVE: With no evidence to support the linking of the Rosenbergs with any "A-bomb spying."

U.S. Atty. Irving Saypol—now a U.S.
Judge—concentrated on the Rosenbergs' progressive background. citing their aid to Spanish refugees; Mrs.
Rosenberg's signature on a 194 election petition for the late Peter V. Cachions (Communist candidate elected to the N.Y. City Council); their possession of an Intl. Workers Order insurance policy, and their union membership. In passing sentence, the judge blamed them for all U.S. casualties in Korea.

For his guilty plea and aid to the government, Greenglass got off with 15 years; his wife, Ruth, named as a co-conspirator, was never brought to triat. On Feb. 25 this year New York's Federal Circuit Court of Appeals upheld the convictions and sentences of the Rosenbergs and Sobell. Greenglass did not appeal his case.

"ALL-OUT DRIVE": A public rally for "Justice for the Rosenbergs" will be held in New York's Union Square on Oct. 29 from 4:30 to 7 p.m. On Sat., Oct. 18, a series of nine open-air meetings will be held in the Bronx beginning at 11 a.m. and ending at 5 p.m. Other meetings already scheduled include Brooklyn, Oct. 22; Manhattan, Oct. 23; Teaneck, N. J., Oct. 28; Cleveland, Nov.

William L. Patterson, head of the Civil Rights Congress, called for the "most militant form" of protests:

The Rosenbergs must not die. It is a matter of concern to every progressive individual in America. Upon this decision rests the fale of every lighter for peace. This is, moreover, a matter of concern to every progressive individual in the world, for should this man and woman go to their death, reaction in America will confeont every professional against its program of war with the threat of "treason" charges and death.

Delegations must appear before the Natl. Committees of the major parties, Delegations, phone calls, telegrams, must be sent to discuss the question of their freedom to the President. . . . There is not a moment for delay. The Rosenbergs can be executed in a period of 30 days. An all-all drive for their freedom is necessary,

Rosenbergs get stay: no let-up in fight

TWO days after it rejected a request to review the case of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, both under sentence of death on a charge of passing on atom-bomb information to the Soviet Union, the U.S. Supreme Court stayed its order, giving the defense 15 days in which to life a petition for a re-hearing.

The government then has ten days to file an answer, but may waive this right. The court's action automatically stayed setting of a new date of execution. The Natl. Committee to Secure Justice in the Rosenberg Case urged no let-up in the nationwide campaign to win executive elemency through direct appeals to President Truman.

The Committee also announced that the deadline for signatures on "amicus curiae" petitions—friendly intervention in the court by interested supporters—has been extended to Oct. 25 and asked for thousands of new names in addition to some 40,000 already obtained. The petitions will be delivered Oct. 28.

UNION SQ. RALLY: Preparations went ahead for the "Justice for the Rosenbergs" rally to be held in New York's historic Union Square on Oct. 29. The rally will launch a nationwide post-card campaign addressed to the President. Distribution was also planned for 500,000 copies of a four-page tabloid-sized paper detailing the facts and background of the case. At a Philadelphia rally for the couple last week, 400 persons unanimously adopted a resolution asking elemency and contributed $1,100 for the defense.

Both the Jewish Daily Forward and the Jewish Day, two of the largest and most influential papers in their language field, last week reiterated pleas for exemency which both first made when the sentences were prosounced. AAC

apreme Ct. weighs 2d Rosenberg appeal

COR Julius and Ethel Rosenbergunder an unprecedented sentence of death on a charge of relaying atombomb information to the Soviet Union while that country was a war-time ally --time was running short last week. Their last hope for a judicial review of their conviction and sentence lay in the hands of the Supreme Court which had before it a petition for a re-hearing of its own earlier decision not to interfere with lower court rulings.

An adverse ruling there would limit the Rosengergs' chances to escape execution to executive elemency vested in the President. Around the country and around the world many new voices last week were added to those already raised in behalf of the couple.

Mass rallies were held in Newark, N. J., and Chicago; others were planned in Manhattan (Palm Gardens, Nov. 19), the Bronx, N. Y. (New Terrace Gardens, Nov. 19), and Los Angeles (Embassy Auditorium, Nov. 20).

From coast to coast door-bell ringers were working toward the goal of a million messages to President Truman urging clemency, a campaign sponsored by the Committee to Secure Justice in the Rosenberg Case, 1050 Sixth Av., N.Y. 18, N.Y.

"HORRIBLE KILLING": Famed civil rights attorney Arthur Garfield Hays, writing in The Nation (Nov. 8), argued against "the damnable death penalty" and urged that "this horrible killing" be avoided. From California's East Bay district a group of influential laymen associated with the weekly publication, The Catholic Worker, made this appeal to the President:

Motivated by a belief in the Sermon on the Mount, we are opposed to capital punthermore, we helieve that the sentences of death impased upon the Rosciffergs are vindictive, out of all proportion to other sentences given in the one trial, out of all proportion to any sentencis in a peare-time trial in our history in a peare-time trial in our history increases you to grant element the serve justice or mercy but only reserve.

'George Sarton, president of the Intl. Historical Science Union, declared:

it is clear to me that the death sentence is as harsh and unjust as it is un-precedented... The sentence of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg should be commuted for the sake of justice, not of charity,

SUSPECT: Waldo Frank, well-known American writer, said:

The generous way in which we have one femerous way in which we more punished malignant and traitorous notwo-cates of fascism, like Axis Sally, Tokyo Rose and Ezra Pound, makes the death senioner against this unfortunate couple suspect to the entire world.

Other U.S. leaders speaking out last week included the Rev. John Paul Jones, Prof. Anatol Rapoport, internationally-known biologist of the University of Chicago, Dr. Paul L. Whitely of Franklin and Marshall College, and Dr. Roland H. Bainton of Yale Divinity

Two more British attorneys spoke up. Dudley Collard and Stanley Moore; the

I can assure you that I speak on behalf of a number of lawyers in this country, in expressing these views, and if these views can be brought before the Court In any way and will assist in the death sentence bonly commuted, I shall be extremely happy,

In London a group of five well-known British authors appealed for clemency to the U.S. Embassy, and the British Natl. Assn. of Women sent a delegation.

CRINA TO AUSTRALIA: Sydney Silverman, a leading British Member of Parliament, sent this message to the Rosenberg Committee:

I have no hesitation at all in saying that I contemplate with horror the pos-sibility that the death sentence could really be carried out to such a case by any civilized coluntry, least of all by the United States of America, upon whom history has placed in our time so heavy a responsinations in the onward ourch of so many nations in the onward ourch of civiliza-tion. . . To exact the extreme penalty from these two unfortunates . . . Is to make the Rosenbergs personally responsible for all the errors of all the statesmen of the world which since the end of the war have so tragically lost the peace for which we all hoped,

Protests came in also from the Intl. Assn. of Democratic Lawyers with headquarters in Belgium, the Democratic Rights Council in Sydney, Australia, and the All-China Federation of Labor. From New Zealand the Very Rev. C. W. Chandler, Dean of Walkate ,wrote:

grained to be hoped that a reprieve will be grained to both these people, if not on the grounds of innocence in all partientars, at least on the grounds of minian justice, especially as in this instance, it concerns two Jenish people.

The first "atomic spy" brought to trial by the West, Dr. Allan Nunn May of Britain, will be released "probably in December," Britain's Home Office said last week. May, who confessed and said he "did it for the safety of mankind," has served a sentence of 844 years.

Preparations continued for a nationwide Clemency Gathering to be held in Washington, D.C., on Jan. 4 and 5. It was also announced that a Prayer Vigil on the White House lawn to be conducted 24 hours a day for 18 days will begin on Dec. 24.

Press blacks out Govt. perjury admission; smeaks, protest mount

PROOF of at least one perjurer among the government's witnesses against Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, under sentence of death as "atom spies," came last week from the government itself. U.S. Atty. Myles J. Lane submitted an affidavit to Federal Judge Sylvester Ryan admitting a charge by defense atty. Emanuel H. Bloch that passport photographer Ben Schneider lied on the witness stand when he testified that until that day he had not seen the Rosenbergs since he photographed them some months before.

Lane's affidavit contained the confession of FBI agent John A. Harrington that Schneider had secretly been taken into the courtroom the day before he took the stand, to familiarize himself with the Rosenbergs' appearance; he had not recognized them from press photos published before and during the trial. As in the Alger Hiss case, the government in the Rosenberg trial had produced a surprise last witness (Schneider) on the last day of the trial, leaving the defense no opportunity to refute his story at the time.

Schneider's testimony was used to prove the government's contention that the Rosenbergs had planned to flee the country before their arrest: there was no other corroborating evidence of this charge. Although a minor witness, Schneider was the government's "clincher" at the trial; his testimony was freshest in the jurors' minds when they retired. But last week not a single major New York metropolitan newspaper reported the government's admission that Schneider had been rehearsed.

EMANUEL BLOCH
Down to the last barrier

SCARED EDITORS: Part of the morropolitan press condemned itself on another count last week; in his petition for a full hearing to invalidate the confictions and set aside the sentences sgainst the Rosenber Bloch chassed that the news pris had publicly condemned and convicted hem before their trial, and that the stores of their guilt had been "fed" them by FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover, Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath and U.S. Atty. Saypol (now a State Supreme Court Justice). Judge Ryan conceded that If pre-trial prejudicial atmosphere inspired by the prosecution could be proved, then the defense was entitled to a full hearing.

Bloch submitted clippings from the N.Y. Times and other papers directly quoting tendentious statements made before the trial by the three government officials, apparently in violation of Canon 29 of legal ethics. The government attorney did not attmept to deny their unethical and tendentious nature; he denied the statements as quoted were ever made. The court, instead of subpenaing the officials to state whether they had been misquoted by the press, gave Bloch three days to prove the quotes were accurate.

Three newspapers gave Bloch affidavits supporting the accuracy of their own stories: three refused or stalled. In Washington, Bloch obtained a true copy of an original Justice Dept. press release with the Hoover and McGrath quotes—presumably incontestable evidence which, however, seemed too late to count.

THE "SECRETS" HOAX: Denied were all other preliminary motions made by Bloch—to subpena witnesses to prove charges that the government used perjured testimony; others to prove a charge that a "deal" had been made with David Greenglass, the government's chief witness; to subpena scientists who could refute Greenglass' "scientific" testimony and to prove that the "secret" allegedly sent to Moscow was public knowledge.

On the latter point, the petition for a new hearing cites 67 scientific treatises published in the U.S.S.R. from 1932 to 1945, all available in English translations, proving that the secret of the defonating machine for the atom bombl—allegedly the secret transmitted by David Greenglass to the USSE—is no secret at all.

Harmon Craig, Research Assistant at: Chicago University's Institute for. Nuclear Studies, wrote in the student publication Chicago Maroon (11/29) that there is much doubt about Greenglass' scientific testimony—which has been impounded and made secret:

tion is upon the government to allow some ton it upon the government to allow some competent scientist with security clearance to inspect this material and talk to Greenskiss, in an effort to decide whether a mechanic with a high-school education could have recalled or comprehended these data without outside help. If it should be apparent that he could not have done so, and this should not be difficult to determine, then it would seem that perjury and a fraud of some sort have been committed.

ADS ARE REFUSED: As world protests against the Rosenbergs' impend-; ing execution—set for the week of Jan. 12-grew in scope and volume, other forces undertook to frighten supporters into silence. An initially high-voltage parade of inaccuracies by Oliver Pilat; in the N.Y. Post, presumably designed to scare liberals away from the clemency drive, petered out as the series wore on, The N.Y. World-Telegram, in two articles by its "red expert" Frederick Woltman, took up the counter-campaign which consisted of declarations in total contradiction to the trial record. (It was reported during the week that the Post had earlier refused paid advertisements for the sale of the official trial transcript; the Natl. Committee to Secure Justice in the Rosenberg Case appealed to all major N.Y. papers for the right to place full-page ads; at the beginning of this week no ads had appeared increased. Columnist Leonard Lyons, who boasts of confidential sources, reported falsely that Mrs. Rosenberg's mother wants her daughter to "talk" but was barred from seeing her. Congressman Harold H. Velde (R-Ill.). slated to be the next head of the House Un-American Activities Committee, asked for a stay of execution on the ground that the victims might name others and save themselves.

Pressure on the Rosenbergs to "conress"—constant since their conviction—

ACLU: The national office of the American Civil Liberties Union, which in recent months has drawn attention to its close working relationship with the FBI, was embarrassed. On Nov. 24 its New Haven affiliate, heavily weighted with Yale educators and scholars, publicly appealed for clemency for the Rosenbergs; last week It became unofficially known that the Boston affiliate had done likewise.

On Monday the Natl. ACLU formally stated it could find no issue of civil liberties involved in the case, and that the death sentences were ant so disprepertionale to the severile of the crime no to indicate a denial of due process of law.

THE CRY FOR JUSTICE: There were stauncher voices in the land, Publisher and editor-in-chief Samuel B. Gach of the California Jewish Voice wrote:

It is exactly nine months to the star-tual this writer charged that Judge Irring Kaufman was a victim of national hysteria -us scared des. And that that was why he handed dang the bestlat sentences of death to two Jews, Ethet and Julius Rosen-herg, for Jesser crimes than Ithosel for which others, in times of sanily, have received comparatively light prison, sentences still save the two Rosenbergs from brutal murder by wiring President Truman for efemency.

The Social Questions Bullelin of the Methodist Federation for Social Action wrote:

guestles for al il innocence, It is a time who may think the Rosenbergs g of taking their lives on a count for which us others have been so punished. England gave the atomic scientist br. Blay two to three years [Actually 61/2—Ed. N.G.]? Inchs. a more serious case, got less than a score. So did Aks Sally and Tokyo Rose, who openly aided the enemy in warling. The fatness of the trial can come up later, if there is a later. Now it is a question of life or death, of the constitutional right to excave cruel and annual punished. us others have been so punished. right to escape cruel and unusual punish-ment which the Supreme Court fore up, and threw out of the window when it refused to hear the Rosenberg appeal.

Is this year to go out with the deathknell of the Will of Rights sounding in our ears. If you want to do something to energy this trend, request the President's (while there is time) to commute the Eusenberg sentence to imprisonment. Then I there will taler be opportunity to every mine finally the question of guitt so Justice may not fall,

Rosenbergs and Prague

NEW YORK, N.Y. Many people to whom I have talked about the Rosenberg Case have pointed out, in seeming deicuse of the government's action, recent press charges of anti-Semitism thousands of miles away son trials. It seems a little upside-down to worry about alleged anti-comitism thorizants of mice away in another country while being blind to the anti-Simble character of the Rosenberg trial under our very noses, and in our own country where we ought to be able to do something about it.

These same people who damned Slansky all over the lot because he one a Communist rushed to defend lin as soon as the U.S. p ess made im look like a martyr.

I hope these people who are con-crited about anti-Sentitism, and lightly so, take another look at the American Rosenbirg Case and let the Czechs worry about their own affeirs Charler reader affelta.

DENVER, COLO.

I go down the line with you on the Hosenberg Case: I believe their death sentence was a travecty on justice and a crime. And I have justice and a crime. And I have said so publicly.

But I was more than a little shocked at your whitewen of the Excen government in the recent "punge" trials. By all standards that can be applied, ian't it obvious that if the Rosenberg affair was a travely and a crime, the Prague rase was brutal, bloody murder and n merce merce?

to go on speaking out and intend invites when it rears its ugly head in our country. But I also believe that injustice, even as justice, rec-appress no geographical boundaries, and certainly no double standards. . Max. Awner

A number of peaced time deserters from the armed forces likewise had their civil rights restored.

DR. MAY RELEASED: Emphasizing the enormity of the death sentences against the Rosenbergs was the release last Monday as a free man of Dr. Affan Nunn May, confessed British atom spy. Sentenced to ten years, Dr. May was freed from a prison at Wakefield, England, after serving six years and eight months, with the customary time off for good behavior.

As time ticked away for the Rosenbergs, there were few communities, large or small, across the country where efforts in their behalf were not waged. Reports were that seldom, if ever, has White House mail been so heavy with appeals for any single cause.

FRENCH PROTEST: In Paris, 5.000 attended a Rosenberg rally under the chairmanship of artist Pablo Picasso. France's Procureur Generale, M. Mornei, issued a statement in which he said the trial testimony left him "only an unhappy impression close to doubt." He confessed being puzzled that in a

In their petition for elemency to Judge Kaufman the Rosenbergs said:

We are conscious that were we to accept this verdict, express guilt, the conventional penitence and remorse, the Court's mind might be more easily swayed to mitigate our sentence.

But this course is not open to us.

We are innocent, as we have proclaimed and maintained from the time of our arrest. This is the whole truth. To forsake this truth is to pay too high a price even for the priceless gift of life — for life thus purchased we could not live out in dignity and self-respect.

tial "especially subject to political pretedice," the death sentence could be imposed despite repeated denials of guilt. He replied to those who asked him to join the elemency appeal:

The Women's Intl. League for Peace and Freedom, founded half a century ago by Carrie Chapman Catt and Jane Addams, appealed to its membership last week from its Washington, D.C., headquarters to urge President Truman to grant elemency to the Rosenbergs. The appeal said: "This is the least we can do. This we must do."

Judge Kaufman's quote

In his recent final judgment on the Resenbergs, Judge living B. Raufman quoted from George Eucts Stannels to belater his position. He might have gone to the same source for this: "Justice is like the kingdom of God; it is not within us as a great yearning." Except, of course, that it is within Judge Raufman petitier as fact now yearning. And incidentally, while invoking George Eliot, wh se knowledge of the secret places of the human petities as the proposition of the human peart was very great, he might, in blandel becomes, have found this:

There is a great deal of unmapped country within us which would have to be taken into account in an explanation of surpusts and storms," the theory formulated long before freud upon which modern psychology is based.
It would take no too assute a psychologist, however, to map borne the Warsaw pictio, as Herrey's novel

It did them no good in the end; and that is one of the lessons of history that seems not to have been learned. Judge Kaulman does not know that, slong with Judge Thayer and some others, he will present a sorry spectacle for future historians, whereas the Zolas and the Affeedic will be of ever greater statute with the passing of time.

Where there's no appeal 1495 ANGELES, CALIF. Julius and Ethel Resemberg are charged with being pawns in an alleged apv ring and mastix-minded by one Klans Puchs, a British acientist. Fuchs is given it years in jail and is still working for the British government. Oold and Greenglase, two others in the "rins," got similar sentencis. Fuchs and Gold are bachelors, All three "confessed." Yet, the Rosenbergs, parents of two small child en (with the most to gain by "confessing"), to this day maintain their imporence. They are given the death sentence. This is baruarism. President Truman must grant executive elemency. There is no appeal from the grave.

Charaman Someators join civil liberties battle

THE DEATH OF FREEDOM?
These people of many shadings, arriving for the Academic Freedom penel at N. Y. C.'s First Presbyterian Church, sought unity in the fight that freedom should live, in determ of the Bill of Rights. Boxe had spoken out before; many had not. Few up to then had come together. Anti-Communists and Communists stated their differences but stuck together on issues in a 2-day conference of the Emergency Civil Liberties Communistic In New York.

From the platform, speakers deliberately confined themselves to statements of principle; speakers from the floor, by the time the conference ended, were gelling down to cases, calling for organization and action.

Retired Amherst College pres. Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn, speaking Saturday afternoon at the wind-up session in the Hotel Brevoort, took the Smith Act conviction of Communist Party leaders as the touchatone in the assault on U.S. freedoms. Taking issue with "my old friend" Justice Felix Frankfurter, who upheld the Smith Act's constitutionality, Meiklejohn said the 1st Amendment

"You must be reasonable in your destruction of the freedom of political advocacy." What it says is that neither unreasonably nor reasonably may they enact laws which abridge that freedom. In a word the polytical freedom of the people of the U.S. is not subject to Congressional control."

"FREEDOM IS WISE": On the "clear, and present danger" doctrine, Meikiejohn said:

"It is never true that the security of a nation is actually endangered by the freedom of its people.... The danger of political suppression is greater than the danger of political freedom. Repression is always foolish; freedom is always wise."

Against legislation like the Smith Act he cited Madison and Hamilton, quoted a historic dissent by former Supreme Court Justice John M. Harlan who said in 1897: "Whatever it [Congress] does in excess of the powers granted to it, or in violation of the supreme law of the land, is a nullity and may be so treated by any person." Contrasting Harlan with Frankfurter, Meiklejohn said:

Today the Supreme Court, more than any other agency or person in our society, must be held responsible for the destruction of those Constitutional principles which that court is commissioned to interpret and to defend."

The threat, said Dr. Meiklejohn, comes not only from courts but from Congressional witch-hunts:

"A legislative committee which asks the question. 'Are you a Republican?' or 'Are you a Communist?', accompanying the question with the threat of harm or disrepute if the answer is this rather than that, stands in contempt of the sovereign people to whom it owes submission."

THE SIN OF MAN: Sharing the platform with Meiklejohn was the committee; chairman, Dr. Paul L. Lehmann of Princeton's Theological faculty.

Liberals join fight for U.S. liberties

Arguing that liberty is rooted in religion, he said New Englanders learned how to govern in their prayer meetings and acted on the conviction that "sin is the havor wrought upon man by man."

From the floor a woman told how, when she asked her pastor to join the committee and was told "the American Civil Liberties Union is already in the field," she warned him:

"The Catholic Church was pointing the way to heaven long before yours. There has to be room for all kinds in this fight. We must learn to work with those a little to the left or a little to the right of ourselves. The Apostles of Hitler were only 38% of the Germans but the liberals were divided into 28 groups."

A Negro woman asked the committee to seek support from all Negro ministers, not confining Negro leadership to NAACP leader Walter White, tWhite, originally scheduled to talk, was reported to have sent regrets adding that NAACP's exec. board asked him not to.)

ACTION WANTED: Though no resolutions were formally voted, speakers from the floor repeatedly called for action and organization; the committee said it would consider all proposals.

Some asked action to win bail for Smith Act defendants pending appeal, some for aid to the foreign-born. A woman from Vermont said "committees of correspondence" were already functioning. A man offered an aid "to the mental health of all present": he cited a psychiatrist's maxim that debate without action leads to frustration, prescribed for all a letter to Eisenhower isking elemency for the Rosenbergs, another to Gov. Fine of Pennsylvania asking hall-for CP leader Steve Nelson.

Langer's new "watch-dogs"

The conference opened Friday night in Carnegle Hall when Sen. Langer (R-N.D.) announced a 5-man subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Corim. (of which he is chairman) that would work to "protect the interests of the people." (Under Langer, a maverick GOP liberal, the Committee—which stole the witch-hunt show when Sen. McCarran headed it under the Truman administration—is expected to fade as a witch-hunt device.)

Langer said he had "ignored" pressure to decline the conference's invitation to speak. His new civil liberties watch-dog subcommittee included Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), but also veteran witch-hunters Thomas C. Hennings (D-Mo.) and Dirksen (R-Ill.).

THE 5th AMENDMENT: On Saturday the conference divided into panels which made these points:

Loyalty and the 5th Amendment: Judge Hubert Delaney, prominent Negro jurist, Yale Prof. Thomas Emerson, and Constitutional lawyer Leonard B. Bouch urged witnesses before committees or courts to use the Amendment, called it a protection for the innocent as well as the guilty; denounced loyalty oaths as a "screen for political conformity" (Emerson); estimated that 10.000,000 people and their dependents are affected by loyalty screening programs. Indge Delancy attacked the "professional anti-Communist" who would not support a civil liberties fight because Communists are involved.

• Freedom of the Arts: Merle Miller, author of The Judges and the Judged, a study of the blacklist, said the main enemy was in Moscow, Prague and Peking. Atty. Ephraim London, panel chairman, and author Matthew Josephson decried conditions abroad but said; "The job is here." Josephson termed the present state of U.S. arts "a cultural depression, in fact a panic."

• Political Use of Fear: Carey Mc-Williams seditor, the Nation: journalist I. F. Stone and psychiatrist Dr. Lawrence J. Roose warned liberals their

_Crowded out-

OF all N.Y. dailies only the Simes and Daily Worker reported the conference, the Times with 3 paragraphs on Saturday and a column on p. 65, 8unday. Almost all had printed advance attacks on the committee by Columbia's Prof. George S. Counts. The N.Y. Post fearly edition, 1/21) ran answers to Counts by Profs. Robert S. Lynd, Columbia, and Broadus Mitchell, Ruigers, but tacked them on a story denouncing the committee's sponsors as red, then yanked it altogether.

The N. Y. Herald Tribune, which gave space to Counts' altack, printed nothing on the conference itself, though it received AP coverage. The World-Telegram, which also ran Counts' charges, listed the meeting under "City Briefs" in early Fri. edition, pulled it later.

Counterattack, blacklisting anti-Communist bulletin, devoted an issue to denouncing the conference's sponsors and speakers, but in response to a telephone inqury said Sen. Langer was an exception.

"turn is next" after the Communists; declared "we have laws against violence" but the Smith Act prosecutes ideas (Stone); urged local civil liberties committees to work through churches and existing community organizations.

Academic Freedom: Dr. Dirk Bodde of the U. of Pennsylvania decried the "double standard of political morality" that says academic freedom is for everybody but the Communists; predicted that "If the death of freedom comes, it will not come from external aggression but from the totalitarians, McCarthys and McCarrans within," Dr. Scott Buchanan, (Foundation for World Govt.) said: "The best that a student or teacher can do is to learn to teach truth by rebellion to tyrants."

Guardian Editor called by Velde witch-hunt

GEORGE C. WILLIAMS, advance man for the House Un-American Activities Committee now under the direction of Rep. Harold H. Velde (R-III.), arrived at New York's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel last week and began circulating pink invitations to new witch-hunt victims "in the field of entertainment." Velde's statement in Manchester, N. H.,

THEP. MARGIN H. VELDE . The inquisition mores to N.Y.

(N.Y. Times, 4/11) that he "exempted from this [subversive] charge the greater number of our newspapers and radio stations" showed that he was about to launch the attack on the opposition press. This was confirmed when, on Tuesday, Williams brought a plink invitation for GUARDIAN editor Cedric Belfrage to appear in New York's Federal Building, Room 1105, at 10:30 a.m. May 4.

The "loyal" support and co-operation Velde was getting from the big press in his assault on the embattled opposition press was indicated when, two days before Belfrage was subpensed, Walter Winchell in his Sunday broadcast denounced the GUARDIAN as a "pro-commic rag" because it defended Velde demonded that it subpens Belfrage for questioning as editor of a "propagatida arm of Soviet Russis." Velde then described Belfrage as "former Hollywood correspondent for the Highlight Manchester Guardian, auother leftist publication." Winchell on Sunday called Belfrage "a radio commentator (who) is quietly trying to become an American citizen." All these statements are untrue in every word.

The attack on the GUARDIAN comes just after this paper brought to light sensutional new evidence in the Rosenberg Case, showing further perjuries in prosecution testimony. Now being picked up shroad, the revelations are rene ving the world clamor for a new trial, while a third intervention by the Prope for clemency for the Rosenbergs is blacked out by the press.

New Rosenberg proof is heard by 10,000

By Eugene Gordon

THE Supreme Court on May 1 recessed to May 18 without hunding down a decision on the third appeal for a new trial in the Rosenberg case. The Court will recess for the summer on June 6.

The day before 10,000 men, women and children poured into New York's Randall's Island Stadium by car, bus, subway and on foot across a winding Triboro Bridge causeway to a giont Rosenberg Chemency Rally.

They turned out despite a log and drizzle that account out buildings beyond the stadium. They listened to a new presentation of evidence that Ethel and Julius Rosenberg are victims of a frameup.

Joseph Brainin, chairman of the Noti. Committee to Secure Justice in the Rosenberg Case, said the committee had been insisting "for two long years" that David Greenglass, chief witness against the Rosenbergs and "a virtual illiterate," could not have made a sketch of the atom bomb "by overslearsing transient crumbs of conversation" the said the committee had documents to prove "that Greenglass fied to the government, to the court, to the public and to his family."

He quoted (but declined now by reveal

Times limes be would become delirious and once when he had the grippe he can nude through the hallway shricking of "elephants," "lead pants". . . . She had known him since she was 10 years old. She said that he would way things were so even if they were not. He talked of suicide as if he were a character in the movies, but she didn't think he would do it."

Further proof, Brainin sald, was a letter, in Greenglass' handwriting, published tast April 18 in the French anti-Communist paper Le Combat and reprinted by the conservative Paris Le Blunde. "I wish," Brainin sald, "you could see this man's handwriting."

The letter quoted Greenglass as

- If he didn't remember having said something, he "allowed" the FBI to invent a autable statement for him.
- He didn't know who sent Harry Gold, a confessed apy, to him (though at his trial later Greenglass said Julius Rosenberg sent Gold);
- He told the FBI of meeting a "stranger" in mid-town Manhattan (at his triol this "stranger" became a "Russian").

Greenglass' memorandum, in his own handwriting according to Brainin, did not mention life sister Ethel Rosenberg; at his trial he described her as a spy. Brainin asked:

"Can these contradictions also be explained by Greenglass' key formula: "I didn't remember this, but I allowed it in the statement?" Shall the Rosenbergs face the electric chair on this sort of testimony?"

The raily also heard

• A new statement by Pope Pius XII. (GUARDIAN, Apr. 27% in the official Vatican paper, Osservatore Romans, repeating and justifying his intervention in the Rosenberg case.

• A new statement by Dr. Harold C. Urey, Nobel Prize winner and expert in nuclear fission, citing the GUARDIAN's "new data relative to the console table" (GUARDIAN Apr. 13) and reiterating his request for another trial.

• A thorough analysis of evidence against the Rosenbergs by Stephen Love, professor of law at Northwestern University and former chairman of the character and fitness committee of the Illinois Bar Assn.

The GUARDIAN's general manager, John T. McManus, was introduced by Mrs. Emily Alman, chairman of the rally. He held aloft the console table which the GUARDIAN proved was purchased at Macy's for $21 at the time Julius Rosenberg said he bought it there, and which the government declared was given to Rosenberg "by the Russians" as a gift for services rendered. The table was identified by Mrs. Sophie Rosenberg, Julius' mother, as the only such table that had been in her son's house. But the New York press continued to ignore the table evidence. The N.Y. Times reported on the new evidence relating to Greenglass. The Rerald Tribune ignored it.

11th hour fight for Rosenbergs

PENEWED appeals for a slay of execution and a review of the Rosenberg Case were before the Supreme Court of the U.S. as this issue of the GUARDIAN went to press with the execution date—Thursday, June 18. at 11 p.m.—less than a week away. Presumably the Supreme Court decisions will be made by Monday, when the court adjourns until autumn.

WHITE HOUSE VIGIL: Clemency rallies throughout the U.S. and the world centered around a mass gathering before the White House in Washington Sun, June 14. A Clemency Train carrying New York and New Jersey participants in the White House vigil was scheduled to leave the Baltimore & Ohio depot in Jersey City at 8:30 a.m. Sunday, with connecting ferries from Liberty Street, Manhattan, leaving up to 8:15 a.m. Special fares were set at $12 round trip, or $25 round trip for two adults and a child. Buses and cars were scheduled to bring thousands to Washington from other points.

The Rosenbergs' 10-year-old son Michael, whose fetter to President Eisenbower asking mercy for his parents has made a world impact, recorded his first public address on the case. His voice was to be joined with the voices of his "Grandma Sophie" Rosenberg and others appealing for clemetry at a mass rally in New York's Union Square Thursday afternoof, June 11.

The issues placed before the Supreme Court by Rosenberg counsel Emanuel H. Bloch and John F. Finerty included a motion for a re-hearing on the court's 7-2 decision of May 25, denying a review of the case for a third time; and appeals from the decisions of lower Federal courts denying two motions for resulting a sentence and a third demanding a new total court for basis affective evidence of perjury by having the property of the basis of the sentence of perjury by having the property of the basis of the property of the Rosenberg and the Rosenberg LIES AND DEALS: The new evidence featured the ... Insole table brought to light by NATIONAL GUAR-IMAN in April, proving that the Greenglasses both lied about it at the trial where the government failed to produce it in evidence. Also included in the appeal were documents made public in European newspapers and traced to the files of the Greenglass attorney, O. John Rogge, indicating that the Greenglasses made a deal with the government to incriminote the Rosenbergs in return for immunity from prosecution or lighter sentences. Greenglass was eventually sentenced to 15 years for the same alleged offense for which the Rosenbergs were sentenced to death, while Mrs. Greenglass was listed as a "coconspirator" and a government witness and was never proseculed.

Other Inclusions in the motion for a new trial were an affidavit from his brother Bernard that David Greenglass had admitted to stealing uranism APPEAR TO QUEEN: On the eve of the World Congress in Copenhagen Bod week the Women's 16th Democratic Fedit, sent a request for elemency to Fresidem Eisenhower in the mane of 135,000,000 women in 65 countries.

The Union of French Women sent a communication to Queen Elizabeth of England on Coronation Day, adoresing her as the mother of two small childien asking her to use all her power to stop the execution of the parents of Michael and Robbie Rosenberg.

In Paris thousands gathered at la-Salle de la Mutualite June 4 to protest the May 25 Supreme Court denial of a review of the case. L'Humanite called the court's action preparation for a "menstrous political assassination" of two young people "guilty of loving peace and refusing to renounce their licinis."

Celebrants at a memorial to the Paris Communards of 1871 carried signs reading: "The Rosenbergs Must Be Eaved!"

TORTURE THROUGH HOPE: The "confess-or-die" alternative proposed to the Rosenbergs by the Department of Justice was attacked as a "Bargain of Death" by Le Monde, which said that confessions thus obtained would not be believed by the people of the world in the light of the mounting new evidence of their innocence. The Genera, Switzerland, Tribine called the offer "torture through hope."

In Italy and in Sweden, meetings were scheduled nationwide for Sunday, to ceincide with the Clemency Vigil at the White House.

In Uruguay Catholic Deputy Dr. Tomas Brena, after reading Michael Resemberg's letter to President Elsenbower asking mercy for his parents, proposed a chancher of Deputies with Daniel the Chamber of Deputies with

The surpression that they could buy their lives by acting as informers is viewed with repugnance incre, where people feel that the Rosenbergs are either innecent or, if gully, have been sentenced to a penalty all out of proportion to their offense.

FOR MICHAEL & ROBBIE: "Death House Letters of Ethel and Julius" Rosenberg," a $1 book of the letters of the couple to each other their children, their attorneys and others, came off the press June 11. Published by Jero Publishing Co., the book is distributed by the National Committee to Secure Justice in the Rosenberg Case, 1050 Sixth Av., N.Y.C. Profits will be held in trust for the Rosenberg children, Michael and Robbie.

In one of the letters Jolius Rosenberg writes;

EHIND THE WALLS OF LEVIS

A STORY which recently filtered through the gray walls of the tederal profitentiary here stands confirmed this week—as nearly as confirmation can be seen from tight-lipped difficults in a federal jail today. This is the way the story post:

'Tawid Greenglass blew his stack 'one night in the mess hall. He threw his mess gear on the floor and spreament 'Why don't you guys talk to me?' You would have done the same thing if you were in my spot. I only did it to save my neck to save my own wit! You would have done the same thing. Now of the other prisoners, said a word. The 'silent treatment' still pees against the man who hoop a death rap on his sleter to save his own skin."

Inval Greenplass is the former Army surpeart who involved his rater Ethel and her hostand Julius Resemberg in his confession of atomic explorage by himself and his wife He saved his wife from presentation and not off with a 15-year sentence.

He named a guard "Fig John Curplete," who personally excisenced Greenglass, "He hates his 1Green pass" puts," sold the indermant, "Fig John . . . kings all about Greenglass." The source also said that Greenglass considered a spegial security problem for Lawsburg.

Richmond was asked if any one of the feli-member administrative staff of the prison was known as 'Big John." "I knew of no one at the prison who prescenter that name," he said.

Also questioned were the pairon mail censor; a van driver and reveral quarte. All refused to discuss details of the Greenglaw story. All agreed they traw no "Fig John."

A telephone call was placed to Carnein at his Lewisburg home:

"Hello, is this Big John?" a.

Carnein answered with a chuckle of apparent acknowledgment, "Yeah, who's this?" He was asked: "Now you're sure this is Big John I've got?" Rather impatiently Carnein demanded, "Yes, yes. I'm sure. This is Big John now who's this?"

He was told that an out-of-town journalist wanted to talk with him about David Greenglass' blowing his top Carnein said:

"I don't know anything about that. And if I did I wouldn't tell you. I don't know anything about Greenglass. I'm not even over in his section any mac."

HON CURTAIN: With the name of Frank, why was he called Big John? Why did his colleagues refuse to acknowledge the nickname?

"Cause to certain people, I'm known as 'Big John,' " he replied. Was be known as 'Big John,' particularly to prisoners at Lewisburg?"

"I have nothing more to say," said. Caincin. "I've said enough."

A visit to the Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion clubs in Lewisburg June 6 and 7, drew from several members of the prison staff that the Greenglass story in general was regarded as true. "Helter told me he iGreenglassi leads one hell of a inc," raid one. Ita L. Heiter, a guard, could not be reached for comment.

A Lewisburg newspaperman called the prison an "Iton Curtain" where new is "blacked out." Of the Green-place story and the emergence of Frank Carnein as "Big Juhn'—this newspaperman commented: "The story certainly makes sense. Particularly when you know the prison as 1 do."

WASHINGTON, June 14
THE letter was in a small white envelope addressed in a child's handwriting to President Eisenhower.

The President wasn't in, so 10-year-old Michael Rosenberg left it with a guard at a White House gate. Looking on was Michael's six-year-old brother, Robbie. Newsmen swarmed around them, "What did you tell the President?" asked one.

"Everything is in the letter," Michael said. In his second plea to the President he had written:

I hope you got my letter that I sent because it is a letter about not letting anything happen to my mominy and daddy.

MARCHING & WAITING: Never before did so many people throughout the world wait for an answer to the letter of a child.

With Michael and Robbie were 13,000 people who had come by bus, car, train, and plane to plead for mercy for Ethel and Julius Rosenberg. On three sides of the White House grounds they formed double lines three abreast, stretching in closely-packed file over about 15 city blocks. They marched quietly, soberly, impressed with their serious purpose, though faces constantly brightened to greef old friends from every part of the coultry. Across the street many hundreds of Washington residents and government employes generally used to demonstrations grouped to watch. Many joined the march.

Veteran Washington policemen arew more and more astounded as the crowd swelled. Inspector George R. Wallrodt, with the force for 15 years, said it was the largest demonstration he ever saw at the White House.

Pilgrims for justice: They came from California, Oregon, Texas, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Missouri, Ohio, Indiana, N. Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, Florida, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and many other states. Three women from Canada came to plead for clemency in behalf of Canadian mothers.

There was one in a wheel-chair—another with crutches. Others pushed baby carriages and strollers, with the children holding signs: "SAVE MY MOMMY AND DADDY—Michael and Robbie Rosenberg."

At Jersey City a train was to have left bearing families from the eastern seaboard, but there was such a throng that another train had to be added—then a third. People stood in the aisles all through the four-hour trip.

At Union Station crowds of early arrivals welcomed those aboard the elemency trains. Cheers echoed through the huge station as the people filed by holding high their assortment of picket signs urging elemency, then rode to the White House on chartered buses.

PRAYERS: At 3:25 Michael and Robble perived with their grandmother, Mrs. Sophie Rosenberg. The boys wore their blue baseball caps with the letter "B" standing for the Brooklyn Dodgers, the favorite team of Ethel and Julius.

Many looking on wept as Rabbi Abraham Cronbach of Cincinnati, standing with the Rosenberg family before the White House, prayed for elemency. The boys then walked to the gate with the letter.

It took the crowd an hour and 10 minutes to walk 12 blocks to Constitution Av. and 9th St., and assemble on the lawn where prayers were offered by Rabbi Cronbach, Rev. Harold Williamson of New York and Rev. Amos Murphy of Boston. Tired child-marchers slept, wrapped in signs reading "Clemency!" "Show the World the U.S. can be mereiful!"

TO BEAT THE CLOCK: "We are making history today," said David Alman, exec. secy. of the Natl. Committee to Secure Justice in the Rosenberg Case. Mrs. Rosenberg pleaded with the crowd "not to let my son and his sweet wife set the electric chair."

That night the thousands started back to their cities and towns, to continue working feverishly to beat the ticking clock. They pledged to buy time, ring doorbells, place newspaper ads, see leading people, give out leaflets—do everything in their power to save the Rosenbergs.

Some, planning to stay only for Sunday, decided to remain behind to help maintain the round-the-clock White House vigil. There were several hundred on line when the President returned from his week-end trip Sunday night. THROUGH THE NIGHT: Several young hoodlums gathered near midnight and threatened the line. But the police, apparently under strict orders to avoid incidents that would add further fuel to the mounting world anger, dispersed the group.

"How come they can stay here and we can't?" one of them grunted.

"If you want to walk around too, start marching!" the officer ordered; "otherwise get out." Several formed a small circle for a while, then grew tired and dispersed.

The vigil continued on as the lights burned in the White House, where President Eisenhower was faced with giving an answer to little Michael and to humanity.

planned in Europe

A COMMITTEE of top-flight Belgian lawyers was going ahead last month with plans for a contre-process of the Rosenberg Case—a "counter-trial" similar to the one held in London after the 1933 Relenstag fire, which instead of the persons convicted in Berlin found Hermann Goering guilty of the crime. The initiating committee, according to the Paris Observateur (7/2), included two barristers' assn. presidents, Botson of Brussels and Tschoffen of Liege (the latter a former Catholic Party minister), and former Minister of Justice Marcel Gregoire.

The committee was making the condition that members "have no governmental activity and do not participate in any way in Communist ideology." The place of the trial was not yet fixed but might be London, Observateur said. It is proposed to repeat the whole trial with prosecution, testimony, defense and verdict, which will be reached according to American law. The Belgian initiators point out in their invitations to proposed participants that "no country is immune to the possibility of judicial error."

Lice," the Natl. Confirm to justice," the Natl. Confirm to Secure Justice in the Rosenberg Case last week annuonced a national conference to be held in Chicago's Fine Arts Blig. at 410 S. Michigan Av. The conference call, addressed "to all men and women and groups of good will," emphasized that "it is not too late for justice to be done for Morton Sobell" who is now serving a 30-year sentence in the federal prison on Aleatrag Island:

"We call upon our fellow citizens to strive to right the wrong that has been done. Those who understand that Morton Sobell was convicted under the most dubious circumstanters and upon the most questionable kind of evidence must work to secure a review of his case and a new trial."

SOBELL FIGHT: 6.000 persons gathered Sept. 16 in the stadium on Rundall's Island, to step off a nationwide movement to win justice for Morton Sobell and to broadcast to the world the truth about the Rosenberg case. The rally pledged also to secure the future of the Rosenberg children.

Mrs. Helen Sobell read a letter from her husband, serving a 30-year sentence im Alcatraz prison, San Francisco Bay, in which he said he had hoped his children, Mark, 4, and Sydney, 13, would "grow up in a world at peace, in a land without lear, hysteria or discrimination." He said he was not brave, or heroic, but with every barb they aim at me I can feel my inner strength grow. Even with my limited means of information I feel through your letters the sea of lunoan energy which swells around us, which holds us up and does not let us fall to destruction.

The situation of the Rusenberg hildren must appeal to us all. They are orphans and they have been orphaned by an event which just cause children almost incomparable shock. Their plight will be different things to different people. For some, for example, it will said to the strong care against capital positioners under any conflictions.

For anyone who thinks the conviction and execution were both unwarranted by the evidence, or will so further and think that the Riceinbergs were innocent, the apjeal of the children's situation will be especially strong. They are in this view, victims of the misses of the community's force. They have, therefore, a very special claim on the community.

In the Week of April II, when Morton Sobell in Alcatraz Prison marked tils 37th birthday and his fourth year in prison, the government was using the Resemberg-Sobell case as a scare aensation in the case of J. Robert Oppenheimer, "Mort was not surprised at the kind of attack on Oppenheimer," said Airs. Helen Sobell who, on April 23, traveled 3,000 miles to visit her husband. Last October, Mrs. Sobeli said, her husband had written her:

"Many eminent people have already pointed out that the loyalty oath was not designed to weed out the 'disleyal'.... Rather it was calculated to put a terrible tear in the hearts of men, almost a fear of some unknown, with everchanging standards, to suit the day to day needs of the witch hunters. Under such conditions only absolute conformity can guarantee the safety of a scientist... It is for each of us to conform, or be labeled a traitor."

TRANSFER CAMPAIGN: Sobell's birth tay also launched a campaign by the Committee to Secure Justice in the Rosenberg-Sobell Case to get Sobell transferred from Alcatras, where he has been since Thanksgiving Day, 1952. The Attorney General's odice "violated addingst and moral precedent" by planting Sobell there, the committee charged.

Sobell had no police record—not even a traile ticket—before he was zen-fenced to 30 years. At Aleatraz Sobell, a brilliant electrical engineer who gave up a fellowship to work for the government during World War II, does maintenance work on prison machinery. He is doing advanced study on electromagnetic theory. While he may receive no newspapers, said Mrs. Sobell, and she cannot send him any study material, he is able to order some scientific books from publishers.

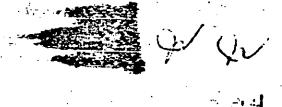

PETITIONS READY: Children are not permitted to visit (Sobell's little son has not seen his father since Nov., 1952), and prisoners may see guests only through a tiny pane in a steel wall, Sobell was placed in Alcatraz "in a vindictive attempt to force a false confession," says the Rosenberg-Sobell Comm. (1030 6th Av., N. Y. C. 13) which is circulating petitions to have him transferred to a regular federal institution while moves for a new trial are being completed. They urge letters to Prisons Director James V. Bennett, Washington, D. C., and are circulating in pamphlet form an analysis of Sobell's case by British lower D. N. Print published in the GUARDIAN (3/22, 4/5).

Briween May 10 and June 20, which the committee has designated as the official memorial period for Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, a delegation to Bennett is being planned.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Sobell has received many letters of support from abroad.

IWO LETTERS

Hope for transfer of Sobell gains

MRS. HELEN SOBELL's direct request to President Elsenhower for transfer of her husband Morton from Alcatraz to a federal prison in the east is receiving "considerable thought," according to acknowledgement received from Federal Prisons Director James V. Bennett.

Mrs. Sobell wrote the President on Dec. 26, on learning of the transfer to Alcatroz of Alcaander Pavlovich, Yugosiav faseist who singged Smith Act pissoner Robert Thompson, Communist Party leader, in a New York detention jud in October, 1953, Mrs. Sobell wrote that Pavlovich's presence in Alcatraz serving 30 years for "conspiracy and serving 30 years for "conspiracy and the serving 30 years for "conspiracy and the serving and the serving and the serving serving

Bennett also acknowledged a letter to him by Mrs. Sobell by saying "you may be sure we will do everything possible" to protect Sobell and promising to "keep in mind" her request for his transfer.

Meanwhile Mrs. Sobell at GUARDIAN press time had not received from Alwatraz authorities the date for the first visit of the two Sobell children with the prisoner since he entered Alcatraz in November, 1952. Children must receive special permission to visit Alcatraz. Her request was granted by Warden Swope in December. Swope is now leaving Alcatraz to command a new prison in New Mexico, and the request may have to be passed by the incoming warden.

However, the prompt acknowledgement of Mrs. Sobell's letters have spurred hopes that Sobell may be transferred in time to make the long,

"WILL YOU NOT TRY TO DO SOMETHING?"

Atom scientist Urey says he believes Rosenbergs and Sobell to be innocent

AT A MOMENTOUS MEETING Feb. 12 in Chicago, attended by 650 prople with hundreds more turned away. Nobel Prize-winning atomic scientist Harold C. Urey announced his belief in the innocence of Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, executed as atom sites, and of Morton Sobelt, serving 33 years in Alcatraz for alleged conspiracy with them.

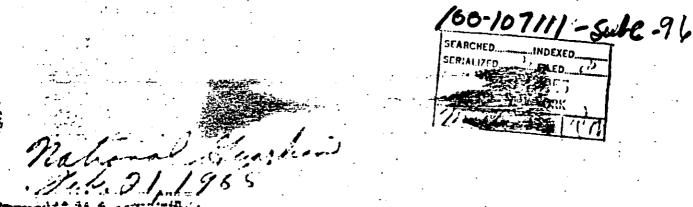

The meeting, a testimonial dinner to Urey given by the Chicago Sobell Committee, got a respectful press throughout the country and abroad. Dr. Urey redeived a volume of scrolls signed by 6 000 individuals including hundreds of preminent names in the U.S. and abroad (see p. 7) applauding his activities and his defense of the Rosenbergs and Sobell.

PURSUIT OF JUSTICE: Dr. Urey criticized "the increased use of the professional informer by the Dept. of Justice and Congressional committees," referring especially to admissions of lying by Harvey Matusow. Dr. Urey declared that the Rosenberg-Sobell trial "was not in the best tradition of American justice"; that the Rosenbergs were not proven guilty of the crime for which they were executed; and that the verdict and sentence against Sobell were not justified. He said:

"If proper trials cannot be secured for unpopular people, then it will become impossible to secure justice for other somewhat less unpopular people and so on until no justice is possible at all."

Dr. Urcy's argument may be summed up this way:

In any alleged espionage ring involving Klaus Fuchs, Harry Gold, the Greenglasses and a Soviet agent (the name introduced into the case was that of Yakovley, a U S. S. R. representative for the his country before the trials), there was no need for either the Rosenbergs or Sobell, nor was there any testimony or evidence connecting either with passing information. Their convictions were won on charges of conspiracy, which do not require allegations or proof of overt acts beyond contact with other conspirators. With respect to this, Dr. Urey said:

"I believe that the essential evidence for the conviction of the Rosenbergs was that given by David and Ruth Greenglass, that their testimony contains unbelievable statements, that the plausibilities of certain details of their testimony can be explained, that they had powerful motives for involving the Rosenbergs unjustly, and, finally that all the lacts of the atomic espiciage can be accounted for without the involvement of the Rosenbergs at all."

ELITCHER TESTIMONY: With-regard to Sobell, convicted on the lestimony of Max Elitcher linking him to the Resonances, Dr. Usey said:

funder Kaniman stated to the jury, that they could not find Sobell guilty, unless they believed Elitcher, I find m fact I find property and the Dr. Drew mainted

Dr. Urey pointed one has a surface was a confessed perimer, having falsified a government fob application, and sought elemency through his testimony. He was never indicted, "We should note," he said, "that no court passed on the credibility of testimony of any witness," Dr. Urey illustrated his argument with large diagrams,

DEATH-HOUSE LETTERS: "The inclusion of the Rorenbergs in the conspiracy makes no sense at all," Dr. Urey said. As to their refusal to "confess" to save their lives, Urey asked:

"Would you contest to being the head of a non-existent spy ring and let your children live under that stigma, or would you go to the electric chair maintaining your innocence? The letters of the Roseabergs written to each other in Sing Sing prison give their answer to exactly this question."

In conclusion he declared:

"I have been interested in this case and shall be interested in other similar cases because of my concern low the integrity of justice in this country. It is better to review a case in which we believe injustice has been done than to wait for the next one, when further injustice may occur.

"Will you not all try to do something about this series of doubtful trials or quasi-judicial procedures that threaten our security as individuals in a great, free country?"

The full text of Dr. Urey's spech may be obtained by writing to the Sobell Committee, 1050 Av. of the Americas, New York 18, N.Y.

A VITAL PRINCIPLE: The scrolls presented to Urry said that.

with your evaluation of the dase itself, you have exemplified the vital principle of speaking out firmly and comagonsity. The expression of your views has been in the highest tradition of American citizenship."

WM. A. REUBEN'S THREE-YEAR EFFORT GIAC ALGIER SIDY HOAK

By John T. McManus

100-101111-C

THREE YEARS AGO ander his brilliant expose in the Control of the injuries. Rosenbergs had launched and divine cannut in their behalf—William A. Reuben began a one-man search life the search stances behind the case. The search led back and further back, through all the cases linked to the purported Rosenberg Greenglass-Gold spy plot and before it—through the Hiss and Coplon cases, the innumerable "atom-spy rings" of the Rankins, Parnell Thomases et al, to the Canadian case of 1946 and the beginnings of the Cold War.

The result of this three-year effort is The Atom Spy Hoax. It is by long odds the most challenging (and most fact-crammed) arraignment of fraud and frameup by our government and its allies to come between book covers since the Cold War began. Fortunately for its thesis, it reaches the public at the mement when the parade of recantation by government frameup artists is beginning to form. The proofs of its thesis are piling up independently.

The question is, not whether William Redoch's thesis can be proved in every deal. It is whether any or enough of us will have the courage to accept for ourselves and propound to others the hateful probability that our government has been engaged for ten years in a monstrous hoar, bringing burt to thousands and death to two, destroying liberty and peace to preserve a rolling sistem and hold back pregiers.

Greenglass-Gold-Fuchs

The chief witness against the late Ethel and Julius Rosenberg was David Greenglass, Mrs. Rosenberg's brother. David testified that while an Army serecant assigned to the Los Alemos atamie project in 1944-45, he gave atomic information to his sister and brother-in-law for transmission to an agent of the U.S.S.R. Greenglass' admissions of his own explonage activities were said by the government to have been forthcoming following his arrest en infomation provided by one Harry Gold, a self-styled Soviet' spy for 15 years. The government raid it trapped Gold through testimony given to the FRI in a British jail by Klaus Emul Julius Fuchs, German-born British selentick employed during the war at I.o.s Alamos and a self-gagggsett spy.

the individuals accused of atomic espicnage, or of conspiracy or perjury in connection with it.

"Open Secret"

In mid-1946, following Winston Churchill's address at Fulton, Mo., launching the Cold War, the GUAR-DIAN's Tabitha Petran, then a reporter on the N.Y. Post, wrote a free-lance booklet Open Secret. It documented the steps then already taken to change public opinion from admiration to fear of the Soviet Union; and to construct in the public mind a concept of impending danger, rather than constructive development of atomic energy. Two significant references included by Miss Petran appear in Reuben's book:

 Cyrus Sulzberger, N.Y. Times correspondent, reported on March 21,

ALFRED THE STREET

THE TESTIMONY: The story as it was testified to at the Rosenberg trial has that Gold visited Fushs in Santa Fe, N.M., and then visited the Greenglasses at Albuquerque, where he identified himself with a portion of a Jell-O box to which the Greenglasses supplied a matching portion. Gold testified he got his part of the Jell-O box from one Yakovlev, a Soviet official in New York. Greenglass testified he got his portion from Julius Rosenberg.

The Alom Spy Hoax contends that:

 Gold never laid eyes on Greenglass until they met as witnesses against the Rosenbergs.

• Fuchs never laid eyes on Gold—and never said he did, Gold was cooperating with the FBI for almost a week before they ever talked to Fuchs; furthermore Gold had been questioned by the FBI and had appeared before a Grand Jury as early as 1947. J. Edgar Hoover lied when he said Gold was found out on the basis of a description given by Fuchs.

• Greenglass in fact never possessed any atomic information, but instead fell afoul of the FBI be ause he stole some uranium while assigned at Los Alemos. His wife and brother have stated that he stole manium and threw it into the East River following a visit from the FBI in February, 1950. This was four months prior to his arrest in June, 1950, which resulted in the involvement of the Roscabers.

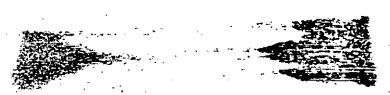

There are contentions in during they have never been advanced in the delenses of any of the latom spice."

Yet The Atom Spy Hoan offers for more do uniontary and conclusive evidence of this set of contentions than has ever been advanced around any of 1946, that "the momentum of pro-Soviet feeling worked up during the war to support the Grand Alliance had continued too heavily after the armistice. This made it difficult for the (Truman) Administration to carry out the stiffer diplomatic policy required now. For this reason... a compaign was worked up to obtain a better psychological balance of public opinion to permit the Government to adopt a harder line."

• John J. O'Neill, science editor of the N.Y. Herald Tribune, commented (3/24/46): "... A farcical bit of diplomatic buffoonery is being staged to provide apparent justification for a military control group—a spy scare in Canada so ludicious that it is a laugh to all but the most gullible."

In the nine years intervening between Miss Petran's carefully documented exposé and the publication of The Atom Spy Hoax (publication date March 5, 1955, ninth anniversary of Churchill's Fulton, Mo., speech), the public of the western world has never ceased to be under the pressure of this "psychological" war.

THE CANADIAN SCARE: And the Canadian "spy" scare, so correctly characterized by O'Neill, became the first great trumpery upon which all the rest has been intionalized, as Reuben's painstaking work so tellingly demonstrates. That this could have succeeded, despite its having been a total sham, and despite the testimony of every atomic scientist that there were no atomic secrets to be spied out, is of course a crushing indictment of the western "free press."

the Canadian cases—involves—ulfmittely 26 people rounded up alongedly first made public in the form of accusations by a Canadian Royal Commission in late February, 1946. It was later shown that they had been discussed by Canada's Prime Minister McKenzie

King with President Truman and British Prime Minister Attice as early as September, 1945.

THE FINAL SCORE: British-American-Canadian policy of atomic menopoly" was announced by the White House in Nov., 1945. Shortly after Churchill's planned visit to the U.S. was announced. The Canadian A-spy yarn was then made public as the backdrop for Churchill's Fulton ejeech. U.S. newspapers quickly picked up the cue; a similar spy-ring was feared operating in the U.S. On the outcome of the Canadian cases, the U.S. press let its voice fall to a succession of buried paragraphs, so that even today lew in the U.S. can recall any final and definite information on these "cornerstone" cases of the spy hunt.

The final score—as Reuben rounds it up in three engrossing chapters at the start of his book—was 16 freed, one being fined $500 for making a false statement in connection with a passport application for a Spanish Warvet; nine imprisoned in Canada, none for anything at all to do with atomic espionage and all actually by self—entrapment into statements bringing them within the technical purview of the Officials Secrets Act, such as discussing political topics or formulae known to the world for 50 years.

The Nunn May Case

The tenth imprisoned was Allan Nunn May, arrested in Biltain on March 4, the day before Churchill's Fulton address, May was eventually juiled for six years on his "confession" of having violated the Official Secreta Act. Actually May was never mentioned in the original Canadian cares, but was included in its general context after his guilty plea in England. The device was having his photo identified by one of the secused in Canada, who knew only his last name as a colleague irr a scientific workern' associations are even despite his confession Marchers worked on the atom bomb and recording to Gen. Those who protested innocence and stuck to this were quickly exculpated the fukely of the Canadian arrests; hence it was easy for the Rankin Committee, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and eventually the Dept. of Justice and the FBI to drum up the peril of atomic espionage here.

Thus when in Sept. 1949 the news came that an atomic explosion had occurred in the Soviet Union (directly on a headule with most scientists) predictions of 1945; the stage was set for the oray of spy-hunting. It ended with tile killing of the Rosenbergs but included, on the way, the almost "constitution" of America's demonstration theretoes. Within 12 months

Hiss. Judith Coplon and Valentin Gubitchev were convicted; Sen. Mc-Carthy emerged a national figure; the Korcan War began; Ethel and Jilius Rosenberg and Morton Soell and five others were arrested as 'alom spics'; and, with the passage of the McCarran Act, anyone in America could be put behind the barbed wire of a detention camp for being, in the eyes of the FBI, a 'probable' espicinage conspirator."

THE FUCHS ARREST: The heyday of Elbatoche Bentley, Louis Budenz and Whittaker Chambers arrived the ege of the informer was in fall flower And, on Jan. 31, 1950, President Truman announced our nation's intention to manufacture the hydrogen bomb. Two days later the arrest was announced in Loudon of Klaus Fuchs.

The details of Klaus Fuchs' confession have, of course, over been made public; but Reuben's research blasts sky-high at least one conclusion the public has been induced to draw from it that Fuchs gave the FBI the name of Gold as a U.S. confederate.

Similarly, Rephen directs the subsequent construction of a spy relationship between Gold and Greeneless. The discrepancies are manifold, but just one of them is sufficient again to blist the story sky-high;

The railway time-tables, carefully elecked and verified for the period in which Gold was said to have visited the Greenglasses in Albuquerque, disclose Gold as a liar in his testimony as to when he left Albuquerque and when he arrived in New York (not by a mere matter of hours but by a full day). Thus, by his own story as presented by the government in the Rosenberg case, he could not possibly have obtained information from Greenglass on a Sunday afterneon and turned it over to a Soviet agent on a Tuesday evening in New York.

WHOLESALE HOAX: On top of this, the conflicting testimony of Gold and both Ruth and David Greenglass as to the purported passing of information, payment for it, etc., indicates that this too was a fabrication and a fatrly slipshod one. It could not have known in paid the impoverished Ro-enlerg defense had the means of checking it or indeed if the Rosenberg defense had an inkling of the possibility of wholesale hoax by the government.

The Sobell Case

Many, many more aspects of this engrossing, disturbing book deserve much fuller treatment than can be given here. One is the 42-page final chapter on the Sobell Case. If the vietimization of Morton Sobell has ever been a matter of doubt to anyone, Reuben's final chapter must remove that doubt from any reasonable mind.

ALFRED DEAN SLACK: There is, of course, a nationwide movement to win a new triat for Sobell, and Reuben's findings are of inestimable value to that campaign. But there is no campaign in behalf of another victim of the Atom Spy hoax: a Syracuse, N.Y., chemist named Alfred Dean Slack, now serving 15 years in federal prison under circumstances of unbelievable injustice, appelling neglect by counsel (in this case the noted Ray Jenkins of Metrirthy hearing fame) and deprivation of constitutional and ordinary human withits at every turn.

Reuben's book brings the facts in the Slack case to light for the first time anywhere. If there is the will anywhere to launch a campaign for justice for Slack, the ammunition for it is here.

Parts of The Atom Spy Hoax (as on the Slack and Hisz cases) read like a well-constructed whodunit. Other parts will, and should, take most attentive reading. The thesis of the work challenges the basic premise of the Cold War, and comes to grips with the real-question; not why but whether the "atom spies" spied for the U.S.S.R. The extent to which Reuben is correct indicates the extent of the job Ameriscan progressives have before them.

EARLY in March a man's voice said

Congress:

"I'm Dave Brown Do you want to

Patterson said: "I don't want to see you but if you want to see me, you know where to find me."

To CRC officials Dave Brown, California head of the organization since early in 1954, told a story of betrayal more far-reaching, more sordid than Harvey Matusow's. He said: "I was a completely deprayed creature of the FBI."

Inst Monday when the CRC opened its defense before the Subversive Activities Control Board in New York's Foley Square, it faced, among others, the charge that it took the Communist Party position in assailing the FBI's methods. To prove that its comments were based on fact, not on any "line," the CRC called as its own witness ex-FBI agent Dave Brown.

BIRTH OF AN INTRUSE. Before the came to the street Brown, 49 years old, the father of the children, set from his record as a professional treatment.

In 1932, then a member of the Communist Party, he wrestled with an impulse. He confesses now:

"I don't recollect when I became very angry with what I considered an act of extreme bureaucracy on the part of the district leadership, and in a moment of extreme emotionalism, I went into a pay phone and called the number of the Chicago Red Squad and asked for Mike Mills, the head of the Red Squad. I remember being very excited, with a great deal of turmoil inside, and before be could get on the line, I hung up. That night I walked far into the night through the streets of Chicago, accusing myself of being an irresponaible element, a dangerous element, and resolved that such a thing could never happen to me again. . . . Years later, in Perth Aniboy, N. J., during one of my periodic spells of remorse following a heavy drinking bout, I cried out to my wife that there was something rotten inside of me. . .*

DINNER & A CHAT: Nine years later Brown yielded to that "something." In 1943 he was field organizer in New Jersey for the Mine, Mill & Smelter Workers Union, then in the CIO. Workers of the Volco Copper & Brass Co. went on strike for a 15c-an-hour pay boost and improved working conditions. Federal mediators brought the two sides together and Brown, speaking for the union, faced the company officers around a conference table During the intermission at one negotiating session, Perlonnel Manager Julius Kass proposed a private chat over dinner.

In a New York restaurant Brown sat down with Kass and top company executives. The talk was convival, the drinks ample. The company told Brown they would settle for 5c an hour. Recalling the conversation Brown said he told them: "I think I can sell it to them but it's going to be tough." Kass allegedly turned to the company bosses and said: "I know what Dave's up against. Is it all right if I make him the proposition now?" The executive nodded, and Kass went on:

"I have been authorized to work out an arrangement with you which I am sure will be satisfactory and make it worth your while."

Next day in the Hotel New Yorker's cocktail lounge Kass allegedly handed Brown an envelope containing $500, told him: "It's yours and you get arother like it when the contract is signed." The contract was signed. His career as a traitor was launched

Dave Brown story

and for the next 12 years he followed it, keeping it secret from his wife, successfully drinking down his qualms.

"IN GOOD FAITH": Shortly after, Mine-Mill opened an organizing drive at the American Smelting Refining Co. plant in New Jersey. At a roadside inn plant Supt. Harms offered Brown a job as personnel manager on the west coast. When Brown declined, Harms told him: "Look, we know how much grief you have to go through and would like to make you an offer in good faith." Charging that "certain radical elements" were trying to disrupt, Harms put the proposition:

"If you help to maintain harmony in the plant we will be very glad to compensate you on a monthly basis off the record."

Brown's "off-the-record" earnings came to $200 a month.

SiTBACKS: In 1944 the CIO Political Action Committee was working with local Democratic leaders in New Jersey to re-elect Franklin D. Rooseveit. Brown cultivated an acquaintance with David T. Wilentz, who was later to become the state's atty, general but then wielded authority only within the Democratic Party machine. Brown's 1932 impulse to work for the government reasserted itself. He asked Wilentz whether he could get him a job with the Justice Dept. as an informer. The informer racket was then more exclusive and Wilentz told him:

"With your record? Hell, they wouldn't trust you. Forget about it."
He never quite forgot; but while waiting for his big chance, he turned to lesser sell-outs. Shortly after Mine-Mil was expelled from the CIO, Brown says he opened negotiations with Carl Holderman, right-wing secy.-treas, of the N.J. CIO. His offer: to lead the Voice local from M-M into the His price: a job as west coast organizer for the CIO. Brown claims he met with Holderman over drinks at a bar and at the home of N.J. CIO pres. Irving Abramson, found both men responsive. He won over the local's executive board to the idea but when, over cocktails, he tried to collect, he says Holderman told him:

"Look, Dave, we appreciate what you've done. I'm sure it will help. But, to be frank with you, how do we know we can trust you? My advice is to get out of union work, get a job in private industry on the coast."

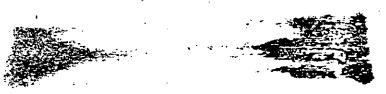

FIVE-BUCK DAYS: He took that advice, settled in California.

When he came to Los Angeles in 1950, the door he had fruitlessly knocked on suddenly opened. FBI agent Romney Stewart and a companion came and asked him to "co-operate." At first he said, "No," then, as the agents were leaving: "Give me your telephone number."

His first FBI assignment was to follow the "what's-on" column in the People's World (west coast left-wing paper), attend meetings and file reports. The rates: $5 a report.

HOW TO SUCCEED: In 1951 the FBI outlined a strategy to him. The government's objective was to prove that the leaders of progressive organizations were CP members, the members dupes, It was important therefore that Brown, who was rising in the progressive movement, rejoin the CP he had left years ago, so the reality would be made to resemble FBI theory.

Toward the end of 1951, Brown recalls, agent Stewart said the Bureau was pleased with his efforts to get back into the party. Stewart promised: "It'll be a feather in your cap...it'll put more money in your pocket, much more than you're getting now." He promised $200 a month as soon as Brown was accepted. Brown pressed for an imme-flate raise, Stewart said:

Well, However, you could make plenty. (Brown had told the FBI from the start he would have to stay out of court.] But since you won't there's one way you can boost your earnings, that's to become a head of some party organization like the Poreign Born Committee, the IPP (Independent Progressive Party), the CRC. Now you get up there, that is if you're back in the party, and I can easily get you $250 a month, maybe $300."

THE ROSENBERGS: Brown worked himself up, playing ball with Stewart, feeding him scoops which Stewart relished, says Brown, because every name counted in the FBI agents' hot race with one another to fill dossiers in Washington. (At the SACB hearings Brown testified that he frequently lied in his reports.) Stewart advised Brown carefully on "security," urging him to go easy on drinking and women while waiting for admission to the CP. Brown discegarded Stewart, drank steadily and by his own admission, carried on an active extra-marital sex life.

By the time he headed the California Rosenberg defense committee, Brown felt he needed no instructions. He said:

"As I left the Rosenberg Committee office [in Los Angeles] with $1,000 in my briefcase of the money given by the people, to meet the rest of the delegation at the airport I phoned Stewart for instructions. Stewart said: 'Hell, Dave, we got Washington covered. You goofed. Here's where we need you,'

"IMBUED WITH ARDOR": This is the way Brown describes his simultaneous jobs for the Rosenberg Committee and the FBI:

"The reason I succeeded in fooling . everybody, including my wife, was that I was actually imbued with the rdor and drive, working effectively or a policy and program . . . capable of involving people, getting them make sacrifices. And what's more important, carrying through consistenties high level or correct min with When I met with Stewart I was a different person, a cynical, hard, a typical police agent glorying in his role of finger-man. Brown gave CRC officials the memories of his:

"Flying on the plane to Washington with three other west coast delegates to march in the final White House vigil with Helen Sobell and Dave Alman, then to ride on the train as it passed Ossining at the hour of execution. . . The meeting of the Rosenberg Nati. Committee at Rosoff's Restaurant, the act of serving as one of the Honor Guard the same night in the chapel at Flatbush.

"Walking with Dave Alman at the cemetery as the dirt was being show-eled into the grave, weeping with him as he put his arm around me. . . All this with not a thought that I was a hired stoolpigeon of the Justice Dept. and then returning to Los Angeles and delivering a detailed report to Stewart. Did he direct me to go to Washington? No. Did he instruct me to spy on a funeral? No. These things I did on my own-without a conscience or a thought."

THE CRACK-UP: Early in 1954 Brown. was admitted to the CP; some time earlier he had become head of the CRO in California. His FBI pay went up to $250 a month. Then in January, 1955, he cracked. On Jan. 3 he disappeared. Three days later he turned up in Portland, Ore., telephoned the FBL Rushed to Los Angeles, he turned over all his cash ($120) and clothes to agent Stewart, spread the story he had been kidnaped. But within a few days he changed his mind again, confessed the hoax to the CRC, admitted he had been an FBI spy.

Then he vanished again, floating from town to town across the country. Few knew his whereabouts until last week in Foley Square he took the stand as a witness for the CRC to reveal the FBI at work.

MORTON SOBELL'S DAUGHTER REMEMBERS

The day they took her Daddy away

Sydney Sobell is just turned. 15. Her sharpest childhood memory is of a day when she was 10 and she watched her parents dragged from her, leaving her alone in Mexico City with her year-old brother. Sydney's father, Morton Sobell, is still in Alcatraz prison serving a 30-year term as the third victim in the case that took the lives of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg. The Committee to Secure Justice for Morton Sobell, which has called a rally in Carneyie Hall for June 16, last week released this story of Sydney Sobell as she wrote it five years after the event:

WERE in Mexico for our vacation. We had been there for about a month. It was Aug. 16, 8 p.m. We had gone to the park in the afternoon; there had been a storm and the lights had gone out in the house. We were having dinner by candicilight. Just as the lights finally came on, the door and asked "Who is there?" in Spanish. I got a garbied answer, so I opened the door.

A gun was being pointed at me. There were five men. They came in and told my dad that they were from the police. They flashed some sort of a tin badge, and said they didn't need any warrants, they didn't have any warrants, and that he was Johnny Jones, and he wits wanted for having stolen money in Acapulco. Of course we said this wasn't so, becaule it wasn't. Morty wasn't a thief, and he hadn't been to Acapulco. This whole business nas ridiculous.

THEY SLUGGED HIM: After a while they said "You're coming with us," and we said that we certainly were not. They were not dressed in uniform, they hadn't shown us any identification. We didn't know whether they really were police. We didn't want to go, so they began slugging Morty, and they started to take him by force. They also hit my mother and just dragged her and my father off. I was left alone in the house with my little brother Mark, who was a year old.

I ian to the next door neighbors with whom we'd become acquainted, and told them what had happened. They had an apartment on three levels, and the top level was outdoors, like a porch or roof-top. They kept their chickens up there. I told them I'm going up to the roof, and don't tell them where I am. Don't tell the men because I'm scared. After a while they called, "Come on down, Sydney," and when I came down the men were there. They took me to a place which I found out later was the National Security Building, it must have been around 9 or 9:30. When I left, I had packed our things, bottles for the baby. "HE LOOKED HORRIBLE": All during the trip I kept saying: "Don't touch the baby, don't touch the baby." I knew that there was something dirty about this, something that was vicious, When I got there, I was extremely frightened, because I hadn't seen my mother and dad. I didn't know what was happening, that they could hear me calling for them but that I couldn't hear them. They were there until about midnight, when my mother was alowed to come out and take care of us. She told them she wanted cots. She demanded them. She sald "I have a right to get cots for my children," and we slept. About two o'clock we twere awakened, and we went outside. When I first saw Morly—It was the first time since he'd been taken away—his glasses were broken, his face was cut, and he was all boat up. He looked horrible, and I was frightened of the whole thing. Morty was ln a car, with three men with guns. THE HEADLINES: My mother and I were put into a car with three men, the baby was with us. We drove from 2 a.m. on Aug. 17 to Aug. 18 about midnight, when we arrived in Larcdo, Tex., where we saw the newspapers with the headlines: "New Red Atom Spy," Undermeath was Morty's picture, We had heard of Julie and Ethel Rosenberg's arrest previous to that, and we had been very worried about the idea that people who Morty had known, people who couldn't be spies, who were good, decent, people, were implicated in something as impossible as this.

And now it had happened to State Dept. gives Dr. Nathan a passport to avoid a court test on its policies

DROF. Otto Nathan's two-year effort to obtain a passport has ended in significant victory. The State Dept. on June 6 issued him a passport to avoid a court test of its passport application procedures. Last week Federal judge Schweinhaut supported Prof. Nathan's claim that the State Dept, had not complied with the judge's order two months ago to give him an appropriate and prompt hearing. Judge Schweinhaut then specifically accused the State Dept. of "dilly-dallying, delaying tactics" and ordered it to issue a passport immediately.

The State Dept. asked the Federal Court of Appeals for a stay of the order. In an unprecedented ruling, the three appellate judges (Chief Judge Henry W. Edgerton, David L. Bazelon and George T. Washington) temporarily stayed Judge Schweinhaut's order, asked the State Dept. to give Prof. Nathan "a quasi judicial hearing ... with opportunity provided to the Government and to (Nathan) to offer evidence" by July 7. It directed the State Dept. to grant or deny a pass port to Prof. Nathan within 15 days after the hearing.

THE FIRST TIME: Agreeing with Judge Schweinhaut that Prof. Nathan "was never accorded an evidentiary hearing," the Appeals Court also directed that Dept. immediately either (A) inform this court and the appellee with parcularity of the reasons for such denial or (B) show cause to this court with particularity for any failure to supply such reasons."

The issuance of the passport thus enabled the State Dept. to avoid a hearing where it had to back up its charges. In a statement Dr. Nathan said:

the action vindicates the fundamental right of every American citizen to travel. It is bound to establish a precedent in the case of hundreds of others denied the right to travel... The action also shows the importance of compelling the State Dept. to support its 'allegations' by evidence in an open hearing."

Legal experts believe this is the first time a court has prescribed rules for a State Dept. hearing. The State Dept. has always claimed that the denial of a passport and the reasons for such denial were the sole concern of the executive branch of the government.

In his latest affidavit Prof. Nathan asked for prompt action on his passport case because, as executor of Albert Einstein's estate, he had to go to Europe to help assemble and preserve important scientific documents. He also planned to attend the July 11-16 Jubifee of Relativity Theory at Berne to which Dr. Einstein had been invited.

NEW YORK MEETING JUNE 16

Many cities to hold memorials for Julius & Ethel Rosenberg

TWO YEARS AGO Ethel and Julius Rosenberg went to their deaths in Sing Sing prison. The executions shook the world as few deaths had since Sacco and Vanzetti.

Around the country the Rosenbergs would be remembered this week not as a lost cause but as a battle still being fought. Center of that fight is Morton Sobell, fellow-victim of the Rosenberg frame-up, now serving his fifth year of a 30-year sentence in Alcatraz.

Public meetings calling for Sobell's freedom are scheduled this week in New York, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Chicago, Tucson, Detroit, St. Louis, Cleveland, Vancouver, Toronto and throughout Europe.

The anniversary week will see publication by Cameron & Kahn of the most definitive book yet written on the subject, The Judgment of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, by John Wexley. It runs 672 pages, including photostats of the most significant documents in the case.

N. Y. MEETING: The book will be on sale in New York at the Sobell Committee's meeting in Carnegie Hall, Thurs, eve., June 16 Mrs. Morton Sobell and artist Rockwell Kent are scheduled to steak. The meeting will feature a new dramatic presentation, "The Innocents" and a new postcal composition, "In Memory of Two Martyrs." Timed with the Carnegie Hall rally, the Sobell Committee amounced publication of a new song in memory of the Rosenbergs, "Come Place A Red Rose," by Edith Segal.

Pledges to continue the fight came from around the world to committee offices, 1050 Sixth Av., in advance of the meeting. Included are messages from Vicente Lombardo Toledano, secy. of the Confedn. of Latin American Workers, Janet Jagan of the People's Progressive Party in British Guiana, Prof. J. Hadamard, prominent French educator.

U.S. GOVT. ON TRIAL: Rev. C. W. Chandler, Anglican Dean of Waikato, Hamilton, N. Z., summed up comment abroad:

"The issue as I see it, is not so much whether this person or that person is vindicated, merely for the sake of that person, but that the United States government is on trial before the court of world-wide public opinion."

Dr. W. E. B. DuBois wrote the committee:

"In my later years I have come to realize that our jails are full of innocent men and that persons of whose innocence I have not the slightest doubt. like Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, have been judicially killed for no crime.

"For this reason I am astonished and indignant that Morished and indignant that Moriton Sobell is in jall, when the accusations against him have never been proven, when his accusers for the most part are self-confessed liars and when the courts have never given him a fair chance to prove his innocence. This nation can never be a democracy until hereceives a fair trial."

PROPERTY TO A PROPERTY OF THE NEW YORK

The following article was first published in the Paris willy "Liberation" on June 20. II was reprinted in the NATIONAL GUARDIAN. For months following it was republiced in publications throughout the world until now it in regarded as a classic in the literature of the Rosenberg Case.

Jean-Paul Sartre, who wrote it, is the most important author and playicright to emerge in France since World War II. He was the idol of Western "anti-communist liberals" until he attended the World Pence Assembly in Vienna in 1952. Since then he has been a tireless worker for peace and world understanding. He will be a member of the French delegation to the Helsinki Peace Assembly beginning June 22.

By Jean-Paul Sartre

THE ROSENBERGS are dead and life goes on. That is what you wanted, isn't it? Only yesterday we were their comrades and you have killed them as fast as you could so that we should only be their survivors. You count on time to make us every day a little more forgetful, a little guiltier toward them to make you seem a little less cruel. Of course it will cost a little; there will be broken window panes in your embassies. But you will put in new ones and, with a little luck, the cops will shoot on the European crowds and we'll have brand new corpses all our own to turn our thoughts away from your two.

You already played that trick on us with Sacco and Vanzetti and you won. This time you won't.

ON one point you will win: we want to harm no one; the horror and contempt you awaken in us we refuse to turn into hate. But you will never make us swallow that the execution of the Rosenbergs was nething but a "regrettable incident" or even a judicial error. It was a legal lynching which smears a whole nation with blood and which once and for all lays bare the bankruptcy of the Atlantic Pact and your inability to lead the Western world.

Let me tell you what your mistake was: you believed that the murder of the Rosenbergs was private settling of accounts. A hundred thousand voices cried out: "They are innocent." And stupidly you answered: "We are punishing two of our citizens according to our laws. It's none of your busi-

Well, now, that's just it—the Rosenberg case is our business: innocents who are sent to their death are the business of the whole world. The spokesman of the Vatican himself was saying only last Thursday: "Civilization has before it a choice on which depends its acquittal or its condemnation." Every-where people cried out to you: "Watch out! You judge yourselves in judging them; we shall have to decide whether you are men or beasts."

Do you understand now why we begged you for a new trial? When we asked for justice for the Rosenbergs we meant also: "Make sure that your cause is just." When we begged you to spare their lives, it meant also: "Spare-your own." Now that we have been made your allies, that also of the Rosenberg was a spare to the Rosenberg with the state of the Rosenberg was a spare to the Rosenb we have been made your almost that had the Rosenbergs could be a preview of one of the fature. You, who claim to be masters of the world, had the opportunity to prove that you were first of all masters of yourselves. But if you gave in to your criminal folly, this very folly might tomorrow throw us headlong into a war of extermination. No one in Europe was duped: whether you gave life or death to the Resembergs was the measure of whether you were continue for peace or world wor.

The had been the sinister clowning of Mac-Arthur, the bomburge on the Yalu, McCarran's cops; each time you doublecrossed Europe and stood alone. And yet, your friends kept a small hope; if our governments were not to fort set their points of view it was heligie they disagted among them selves, it was become had not tood by England. It was become they were not backed by the people. But yesterday the was the water of Europa that moved as one—its masses, its prices, its cabinet ministers, its heads of state—to ask your President to make the simplest gesture of humanity. make the simplest gesture of humanity.

we were not asking for your dollars, nor for your armaments, nor for your soldiers; only for two lives two innecest lives lives, two innocent lives.

AVE you even understood the scope of this extraordinary truce? Class conflicts, the oldest bit-ternesses—all were set aside: the Rosenbergs had produced European unity. One word from you, and you too would have reaped the benefits of this unification. The whole of Europe would have hon-ored you. You answered: "To hell with Europe." Very well. But don't come to us any more with talk of an alliance. Allies consult one another, talk matters over, make mutual concessions. If you answer "No" when all we ask you is not to dishonor your-selves to no purpose, how can we believe that you will allow us to speak out when our larger interests are at stake?

Us your allies? Cut it out! Our governments today are your domestic servants. Tomorrow our peo-ple will be your victims. It's as simple as that. Of course you will come out with shameful excuses: your President couldn't grant clemency to the Rosenbergs, he had to lighten ballast in order to impose his will in Korea.

E know now what kind of weight we amount to In your scales. On one side you put the world on the other, McCarthy. When the Rosenbergs sat in the electric chair, the scales were down on the side of McCarthy.

Do you believe we are going to die for McCarthy? Bleed from every artery to give him a European Army? Do you believe we are going to defend the culture of McCarthy? The justice of McCarthy? That we shall let Europe be turned into a battle-field so that this bidderstaned imbedie can burn books? Please undestructible right now: Never shall we hand the destruction of the Western world to the murderers of the Mosephers.

You say that McCarthy will past and that you are secretly planning his downfall? So what then? Your McCarthy has millions of heads. Chon one of Do you believe we are going to die for McCarthy?

Your McCarthy has millions of heads. Chop one off and a hundred will sprout.

Look—I have before me on my table a photo taken last Thursday in Washington: well-fed and well-dressed men, elegant young women, are march-ing by asking for the execution of the Rosenbergs. In the foreground a young and pretty girl carries a sign: "Fry them and send the bodies to Moscow."

You saw these people wait in your streets at the very moment when a man aim waite living their last hours in prison, and two desperate with their last hours in prison, and two desperate children were asking in satisfication laugh shout, wave their signs and banners and there twasn't one among you to go and bash their heads in. Decidedly there is something rotten in America.

DON'T tell us these are only a few excitable persons, irresponsible elements. These are the very masters of the country, for it is to them that your government has given in. Do you remember Nuremberg and your theories on collective responsibility? Well, today it applies to you. You are collectively responsible for the death of the Rosenbergs, some for having sponsored this murder, the rest for having suffered to You have ing suffered it. You have allowed America to become the cradle of a new fascism. It will be useless to explain to us that this single murder is not comparable to Hitler's mass exterminations. Fascism is not defined by the number of its victims but by the manner in which they are killed.

And why this rage unleashed against a man and woman about to die? Why this hatred which has dumblounded the world?

Why—because you had got the notion they wnated to take your bomb! You will not rest until you are the only ones capable of blowing up the earth. President Eisenhower counted in tens of millions the innocent victims of the Rosenbergs: each one of you feels already that he is one of the dead in the war to come. Dead needs it is who tiead in the war to come. Dead people it is who asked for death, last Thursday, for the thieves of the atomic secret.

INFORTUNATELY, when we look at you from Europe we see you neither as innocents nor is pses. We see but two innocent corpses—your vip-C)rpses. tims. As for the atomic secret, it is the fruit of your sick imaginations; science develops everywhere at the same rhythm, and the manufacture of bombs is mere matter of industrial capacities.

A mere matter of industrial capacities.

By killing the Rosenbergs you have quite simply tried to halt the progress of science by human sacrifice. Magic, witch-hunts, auto-da-fes, sacrifices—we are here getting to the point: your country is sick with fear. You are afraid of everything: of the Boviets, of the Chinese, of the Europeans. You are afraid of one another, you are afraid of the shadow of your own bomb. Some allies we have!

And you want to lead the way for ust You are dragging us into war through terror—a war you

And you want to lead the way for ust you are dragging us into war through terror—a war you would promptly lose through panic at the first bombardment. I know there are brave people in your country: the lawyer for the Rosenbergs, for instance, this very man who was saying yesterday: "I am ashamed of being an American." The people of the Possabers Committee hundred of the people. of the Rosenberg Committee, hundreds of thousands of others. But what can they do but head towards martyrdom?

AND then there are the masses—still basically healthy, although beluddled by you. There are the Negroes whom you oppress. And above all, there is that small voice which was stilled yesterday, yet which can be heard better than your ranting—the voice speaking these wonderful words are young, and we do not want to die, but the proof pay this price for our lives."

Buy this price for our lives,"

Atter all, the Rosenbergs are American and if can still have some hope, it is be country gave birth to this man and this woman whom you have killed.

Some day, perhaps, all these people of good-will will cure you of your fears. We hope so, for we have loved you.

Meanwhile do not be astonished if we cry out from one end of Europe to the other: Watch out America has the rabies! Cut all the ties which bidd his to her, otherwise we will in turn be bitten and run madi

RS. HELEN SOBELL drops a rose on the graves of Ethel and Julius Rosenberg at Pinelawn Cemetery, Long Island, N.Y., at the memorial marking the second year since their execution. That was Sunday, June 19, 1955. On June 18 some 2.800 jammed New York's Carnegie Hall in a meeting dedicated to winning freedom from prison for Morton Sobell, the Rosenberg's fellow victim, serving a 30-year term in Alcatrax. Artist Rockwell Kent spoke, as did Mrs. Sobell, who made public a letter to President Eisenhower asking him to "set my husband free." At a memorial meeting in Paris a new book went on sale containing essays on the Rosenbergs by Louis Aragon, Francois Maurinc, Jean-Paul Sartre, liya Ehrenburg, Anna Seghers, Vercors, Howard Fast, Albert Maltz and others, During the afternoon most of the authors came and signed the book undergigantic portraits of the Rosenbergs. People atreamed in for five hours.

JURY WOULDN'T BELIEVE HIM

Gold, key Rosenberg witness, discredited in Dayton trial

ARRY GOLD, key witness for the FBI in the atom-spy trial of Ethel and Julius Rosenberg and Morton Sobell, was found unworthy of belief by a federal jury on June 16 in another "spy" trial in Dayton, Ohio. The judicial rejection of Gold's credibility followed a defense presentation as evidence of portions of John Wexley's book, The Judgment of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

The Dayton jury refused to believe Gold's story that he tried to recruit a Wright-Patterson Air Force Base engineer as a spy between 1939 and 141. Benjamin Smilg, a top authority on aircraft vibration and "flutter," was acquitted on three counts of perjury growing out of denials that he had known Gold as a Soviet spy during an acquaintance beginning in 1938.

IN LOW ESTEEM: Gold had been brought to Dayton as a government witness from Lewisburg, Pa., federal prison, where he is serving 30 years as a self-confessed Soviet spy. Smilg was indicted on Gold's testimony to a federal grand jury in 1952. Smilg had told a loyalty board on three occasions in 1950-51, following Gold's arrest and "atom-spy" confession, that he knew Gold only as a student at Xavier University in Cincinnati and regarded him as a "screwball pink."

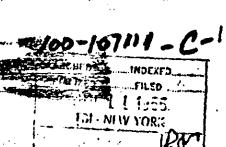

The introduction of Wexley's material on Gold set forth certain admitted alsohoods during the 1959 trial of an amployer. Abialism Buttings, generally regarded as a first out for the Rosenberg-Sobell trial later. This was a life-saver for Smilg, according to defense attorney William F. Hopkins. Gold had "run on like a phonograph record" during his direct testimony, Hopkins said, but after reading Wexley's book, he knew Gold would be "duck soup."

THE WIFE WHO WASN'T: Hopkins obtained the book the day before its official publication date. Before that he had "thought for two years about how to cross-examine Gold," he said. In court, Hopkins confronted Gold with his testimony at the Brothman trial that he lied until "steam came out" of his cars. The jury learned of Gold's mythical wife and twin daughters and other of his "phantasies"—all of which Gold cheerfully admitted at the Dayton trial.

Gold's earlier testimony resulted in imprisonment of Brothman and his assistant, Miriam Moscowitz; led to the Rosenberg-Sobell convictions; and indirectly brought about the jailing of Alfred Dean Slack and William Perl.

Gold's basic story was that he was a Soviet courier collecting information from 1936 until his arrest in 19 Actually he collected industrial articies about well-known, non-military processes for Amtorg, Soviet trade organization. His story on Smilg was similar to that with which the FBI confronted Slack, a Syracuse chemist who had written industrial articles, for Amtorg based on library material. Cold's "revelation" of himself as a "spy" was in line with his concections of a mythical family, a sweetheart with one blue eye and one brown, a Communist mentor with a talking crow and a snake to coil around his neck. But it was used to jail Slack for 15 years.

END OF CAREER? In the Rosenberg-Sobell Case, both John Wexley and William A. Reuben in his The Atom Spy Hoax have refuted Gold's key story—that he visited the Germanborn British scientist Klaus Fuchs in New Mexico in 1945 and received atomic information from Sgt. David Greenglass for which he claimed he paid $500. He said he identified himself by a torn half of a Jell-O box label.

Greenglass in the Rosenberg-Sobell trial backed up Gold's story and testified that he had received his half of the Jell-O box label from Julius Rosenberg. Discrepancies in the stories of this alleged encounter, as well as other details found by Wexley and Reuben to have been faked, lead to the conclusion that Gold's entire story enmeshing the Rosenbergs was faked from start to finish.

With the Dayton jury's rejection of his stories about Smilg, however, Gold's usefulness as an FBI "atomspy" witness is probably at an end.

LONDON

NOUR TIME of massive artificially-created confusion as to loyalties and the nature of good and vil, the power of heroic personal example is still world-wide and immortal. This is the element to which the machine of constituted authority is by its very nature blind when it sets the gallows stage for a martyr's heroism. After the axe has fallen, seemingly writing a simple Finis to some troublesome human life, to strike fear into the people, it is the element that multiplies the victim day by day, year by year, into an apparition far bigger and more troublesome than he could ever have been had he been allowed to live.

Such today is the still-expanding power, inexorably haunting Washington and all repressive administrations, of martyred Ethel and Julius Rosenberg. What was done to them remains, for countiess millions all over the world, the transcendent symbol of the evil to be overcome in our era. The agony and death of Ethel and Julius dramatized, and continue to dramatize and illuminate, the affliction of every political prisoner on earth as perhaps nothing less could have done.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS: Talking with recent travelers in Western Europe, one can plece together a little of this world-wide pattern—less now with shame because the Rosenbergs' murderers were Americans than with pride because the Rosenbergs were and are Americans. To make and keep the millions who honor the Rosenbergs aware that the case itself is unfinished business while Morton Sobell remains in Alcatraz, is a primary job for progressives everywhere. It involves, of course, finding ways to explain to the people that the Sobell case is part of what immediately concerns them. This is not as lasy as it was with regard to the Rosenbergs themselves, whose fate the people almost instinctively saw to be linked with their own. But in many countries ways are being found and good people are busy.

فالشيئي والراياة الخارون ويجرا مي ميراه

Here in London a mass meeting at Conway Hall has been set for Nov. 15, to bring the Sobell case; more clearly into public focus. With the progressive Catholic lecturer and author Monica Whately and the roted Queen's Counsel D. N. Pritt, your editor-in-exter-who but lately occupied Julius's bunk inscell C 6 of New York's West St. jail—has been honored by an invitation to speak there under the chairmanship of the Rev. Stanley Evans, vicar of Holy Trinity Church in east-end Dalston. Recent British developments have been the salute by historian Arnold Toynbee to Harold Urey for his stand on the Sobell case, and the appeals by the Electrical, Railway and other big unions to Director of Prisons Bennett to move Sobeli out of Alcatras.

THE SONG UNSUNG: In Paris a great meeting was held in June, on the execution anniversary, to mobilize support for Sobell; and there were smaller meetings in many Paris districts and in other French cities. As for France's intellectuals, they continue to be profoundly gripped by the implications of the Rosenberg-Sobell case. Dominique de Santi includes Ethel Rosenberg in her new book Visages de Femmes, portraits of outstanding women in history. The leading publisher Gallimard has brought out an anthology of writing on the case by Sartre, Mauria's, Paul Villard and others including Helen Sobell's appeal to Eisenhower. It is titled Le Chant Interromps (The Song Unsung) after a line in Ethel Rosenberg's poem written in jail, "If I Die."

The most unexpected report comes from Greece, a country which American progressives—like so many European progressives viewing America through oversimplifying glasses—have been too hasty to label completely fascist. The Rosenbergs' Death House Letters were published there, and the publisher was sentenced to jail on some obscure charge apparently related to "publishing false material." Last month the Court of Appeals reversed the conviction. (On the general situation in Greece, my informant says that although the Communst Party is still outlawed the Left coalition is very strong. Athens has a progressive daily paper of the same political complexion as the GUARDIAN, and a strong campaign is now being conducted for amnesty for the many political prisoners still languishing in jails and island concentration campa.)

ABOUT ATOMIC SECRETS: These and other worldwide activities in memory of the Rosenbergs, in defense of Sobell, are doubly significant when set against the background of the recent conferences at Geneva. There the fraternizing scientists of East and West proclaimed to humanity their agreement that there is and can be no atomic secrets and no country has or could have owed its progress in the field to "A-spies." On this level, as on others, the U.S. S. R. has indeed been taking the initiative in frankness to a degree the London Times finds "almost startling." Reports the Times (9/8):

Papers read by Russian physicists and others at the Geneva conference on peaceful uses of atomic energy and their contribution to the exhibition have satisfied even the sceptical that the U.S. S. R. is not lagging behind in nuclear development. This was also the case at the Intl. Astronautical Fedn. meeting in Copenhagen [In] August..., Prof. Sedov, the Soviet delegate... and Prof. Nikolai Varvarov, chairman of the astronautical section of the Central Aviation Club, have implied that Russia is working on the establishment of a much larger artificial satellite than that to be launched by America."

If J. Edgar Hoover, Brownell & Co. have been atching any plans to strike new fear into the people by framing up a "satellite-spy" case, they must think again.
