[redacted] expressed his concern that the United States Army has recently taken some negative criticism in the media for some military personnel having racist views.

[redacted] stated that he was surprised to learn that the incident involved victims at a Sikh temple. [redacted] stated that he would not have been surprised if the victims were African-Americans, because of Page's openly racist views. When asked, [redacted] reported that because of Page's previous Psy-Ops training, Page should certainly have known the difference between the Sikh and Islamic religions. [redacted] added that although Page expressed anti-African American views, Page had a disdain for anyone who was non-white.

[redacted] advised that he and Page were [redacted]

[redacted] recalled that Page displayed several White Supremacist Extremist (WSE) tattoos on his body. One tattoo was on Page's calf. Page used to drive a Volkswagen Thing, which was designed on the platform of a Nazi staff car. [redacted] reported that Page would usually be "fine" during the daytime, but at night "Mr. Hyde came out". Page used to wear navy blue combat "skinhead type" boots. Page used to give a fellow soldier named [redacted] a hard time about favoring and dating Latino women. [redacted] stated that Page "creeped him out".

[redacted] is not affiliated with any WSE groups.

[redacted] reported that Page had a friend named [redacted] and Page were drinking buddies. [redacted] lived in [redacted] to Page. Page and [redacted] were known to routinely consume a bottle and one half of bourbon over the course of an evening. [redacted] learned this information from [redacted]. Page was eventually demoted from the rank of Sergeant to a Specialist for being drunk in his room on several occasions and failing to show up for formation. Page was also charged with absent without leave (AWOL). Page was kicked out of the Army in October of 1998.

[redacted] and Page frequently listened to loud WSE music in Page's room. [redacted] expressed some racist beliefs, but not to the extent that Page did. [redacted] for the most part laughed at Page. [redacted] frequently drank with Page and was fairly close to him. [redacted] was a [redacted]

[redacted] Page kept a personally owned 9mm pistol in his barracks room, which was a violation of the base policy.

Continuation of FD-302 of Interview of [REDACTED], On 08/07/2012, Page 2 of 3

Even though [REDACTED] did not know PAGE well, he was surprised to learn that PAGE was involved in the shooting. [REDACTED] said that PAGE most have lost his "shit" and gone crazy because shooting people like PAGE did were the actions of a crazy person. [REDACTED] said that even though PAGE had lost his job and [REDACTED] it was not an excuse for what PAGE did, referring to the shooting. The HAMMERSKINS are against this type of violence. The HAMMERSKINS goal is to be aligned with the 14 words. [REDACTED] could not recall the 14 words but stated that it was the [REDACTED] 14 words but not in a violent way.

[REDACTED] was shown a picture of [REDACTED] knew the individual in the photo as [REDACTED] was [REDACTED] but PAGE [REDACTED] and he did not know why.

[REDACTED] stated that he did not know anyone whom PAGE would associate with in Wisconsin, other than [REDACTED] did not know why PAGE was involved with the shooting or anyone that might have been involved or anyone that would have known about the shooting prior to it taking place.

Prior to moving to Wisconsin, PAGE was living near [REDACTED] some place in the south, maybe Florida. PAGE and [REDACTED] did not [REDACTED] believed that [REDACTED] and PAGE knew each other because they were both Confederate Hammerskins (CHS). When PAGE moved to Wisconsin, [REDACTED] did not move [REDACTED] knew PAGE "pretty well," better than [REDACTED]

PAGE is a patched HAMMERKSIN but [REDACTED] did not know who gave PAGE his patch. [REDACTED] estimated that PAGE had been a "Hammerskin" for about a year, if he had to take a guess.

[REDACTED] knows [REDACTED] through HAMMERSKIN events and [REDACTED] does not know [REDACTED] to have any violent tendencies. [REDACTED] was shown multiple photos of [REDACTED] that [REDACTED] identified as [REDACTED] stated that [REDACTED] was a Confederate Hammerskin.

[REDACTED] lives with [REDACTED] [REDACTED] is looking for other work. [REDACTED] stated that he does not own a gun.

There were approximately 65 individuals in attendance at the concert. The HAMMERSKIN group [REDACTED] When questioned as to the leadership of the group, [REDACTED] stated that there was no leader and that the Hammerksins were a "leaderless resistance." [REDACTED] was unwilling to provide any information about members of the group. After SA [REDACTED] told [REDACTED] that he [REDACTED] forgot to mention that [REDACTED] was a member of the group; [REDACTED] stated that yes, [REDACTED] was a member the concert was held. [Writer's note: the above mentioned concert was called the "Summer of Hate" and was put on by the Western Hammerskins and the Northwest Hammerskins under the name "The West Coast Firm," the concert was held on July 21, 2012 at the Veterans of Foreign War (VFW) Hall located at 136 Chambers Street, El Cajon, CA.]

[REDACTED] was unable to name other groups at the show. SA [REDACTED] stated that he was surprised to learn that the Supreme Power Skins (SPS) were in attendance at the event and asked [REDACTED] if the HAMMERSKINS associated with SPS. [REDACTED] stated that the HAMMERSKINS did not associated with SPS or other skinhead groups in the area. The concert was an "open invite" and other groups were welcome to attend the concert. [REDACTED] stated that the SPS were "shit bags."
